few of the home arts classes that are available to both housewives and career women.

Exercises, Too

Fitness and Fashion and Speech Development will be offered at the Central YW and the Hilltop Center. Both classes are designed to develop confidence and poise. The Fitness and Fashion Course consists of an hour of exercise and movement to music and an hour's lecture and discussion on make-up, posture, hair styling and how to dress.

Different religious leaders will conduct each of the six sessions on our Judeo-Christian heritage and recent ecumenical trends.

By special request, the popular course in "Auto-know-how" will be repeated. The class will be held on four Monday nights, Oct. 1-22, and will feature simple repairs, emergencies, road ethics and what to look for in purchasing a car.

Pay-as-you-come is a feature of the combination gym and swim that is being offered by the Health Education and Recreation Department of the YWCA on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Thursday evenings. Regular swimming classes from beginning to synchronized are available at convenient times throughout the week and gym and recreational sports are featured on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

For further information about any of these classes, please call the YWCA, CA. 4-9121.

Questions Please

Teachers ask most of the questions asked in schools, while their job is to get students to be inquisitive, researchers protest.

More Adults Study Music

A nationwide interest in adult music has led to the establishment of adult music classes at Summers and Son Music.

In the last five years the number of adult pupils has grown from a small number to 17 per cent of the music students at this establishment.

The latest count shows an even split between male and female pupils and the age range goes from recent high school graduates who spend their first paycheck to buy a musical instrument, to those who are well into retirement. This age variance offers an interesting challenge to teachers, because the approach must be different to each pupil.

The most popular instruments being learned are piano, organ, and guitar, in that order.

Special courses of instruction have been devised and training is reflected in the wealth of instructional materials being provided by music publishers.

For information call Summers and Son, 3962 E. Broad-st, Town and Country Shopping Center, BE. 5-3421.

School Doors Swing Wide Wednesday For Record High Enrollment Of 93,000

Longer Sessions Add Up To 18 More Elementary School Days

Long, lazy vacation days of play, at the park or pool, with friends or on trips, are now mostly a memory for students and teachers. Only a few days of summer fun are left before school doors swing wide.

Enrollment figures have, for the 15th consecutive year, broken all records in the [illegible], replaced, rebound [illegible]; 580 new teachers [illegible] hired, and four new [illegible]es will join the city [illegible] bring the total to [illegible]ings.

[illegible]ESAN SCHOOLS
[illegible]all elementaries will also launch the 1962-63 school year next Wednesday, Sept. 5, and high schools will convene Sept. 6.

Enrollment figures in the Columbus Diocese are an estimated 24,000 and schools in Franklin County total about 22,000.

The school year will hold for public elementary students an extra 18 days of instruction, but the expanded school year will go unnoticed by most.

Added hours to regular school days, rather than an extended school year account for the extra time.

Elementary classes will be held from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m., and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Last year classes assembled at 9 a.m., and afternoon dismissal was at 3:15.

Junior and senior highs will observe the same schedule as before, 8:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., with lunch hours arranged at each school.

Building Total $3,742,033.93

Summer time construction projects in the school system totaling $3,742,033.93 is scheduled for completion in time for schools' opening.

In addition to the four new elementaries, a program of extensive additions and remodeling at existing schools has been underway during the summer.

These include, in Hartley Newspapers' area, a $216,762 project at East High, 1500 E. Broad-st; $100,897 at Dana Elementary, 300 S. Dana-av.

Fornof Elementary, 158 Dering, underwent an $87,528 remodeling; Heyl, 765 E. Whittier-st, $10,000; Ohio Elementary, 505 S. Ohio-av, $19,000, and West Broad, 2744 W. Broad-st, $36,056.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

Schools open Sept. 5 and continue through Friday, June 7, 1963, with nine holidays during the year. There will be a total of 183 days of instruction.

Holidays are:
Sept. 14 — COTA meeting.
Nov. 12 — Veterans Day.
Nov. 22, 23 — Thanksgiving.
Dec. 21-Jan. 2 — Christmas.
Jan. 25 — Teachers Conference.

Boom In Adult Education (When And If)

By Mabel Hartman

The August "Suburbia Today" feature story — "The Boom in Adult-Education" depicts an encouraging trend toward higher learning in serious minded adults. This attempt by so many to recapture the dream of the college degree lost back in the adolescent years, is a hopeful sign, culturally and economically.

But there is another group of adults that would go back to evening classes with even greater eagerness with proper encouragement and financial assistance. This group is comprised of men and women, fatalities of the past 25 year educational enigma in this great land of ours. How much these lost ones would give to be able to go back to school evenings for the sole purpose of learning how to read! But the cost would be prohibitive.

Here in this United States where we spend billions on the most expensive and elaborate physical plants in which to educate our young, spend additional millions to equip these edifices with all the latest gadgetry obtainable to make learning easy, at least a third of our students are not learning to read.

The story of the calamity that was visited upon our helpless children ever since the good old tried and true alphabet and old fashioned phonics teaching were downgraded by a handful of misled educators, has been dramatically told in several books of recent years. "Why Johnny Can't Read" was the first block-buster that cleared the way for a respectable place in our modern curriculum once again for the teaching of phonics and of restoring a little pedagogical dignity to the ABC's.

Dr. Rudolph Flesch should have a Congressional [illegible] for his intrepid spirit in producing this Johnny-Can't Read book. It is destined to become a classic in the history of American Education. His book burst upon the public like a rainbow just when the tabu on traditional teaching methods had to stir up a storm of protest from irate parents throughout the country.

At least it removed the guilty feeling from conscientious older teachers who were forced to bootleg phonics in order that their pupils might learn to read. Talk about scholastic idiocy — it was at its peak when Johnny books burst the bondoogling bubble, pouring from the press by the millions. At long last desperate parents have found hope.

But the battle for the return of phonics correlated with other accepted teaching methods is far from over. Boards of education have let down the bars on the phonics prohibition to the extent that a primary teacher may now use phonics or she may not. It is entirely up to her. It is to be expected that most of our fresh-from-college teachers will not use phonics.

The reason is that the so called PROGRESSIVE method worked with them. More than half of our boys and girls learned to read satisfactorily with this method . . . those in the genius, brilliant, bright and conscientious classification. This is understandable. Consider the crude reading instruction of Abraham Lincoln. Teaching phonics is a slow process, which takes the utmost patience. Why bother with it if one cannot see the need for it? This terrible need is sensed by few teachers.

Parents, with non-reading children, should by all means read "The Case For Basic Education" edited by James D. Koerner; "Tomorrow's Illiterates," by Charles W. Wolcutt and "Swiss Schools and Ours" by Admiral Rickover.

The federal government should regard the calamitous consequence of our 30 year educational fiasco as a national disaster. It should set about remedying the plight of these non-reading adults, as it does other national disasters such as cyclones, floods, illnesses, drought and acute human misery.

When and if our new secretary of health, education and welfare can persuade congress to spend some of its-give-away dollars to finance cost-free evening schools throughout the land for the non-readers, now grown to adulthood, where basic education was kidnapper by a pedagogical catastrophe . . .

And when and if a nationwide propaganda program is launched by every newspaper, radio station and T.V. with the aim of removing the social stigma from a person, courageously admitting he cannot read . . . And when and if, because of this enlightment, this army of non-readers recaptures its dream of that education lost back in the primary grades, something wonderful will happen.

The people of the United States will behold the biggest boom in adult education that ever has been or ever will be.

Why—we may ask ourselves—should we care whether or not these unskilled and low-paid workers ever get such a break?

First, we should care because they have the same potential for highest citizenship as any statesman. We should care because they are our fellowmen, condemned to live out their days, individually, each soul-less machine. The best answer, however, to this self-inquiry is contained in the following quotation from "The Case For Basic Education," in an essay by Clifton Fadiman: "In accordance with his luck and his temperament, he (the untaught) may become happily lost, but lost he will become. Lost he will remain. Lost he will die. "If we allow these lost ones to multiply indefinitely (in time) they will see to it that our country is lost too."

Whitehall Courses For Adults Based On Needs, Desires

Courses offered in the Whitehall City School's Adult Education Program are based upon the desires and needs of the people in Whitehall and the surrounding areas, according to William W. Shipe, director of adult education. Fees established for courses are the same for all enrollees regardless of residence location and are based primarily on the fact that 15 student's fees should be enough to compensate the instructor, he added.

It was a great pleasure, Mr. Shipe said, for the staff to present diplomas to five students at the end of the 1962 Spring Semester. These people had been out of school as little as six weeks and as long as 25 years before returning to finish the work for their Diplomas. Those granted diplomas had carried work at Philadelphia, Pa., Eastmoor High School, Hebron High School, and Whitehall Yearling High School, as well as at correspondence schools and combinations of these.

Special courses are offered for industrial plants and other groups as their desires are made known to the Whitehall City Schools. The school either furnishes the instructors or the plant can furnish its own. In either event, the school works with the planning group and furnishes the facilities so that the teaching goal may be attained.

Typical of these types of courses are: An electrical course for a large railroad, a water treatment course for municipalities in central Ohio, A tool design course for a large manufacturing plant, and others. Courses in public relations, salesmanship, human relations, and the like are also possibilities.

Regular Courses

Regular offerings include such courses for credit as American Government, American History, English, Mathematics, Typing (both elementary and advanced) and Shorthand (also both elementary and advanced). Bookkeeping, too, could be an offering if enough enrollees make their wishes known.

Credit courses run 17 weeks and meet twice a week for 1¾ hours. Tuition cost for such a semester is $15.00.

Other course offerings for self-improvement or for recreational purposes include: French, Spanish, Woodworking, Basic Drafting, Dressmaking and sewing (both elementary and advanced) Floral Design (both elementary and advanced), Interior Design, Ceramics, Painting, Drawing, Sculpturing, Dancing, Slimnastics for Women, and Bridge (both elementary and advanced).

Key Punch Course

Also meeting with considerable response are Public Speaking, Basic Electricty, Investment Fundamentals, Law for the Layman, Promotion and Public Relations, English for the Foreign-Born, and Aid, (Standard Course and Home Care for the Sick and Injured). Cooking could be offered if enough interest was apparent.

Newest course offering, which has proved to be very popular, is I.B.M. Key Punch.

Brochures are available upon request describing each course as to content, meeting times, and cost.

The Whitehall Adult Education Program is offered as a service to the community. It is a non-profit approach to helping people attain their high school diplomas and to improve themselves physically, mentally, and financially. It's motto, while based on humor, is centered around the Pennsylvania Dutch saying: Too soon we get old; Too late we get smart.

Registration has been set for the Fall semester for 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. in the Whitehall High School office on September 10, 11, 12, and 13. Classes will begin the week of September 24, 1962.

Robert W. Crabbs is the Superintendent of schools of the Whitehall City School System.

Seventeen-week courses will be offered at indicated times and days as follows:

One Route To Self-Develop

The orbiting of Sputnik in October, 1957, and subsequent intensely increased effort and emphasis on science and mathematics, plus the already existing prestige which a college education offers, have combined to produce a "confusion of values" that confront students, parents, and high school counselors.

A few pertinent statements made in this regard by John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation, New York, are quoted here:

"1. The heavy emphasis on college is, of course, very pleasant for those whose abilities and motivations will lead them to complete four or five years of higher education.

"2. All too many are led to believe that in failing to go on to college they have missed the high road of American life. This is unfortunate and unnecessary. Properly understood, college or university is merely the instrument of one kind of further education for those whose interests and capacities fit them for that kind of further education.

ail elementaries will also launch the 1962-63 school year next Wednesday, Sept. 5, and high schools will convene Sept. 6.

Enrollment figures in the Columbus Diocese are estimated 24,000 and schools in Franklin County total about 22,000.

The school year will hold for public elementary students an extra 18 days of instruction, but the expanded school year will go unnoticed by most.

Added hours to regular school days, rather than an extended school year account for the extra time.

Elementary classes will be held from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m., and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Last year classes assembled at 9 a.m., and afternoon dismissal was at 3:15.

Junior and senior highs will observe the same schedule as before, 8:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., with lunch hours arranged at each school.

Building Total $3,742,033.93

Summer time construction projects in the school system totaling $3,742,033.93 is scheduled for completion in time for schools' opening.

In addition to the four new elementaries, a program of extensive additions and remodeling at existing schools has been underway during the summer.

These include, in Hartley Newspapers' area, a $216,762 project at East High, 1500 E. Broad-st; $100,897 at Dana Elementary, 300 S. Dana-av.

Fornof Elementary, 158 Dering, underwent an $87,528 remodeling; Heyl, 765 E. Whittier-st, $10,000; Ohio Elementary, 505 S. Ohio-av, $19,000, and West Broad, 2744 W. Broad-st, $36,056.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

Schools open Sept. 5 and continue through Friday, June 7, 1963, with nine holidays during the year. There will be a total of 183 days of instruction.

Holidays are:
Sept. 14 — COTA meeting.
Nov. 12 — Veterans Day.
Nov. 22, 23 — Thanksgiving.
Dec. 21-Jan. 2 — Christmas.
Jan. 25 — Teachers Conference.

State And Federal Training Programs Function Here

A challenging concept in Adult Education has been presented in the provisions of the Ohio Worker Training Act and the federal Manpower Development Training Act.

National, state and local educational, business, labor and employment people have recognized the changes in technologies and the needs of business and industry for more highly trained workers. Both training acts establish procedures to provide training for needed skills.

The acts also assist in the problem of employment for persons who, because of unneeded or underdeveloped skills, have been unemployed and in some cases forced to become recipients of welfare or other assistance.

The Ohio Worker Training Act, passed by the 104th General Assembly last year, provides for local training programs as may be needed in a community to fill gaps in local business and industry. Courses offered are usually of a type which can be accomplished in a relatively short time.

Trainees must be unemployed to qualify for the training. The local Ohio State Employment Service is responsible, under the guidance of an Advisory Committee, for the determination of the actual need for a specific course of training, for the selection of trainees, and for the effort to place trainees in employment after training.

Local school boards are charged with the responsibilities of establishing the content and administering the instruction of any program. Final approval for establishment and for financing OWT programs is by a state central committee headed by Donald B. Leach, Administrator of the BUC.

Persons who might be interested in training courses for trades in manufacturing or service lines, including hotel, restaurant and other retail services, should register with the OSES Industrial and Service Placement Office at 309 S. Fourth-st.

School Doors Swing Wide Wednesday For Record High Enrollment Of 93,000

Longer Sessions Add Up To 18 More Elementary School Days

Long, lazy vacation days of play, at the park or pool, with friends or on trips, are now mostly a memory for students and teachers. Only a few days of summer fun are left before school doors swing wide.

Enrollment figures have, for the 15th consecutive year, broken all records in the Columbus Public School System. And, as always before, new school rooms, textbooks and teachers have been added in like proportion.

Next Wednesday, 93,000 will report for classes; more than 200,000 textbooks have been added, replaced, rebound or adopted; 560 new teachers have been hired, and four new elementaries will join the city system to bring the total to 138 buildings.

DIOCESAN SCHOOLS

Parochial elementaries will also launch the 1962-63 school year next Wednesday, Sept. 5, and high schools will convene Sept. 6.

Enrollment figures in the Columbus Diocese are estimated 24,000 and schools in Franklin County total about 22,000.

The school year will hold for public elementary students an extra 18 days of instruction, but the expanded school year will go unnoticed by most.

Added hours to regular school days, rather than an extended school year account for the extra time.

Elementary classes will be held from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m., and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Last year classes assembled at 9 a.m., and afternoon dismissal was at 3:15.

Junior and senior highs will observe the same schedule as before, 8:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., with lunch hours arranged at each school.

Building Total $3,742,033.93

Summer time construction projects in the school system totaling $3,742,033.93 is scheduled for completion in time for schools' opening.

In addition to the four new elementaries, a program of extensive additions and remodeling at existing schools has been underway during the summer.

These include, in Hartley Newspapers' area, a $216,762 project at East High, 1500 E. Broad-st; $100,897 at Dana Elementary, 300 S. Dana-av.

Fornof Elementary, 158 Dering, underwent an $87,528 remodeling; Heyl, 765 E. Whittier-st, $10,000; Ohio Elementary, 505 S. Ohio-av, $19,000, and West Broad, 2744 W. Broad-st, $36,056.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

Schools open Sept. 5 and continue through Friday, June 7, 1963, with nine holidays during the year. There will be a total of 183 days of instruction.

Holidays are:

Sept. 14 — COTA meeting.
Nov. 12 — Veterans Day.
Nov. 22, 23 — Thanksgiving.
Dec. 31-Jan. 2 — Christmas.
Jan. 25 — Teachers Conference.

May 30 — Memorial Day.

Columbus... Its First 150 Years

The story of a city -- the events that led to its founding and the people who guided its progress, starts in today's edition.

In observance of Columbus' sesquicentennial Hartley Newspapers are publishing, today and in succeeding issues, stories and pictures of the city's beginning and its growth.

Areas covered include education and churches, commerce and industry, transportation, communication, municipal, county and state government, and the capital's physical and economic growth.

Save all the issues. Together they will comprise a complete, historical outline of Ohio's capital.

'HAPPY BIRTHDAY' . . . SCOUTS SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

WHILE COLUMBUS CELEBRATES its 150th birthday, the Girl Scouts are marking their own golden anniversary . . . with golden flowers, of course. This bed of Brownie Scout marigolds (a special strain) was designed into the official trefoil emblem at Westgate Park by the Division of Parks and Forestry and planted by the Scouts. The lettering is of alternantheorah, a dwarf Brazilian shrub. Throughout the summer, girls from 19 Hilltop Neighborhood troops have kept it carefully weeded and trimmed. Photographed on their duty day were Debbie Reese (left) of 51 N. Westgate-av, and Molly Holycross, 89 N. Hague-av.

The Spectator

By C. C. Hartley

150 Years Ago

Today our newspapers proudly present a collection of stories and pictures about the past . . . . a look back over the past 150 years of this fine community.

So much of the good in the world is found in the things that have gone before. So much of our growth comes from an understanding of the past.

The old should never be thrown over. Herein lies our life everlasting, in transmitting the good from the past to the future.

In the remaining months of 1962 further stories from the past 150 years will be carried in our papers. It is our hope that in this way we will have made a substantial contribution to the Sesquicentennial Year for Columbus.

Another Columbus Product

If our Sesqui Edition whets your family's interest in Columbus and its past, let us recommend another publication which made its appearance this week.

"Columbus, the Buckeye Capital" is a 231-page volume written by Anamae Martin, supervising principal of the Columbus Public Schools, to fill a long-felt need for a text book on local history. It was written at the specific request of Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of schools, and W. W. Miller, assistant superintendent for instruction, with the approval of the school board.

Miss Martin began her work two years ago. The result is a beautifully illustrated book that covers development of the Columbus area from the Ice Age to the present. It's written for grade schoolers, but mammas and pappas, too, will find it too interesting to put down. About 9,000 pupils will be using it this fall.

The publishing firm is strictly Columbus, too — Charles E. Merrill Books, Inc., which has a newly expanded plant at 1300 Alum Creek-dr.

Hilltop Man Named To Head City Planning Commission

Appointment of Harold L. Buchanan, 404 S. Roys-av, as acting director of the City Planning Commission was announced last Thursday by Mayor Ralston Westlake.

Buchanan has been a member of the Planning Commission's staff for the past 10 years and its principal planner since February, 1958.

In his new post, he fills a vacancy which developed two weeks ago when Jack Bachtel resigned to accept a position with private industry. The mayor said Buchanan will be considered among others when a permanent appointment is made.

Buchanan joined the City Planning Commission staff as a landscape architect in July, 1952, and was promoted to city planner in June, 1956. He was awarded a degree in landscape architecture from Ohio State University.

SCD Plan Calls For River Work

The Scioto Conservancy District's much publicized plan for a water supply and control program for Greater Columbus and the Scioto River Basin has been placed before the Conservancy Board for study.

The $79.6 million program calls for consideration of the following projects in the Hartley Newspapers area:

● Deer Creek—In Pickaway and Fayette Counties calls for a dam with a 375-foot spillway to be located 8.1 miles above Williamsport. A conservation pool of 670 acres is to expand to 3900 during flood times. Estimated cost is $10,544,349.

● Mill Creek Dam — For flood control and low flow augmentation to aid in water improvement. Located on Mill

WILL TELL COUNCIL—

Costs Major Factor In Ditch Controversy

A drainage ditch that no one loves in Valleyview Heights No. 2 subdivision is under the close scrutiny of city officials this week.

Seven days ago the Hilltop Record-West Side News revealed that residents in the area north of Valleyview-dr and west of Hague-av are blaming the open ditch for a rat, mosquito and odors condition. Twenty homes are situated along the ditch which, residents declare, is storm drainage for two entire subdivisions along Valleyview-dr.

The homeowners have engaged a lawyer, Bob Perry, to guide them in presenting their complaints to City Council on Sept. 10. They plan to ask the city to divert the ditch from the subdivision when Valleyview-dr is widened in the near future.

From Carl Schoene, chief sewerage engineer, the residents learned that the city is reluctant to stand the cost of piping the stream into a 60-inch tile. Schoene said the city would furnish labor, however, if the citizens will buy the tile. This, someone has figured, would cost each landowner an average of $800. City law, apparently, does not compel developers to enclose large drains which serve an extensive area.

Meanwhile, Schoene has ordered his men to clean debris from the ditch and caulk some rocks which are believed to be rat harbors. City officials have visited the area daily since the complaints were published and are preparing a report for the Sept. 10 session of council.

Mrs. Paul Lombard, 455 N. Westmoor-av, said a delegation of 15 to 20 homeowners plan to take their petition to council. "We hope the city can completely divert the ditch," she said. "Some of us simply could not afford heavy assessments for buying all that pipe."

Mayor Westlake himself investigated the case several times during the week. On one occasion worried parents told him they were afraid their children would find poisoned meat which a city employe had put out.

The City Board of Health also has been called into the case.

No Garbage Pickup Monday

Because Monday, Sept. 3 is a legal holiday there will be no collections of garbage and refuse on that day.

The Division of Sanitation will work overtime two hours per day the remainder of the week.

Issued Building Permit

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. has been issued a permit for a $44,000 addition and alteration to a brick building 82 S. Glenwood-av, B. R. Lepper Construction Co., 47 N. Washington-av, is the contractor.

Ohio Wells Chart Quakes In Far East

Earthquakes have been recorded on the water level chart in a number of observation wells under control of the Ohio Division of Water, according to Paul Kaser, hydrologist. The shock waves of the earthquake traveling through the earth's crust causes the water to rise and fall so that the chart looks very much like a seismograph chart.

"We have water level recorder charts showing earthquakes which occurred as far away as Japan and Burma, declared Kaser. "In some observation wells near railroads the weight of passing trains compresses the water bearing material enough to cause the water level to rise several inches. As soon as the train has passed the water drops back to where it was before. It is this same type of compression which causes quakes to be recorded."

Kaser also said that when the water table was high enough to be reached by the roots of plants, the latter pump water during the daylight hours, causing the level to decline from one to three or four inches. During the night, when plants are not drawing water, the level in the well comes back, he asserted.

SPEAKER

THE DIRECTOR of Finance for the State of Ohio, Dr. James H. Maloon, will be the featured speaker on Tuesday, Sept. 4, at a meeting of the Optimists Club of Western Columbus. The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn at noon. Dr. Maloon's topic will be "Functions of the Department of Finance." The program will include a question and answer session on current issues, conducted by the speaker following the talk.

School Employes Parlay Set At Franklin Heights

The Executive Committee of the Central District of the Ohio Association of Public School Employes has announced that the South-Western City School District has extended an invitation to hold the "Oapsey" District Assembly in Franklin Heights High School, Friday, Sept. 14. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

The group represents persons employed in the school operating capacities of business and fiscal administrators, food service workers, clerical staff, custodial and maintenance persons and bus drivers in the 13 central Ohio counties of Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Knox, Licking, Logan, Madison, Marion, Marrow, Pickaway, Ross, and Union.

After a general session that will include a welcome by South-Western Schools Superintendent, Paul C. Hayes, and music by the Grove City High School Band, the group will hear Rev. Harvey C. Hahn of the Otterbein Church, Dayton, address the group on "Patterns For Living."

Boy Scout News

On Wednesday, Aug. 22, the Nimat Lichen Chapter, Order of the Arrow, held its monthly meeting. A movie was shown by Craig Weaver about his vacation in Scotland. He also displayed many badges and articles and gave an interesting talk.

The date now set for the O.A. dance is Nov. 17, at the downtown YMCA. Some committees were formed for this dance. The Father and Son banquet will be Dec. 9.

Scouts taking the trail were Bill Ramage, Craig Zimmerman, John Peirre O'Neal, Chuck Saunders, Jim Renshaw and Edward Aufderheide.

Leaders who went were advisor Joe Hutt and associate Larry Miller.

Boys 8 to 11 and parents who are interested in forming a new Cub Scout pack at St. John Lutheran Church are invited to discuss the plan at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 6, at the church. Everett Bacon, Southwest district executive, will speak.

Tom W. Sharp, 968 Chesterahire-rd, will be cubmaster. Boys need not belong to the church to become members.

City Began As 'Capital In The Wilderness'

Sesquicentennial Year - - it's a time to pause, survey the past, speculate on the future and take stock of Columbus' progress since it was established 150 years ago as "a capital in the wilderness."

The city, without a name, a resident, or a building was designated as "the high bank across the Scioto from Franklinton" when it was planned as Ohio's capital in 1812.

Columbus' four proprietors, Lyne Starling, Alexander McLaughlin, John Kerr and James Johnston, offered lots for sale on June 18, the day war was declared in Great Britain.

In such turbulent times as those, with the Army of Ohio headquartered in Franklinton, the capital struggled to life.

The region was dense forest, long a favorite hunting ground for the Indians because of the abundance of wild animals; the only roads to the capital were tortuous trails through the forest. There were no bridges across the Scioto for a hundred miles, and the area abounded in malarial swamps.

Immediately after the sale of lots settlers began establishing homes. Log cabins were followed by small frame houses and shops of split clapboards, churches and schools, and the beginning of industry.

The National Road and the canal brought travelers and trade to the city, making it a transportation and commerce center for the region.

The first official state building, unpretentious but sound and sturdy, were gradually replaced with today's proud structures.

By the turn of the century Columbus had outgrown the capital city classification, and had come into its own as a city - - well balanced as an industrial, commercial and cultural community.

Two-thirds of the country's population reside within a 550-mile radius of Columbus, ranking 28th in population among cities of the United States.

Its strategic location, recognized by pioneers in 1812, is still a major resource - - in the center of a great agricultural state, near to the country's greatest coal and gas fields, and close enough to steel and industrial centers to have easy supply.

The city has grown in population and in area. Residents now number 490,776 and, from April, 1950 to March of this year, the city annexed more than fifty square miles, to become Ohio's largest city areawise.

As the home of Ohio State University, tenth largest in the country, and six other colleges, Columbus has become a seat of learning.

Children's Hospital is among the nation's top 18 devoted to children's illnesses and is famous for its research and advances in open heart surgery, polio and poison control.

Battelle Institute is world renowned for re-

Almost every denomination is represented in the city's 400 churches.

And continuing advances in every field of government, business, and culture are a promise . . .

The best is yet to come!

Many Cooperated In Telling Story Of Columbus' Past

Stories and features pertaining to Columbus' first 150 years, in this and succeeding editions of the Hartley Newspapers, represent a summer of research and writing by staff member Mrs. Betty Daft.

The work involved hours of painstaking library and museum research, interviews and fact-finding. In some cases previously published materials proved inaccurate. Mrs. Daft made every effort to correct these. Photographic copies of old prints were made by staff photographer W. Harley Groom. Many technical details of the Sesquicentennial Edition were handled by L. G. Mansfield.

Three Cheers For The New Plastic Soapdish!

Automated kitchens? Electronically controlled cars? Nuclear-powered tractors?

Phooey! They can have them. I've found something scientifically better—a plastic soap dish for bath tubs.

At first thought, the ignorant might mutter: "So what?"

McPeek

But anyone who ever has battled the old-fashioned shallow wire soap tray on Saturday nights will agree that this world has long needed a better soap tray, even more so than the proverbial mouse trap.

As a man who has, with the exception of the Roman communal bath, experienced every form of bathing from the now-extinct copper laundry tubs, to claw-legged single-tap tubs, to creeks (using sand for soap), to saltwater bucket baths, I've been a confirmed shower user since my first YMCA membership back in the 30's.

So it's only understandable that a fresh encounter with a wire soap tray when a man is starting down the rearward slope of life can be a traumatic experience.

That's what happened when I recently moved my family into a large older house.

After being cooped up for the past seven years in a "modern" five-room crackerbox, my spouse and I were happily excited about moving back into the comfort of a roomy older house.

But one look at that leering wire soap tray, hanging arrogantly from the upper reaches of its porcelain domain, brought back such a flood of nightmarish memories, I was tempted to grab up my brood and seek out the nearest crackerbox salesman.

Never in my life have I taken a bath in a claw-legged tub without knocking those treacherous wire trays into the tub fewer than a half-dozen times. My left shin, upon close examination, probably still bears dozens of tiny sliver scars inflicted by the sharp-cornered little monsters.

And the pain of the wounds was always increased by the frustration of trying to relocate the elusive bar of soap, a task that is excellent preliminary training for a would-be contortionist.

But my new misery was short-lived. Lo, what should I spy a few days later while shopping at a nearby tin-can emporium — the plastic wonder of science, a 35 cent marvel guaranteed not to slip from the tub, nor scratch it, and unbreakable.

After overcoming an impulse to load my grocery cart with them, I rushed home carefully cradling one of the precious discoveries and leaped into the tub.

Sure enough, it worked perfectly. Not one slip. And with its three-inch deep well, even the soap stayed put.

The wire tray? I polished it and stored it away with the World War II battle souvenirs I bought in the PX.

Bird Experts Take Radar To The Bush To Settle (?) Sportsmen's Arguments

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Speed traps for birds are being operated in New York and Florida, and feathered speedsters are for the first time being accurately clocked.

How many debates have raged over the years about the speed of game birds is unknown, but certainly there have been many among sportsmen. Some fairly accurate figures had been released previously, and the top speed of the hummingbirds was calculated, but the speed traps are for the first time really blowing the whistle on birds.

This project is described in the August-September issue of "Natural History" by Dr. Wesley E. Lanyon, assistant curator in the Department of Ornithology of the American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

The unique way of checking flight speed by radar recorded a ring-necked duck flying at 66 miles per hour, in a cross wind of eight miles per hour. Next speediest among the birds tested was a black duck, with 58 miles per hour, and a bobwhite quail, with 44.5 miles per hour.

Although there were no sirens or flashing red lights, the system consists of a Doppler radar unit similar to that used by the police to measure motorists' speed on highways. Radar echoes from moving targets are shifted in frequency in a manner that is determined by the target speed. By detecting this shift, a direct measure of the target's speed may be obtained.

Battery Operated

The unit, which operates on batteries, can be carried about in the field. One test situation consisted of hand-releasing birds near the radar unit and tracking them as they flew straightaway across an opening, toward the shelter of a wooded area. All of the birds were faced with the same stimuli and followed similar courses, thus providing an excellent opportunity for comparing maximum speeds.

Tested, in addition to the ducks and quail already mentioned, were the following: coot, 37 miles per hour; blue jay, 26; black-capped chickadee, 17; house finch, 21.5; white-throated sparrow, 17.5; wild turkey, 31.7; pheasant, 38.2, and herring gull, 29.4.

Previously the speed of a flight of hummingbirds had been measured by Crawford H. Greenewalt, trustee of the American Museum and research associate on its staff. His method was to use a wind tunnel with a powerful fan at one end. The hummingbird, entering the tunnel to feed and confronted with a head wind of a specific velocity, would perform as though it were flying at that speed, although its position remained stationary. By increasing the wind velocity, it was possible to determine at what critical point the bird was unable to maintain its position in the current of air.

All of this adds knowledge to the science of ornithology, but it is doubtful if it will stop any arguments among sportsmen. The hunter who shoots a fast-flying duck will needle his buddy who bags a slower one. And then there is the matter of winds—an argument over head winds, tail winds and cross winds could go on into the night. There will be the school that maintains that neither the police nor bird watchers have reliable equipment, and that the speeds reported on both cars and birds are not accurate nor constitutional.

No, the sport of hunter debates will not diminish with the coming of radar, for they have been going on since man first gathered around a campfire.

Be An Individual But Walk With God

"These are the generations of Noah. Noah was a just, perfect man in his generation, Noah walked with God" . . . Genesis v. 1-9.

"And Noah only was left" . . . Genesis v. 11-23.

Noah was the first to teach us the lesson of being a non-conformist—simple and clear; to remain an individual.

Living in an age when violence, idolatry, and corruption ruled the world, when thievery, adultery and murder were the law and order of the day, Noah remained alone.

Rabbi Stavsky

Segregated from the society about him, separated from friends around him, Noah was alone.

Was he really alone? Hardly so. "Noah was a just man," Noah walked with God"—and one with God is never alone.

Yes, in this lies his righteousness and piety, his being a just man—because he "walked with God." He had the courage and ability to separate himself from man, woman, and child, to turn his back on the wanton lusts, corruption, sin of his day, recognize his creator and walk with his Heavenly Father.

One of the most distressing developments in American life today is the ever-increasing trend towards conformity.

Drive across the country on a clear day and one can see acres of "Golden Gulf Homes," "Sunny Manor Homes," "Garden State Meadow Homes," miles and miles of new villages, split level, ranch style, each identical with the other, told apart only by a house number on the door.

Our homes, our cars, the schools to which we send our children, the clothes we wear, the fashions, the vogue, all in conformity, all in keeping up with the next fellow, with the trend and time.

We live in sections, and march in regiments and company. We dare not show our individuality, our difference of opinion, our traditions of faith of yesterday.

We are slaves to fad, fiction and fashion, to the conformation of the society about us, and seek its approval and security.

Not so Noah. "The land was corrupt before the eyes of God," and Noah remained alone.

How many parents remain alone? How many children grow up alone? In an age when the "crowd is the thing." When one of the best sellers of today is Professor Reisman's book called "The Lonely Crowd," individual energy is lost, individual thinking is missing. Father is never home, and Mother is the official chauffeur—when modern living is strained to the point that we go to functions and parties when, individually and personally, we would rather stay home. But the demands of society insist that we go along with the throng.

How well it would be if we would accept the challenge set forth by Noah—to be non-conformists with society, but walk with God.

Orphanage Grateful

To The Editor:

I want to thank you and your newspaper for the help which you gave us for the Orphanage Picnic which was held July 4.

We all realize how essential it is to bring an event like this to the attention of the public and we feel the publicity this year was greatly responsible for the success which we had. We had a large crowd and the results of the picnic were the best [illegible].

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

During these four years 1961-'65 we observe the centennial of the armed struggle of kinsmen across this good and great land. All were Americans offering and giving their blood for causes they believed just.

The founding fathers of this nation were wise and devout men. They had led the successful struggle against tyranny, had laid the bedstones for our house of freedom in a land destined to grow to the seas and beyond. Then they put into words our charter of law, and so established this republic with its ideals of faith and freedom that they had so valiantly dared declare.

But even then a regional diversity of opinion and belief had begun to develop between North and South about division of authority among states and nation. For more than half a century sincere statesmen reasoned, argued, worried lest the problems grow beyond solution by peaceful means.

Despite all efforts the nation became at last a "house divided." With the first shot men took to arms and the "glory road." Across the land their companions were hunger and thirst and wounds and sickness and always death. After four long and bitter years they looked back upon the graves of half a million friends and foes.

And now we remember the brave Blue and valiant Gray. The last has gone to join his comrades. In a re-united nation we are heirs of a freedom secured, maintained by a tragic cost beyond reckoning. May we always be worthy of our heritage.

The contribution of aviation to the development of Columbus as a major transportation and commercial center will be honored Sept. 9 at a Sesquicentennial Air Show at Port Columbus.

There will be demonstrations of military, civilian, stunt and comedy flying in the three-hour show beginning at 1:30 p.m. Admission and parking will be free of charge. Much of the non-military flying will be by performers of the National Air Show.

The air show is being produced by a committee appointed by Mayor W. Ralston Westlake and headed by W. H. Yahn, president of the Columbus division of North American Aviation.

Headlining the show are the Blue Angels, a Navy jet aerobatic team, which executes rolls, loops and other precision maneuvers at speeds of better than 600 miles per hour with wingtips barely five feet apart.

Another famed Navy unit, the Chuting Stars, will put on an "American Flag" parachute jump to display its accuracy at landing in small target areas.

Other acts include an Army helicopter demonstration, ANG Vigilante and fighter interceptor squadron flybys, aerial refueling of a B-47 by a KC-97 tanker, dual formation flying, light plane precision flying, comedy-batics, wing walking.

RAIN OF FLYING 'SAUCERS'

Great Western Awaits Attack From Space!

They won't be from Mars—or from any other planet—but flying "saucers" (paper discs) will sail through the air at Great Western Shoppers' Mart Friday and Saturday.

They're not designed to strike fear in the heart of anyone. Quite the opposite, according to Bill Trayte, executive secretary of the Great Western Business Association, who says the discs can be quite valuable.

Friday at 6 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. and 4 p.m., a helicopter will hover over the parking area at Great Western and release the discs, which will be numbered.

Matching the numbered discs with numbers posted on the doors of Great Western merchants will bring rewards worth hundreds of dollars and include such articles as bicycles, radios, small appliances, etc, according to Trayte.

TV Station Slates Blood Donations

Officials at WBNS-TV and Red Cross announce Friday, that Aug. 31, will be "Blood Donor Day" at WBNS-TV, 770 Twin Rivers-dr. Hours for donations will be between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. Donors are asked to call the Blood Center, 712 E. Broad-st, CL. 3-5541 for appointments.

The Red Cross will set up facilities for collecting blood. Donors will have a chance to see studios, cameras and perhaps some WBNS-TV personalities.

Lots of Color Outdoors Ere Fall's Arrival

There is lots of color in the outdoors now, even though the brightness of autumn is still a month away. This is the advice of Division of Wildlife fieldmen.

Many late summer blossoms are now to be seen. Queen Anna's lace (wild carrot) is abundant over most of the state. Ironweed shows its magenta in the pasture fields for a brief time. There are light blue chickory blossoms and orange and black-eyed susans. Milkweeds are blooming in damp areas and Joe Pye blossoms tower above most other bloomers.

Fencerows are filled with light berried dogwoods and mountain ash trees are bright with orange-colored fruits. Elderberries are ripe or ripening along railroad rights-of-ways and fence rows, too.

Cool weather in August colored the apples red ahead of their normal time according to orchardists.

Early goldenrod is beginning to show color and the wet bottomlands are white with boneset bloom. A few leaves are turning — those of woodbine and sour gum, both of which are early turners.

"Those who are outdoors, either on foot or driving Buckeye highways, will observe much color if they keep their eyes open," said one wildlife fieldman.

Army Awards Bronze Star To Ballenger

Sgt. Orville Ballenger, son of Mrs. Lena Matthews of 371 N. Algonquin-av, was awarded the Army's bronze star Monday by his commanding officer at the Ft. Bragg, N. C., Army Hospital.

Ballenger was recently released after 16 months imprisonment by Communist forces in Laos.

Ballenger is reportedly suffering from malaria, parasites and a bone disease induced by malnutrition.

Mrs. Matthews commented that she was very proud of her son upon learning of the presentation. She said she may phone for permission to visit the hospital later this week unless she hears from Ballenger's wife, Miyoko.

Playgrounds Officially End Season

The city's 77 supervised playgrounds officially closed Aug. 24. During the last few days of operation, many special events, such as family picnics, father and son softball games, wiener roasts, parties and dances, were scheduled. Some of the playgrounds have reported their final events.

Following are reports from the playgrounds:

at West Mound

Friday, Aug. 24, was the closing day of the playground season at West Mound. The last week was filled with special events for the children and their families.

Monday night the Colts, league champions of the Junior Jets, played the league all-stars. Parents and players alike were there to cheer as the All-Stars won the game, 15-1.

Tuesday night West Mound traveled to Schiller for the pageant. Those from West Mound who joined with Hauntz in presenting "Kids" were Connie Robine, 682 Butler; Bobbie Ward, 1961 Reaver; Barbara and Janet Nelson, 759 Butler; Maureen Gallager, and Janet Flohr, 771 Butler.

A wiener roast for youngsters and parents, followed by a dance for the teen-agers, were the events for Wednesday. Scarcely allowing their roasting forks to cool, the junior girls' softball team went to Westgate on Thursday night for a party and cook-out with the other junior teams in the area. After eating, they played games and enjoyed a variety show put on by Westgate.

In the midst of these activities, the junior girls played Hauntz in softball, and were defeated, 10-12.

The intermediate boys played the seniors and were defeated 15-1. The volleyball team lost to Chicago Avenue in the city tournament.

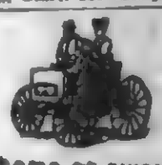
The final standings for the Junior Jet League show the Colts in first place with an 11-1 record. The second place team was the Braves with a 7-4 standing. The Yanks, the Marlins and the Bucks finished third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

at Georgian Hts.

This past week in softball the intermediate boys beat Eakin 20-10 as Carney, Carr, Taylor, Brammer, Byrum, Miller, Nixon, and King all had one or more hits for the winners.

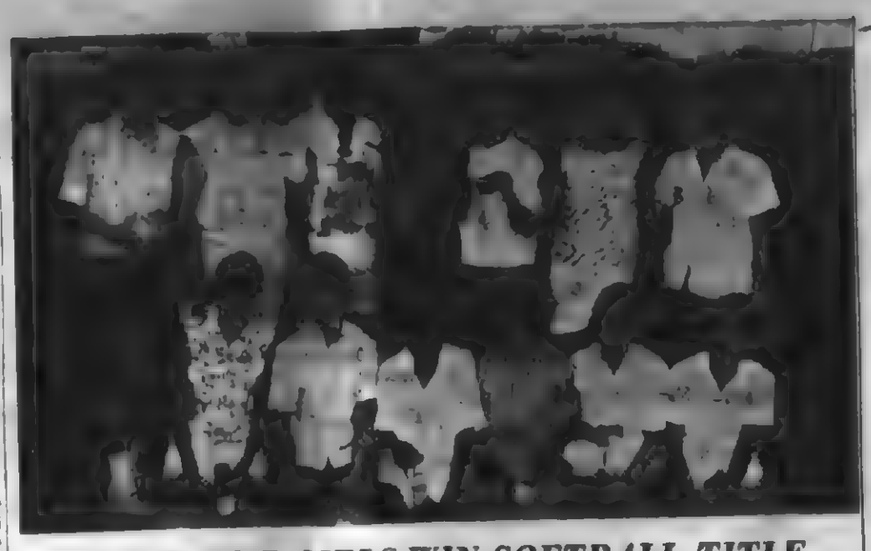
Taylor, Brammer and Carney had four-baggers for Georgian Heights. In a completion game of two innings, Georgian Heights banged a 18-17 victory as Carney, Brammer, Nixon and King combined four hits to bring in the winning run.

The junior boys lost to Westgate again 12 to 5. For the losers, Arnes, Raike, Carney, Gunning, Madden, Schneider and Miller all had hits. Defensively Gluch and Raike played well.



The intermediate also played Hauntz but took it on the chin 20-13. Sprague, Miller, and Brammer all had hits with Clark, Sprague, and Baker connecting for four bagers.

This week marked the end of the playground season. It has been enjoyable for the staff which hopes it has been just as enjoyable for the children. The staff wishes to thank everyone for their wonderful hospitality and cooperation.



at Eakin

Wednesday there was a picnic at Eakin. The children roasted wieners and had good times.

Friday the parents gave an appreciation party for the leaders, Mary and Jack, who would like to thank Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. Sands, and Mrs. Clark for the party.

WESTGATE GIRLS WIN SOFTBALL TITLE

HOLTON SENIOR GIRLS WIN CITY TITLE

At Hauntz . . .

The final week at Hauntz was busy. The annual pageant was held at Schiller Park on Tuesday evening. Hauntz and West Mound presented kids from "Bye Bye Birdie." The Hauntz children in Charleston costumes represented the parents, while West Mound represented the teenagers of today. The Charleston costumes were made by the children.

Those from Hauntz participating were: Sharon Bourgeois, Virginia and Kay Lanning, Kathy Seagal, Jo Ann Miller, Darlene Helphrey, Pam Muir, Patty and Jerri Schmidt, Linda Wheeler, Stacia Surrell, Burnice P., Janet and Luann Groezinger.

The junior softball team defeated West Mound in an exhibition game 12-10, Thursday evening the softball teams attended a picnic at Westgate Park. Later that evening was Hauntz's annual dance. A twist and limbo contest was held.

The Columbus Police bicycle safety program was held on Wednesday. Over 60 people received a satisfactory passing. They were given safety rule books, badges, bicycle stickers and reflectors.

The leaders, Bob Mason and Linda Phillips, want to thank all those people responsible for making this season at Hauntz an enjoyable one.

At Sunshine . . .

The summer playground season came to an end at Sunshine with busy last week activities.

Monday night Junior Jet players and their parents enjoyed a Junior Jet party. The coaches game was the big attraction of the evening. A film of last year's World Series was shown and the evening ended with refreshments for everyone.

Tuesday, Sunshine and Glenwood gave their skit in the Summer Pageant at Schiller Park.

Thursday was the Family Picnic Night. Many Sunshine families turned out for an evening of fun. The men beat the women in an exciting softball game, while the kids played volleyball. Several families joined together in a large group cook-out after the evening's activities.

The parents and players have appreciated the services of the volunteer coaches, Gordon Stewart, Robert Simmerman, George "Popeye" Davis, Bob Balser, Morris Stacy, Jack Young, and Lucky Rawlins — We thank you! The umpires, Jewel Reese, David Gainor, Matthew Grant, Ray King and Bob Baker, have earned our thanks.

At Holton . . .

Girls and boys are happy over their many city-championships for the season.

Doyle Plants and Denny McCann won city-championship in junior boys tennis doubles. Norm Parish and Steve Bertram were runners up.

Bob Grogan and Ron McDaniels won city championship in senior boys tennis doubles.

Rosie Spires took city championship for junior girls tennis singles. Sandy Bertram was runner up in senior girls tennis singles.

Senior girls won city championship for softball and they were runners up in the volleyball tournament.

at Glenwood

The last days of the summer playground season have quickly come and gone and this is written as a final farewell to the children of Glenwood Playground from Denny, Frank and Hazel. The leaders have enjoyed working with them and hope they have enjoyed the time spent at Glenwood this summer.

at Highland

The grand finale for Highland Playgrounders was the annual pageant held at Schiller Park. Highland did a baseball skit to the tune "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

The doors of Highland Park were closed for the summer Friday, Aug. 25.

Hilltopper Enters Design Contest

Nearly 100 local artists are expected to enter designs in the 12th annual Christmas Seal Design Contest. Deadline for entries is Sept. 5.

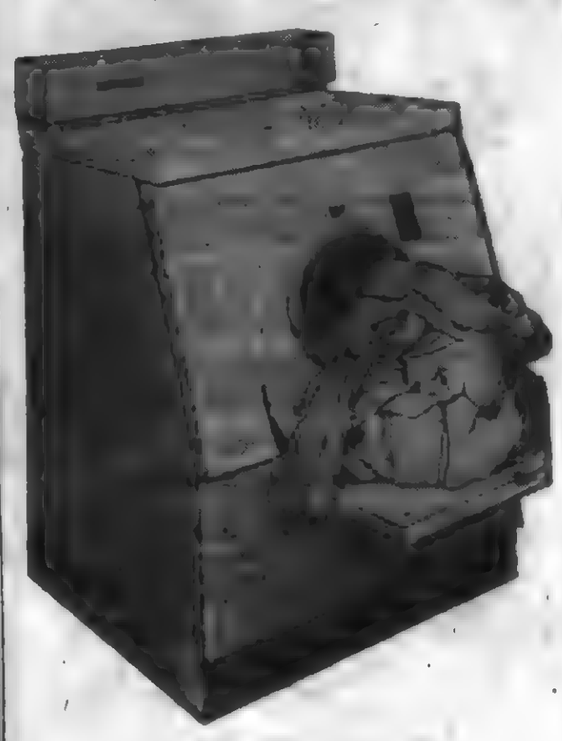
Already registered with an entry is Girden F. Mugrage, 112 Demorest-av, non-professional class. He has studied art at Ohio State University and the Columbus College of Art and Design.

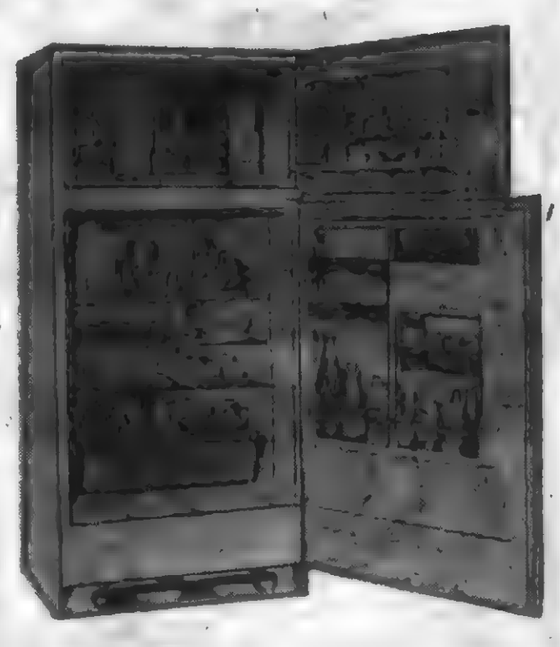
Local winners will be announced at a tea for artists and their guests at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 3 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 2.

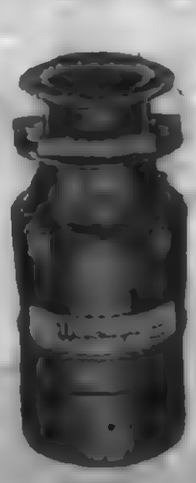
St. Aloysius Men Sponsor Dance

The St. Aloysius Men's Club will sponsor a Fall Frolic Dance to be held in the school hall Saturday, Sept. 1, from 8:30 till 11:30 p.m.

Al Bambush will provide the music for the round and square dancing. Admission is $1.50 per couple. Refreshments will be served. The dance is open to the public.







Cost of production figures show that farmers on small farms can compete with operators of large tracts of land on a unit cost basis if they use their harvesting equipment efficiently.

CAMP WILLSON

Korean, Austrian, Turkish On YMCA Camp Staff

REPRESENTATIVES from abroad are sharing their countries' cultures and learning the ways of America at the YMCA's Camp Alfred Willson near Bellefontaine, this summer. Members of the camp staff are, from left, Austrian Pete Anich, Eunsul Lee of Korea, and Aziz Dere, Turkey.

By Betty Daft

Seeds of international understanding, sown at a youth-to-youth level this summer, promise to bear rewarding fruit to campers and counsellors at the YMCA's Camp Alfred Willson.

Young men from Austria, Korea and Turkey, among group leaders at the camp, are learning of America through the country's most able representatives, her young sons.

And the boys, in turn listen wide -eyed to true tales, seeing other lands through their counsellor's eyes, understainding the ways of other peoples through his words.

Other counsellors at the camp also benefit. Through their association with young men their own age a new knowledge of another's country, its customs and its citizens, unfolds.

And two of the youngsters are learning the language and the ways of American boyhood at Camp Willson. They were enrolled there just three days after their arrival in Columbus from Venezuela.

"Their father hoped they would learn some English here, before schools opens," Camp Director A. R. Deisa explained. "And they have, but" he ruefully explained, "the other boys are learning even more Spanish."

Eunsul Lee, the 26-year-old sociology student from Seoul, Korea, observes his young charges with a trained, professional eye, and is delighted with what he finds.

"American children are kind and so very friendly," he said. "and they think for themselves . . . they always have an opinion and have a wonderful way of expressing it."

Education Differs

He discussed the differences in educational emphasis here and in his own country.

"In Korea, the aim is on mental development only; here, physical education is also stressed. And this is good. Your children are strong and healthy. They seem more mature."

Lee studied at the University of Kentucky as a sociology major for six months, and will return there in the fall for another year before receiving his master's degree.

At home he studied at Seoul National University, and when he returns, will teach high school sociology.

He will also take part in government programs, such as the population study.

"No scientific study of the population has ever been conducted in Korea," he explained. "Census figures are only approximate. And during the war so many moved from North Korea to South Korea."

He also helps, as translator, in the Korean office of the Christian Children's Fund.

The organization, with headquarters at Richmond, Va., aids Korean war orphans by promoting a program of sponsor assistance. These sponsors, with gifts and contributions of $10 a month, each support on orphan.

Friendly, likeable Aziz Dere, has lived in the west Columbus area for two years. The 18-year-old Turkish boy, senior at Franklin Heights, makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wells, 1760 Eastfield-dr, who sponsor his stay in America.

He wore a name tag because he could speak no English at all when he first landed in America, but he was sure of a warm welcome by the Wells'.

His older brother, Selim, lived with the family here and was graduated from Franklin Heights High School two years ago.

Aziz will stay on here after high school graduation to enroll in the College of Engineering, Ohio State University.

After school hours this year he will help Wells operate his pet store at Great Western Shopping Mart.

Pete Anich arrived in New York from Austria on May 30, only three days before he was to report at Camp Willson. When camp is finished for the season he will travel about the country for a couple of weeks before leaving for home.

The 24-year-old Austrian holds a degree is architectural engineering, and has travelled through Ireland, England and other European countries.

When he returns to his native Tirol in the fall, he will become associated in business with his father, a contractor, and will also begin training for the 1964 Olympics.

A slalom specialist, he has been picked for Austria second skiing team bound for the Olympics.

He feels American education is lagging behind those of some European countries, and that youngsters here of comparable age have advanced less scholastically than those abroad.

Pete joins with those from Hungary and Korea in his liking for the youngsters, even though some of the younger boys think "Austria is where kangaroos live, and my stories sometimes come out second best in competition with comic books."

Two Hilltoppers Killed In Crash In Reynoldsburg

A Reynoldsburg automobile crash claimed the lives of two Hilltoppers and injured two others. The accident occurred at 2:55 a.m. Sunday in front of 6921 E. Main-st.

Dead is William M. Brown, 68, his wife, Grace, 65, of 450 S. Wayne-av. Injured were two grandchildren of the Browns, Sharon P. Brown, 15, who lived with them, and Michele L. Callman, 14, of 64 N. Wheatland-av.

Michele was released from Mt. Carmel Hospital Tuesday after 22 stitches were taken for head lacerations. Sharon was in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital with a broken neck.

A second degree manslaughter charge was filed Monday by the Reynoldsburg Police Department against the driver of the other car, Wallace F. Collins, 27, of 1275 Palmer-rd, who received multiple cuts.

Services for Mr. and Mrs. Brown were held Tuesday in Mt. Vernon Avenue AME Church. Interment was in Green Lawn Cemetery by Whittaker Funeral Home.

The Browns are survived by two sons, Richard and William Jr., and the two grandchildren.

The first book printed in the American colonies was the Day Psalm Book which was printed in 1640.

Diana And Sharon Rohr Have Separate Weddings, Double Reception

Sharon Rohr Marries Ross Austin

Miss Sharon Rohr became the bride of Mr. Ross Edwin Austin on Saturday, Aug. 25 at Hilltop Lutheran Church. Pastor John Hydinger performed the 3:30 p.m. ceremony.

The church aisle was lined with large bowettes of seafoam green satin and purple asters. Sunburst arrangements of white carnations and frosted jade foliage adorned the altar. The chancel was lighted with seven branched candelabra and accented with emerald trees.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lovell Wilson Rohr, 291 S. Brinker-av and the late Dr. Rohr. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John McNeal. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Austin, Bowling Green.

The bridal gown was of pure silk organza over bridal taffeta and featured a basque bodice with a portrait neckline appliqued with chantilly lace and re-embroidered with tiny seed pearls and petite sleeves.

The bouffant skirt was enhanced with garlands of chantilly lace appliques and had a wide circular court train.

She carried a sheath cascade of white feathered Fiji chrysanthemums centered with three phaelenopsis orchids.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sanford Hepps and bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Lust, Miss Margaret Hirtsik and Mrs. Peter Nima. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Susan McNeal and flower girl was Miss Kathleen Hepps.

The attendants wore gowns of Nile green silk organza with crescent necklines and petite sleeves. They had contour cummerbunds of taffeta peau and afternoon length bell skirts.

They carried full cascades of purple asters accented with purple satin and polished foliage.

Mr. Richard Hartley served as best man and guests were seated by Mr. Russell Smith, Mr. Richard Leiss and Mr. Gary Austin. Junior ushers were Masters Daniel and David Austin.

A reception at Lincoln Lodge was held following the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, Mrs. Richard Hartley and Mrs. Donald Stretch.

The new Mrs. Austin was graduated from West High School, Christ Hospital School of Nursing and Ohio State University.

Her husband is a graduate of Kodiacanel High School in South India and is a student in the College of Engineering at Ohio State University.

Following a wedding trip to Washington, D.C., the couple will reside at 1789 King-av.

MRS. ROSS EDWIN AUSTIN

Diana Rohr Is Married Saturday

Miss Diana Rohr became the bride of Mr. Gerald Anthony Mollica on Saturday, Aug. 25. The 11:30 a.m. rites were read by Fr. Raymond Bauschard.

The aisle at St. Mary Magdalene Church was lighted with Swedish Cathedral tapers. Completing the church decorations were sunburst arrangements of white stock Chrysanthemums and pompoms against a background of frosted jade foliage on the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lovell W. Rohr, 291 S. Brinker-av, and the late Dr. Rohr. Mr. Mollica is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lewis Mollica of Mansfield.

The bride's gown was of silk organza over taffeta. The basque bodice was designed with a portrait neckline, appliqued with pearl centered florets, and bracelet length sleeves caught with a single pearl centered flower.

A bouffant skirt, appliqued with matching florets, was accented at the back with pouf bustle and flowed gracefully into a wide circular chapel train.

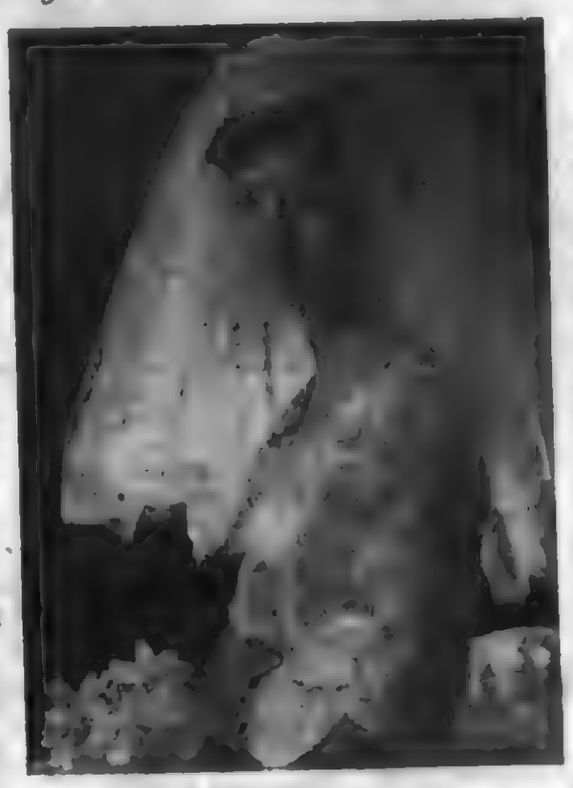
A bouffant veil of imported silk illusion draped softly from a plateau of flowers enhanced with pearls, and the bride carried a full cascade of Snowdrift Fuji pompoms centered with three Phaelenopsis orchids.

Maid of honor was Miss Bettina Mollica and bridesmaids were Miss Dawana Bornheim, Mrs. Neal H. Durban and Mrs. James G. Williamson.

Their gowns were of cotillion blue silk organza with fitted bodices, low crescent necklines and elbow length sleeves. The bell shaped afternoon length skirts were accented with small bows of self material.

The attendants carried sheath arrangements of purple asters accented with purple satin and polished foliage.

Flower girl was Miss Cheryl Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rice, 288 S. Algonquin. She wore a dress of pale green and white with basque waist and full skirt.



Serving his brother as best man was Mr. Lewis R. Mollica. Ushers were Mr. Daniel Reese, Mr. Peter Knight and Mr. William Atkinson, all of Mansfield.

A one o'clock brunch was served at Lincoln Lodge followed by a reception there at four. Hostesses were Miss Pat Bronczek of Cleveland, Mrs. Ronald E. Craven of Columbus, and Mrs. Gary L. King of Fairborn.

The new Mrs. Mollica was graduated from Ohio State University where she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. She is employed as a teacher in the Columbus Public Schools.

Her husband attended Washington and Jefferson College and was graduated from Ohio State University where he served as president of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is now a senior in the College of Law at Ohio State.

Following a wedding trip to Washington, D.C., the couple will reside at 1032 Salisbury.

Central Point To Stage 'Back-To-School' Party

On the last Saturday before the schools open, the merchants of the Central Point Shopping Center, W. Mound-st at Central-av, are "throwing a party" for the boys and girls headed back to school - - - and even the pre-schoolers are to be entertained free.

Beginning at noon and running until dark will be two "Kids' Rides." One, for the small fry, from ages 3 to 12, is a miniature Merry-Go-Round." The other is a "Live Shetland - Pony Merry - Go - Round," with six beautifully saddled ponies in a 30-ft. sweep.

In the evening is an event expected to draw scores of teen-agers. From 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock, the WBNS disc jockey, Dean Lewis, will emcee a teen-age back-to-school "Record Hop."

Saturday, Sept. 1, is to be a big day for boys and girls at Central Point where the stores are crammed with everything needed by the back-to-schoolers . . . whether it be shoes, clothing, supplies or what not. So its "Family Week-End" at Central Point.

Replica Of Grist Mill Attracts Fair Visitors

State Fair visitors at the main tent of the Department of Natural Resources, especially those who lived in the country in their youth, may get a pang of nostalgia when they view the replica of the old grist mill, with its water wheel. The grinding of the millstones and the creaking of the wheel lend credence to the display.

Water, fish and wild animals will be prominent among the displays at the exhibition which runs through Sept. 3. The lake and stream will contain about 250 large catfish and there will be three aquariums of fish that are native to Ohio.

The wild animals and birds will be in cages in an adjacent tent. There will be a large fenced-in-area nearby which will contain picnic tables and benches for those who wish to rest.

The following divisions will have individual exhibits: Forestry, Geological Survey, Land and Soil, Parks, Reclamation, Water, Watercraft and Wildlife.

Schooling Aid Is Available To War Orphans

Many young men and women, between the ages of 18-23, are entitled to as much as 36 months of educational benefits under the VA War Orphans Education Program, stated James C. Robison, manager of the Cincinnati Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Less than 25 per cent of the young man and women eligible for schooling have applied. The VA War Orphans Education Program provides a benefit of $110 per month for 36 months.

Robison stated that many of the eligible young people don't think of themselves as orphans while one parent is still living. The law regards the child of a parent who died from service connected injury or illness as an orphan even though the other parent lives.

Robison stated that any boy or girl interested in schooling, and is not sure of his rights under the War Orphans Education Program, should call in person or write the closest VA office.

The world's most powerful siren, built for the U.S. government to test space equipment, produces a sound level of 172 decibles, more than a million times the level that produces ear pain.

John H. Glenn's Visit To Fair Friday Will Top Final Day

Astronaut John Glenn tops the list of attractions as the Ohio State Fair swings into its final days.

Friday, Aug. 31, has been designated as John Glenn Day and the 40-year-old New Concord spaceman is scheduled to arrive at the Exposition's Center at 11 a.m. He will have a message for Ohio youngsters, who will be admitted to the grounds free, and also will present awards to approximately 100 winners in the first science show ever held at the fair.

Ohio's farmers also will be honored Friday and a "Parade of Machinery" showing the latest in farm machinery, will be featured.

Attractions are plenty for fairgoers who visit the fair over the Labor Day weekend.

The grand champions and other winners of the fair's gigantic livestock exhibition will be on hand for fairgoers to see. A complete Western Horse Show moves into the coliseum over the Labor Day weekend and like the regular horseshow during the fair's first week should prove popular to fair visitors.

The industrial exhibit, showing the strength that has led to Ohio's high industrial ranking, is another phase of the exposition that has been of interest to fairgoers.

Entertainment will include two performances on Friday by the 7-Star Grand Ole Opry Jubilee featuring Webb Pierce and Ferlin Husky. Wrestling fans will see a championship wrestling program featuring a world's title match between Nature Boy Buddy Rogers, the current champion, and Handsome Johnny Barend.

Saturday is Safety Day and fairgoers will see a special safety program at the grandstand, including a spectacular car drop, after the matinee performance starring Lorne Greene and Dan Blocker, stars of television's "Bonanza," who will appear along with the Tommy Steiner World Championship Rodeo during the Labor Day weekend.

Kiwanis Ox Roast Set Near Etna

Northwest Licking Kiwanis Club will sponsor a fall roundup and Ox Roast at the Frontier Ranch, two miles east of Etna, Sept. 15, at 10:30 a.m.

All Kiwanis members in Central Ohio, their families and guests are invited. Some of the feature attractions are: Flippo the Clown; three stage shows by professional entertainers; a beauty contest; rides for the kids; games for the adults; dancing of all types; authentic Indian war dances; the Bonnettes.

The program will continue all day with food available at the restaurant in addition to the beef sandwiches of the Ox Roast.

Tickets may be obtained from any Kiwanis member in Licking, Franklin and Fairfield counties or at the Ridgewood Restaurant in Johnstown.

Recent estimates place the total cost of food stamps at from 2½ to 3 cents per sales dollar, say OSU extension specialists.

Medal Of Honor Centennial Commemorated At Fair

As part of the Centennial program for the Medal of Honor, U.S. Army, an inspiring display entitled "Above and Beyond the Call of Duty" is being exhibited at the Ohio State Fair Sept. 3.

Free and open to the public, this official U.S. Army traces the history of this medal from its establishment during the Civil War to the awards made for the Korean conflict.

Although there have been 20 million American soldiers who have served their country in time of war since 1862, there have been only 2200 awards of the Medal of Honor, U.S. Army evidence of the kind of valor this Medal symbolizes.

The centennial program runs from July 12, 1962, the 100th anniversary of President Lincoln's signature of the Congressional resolution setting up the award, to Mar. 25, 1963, the anniversary of the date on which the first Medals were actually presented to Army personnel.

The exhibit, which had its premiere on Capital Hill in Washington, D. C., is now on an across-the-country tour.

A U.S. Army display team accompanies the exhibit. Its members will be glad to assist viewers with any question they may have on the display. Literature on the Medal will also be made available.

Conference Attended By Teachers

Educators from Columbus atended the annual Distributive Education Conference held through Aug. 23 in Newark under the direction of Ohio State University and the State Department of Education.

The week-long workshop is one of many in-service programs to assist distributive education personnel to keep abreast of the rapid changes in marketing and education.

Directing the conference were Dr. William Logan, professor of distributive education at Ohio State; and Miss Marguerite Loos, state supervisor of distributive education for the Ohio Department of Education.

Conference participants included: Joe H. Porter, 411 Village-dr, Central High School; Richard Briggs, 2653 Nottingham-rd, North High School; O.D. Lehman, 631 Binns-blvd, West High School; Jack Strietelmeier, 2532 Spatz-av, Franklin Heights High; Stephan Lucas, 1530 King-av, Grove City High.

Gerald Patterson, 329 Danhurst, Pleasant View High; William Ruth, 306 Pinney-dr, Worthington, Whitehall Yearling High; Chester Bandman, 339 S. Broadleigh-av, Hamilton Local High; Oscar K. Rogers, 836 S. Roosevelt-av, Reynoldsburg High.

Trefoil Council Wins Fair Honors

A display of miniature Girl Scout models portraying many of the activities of the organization won grand honors for the Ohio Girl Scout Trefoil Council of Central Ohio Aug. 24 at the Ohio State Fair.

Decorated with hundreds of hand made yellow roses, the exhibit was one of seven special displays commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Girl Scouts.

Christmas Seal Contest Open

John Glover, Rupert Brown and James Klepser, professional artists, have been named judges for the 1962 annual Christmas seal design contest, according to the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County.

The contest, co-sponsored by the Tuberculosis Society and the Columbus College of Art and Design, closes for local artists Sept. 5.

'Mystery Man' McKay Replaced By Martha Raye

For awhile it was touch and go as to the whereabouts of Gardner McKay who was to have started rehearsals in Warren, O., for the Kenley Player production of "Picnic," scheduled to open here Sept. 4.

McKay started on a tramp steamer cruise in mid-July and up until last week remained the little man who wasn't there.

Producer John Kenley as well as McKay's studio, 20th Century-Fox, contacted the British consular service in the Caribbean for help in tracing the star. On Wednesday, Aug. 23, it was reported that McKay was ill at an undisclosed place in the Caribbean; although nothing grave was reported, his Columbus appearance has been canceled.

Replacing McKay will be Martha Raye in "Wild Cat."

Prairie Players Seeks Members

The Prairie Players will open their new season with the production of "The Seven Year Itch" scheduled for the Prairie Township School Auditorium, Friday, Sept. 28 and Saturday, Sept. 29.

At present the Players are interested in new members for work in the coming season. Membership is open to Prairie Township residents. More information may be obtained by contacting the president, Mrs. J. J. Lane, TR. 8-5449 or Mrs. Paul Noblitt, TR. 8-4612.

POG Picks Critic's Choice To Wind Up Its Season

"Critic's Choice," the Broadway play about a New York drama critic and his playwright wife, is now playing at Playhouse-on-the-Green. The comedy will be the final production of the season, and will end its run Saturday night, Sept. 1.

Inspired by a passage in a book by New York Herald Tribune critic Walter Kerr, "Critic's Choice" also bears some similarity to critic Kerr's own domestic situation.

Written by Ira Levin, who dramatized "No Time for Sergeants," "Critic's Choice" tells of a leading reviewer for a New York daily who wife writes a play. The critic faces a choice between keeping his home scene happy by sending a substitute to review his wife's play or maintaining his integrity and giving the play the pan he knows it deserves.

Jean Middlebrooks, Martha Miller, Lois Kibbee, Raymond Thorne, and Peter Harris will appear in "Critic's Choice."

Dukes Return

Finishing up their six night engagement at the Grandview Inn are the famous Dukes of Dixieland. They will be playing nightly until Aug. 31.

The New Orleans jazz band is famous for its free-for-all jam session style, combining casualness and meticulous musicianship. The Dukes feature the Assunto family.

WOSU-TV Returns To Air Sept. 4

WOSU-TV Channel 34 returns to the air on Sept. 4 after a month's vacation. The first week's program highlights include, on Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 7:15 p.m., "Images of Art" with Robert Anderson, Canadian film producer narrating a study of European art. Among the artists featured on this series are El Greco, Rousseau, Seurat, Rembrandt, Degas and Dore. Following at 7:15 is "Projection Room," a galaxy of features dealing with actuality films. The first documentary is concerned with the Second World War.

Denis Brogan, one of the rare Englishmen who have written widely on American history and politics, gives insight into the American character and America's image in the world on his program "Brogan on America", at 9:00 Wednesday, Sept. 5.

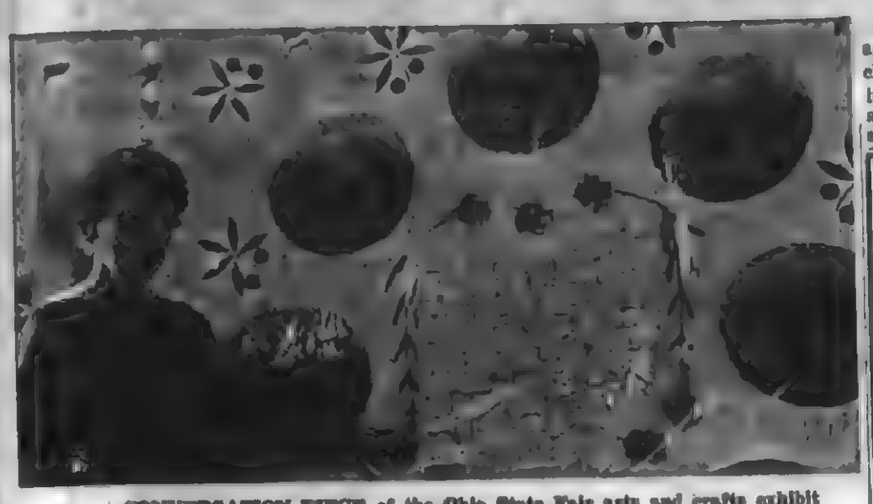
On Sept. 6 at 7:30 is the program "Objective Survival," a report on the need for preparedness in the event of massive nuclear attack. A selected group of the nation's foremost radiation and civil defense authorities and a group of American family physicians will discuss the topic.

Closing the first week of programs is "Self Encounter" at 10:30 p.m., Sept. 7, a discussion by Dr. Hazel Barnes of the University of Colorado discussing existentialism as expressed in plays, novels and short stories.

Fairytales At Grand

"The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm," now showing at the RKO Grand, gives the life stories of the authors of the world famous Grimm's Fairly Tales. The full length dramatic feature includes three of their favorite tales, "The Dancing Princess," "The Singing Bone," and "The Cobbler and the Elves." Performances at 8:30 nightly, matinees daily through Labor Day. All seats reserved.

Plans Made For Golden Age Show



Many unusual exhibits of collections, paintings, needlecraft, ceramics, wood-carving, metalwork, leathercraft, and photography will be on display at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts during the 14th Annual Golden Age Hobby Show on Sept. 14, 15 and 16. The show is open to the public free of charge.

Any person 60 years of age or over is eligible to enter. There is no entry fee and exhibits may include any non-perishable articles. Entries may include any articles made after 60 years of age which have not been exhibited in a previous show and any articles made since the 1961 show. No articles will be accepted for sale but orders may be placed at the show.

Every person who submits an exhibit will receive a Certificate of Recognition. First and second prizes and honorable Mention will be awarded by a judging committee composed of experts in each type of work.

All entries should be be brought to the rear door of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts on Monday, Sept. 10, and Tuesday, Sept. 11 between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Entries may be called for after the conclusion of the Hobby Show on Tuesday or Wednesday, Sept. 18 or 19 between noon and 4:30 p.m. Persons having any questions regarding the show should call the Columbus Recreation Department, CA. 1-2211, Ext. 281 or the Senior Citizens Recreation Center, 224-5014.

CONVERSATION PIECE of the Ohio State Fair arts and crafts exhibit is the "astronaut" quilt. Pointing out some of its unique features is Mrs. W. Wulber, 1048 S. Roosevelt, chairman of this year's exhibit.

Summer Theaters' Playbitts

KENLEY PLAYERS: Juanita Hall starring in "Flower Drum Song," nightly at 8:30 through Sept. 2.

Opening Sept. 4, Martha Raye in "Wildcat."

PLAYHOUSE-ON-THE GREEN: "Critic's Choice," nightly through Sept. 1. Last production of season.

Varied Arts Shown In Fair's Exhibit

There may be some head scratching over some of the entries in the Ohio State Fair art exhibit. There is a wide range of unusual materials with some equally ususual results. One blue ribbon winner is a large piece of green steel with a male silhoutte in red. It is unique. There are also pieces in wax covered plaster, a figure of man made out of steel scraps, and an entry with a pair of shoes nailed to the base.

Among the endeavors is a beautifully worked piece of sculpture titled "Green Wrn" by David Black which deserved its first prize.

On the other side of the arts and crafts center, there is no doubt as to what is what. The crafts part of the show exhibits works from the sewing machine, the leather shop and the kitchen.

The state of Ohio plays a big part in subject matter. Probably the most talked about item is the hand made quilt with the state of Ohio in the middle. It took Mrs. Mary K. Borowski of Dayton, Ohio, three years to complete here ambitious work which has eight seals of Ohio, one for each Ohio president, embroidered around the map of the state. To bring her quilt up-to-date, she has starred the home town of John Glenn and added seven carnations, one for each astronaut.

The leather exhibit is a relatively new section to the arts and crafts show. The entries prove that the material can be used to make anything from bowling bags to clocks and pictures of rocket ships.

The state of Ohio will also figure in the baked goods display. A cake decorated with the seal of Ohio will be presented to Mrs. DiSalle.

"There will be something going on here every day," commented Mrs. W. Wulber, chairman of the arts and crafts exhibit. In the Exhibition Hall, a program of painting, flower arrangement, wood carving, and demonstrations of spinning and weaving will take place daily.

The Ohio State Fair will run through Sept. 11. The Arts and Crafts Buildings is located across from the Fairgrounds.

'Drum Song' Proves Musical Team Still Tops

When the combination is Rogers and Hammerstein, you can count on something more than just an evening of good entertainment. The famous duo have the formula for putting together memorable music with a story that is warm, human — and in the case of "Flower Drum Song" — one that penetrates the problems that arise when East meets West.

BEVERLY

The colorful show, set in San Francisco, examines the perplexing difficulties existing between Chinese, Americans, and Chinese-Americans — more specifically — when the boy must win his girl amid the complexities of Chinese traditions versus American culture.

Juanita Hall, who played the part on Broadway, is excellent as the Americanized aunt of the young Wang Ta, who chooses between an Americanized Chinese bride and the "real thing."

The part of Wang is sensitively played by David Chaney. Coco does admirably as his Chinese bride. His almost-bride, Linda Low, is well done by Michi Kobi, who gives some fiery renditions of popular songs from the show, namely "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

Ramon Novarro as Wang's father provides some of the good musical moments with his duo with Miss Hall, "The Younger Generation."

The Kenley production has some nice surprises in the supporting cast. Denny Meehand is easily the brightest spot in the show. His role of the wayward son in love with Linda Low is done with a naturalness that sparks his singing and dancing. One of the lesser known, but unmistakably funniest numbers, "Don't Marry Me," gets a humorous treatment.

Patrick Adriarte, as Wang's younger brother, is as agile and talented a young dancer as has been seen on the Kenley stage this summer. One only regrets that is part was not bigger.

The role of Helen Chao, a seamstress in love with Wang, provides some sentimental melodies as she sings the beautiful song "Love Look Away."

The choreography, as always in the Kenley productions, is bright, imaginative and geared for pure entertainment.

If you haven't already seen the "Flower Drum Song" in either the stage or movie production, don't miss the opportunity of seeing Rogers and Hammerstein score again as the distinguished contributors to musical theater.

Air Escapade At Drive-Ins

The cinemascope and deluxe adventure, "Five Weeks In a Balloon," an adaptation of the Jules Verne novel, opened Wednesday for a first run engagement at the CCC, Eastside, W. Fifth and Linden Air Auto theaters.

Red Buttons, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Fabian, Barbara Eden, Peter Lorre, Richard Hadyn and Barbara Luna star in the comedy-adventure.

"Five Weeks In a Balloon" is the fictional story of a remarkable adventure of three men and two women who made a balloon flight across 4000 miles of unmapped Africa in 1872. The movie details the encounters of their incredible trip.

"Firebrand," the story of the famous Mexican bandit, Jacquin Murietta, is the co-feature.

Rogers vs Barend At Fair Wrestling

Al Haft, long time promoter of wrestling in the Columbus area, has set up a spectacular wrestling show for Ohio State Fair patrons Friday night at the Exposition's Center Coliseum.

Featured attraction will be the appearance of Nature Boy Buddy Rogers, long familiar to Central Ohio mat fans. Rogers, who won the National Wrestling Association's world title last year, will place his coveted belt on the line when he faces Handsome Johnny [redacted].

Barend, one of wrestling's fabled 'pretty boys', has a long-standing list of grudge matches with Rogers and the Friday night match figures to be no different when the two rivals tangle.

One of wrestling's biggest drawing cards, Argentina Rocca, will also appear on the card, matching his agility against the brawn of the Giant Babe, the seven-foot tall, 329-pound Japanese heavyweight champion.

Frankie Talaber and Leon Graham, Ohio tag team champions, will battle Fred Atkins and Angelo Savoldi in the other headliner. Lady and midget wrestlers will round out the coliseum program.

Tickets for the wrestling program are on sale at Marshalls, 46 N. High-st and The Clock Restaurant in downtown Columbus.

Female Focus On Sports Poses Problem For Male

There was a segment in American sports history when the appearance of the gentle sex at a sporting contest was not only unusual but downright taboo. However, time and Carrie C. Catt have carried American womanhood to unequaled heights.

As a result the American man must not only compete with the "little woman" in the realms of big business but finds the area of balls and strikes, punts and first downs—once his isolated haven — suddenly transformed into a facet of daily living where the sign "for men only" is as impractical as it is outdated.

The rate at which mom has been whirling the turnstiles on "Ladies' Day" proves conclusively that this nation's feminine population has taken to sports like they did to the steam iron.

Naturally such an interest is healthy and good for the game but it does pose its problem. Picture the embarrassment at that next outdoor barbecue with the Jones and Smiths when the Mrs. corrects your statement of Stan Musial's lifetime batting average or some female guest challenges your appraisal of the bench strength of the Cleveland Indians — with names and figures!

Alas, the days of "why, who and where" are a thing of the past. Today's American female sports fans have gotten education. And what's worse (for us fellows) is that the gals have even made serious inroads into the phase of field strategy.

This point was brought home clearly just recently at Jet Stadium. I had coasted along comfortably through the first few innings favorably impressing my female companion with my natural male knowledge of the national pastime. Then in the seventh inning it happened. The Jets were ahead at the time but the Columbus pitcher was tiring badly and had managed to pitch himself into bases-loaded situation. There was one out and with a maximum effort he managed to strike out a hitter for the second out.

A lefthander was due at the plate so the situation called for a lefthanded pitcher. Besides I explained this pitcher was tired and had lost his stuff.

"But he struck that man out," my companion protested.

"But that isn't the way they play the game," I answered, confident in the time-tried theory of replacing "tired righthander with strong lefthander to face lefthanded batter."

"Well, I wouldn't take him out," she said.

I smiled smugly. I smiled again when the first pitch cut the heart of the plate for strike one. My eyes followed the flight of the second pitch until it came to rest somewhere near the centerfield scoreboard.

The four runs hadn't even been posted on the scoreboard when she turned to me, smiled smugly and said those five humiliating words, "See, I told you so." And I guess she did.

Capital Eleven Eyes Conference Laurels

Capital University football coach Gene Slaughter is taking a positive attitude in looking forward to the Purple and White's 1962 football season.

Although the Cap schedule is 40 per cent tougher, Slaughter isn't looking ahead with any pessimistic outlook. "The immediate goal is to win every game. The ultimate goal is the conference championship," says the Lutheran mentor.

AND SLAUGHTER will have 24 lettermen returning from his squad of 76 to to achieve these goals. But there are problems. The Cap coach will be concerned with replacing all but one position on the line and getting more speed out of his halfbacks.

One of the brighter spots will be the Capital defense, which held opponents to 94 points last year, greatly aiding the club in compiling a 5-2-1 record, good enough for a fifth place finish in the 15 team Ohio Conference. Only two men were lost from the defensive team, so experience and depth are no problems, only lack of size.

In the offensive backfield, Slaughter will be counting heavily on senior quarterback Denny Engler and junior fullback Al Miller. Engler completed 53 per cent of his tosses last season and Miller led the club in total yards gained, averaging 3.4 yards per carry.

ON THE LINE sophomore Gary Mauller, described as "the toughest man on the squad by coach Slaughter, will be back along with 215-pound junior tackle Warner Sippola and 180-pound junior center Paul Scherzer.

Among the top freshmen prospects are Ron Schenkerberger, a 155-pound halfback from Massillon, who rated honorable mention on All-Ohio teams; Jim Makar, the block-busting all Columbus City League fullback from Eastmoor, and Wayne Caulley, an 180-pound center from Columbus North, who, according to Slaughter, may be the best all around lineman in the country.

Here is the Capital University 1962 schedule:

Sept. 29—at Mt. Union
Oct. 6—Illinois
Oct. 13—at Kenyon
Oct. 20—at Wittenberg
Oct. 27—Akron
Nov. 3—Marietta
Nov. 10—at Muskingum
Nov. 17—Otterbein

Lion Gridders Called To Sign

Registration for the Hilltop Lions Little League football program has been scheduled for 11 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 1, at the open shelter house in Westgate Park.

Any interested boy between the age of eight to twelve years whose weight does not exceed 100 pounds is eligible to participate and must register on this date.

Each boy must be equipped with a quality helmet with an attached face guard, shoulder pads, football pants and either tennis shoes or little league shoes. It is suggested that each boy have a teeth pro[redacted].

Anyone interested in obtaining additional information or desiring to become a league game official should contact Karl Fulton at BR 6-1029.

Receives Suspension

Phil's of 859 W. Mound-st has received a seven-day suspension from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control for the Sunday sale of intoxicating liquor on Feb. 25. Suspension will begin at noon today, and end at noon Sept. 5.

Bantam Boys Loop Seeks More Teams

The Greater Columbus Bantam Boys Football coaches held their first meeting to organize the league Monday night.

At the present time only five teams have gained entry in the league. The five entries are: the Moose Lodge Hall, Dave Keller, coach; the South Side Warriors, Bud Daniels, coach; the University Boys Association, Mr. Harbaugh, coach; the Whitehall Merchants, Joe Millay, coach, and the Hilltop Colts with Dave Thornton as coach.

There is still a need for several more teams to be taken into the league. Due to scheduling the deadline for making application for entry into the league has been set for Sept. 9.

The league is open to boys between the ages of 13 to 15. They must not weigh over 135 pounds to meet the league's weigh-in requirements.

An entry fee of $40 per team is required and each team must be furnished its own equipment. Any club or organization that is interested in obtaining more information or desires to enter a team in the bantam league should contact Dave Keller at BR 4-9022 before the Sept. 9 deadline.

According to Keller, the league will be a wonderful opportunity for the boys to learn how to play better football, learn good sportsmanship and make some new friends.

Jets Set Sights On Playoff Berth

The Columbus Jets, still fighting for a first division berth in the International League, return to the West Mound Street stadium Monday to close out their 1962 home season with a 10-game stand against league-leader Jacksonville and Atlanta.

The Larry Shepard crew, who have run hot and cold all season, play host to the Suns, closing in fast in their effort to replace the Jets as the International League pennant winners, in a seven-game series.

THE SERIES opens with a big Labor Day double-header, beginning at 4:30. General Manager Harold Cooper urges baseball fans to come out to the ball park and make a day of it, adding that there will be plenty of picnic tables available and free checking facilities for picnic baskets at the stadium.

The Newark Blue Raiders American Legion Post 85's drum and bugle corps will provide musical entertainment between games. Danny Bigelow of Columbus is drum major and Walter Campbell, also of Columbus, is the drill instructor. Stadium gates will open at 3:30.

The Jacksonville series continues Tuesday and Wednesday with twi-night doubleheaders both evenings, closing with a single game under the lights Thursday. Thursday's game will be Sandy's Night with a Florida vacation for four waiting for some lucky fan at the ball park.

IT WILL BE out of the frying pan and into the fire for the Jets with Jacksonville's departure for the Atlantic Crackers move into the visitors dugout for a three-game series the following night which includes angle games Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday's afternoon finale.

Since the Crackers also have asperations for a playoff position, it's likely that fourth place might not be decided until the final out of the '62 home season is made.

This final home stand will be the last scheduled chance for Jet fans to see Columbus stars Bob Veale, IL strikeout king, Bob Bailey, Jet entry for "rookie of the year" honors, Johnny Powers and all the rest of Larry Shepard's diamond crew. There's a playoff spot at stake and that always means exciting baseball.

Fall Racing Is Readied At Beulah

Everything is set for the opening of the fall racing season at Beulah Park on Monday, Sept. 3—Labor Day. The holiday program is the first of 24 to be offered by the track before the close of the year's activities on Saturday, Sept. 29.

President Robert Y. Dienst reports that some 750 horses are on hand for the autumn meeting which should assure not only an excellent brand of sport but fields of the size which make for excellent mutuel play.

WHILE THE top feature of the fall is the Ohio Championship, at a mile and a sixteenth and which is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22, there will be numerous other events listed including four or five turf races each week to provide a variety of action for the fans.

Paul Ward is expected to head the riding colony again and this time he will have a double objective. He has led numerous meetings at Beulah Park and hopes to add another title to his long list. He also would like to wind up the meeting with five more winners than Jimmy Dobson gets.

If he can accomplish this feat, Ward will become the winningest jockey in Beulah Park history. Currently Dobson has 378 winners, accumulated from 1938. Ward has 374 in a span of competition dating from 1952.

...AS A SPECIAL inducement to the feminine racing fans in the area, the first of four Ladies Days, Tuesday, Sept. 4, will find the track awarding a 1962 Valiant automobile to some lucky patron. On all four days, ladies will be admitted free to the grandstand and on the other three Ladies Days, fur pieces will be awarded.

First post on weekdays will be 2:30 o'clock on Labor Day and the Saturdays of the meeting, the start will be made 15 minutes earlier at 2:15 o'clock.

Go-Kart Ride Set Thursday

An exhibition of precision Go-Kart driving will be held at the Hilltop Kart Rides, 4100 Fisher-rd, Thursday, Aug. 30, at 8:30 p.m.

Driver Steve Downing will pair with Larry Goodrich while Mike Culbertson's partner will be Ron Drake. The drivers, all experienced Go-Kart racers, will demonstrate trick and fancy riding on the 125-foot track. The public may watch from their cars.

Bear Coach Wants Boys

Westgate Bear coach Robert Lindamood needs boys interested in playing football for his team. He urges all boys who have a desire to play ball in the Bearcat League with his Westgate club to contact him immediately.

The players must be within the 10 to 14 year old age limit and weigh not more than 120 pounds. The boys must furnish their own shoes but all other equipment will be furnished to those boys who can make the team.

IN MEMORIAM

Bessie E. Bevins, who passed away Aug. 31, 1961.

Sleep on dear, good mother;
it has been a year since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears.
Yours was a heart that was blithesome and gay,
Scattering sunshine all along the way;
You know how we loved you,
and yes, love you yet,
Though God took you from us
we cannot forget.

Daughter, Margaret Reardon Raver, and Grandson, Bud Reardon and family.

★ Honor God Sunday

★ Honor Labor Monday

SPECIAL DAYS . . . Monday has been set aside by man as a day to honor labor. Throughout the year, man works hard and deserves this recognition and rest. However, even before man saw this need for rest, God set aside one day a week for rest and worship. Attend church each Sunday. Worship the Lord in His house, on the day that He set aside.

"And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it, because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Seiller's Marks 53rd Anniversary

Seiller's Department Store, 2404 W. Broad-st, founded in 1909 by the late L. M. Seiller as a dry-goods and shoe store, is celebrating its 53rd anniversary during Columbus' sesquicentennial year.

L. M. Seiller was joined a few years later by M. W. Seiller who added women's ready-to-wear, making Seiller's the first suburban department store in the city.

Soon after, L. M. Seiller relinquished his share in the store to M. W. Seiller.

J. P. Merriman, now vice-president, majority stockholder and general manager, started to work at the store as a delivery boy in 1917.

During the 1930s more space was needed and neighboring buildings were incorporated into the store area. A basement store was opened in 1939.

The late Paul Leighninger, son-in-law of M. W. Seiller, joined Seiller and Merriman in an incorporation of the business in 1941.

When Seiller retired from active management, the other two partners assumed general management and control. After Leighninger's death in 1955, Merriman acquired majority stockholders rights.

His son, Howard Merriman, after a tour of duty as Lt. jg, US Navy, entered the business in 1957, serving as treasurer and assistant manager.

Jack Merriman's son-in-law, Jim Cushman, joined the firm in 1961 as controller and manager of men's wear.

During the past two years three additions have been made to the store family — the Gomer Fabric and Fashion Shop, Mechanicsburg Fashion and Fabric Shop and West Jefferson Fabric and Fashion Shop. All feature mill-priced fabrics, women's and children's ready-to-wear, boys' wear and men's furnishings.

Hilltop Kiwanis Told: 'Stand Up For Free Enterprise'

Businessmen were called upon today in Columbus to stand up and tell the profit and free enterprise story with the suggestion that business needs more enlightened advocates of and fewer whimpering apologists for a system which has developed a standard of living greater than the world has ever known.

Addison E. Dewey, director of the Ohio Petroleum Council, in an address at a luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club in Monaco's Restaurant, said that "the free enterprise system has never failed America and let's make sure that America does not fail the free enterprise system."

Dewey pointed out to the Kiwanians that the United States today is the world's leading energy-producing and energy-consuming nation. He said that "while the U. S. has only 6 per cent of the world's population and only 7 per cent of its land area, this nation produces 38 per cent of the world's crude oil and 44 per cent of the world's refining capacity and accounted for 46 per cent of the world's oil consumption." Dewey added that America is now consuming about 10 million barrels of oil per day.

The Kwanians were also told by Dewey that Russia's militant efforts to gain economic and political power through sale of crude oil at prices well below any reasonable cost is a growing threat to the security of this nation and the rest of the Free World. He noted that the Soviet goal is not merely the destruction of the Free World's vital oil industry but political domination and enslavement of nations by making them dependent upon Russian oil.

Dewey went on to tell the Kiwanians that the price of gasoline today is one of the biggest bargains in the family budget. He said the average service station price (exclusive of tax) of regular grade gasoline in 1961 was only 1.5 per cent above the 1952 level, when by contrast average retail prices of all items in the general commodity index were up 12.6 per cent.

Local Firm Low Bidder On Rt. 40 Resurfacing

The contract for the resurfacing of U.S. Rt. 40 in New Rome and Prairie Township apparently will be awarded to the Complete General Construction Co. of Columbus.

The company bid $116,837, which is $12,437 over the State Highway Department's estimate of the cost.

The resurfacing would begin approximately 450 feet west of the intersection of Rome-Hilliard-rd and U.S. 40 and go, at intervals, to approximately 330 feet east of Wilson-rd.

scape architecture by Ohio State University in 1951 and for a year before joining the city was a landscape architect with the Ohio Division of Parks.

While attending college, Buchanan worked as an engineering aide with the Ohio Division of Parks and as a draftsman with the Columbus Metropolitan Park Board. He served as a technician with the U.S. Army in Europe from 1945 to 1947.

Mayor Westlake said a meeting of the City Planning Commission will be called Aug. 30 when members have returned from vacations to expedite a study designed to lay the ground rules for the development of a comprehensive master plan for the entire Columbus metropolitan area.

Buchanan is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, the American Institute of Planners, the Ohio Planning Conference, the Ohio Parks Association, and the Columbus Association of Landscape Architects.

The new appointee is 35 years old, married, and has three children. He is a 1945 graduate of West High School, a member of the Glenwood Methodist Church, and is active in the YMCA and the Boy Scouts of America.

Creek in Union and Delaware Counties, it will have a 180-foot long spillway 1.5 miles northwest of Bellepoint. A rolled earth levee will protect Ostrander. It will have a minimum conservation pool of 420 acres to expand to 6200 during flood conditions. Estimated cost is $11,613,617.

- Upper Darby—In Madison and Franklin Counties will have a dam with a 222-foot long spillway. Located 1.3 miles above Rt. 40 northeast of West Jefferson, it will provide water supply of 30 million gallons daily. A pool for recreation will cover 1800 acres and expanded to 2820. Estimated cost, $9,123,021.
- Lower Darby—In Madison Counties on Darby Creek is to furnish flood control for Circleville and Chillicothe. The dam will have a 222 foot long spillway and will be located five river miles above Harrisburg and seven miles below U.S. Route 40. A minimum conservation pool of 470 acres will expand to 3780 during floods. Estimated cost, $14,163,723.
- Hoover Dam — Modification with eight-foot high crest gates to be added to 680-foot spillway to provide flood control facilities in Hoover Reservoir in addition to present water supply. Estimated cost, $766,260.

Other projects include work at Alum Creek north, Bellepoint in Delaware and Marion Counties, Rarden Creek in Adams and Scioto Counties.

Within Columbus the program calls for improvement from Greenlawn-av west south about 2.8 miles, about a half mile from the city sewage treatment outfall. Also included is strengthening of the Dry Run levee in the State Hospital grounds.

Flood condition relief in the West Side would be provided by four additional pumping stations between Greenlawn-av and Frank-rd.

Financing of the projects would be by issuance of bonds. Federal aid is also anticipated by the district.

Gets Building Permit

The G. F. Smith Chemical Co., 867 McKinley-av, received a building permit for a $3,000 addition to a concrete block building.

West Jeffersonites To Go All Out For Big Labor Day Feast

"Bargain: over and above what is stipulated." So says Noah W.

According to the above definition of "bargain," the West Jefferson Community and Businessmen's Association-sponsored 12th annual Ox Roast is a bargain.

They stipulate that you will have a good time.

The bargain is in furthering the positions of the youth of West Jefferson through a summer recreation and education [illegible].

Profits realized from the annual Labor Day event are used to sponsor the summer activities for the youngsters of that community.

Said to be the largest such event in the state of Ohio, the Ox Roast is a perennial favorite of those who like small town carnivals and fun.

Sandwich serving will start at 4 p.m. Monday.

Prime beef, champion steers from the Madison County Fair, have been bought for roasting over charcoal in the huge pit.

In the entertainment bag are local TV personalities Stan Brahnson, Clay Eager and Flippo (for the kids of course).

Also: a parade, a talent show, a band show, a beauty contest and aerial salutes.

If you're hungry, plenty of Ox Sandwiches. And they are good!

If you're broke — or would like to pick up a little extra cash, $1,000 worth of it will be given away.

So if you must be on the highway over the Labor Day weekend, make it a short trip, west on Rt. 40 to West Jefferson and help give the kids there a boost and help yourself to fun and food.

Roger M. Rees At Fort Knox

Pvt. Roger M. Rees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement P. Rees, 544 Hilltonia, is undergoing advanced training in Company C (Clerical School) of the 2d Training Brigade's 7th Battalion at Fort Knox, Ky.

This course is of eight weeks duration. During this time, Rees will receive instruction in typing, English grammar, army correspondence, preparation of morning reports and other skills.

The 22-year-old soldier entered the army in May. He is to be graduated Oct. 4.

Herb Prince, Jr. Is Presented Scholarship

A June graduate of Central High School has received a complete four-year college scholarship from the United Negro College Fund, Inc.

Herbert Price, Jr., of 815 E. Second-av, will attend the Hampton Institute in Virginia where he will major in biology or sociology.

At Central, Price was a member of the national Honor Society. His article, "My Responsibility As a Citizen," won an award this year in a contest sponsored by the

Seek New Hearing

Westgate Manor Super Duper managers said they will ask for a new trial in connection with a Sunday Closing Law charge filed by the Greater Columbus Sunday Association.

Municipal Judge Alan Schwarzwalder levied a fine of $25 and costs on the store, Aug. 24.

Age, illness, worry and sorrow can cut down the secretion of pigment and cause the hair to turn gray or white.

In modern usage, the term "blood money" is now applied to the reward or bribe paid for giving up a criminal to justice.

FRIENDSHIP SEVEN SUMMER READING CLUB GRADUATES MEMBERS

IN CELEBRATION OF THE COMPLETION of book reading requirements for the Friendship Seven Summer Reading Club, the part-time staff members of both Hilliard and Hilltonia Branches of the Columbus Public Library presented an adaptation of "The Emperor's New Clothes" as a treat for club graduates. In the picture at left, Miss Ellen Metzger, Hilltonia librarian, presents "Astronaut" buttons to three youngsters who were among the first to qualify. From left, Paula Straquadine, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Straquadine of 769 S. Wayne-av; Jerry Shepardson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Shepardson of 2543 Kreber-av; and Patty Straquadine, 9, sister of Paula. In the picture at right are staff members of the play cast. From Hilltonia, Nick Miller and Jim Carr. Hilliard staffers include Jean Doran, Inara Dzelzitis, Carol Richardson, Carol Doran and her small brother, Rick Doran. The play was given Friday afternoon in the dramatics classroom of Hilltonia Junior High School. Hilliard Library graduates saw the performance Friday afternoon in the auditorium of Hilliard Elementary School. The youngsters read 15 books during the summer.

Franklinton Is Founded At Forks Of Scioto

The founding of Franklinton in 1797, in the beautiful and productive valley of the Scioto, was the prelude of a drama that would unfold on the river's shores within the next two decades.

Ohio would become a state in 1802, and its capital would be located 10 years later on the east bank, opposite the original settlement; the county of Franklinton would be established in 1803, and Franklinton would become its first seat of government.

Although the high hopes its founder, Lucas Sullivant, had for Franklinton would never be fully realized, the town and its settlers would become a mighty influence in shaping the development of a state capital.

Lucas Sullivant selected the site for his town with [illegible] and foresight.

The land was unmatched for fertility and located on what was then a navigable river, in the heart of the new settlements springing up all around.

And the town could conceivably become the capital of a new state.

Although state lines of the Northwest Territory had not yet been established, Sullivant took into consideration that Franklinton would be about halfway between Lake Erie on the north and the Ohio River on the south, probable outlines of the state.

If the town did not actually become the capital, it would be close by, and would surely be in the path of western immigration.

Sullivant, a deputy surveyor, and his party came first to the land near the forks of the Scioto in 1796, to locate and survey.

As an agriculturist, raised on a southern tobacco plantation, Sullivant was immediately impressed with the fertility of the lowlands, then planted with Indian maize.

He located and purchased for himself that same year, from the heirs of Richard Stephenson, 2,000 acres on the west side of the river. His title to this land, "Entry 2668," was later questioned and it was not until 1799 that Sullivant got a clear warrant.

He also purchased an additional 1,000 acres, "Entry 1393," east and south of the first entry, including lands from the river to Guilford-av. This parcel was to become his most valuable tract.

Sullivant returned to the region in 1797, and late that summer, planned the town of Franklinton.

During the winter of 1797 and 1798, he and his party stayed in Chillicothe, returning to Franklinton in the spring.

On the day in 1798 appointed for the sale of lots in the town, most of Franklinton was under water, flooded by heavy spring rains and Sullivant was forced to relocate it at a higher level.

Some Lots Free

Price of the lots ranged downward from $33.50 to 50 cents and even a quarter. And Gift-st was so named because settlers were given the land free in return for building on them within a designated time.

Sullivant spent most of that spring, summer and fall in Franklinton, assisting the settlers who were beginning to arrive in building cabins and getting settled.

In 1801 he returned to Virginia to marry Sarah Starling and bring her home to his town.

For her he built the first brick house in Franklin County. Although small, with only a living room, kitchen and one room with a walnut stairway downstairs, and two rooms on the second floor, the stairway, glass windows and casement frames, the brick and the ornamental tower were luxuries in primitive, pioneer Franklinton.

The house is still standing on its original Broad and Sandusky corner as part of the Convent of The Good Shepherd.

First log schoolhouse was built in 1806 and the court house followed the next year.

The settlement's first brick church was built in 1811.

Franklinton grew steadily until, by 1812—and the war with England—it was a bustling trade center. One June 18 of that year, first lots in the new state capital across the Scioto went on sale.

The little settlement flourished in its greatest period of prosperity as military center of the region and headquarters for the Ohio Army during the war years.

But the post-war depression took a heavy toll on the town's economy, and Franklinton never recovered her prosperity. The settlement declined as Columbus grew strong and finally, in 1824, the county seat transferred to the capital.

Franklin was annexed to Columbus in several stages during the last part of the 1800's.

CITY MARKET-HOUSE, on the southwest corner of Town and Fourth-sts., was build by Squire Shields, Columbus' first marshal, and given to the city in exchange for retaining the two top rooms for his own use. One was rented as a newspaper office. The other Squire Shields, a Newlight preacher, used to preach on Sunday, and teach school in the rest of the week.

Marshal Also Builder, Parson

First recorded justice of the in the new capital, before Columbus was incorporated as a borough in 1816, was Squire John Shields.

Described as "a rather eccentric old genius from the Emerald Isle . . . he could preach a good sermon on as short a notice as any man; he could lay as many brick in a day as a common bricklayer could in two."

He was also engaged in some surveying and platting of lands.

In his official capacity, Shields dispensed with justice in short order, wasting no time on drunk or disorderly brawlers brought before him.

In 1817 he contracted with the town council to furnish the city with a new market house, in return for rooms in the structure that he would retain and rent for office [illegible]

The two-story building of brick and frame housed the market house on the first floor. The upper floor was divided into two rooms and rented by Shields.

One was occupied by a printing office and the other used as a meeting hall.

Later Shields sold the rooms to John Young who converted the space to [illegible] ments. The first billiard hall in town was in these rooms.

The council bought out Young's interest in about 1829, and the building was razed to make room for a new market house.

A sawmill first to be built in the city, was constructed in 1813 by Shields on the Scioto, just below the present state penitentiary.

And about 1816 Shields built a flouring mill at the southwest corner of the town. Water was brought in a race along the side of the bank, and from there to an overshot wheel. The mill stood for 12 or 15 years before falling into ruin.

The high brick wall enclosing the penitentiary yard at its original site, built in 1818, was also the handwork of John Shields.

Whipping Law Replaced In '15

Before the penitentiary system was adopted in Ohio in 1815, certain crimes were punishable by whipping.

A larceny offense carried, on first conviction, a sentence of not more than 39 stripes on the back and, on the second offense not more than 50.

The state's first statute on the subject, passed Jan. 27, 1815, provided that the conviction of larceny of more than $10 should be punishable with imprisonment at the penitentiary for from one to seven years.

The law was modified in 1821 to require a theft of more than $50 to merit imprisonment and, in 1835, the amount was reduced to $35.

Price Field Fast Growing Airport

One of the fastest growing general aviation airports in the state is located in Columbus—Price Field at 3680 Refugee-rd, midway between College-av and Hamilton-rd.

Price Field is operated by Eugene (Whitey) Jost, owner of Jost Aero Service. Complete service and storage facilities are available from Jost Aero Service.

Instruction, charter, and rental services are available from Jost and Mock Flying Service, which operates a fleet of Cessna aircraft.

VOTES AGAINST WAR

Sen. Thomas Worthington, whose home has been preserved and opened to the public in Chillicothe, was the only Ohio congressman to vote against the declaration of the War of 1812.

Ward Co. Has 123 Years Bread-Baking Experience

Tip-Top bread and cakes were first introduced in Columbus in 1920 by the Ward Baking Co., then nearly 75 years old.

Hugh Ward first opened a bakery in a small building on Broome-st, New York City, after his arrival from Ireland in 1849. A few years later he located in Pittsburgh.

His young sons assisted in the shop, baking and delivering bread before school hours. Later they formed the firm of R. B. Ward and Co.

In 1903 the Wards opened the first modern, sanitary bakery ever to be built. During the next few years the company grew, and bakeries were added in Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, Providence, Bronx and Brooklyn.

Ward moved to Columbus in 1920, purchasing the Brennerman Bakery at Hamlet and Goodale.

As popularity of the products grew, facilities were expanded. In 1926 a modernization program was started and, in 1944, Ward's moved to its present location at 305 E. Beck-st.

Fred M. "Ozzie" Nelson, manager of the Columbus Bakery since 1959, began his career with Ward in 1929 at the Chicago Bakery.

Wilderness On 'High Bank' Becomes Capital

Columbus—a capital before a city, was a pre-ordained leader in Ohio's affairs when there wasn't a single person living within its limits: its official buildings were planned when the public square was dense, virginal forest.

Selection of the "high bank across the Scioto from Franklinton," was made by legislators on Feb. 14, 1812, over a number of settlements who contested spiritedly for the capital.

Commissioners had examined several possible locations, including Franklinton, two years earlier. Their principal objections to Franklinton, then a thriving, trading center, was its low location with the threat of floods.

Their recommendation was a site about 12 miles above the settlement, future location of Dublin.

During the next session, in February, 1812, Lyne Starling, John Kerr, Alexander McLaughlin and James Johnston offered free lands and state buildings if the capital would be located across the Scioto from Franklinton.

They proposed to lay out a town, deed to the state a 10-acre public square and 10 acres for a penitentiary, and erect a statehouse, offices and penitentiary of stone and brick.

Further, when the buildings were completed they should be examined and evaluated. If it should amount to less than $50,000, the proprietors would make up the deficiency in further buildings, and if the value should exceed this figure, the legislature was to recompense the proprietors.

A penal bond was included in the agreement, obliging the proprietors to carry out the proposal.

The proposal and bond was accepted by special act Feb. 14, and the city's name was selected eight days later.

Joel Wright was named agent of the state to plat a town, and Joseph Vance of Franklinton was his assistant.

The refugee lands, on which the capital was located, was a narrow tract four and a half miles wide from north to south, and 48 miles from the river east.

The tract was appropriated by Congress for Canadians and Nova Scottians who aided the colonies in the Revolutionary War. It was surveyed in 1799 and divided into sections of 640 acres and these, in 1801, were divided into half-sections.

First public sale of lots was held on the same day the United States declared war on Great Britain, June 18, 1812. Prices and terms were reasonable and buying was brisk.

First City Limits

Boundaries of the town were then the Scioto River, Spring-st, Seventh-st (Grant-av) and Friend-st (Main-st.).

The town grew steadily and, at the end of the first year, numbered 300 residents. The population had increased to 700 by 1816 when the first capitol and penitentiary were completed.

And in December of that year, legislators rode horseback to the capital to sit in session in the new statehouse, located at the southwest corner of the public square.

A number of sawmills, tanyards, flouring mills, distilleries and breweries were in operation by then. And a few stores on High-st stocked a limited amount of general merchandise.

Within a few more years small manufacturing concerns were started, schools were established and a market house built. Columbus soon forged ahead of older, established towns and, in 1824, became the seat of county government.

Chief menace to the town was disease, bred by large swamps near the center of town. After several epidemics of cholera and fever, these were drained.

Roads and canals spurred prosperity in the region. The stagecoaches, the National Road and the canal boats, all arriving in the early 1800's, made Columbus into an important transportation center, and fostered trade and commerce.

During this flurry of commerce progress, Columbus became a city by legislative act in 1834.

The first train chugged into First Train in 1850

the capital Feb. 22, 1850, bringing the era of the "iron horse." Within two decades five railroads, almost entirely financed by Columbus money, were in operation.

During the Civil War the city became a military center, with several large camps. Fort Hayes, formerly Columbus Barracks, had its beginning as an arsenal early in the war.

Postwar prosperity brought an expansion of business and industry.

Six new banks and the first building and loan company were organized, High-st was paved, horse car service was extended, first waterworks system was installed and the Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College (now Ohio State University) was opened in 1873.

At the turn of the century natural gas had been piped into the city, use of electricity was being expanded, electric street cars had replaced those drawn by horses, and electric interurban lines had been developed.

Columbus was again a military center during the Spanish-American War.

The flood of 1913 was followed by a transformation of the river front, a widening of the Scioto channel, the building of levees and dams, and the foundations of Civic Center.

A new charter was also adopted in this period, providing for the election of city officials on non-partisan ballots, for a seven-member City Council to be chosen at large, and municipal office terms of four years.

Port Columbus was opened in 1929 and Columbus became an important terminal in trans-continental air service.

FASHIONABLE IN 1862

BOYS IN BLUE, returning from the Civil War, purchased these spring and summer styles. About 200 men's clothing stores on High-st featured these in 1862.

'Indian Run' Favored By Tribes

An encampment of about 150 Indians was located on Indian Run, about a mile west of Dublin, when the town was first settled by Ludwick Sells and his sons, Samuel, Peter, Benjamin and William, in the fall of 1808.

Indian Run, one of the main streams in the county emptying into the Scioto just above Dublin, with its beautiful hill and bluffs was a favorite camping ground of the Indians, and was especially favored by the Wyandotte Tribes.

Among the tribesmen was a noted warrior called Captain Turtle, who was unusually friendly to the whites. He demonstrated that friendship by joining Gen. Harrison on his march against the Shawnees under Tecumseh, at the Battle of Tippecanoe.

Captain Billy Wyandatte, another Wyandotte chief, also encamped on Indian Run for several years after the settlers arrived.

Parties from the Upper Sandusky reservation traveled over the Indian trail to Franklinton each spring, loaded with skins and furs from their winter's hunting and trapping, and maple sugar.

They traded with a Frenchman who kept a trading post in Franklinton, returning home with guns, ammunition, blankets, combs and trinkets for their squaws and themselves.

Natural Gas Introduced In Columbus In 1889

The use of natural gas has been part of the way of life in Columbus since 1889 when the Columbus Natural Gas and Fuel Co. built a 10-inch line into the city from wells in Fairfield County.

Fifty-one years earlier an ingenious Findlay householder put the wonder fuel to use in Ohio by harnessing the flow of a shallow well in that city, and burning it from a rifle muzzle for heating and cooking.

As headquarters for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and its parent corporation, Columbia Gas System, Columbus has an important part in the seven-state area where natural gas was discovered and first put to use in America.

Several new companies appeared on the city's scene before and after the turn of the century and, in 1922, Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was organized, with F. W. Crawford, J. M. Garard, O. C. Hagan, Francis W. Crawford and William H. Thompson as incorporators.

Its operations are now directed by A. W. Lundstrum, named Ohio Fuel president in 1952, and E. D. Bivens, vice-president and general manager.

Columbus Gas and Electric Co. (now Columbia Gas System, Inc.) acquired the properties of Columbus Gas and Fuel in 1924, and Ohio Fuel Gas Co. became a part of Columbia in 1927.

In 1915 a total of 47,943 customers were being served in Columbus by Columbus Gas and Fuel and Federal Gas companies.

At the beginning of 1962, Ohio Fuel was providing the comfort and conveniences of gas service to more than 186,500 homes, commercial establishments and industries in Franklin County. Ninety-four per cent of these customers use natural gas for heating.

The really great demands for gas in Columbus and throughout Ohio began in 1939 with the trend to natural gas for residential heating. This was delayed by World War II priorities, and the war's end marked the start of a building boom, a tremendous industrial expansion, and an avalanche of demands for natural gas.

Volumes of gas were acquired from Texas and Louisiana, pipelines that carry gas to consumers was improved and expanded, and compressor stations to pump the increased volumes were expanded.

A system of underground gas storage was pioneered by Ohio Fuel more than 20 years ago.

Almost 95 per cent of Ohio Fuel's customers now use gas from the southwest, delivered through long-distance pipelines.

Low cost, abundant natural gas has made an important contribution to Columbus' industrial expansion, and continuing research and development by Ohio Fuel and its parent corporation, Columbia Gas System, promises even more exciting things to come.

Steward & Silver Oldest Producer Of Concrete

Stewart and Silver in Columbus at 2597 Silver-dr is central Ohio's oldest and largest producer of concrete products.

The company got its start in 1910 when W. R. Steward and D. G. Silver formed a partnership for the purpose of manufacturing concrete block.

The first plant, located at 525 E. Hudson-st, was equipped with a hand-operated block machine and the total production was 300 units a day.

In 1941, due to the increasing demand, Steward and Silver built a new plant, moving its operations to the present location. Production is now at an all time high of 24,000 units a day.

Steward and Silver has branched out into many other areas besides concrete products, such as masonry paint, builders' supplies, commercial and residential garage doors and many others.

The firm had been operated under the guidance of E. L. Dooley and C. L. Wiles until the death of Dooley. The company now continues its operation under Larry B. Dooley and C. L. Wiles.

Franklinton Is Annexed To Columbus

First part of Franklinton to become a part of Columbus was the section extending from the Scioto westward to Lucas-st. This annexation took place in 1862.

In 1870, 73 years after its settlement, the village of Franklinton between Lucas-st and Souder-av voted to become a part of the city. Successively then, the line moved westward, Nov. 19, 1888, to Central-av; Dec. 5, 1890, to Ryan-av and south of Sullivant; Mar. 23, 1891, to Hague-av, and south to Sullivant; Dec. 23, 1912, to Powell-av; Mar. 17, 1924, to Derrer-rd.

Franklinton Is First Seat Of County Government

Tiny Franklinton in 1803, still a collection of crude log cabins, assumed a new stature as heart of the region's affairs that year.

The new County of Franklin came into being in the spring and Franklinton named as the seat of government.

Some stores had been established in the six-year-old community and some hand mills built, but there was as yet no school or church, no bridge across the Scioto, and Indians still encamped around the town.

The first Ohio General Assembly, convening in Chillicothe from Mar. 1 to Apr. 16 of 1803, was petitioned on the 11th day of the session for a division of Ross County in which Franklinton was located.

Col. Robert Culbertson, a Pennsylvanian who came to Franklinton late in 1801, was one of four Ross County representatives of the Assembly, and it was he who presented the petition.

The County of Franklin, named as was Franklinton in honor of Benjamin Franklin, resulted from this division and was created by an act passed Mar. 31, to become effective one month later.

The county line then extended north to Lake Erie, and included all of what is now Madison, Delaware, Marion, Crawford, Wyandotte, Seneca and Sandusky Counties, and portions of Champaign, Clark, Logan, Hardin, Hancock and Wood counties.

Franklin County assumed its present form in 1851.

Seven other Ohio counties were also formed by this Assembly.

The act that established the County of Franklin also provided that the new county's courts be held in Franklinton until a permanent seat be established, and appointed a committee to carry it out.

The commissioners, Jeremiah McLene, James Ferguson and William Creighton, had designated Franklinton as permanent seat by September.

The Assembly also named as associate judges of the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, John Dill, Joseph Foos and David Jameson. All were residents of the new county seat, and all were to become property owners in the town.

Col. Culbertson was to become a principal land investor on both sides of the Scioto.

In addition to Col. Culbertson, three other Ross County representatives were elected in January of 1803 to the first General Assembly, under the Ohio Constitution adopted the preceding year.

They were Michael Baldwin,

The front of the two-story building was built of brick and housed the sheriff's office and residence. The rear of the structure, with massive stone walls, contained the prison.

speaker of the House; Thomas Worthington, named that year as one of the two first senators from Ohio, and William Patton.

When the county court came to Franklinton Lucas Sullivant was appointed temporary Clerk of Court, on May 1, and the following September, clerk for the term provided by law.

He continued in this post until September, 1810, when his brother-in-law, Lyne Starling, succeeded him.

Since Franklin County as yet had no seal, Sullivant used his personal seal to transact official business.

The first official county building, was a log jail house, constructed by Sullivant in 1805, and two years later he superintended the building of Franklin County's first court house on the corner of Broad and Sandusky-st.

During the same year he was appointed county recorder.

Growth and development of Franklinton was steady and sure and in 1812, when the site of the state capital was located across the Scioto, the settlement was a bustling trading center.

Prosperity at Peak

In the years that followed, during the War of 1812, the village was at its peak of prosperity. Franklinton, however, never recovered from the decline of the depression that followed the war. In 1824 the county seat was moved to Columbus.

County officers, at the time the seat of government was transferred to the capital. Included Abram L. McDowell, clerk of Franklin County Common Pleas, appointed in 1810 to succeed Lyne Starling.

Sheriff was Robert Brotherton. Elected in 1823 he continued to serve until 1827. Coroner Adam Brotherlin was elected in 1821 and re-elected in 1823.

Richard Armstrong was elected or appointed county commissioner in 1824. Earlier appointments were, in 1821, Armstrong and Horace Walcutt; in 1828, James Marshall, and in 1823, Andrew Dill.

County auditors were elected annually before 1824. Joseph Grate was auditor from 1822 until 1824.

County treasurers were appointed first by associate judges and then by county commissioners until 1827, when they were elected by voters.

Jacob Grubb, first treasurer of Franklin County, was successively re-appointed until 1827 when Christian Heyl was named by the commissioners. Heyl was elected to the post in October the same year, and re-elected in 1831.

Common Pleas judges appointed county recorders until 1831, when it became an elective office. Abriham T. McDowell served as recorder from 1817 to 1831, when William T. Martin was elected.

Joseph Vance was appointed by Common Pleas Court the first county surveyor in 1803 and continued in the post until Richard House was named surveyor in 1824.

Salt Obtained From Spring At Greenlawn

Salt, one of the important commodities made scarce by the lack of roads, was an immediate necessity in the pioneer settlement of Franklinton.

Before roads were established, salt and all other goods transported overland, came on the backs of pack horses from Pittsburgh, Wheeling or Detroit.

A limited supply of salt, of rather poor quality, was obtained for the settlers by Lucas Sullivant from a salt spring located near the present Greenlawn Bridge.

The salt lick, frequented by animals and Indians, was cleaned, a wooden curb built to keep out fresh surface water and the salt water bubbling from the spring was gathered in wooden troughs hollowed out from large trees.

This was boiled in huge kettles until the water was evaporated and only the salt remained.

When the road along the Zanesville trace, from Wheeling to Lancaster was opened, it became easier to get salt and the lick was abandoned.

First County Building Was Log Prison

A little log structure, built by Lucas Sullivant in 1804 as a jailhouse, became the first official building of Franklin County. Sullivant received $80 for construction of the prison.

Built of 12-foot logs, their sides hewed to fit snugly, the prison had two floors and a roof of large shingles, or clapboards, split by hand and kept in place by heavy poles laid across them, rather than by nails.

The building had one door and two windows (eight by ten inches) secured by two bars of iron.

Four years later Lucas and Sally Sullivant deeded to Franklin County "Inlot 25," as the location of a new prison.

This structure, built of bricks, was to serve as a prison until 1824 when the seat of county government was transferred across the river to Columbus.

County prisoners were at first lodged in Columbus in a brick building on the south side of Gay-st, between High and Third-st.

When the new court house was completed in 1840, they were moved to cells in the basement of the building. Escapes from the insecure prison were frequent.

Construction on the present county jail, east of the court house and facing Mound-st, was started in 1864 and completed in May, 1866.

Ohio Buildings' Stone Was From Sullivant Quarry

The finest building stone in central Ohio, used in the construction of the present State House, State Penitentiary and other institutions, came from Sullivant's Quarry.

The quarry was located on the west bank of the Scioto, about four miles from the State House grounds.

It was included in the 50-acre tract purchased by the state from William S. Sullivant, eldest son of Franklinton's founder, Apr. 11. 1845.

The rock, of different forms and colors, gives the appearance of clouded marble, and the strata are from five inches to five feet thick.

Part of the quarry lands near the Columbus and Xenia Railroad, became the site of about 20 buildings, constructed by the government during the Civil War, and known as the Triplet Hospital for disabled and ill soldiers.

Veterans' Home Once On Hilltop

A Soldier's Home was established on the Hilltop, north of the Columbus State Hospital in 1864 and remained there until 1869, records show. More than 200 disabled veterans lived there at that time.

The patients were moved to the National Soldier's Home at Dayton in 1869 and the home was abandoned.

A GRANITE BOULDER, inset with a bronze tablet, on Town-st at Martin-av, marks the spot of the historic conference between chiefs of Ohio tribes and the military, June 21, 1813.

Indians, Whites Make Peace At Historic 1813 Conference

Permanent peace with the Indians of Ohio came in 1813, cemented at a conference held in Columbus between chiefs of the tribes and the military.

Fifty Indian chiefs, picturesque in feather regalia and paint, representing the Wyandottes, Delawares, Shawnees and Senecas, were led by Tarhe the Crane.

Gen. William Henry Harrison and his staff, in full dress uniform and backed by a company of Regulars, faced the Indians under the leafy branches of great oaks and elms, near the site of Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Crowds had come, on foot, by horseback and wagon, to see the impressive gathering.

Gen. Harrison spoke first, of Britain's attempt to enlist Indian support in the war, and of broken British promises. He reminded them of the Greenville treaty and asked chiefs to show their loyalty in concrete actions.

Harrison suggested Indians could best show their friendship by either moving their families into the settlements, or by joining his forces in the war.

A tense silence followed his address, broken by Tarhe.

The Crane, then 71, drew himself up to his full height and, followed by all the other chiefs, offered his hand in salute. He also promised warriors to join Harrison in the fight against the British. Tarhe himself led the Indians that were with Harrison in his final campaign and fought bravely and well in the decisive Battle of the Thames in Canada.

In praise of the great Indian chief, Harrison wrote, "... of the many Indians I have met, Tarhe was the noblest of them all."

In addition to the service performed by the warriors in the Battle of the Thames, the Indians became a bulwark against raids from the north.

A bronze tablet on a great granite boulder, on the south side of Town-st at Martin-av, marks the conference site, and reads:

"Near This Spot June 21, 1813, was Held A Council Between Gen. William Henry Harrison and the Indians comprising Wyandots, Delawares, Shawnees and Senecas with Tarhe The Crane As Spokesman Resulting In Permanent Peace with the Indians of Ohio Erected by Columbus Chapter DAR. June 21, 1904."

Schools Slow To Develop In Columbus' Pioneer Days

Log Cabin Franklinton's First 'Hall Of Learning'

Wooden slabs polished by use were the first "seats of learning" in Franklinton, and a log structure 15 feet square, the first school.

Built by Lucas Sullivant, probably about 1806 just north of Broad-st and west of what is now Sandusky-st, the first school house in the area was a round log building with puncheon floor, a clapboard roof, stick chimney, a batten-ed door with wooden hinges and window panes of greased paper.

The name of the first teacher is not definitely known although it may have been Dr. Peleg Sisson.

Miss Sarah Reed who assisted Dr. James Hoge in establishing a Sunday School in the city, later taught at the school, as did Miss Mary Wait, whose parents came to Franklinton in 1803.

The first school east of the Scioto River in Columbus was opened in 1814 in the Presbyterian Church on Spring-st and was also a log structure.

These and all others opened in the two communities before public schools were introduced in the area in 1826 were privately owned and operated.

TUITION IS $1.62½

Parents paid $1.62½ for each child, and in addition, provided room and board for the teacher, one week in each term for each child enrolled in the school.

By 1826 the capital boasted four or five private schools and a classical seminary.

A LOG SCHOOLHOUSE, first in Franklinton, was built by Lucas Sullivant in 1806.

A school in the Zion Chapel on E. Town-st in 1816 and 1817 was taught by William T. Martin and his wife, and Columbus' first classical school was opened in 1817 in a room of a building on the northwest corner of High and Town-sts.

At about the same time, Mrs. David Smith opened a school for girls only on Front-st near the old Presbyterian Church with needlework and painting included in the academic study course.

ACADEMY FOUNDED

The first Columbus Academy, a single story, two-room frame building on Third-st, was built in 1820 by a company formed by Lucas Sullivant and 20 other citizens. Pupils included Margaret Lavingston, Margaret Hoge who later became Mrs. Judge Baldwin, and Elizabeth Hoge.

The academy later was moved to the southwest corner of what is now Chapel Alley and Fourth-st.

A school for girls, with instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic and grammar, was opened by Miss Bigelow in 1824, and the Female Academy, taught by Anna Treat and Sarah Benfield, with courses in reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and embroidery, followed in 1826 on W. Broad-st.

Although public education was introduced in both Franklinton and Columbus in 1826, the free schools got off to a shaky start and these private schools and others that were to follow flourished for a number of years.

Funds for public schools were meager, coming from taxation and from interest on invested proceeds from the sale of school lands. A school term lasted only three or four months.

In 1826 the capital had about 200 dwellings and a population of about 1400, and the number of schools was seemingly sufficient for those who could afford them.

However leading citizens, among them Dr. and Mrs. Hoge, had long been working for the establishment of public schools to assure an education for all, and they became a reality late in that year.

Free Public Education Launched Here In 1826

Free public education to assure literate, intelligent citizens, ever a concern in this country, was expressed by Congress in an ordinance in 1787 providing that "one thirty-sixth of every township in the western territory must be reserved for the maintenance of public schools."

Again, in the Ordinance of 1787 Congress confirmed that "Schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged" in the territory now occupied by Ohio and four other states.

And under the School Act of 1825, each of the townships of Franklin County was divided into districts, with directors to be elected in each, responsible for establishing schools. Two districts were established in the Franklinton area and six in Columbus.

The first public schools in the communities were opened near the close of 1826.

Caleb Davis taught the one operated in the little log schoolhouse in Franklinton, and H. N. Hubbell conducted the school in Columbus, held in a building on the site now occupied by Central Presbyterian Church, 132 S. Third-st.

Funds to operate these first schools came from taxation and from interest on money from the sale of school lands.

Insufficient for the purpose, the amount from these sources amounted to only $200 that first year. Teachers were paid only $15 a month and the school term lasted three months.

Some years, several Columbus and Franklinton schools never opened their doors.

In 1838 Columbus and Franklinton school districts were merged into a single unit, and the people were given the power to elect their own directors.

The first were Dr. Peleg Sisson, Adam Brotherlin and George W. Slocum, and were given the authority to establish schools of different grades and to provide six months' schooling for all unmarried white youths in the district.

A sum of $3500 was appropriated for them to buy three school sites, and these were selected at Third and Long, Third and Rich and Third and Mound-sts.

By 1839 the school directors owned four lots, two school buildings and the old Columbus Academy property. They employed 12 teachers to instruct 400 students.

Columbus School District was operating 13 schools in 1842, including a German school made necessary by the immigration of many German families.

Five schools were taught by men for seven months, at $80 per quarter, and eight were taught by women for eight and a half months at $50 each quarter.

Passage in 1845, of a state law that was to become the foundation of our present public school system was the result of the continuing efforts of those who believed that all people would benefit if all children had a good education, and pursued this goal persistently.

Voters in 1846 approved a tax levy that brought $7500 to be used for the construction of schools on the three sites purchased in 1838.

North Building, later to be known as the Loving School, in tribute to Dr. Starling Loving, was constructed at the Third and Long-st site; Middle Building, at Third and Rich-sts was later remodeled and used as an interurban station, then a bus station, and finally razed in 1933 to make way for a new bus station, and South Building at Third and Mound, later replaced by a new school.

The three one-story brick structures, each providing six classrooms for primary, secondary and grammar grades, were in operation in 1847.

First superintendent of Columbus Schools, selected January 1847 by the Board of Education, was Asa D. Lord, M.D.

The public was now demanding instruction in higher branches of learning, and in response to their wishes, a high school department in the school at Rich and Third-sts was opened in November, 1847.

In 1851, when Columbus public schools were 25 years old, the first high school class was graduated.

A year later the board bought property at 270 E. State-st and constructed a basement for $15,000, and moved all high school classes there.

The school was to become Sullivant School, honoring the name of Joseph Sullivant who served as president of the Columbus Board of Education 3 times, more than anyone else.

The building later housed the school system's administration office until last year when the new adjoining building was completed.

The original Central High School, predecessor of the one built in 1924, was constructed in 1861 at Broad-st and Sixth-st. The board purchased the site from Trinity Episcopal Church, which had already laid the foundation in 1859.

Normal school classes were started in the high school building at Sixth and Broad in 1875, and eight years later, the school was organized formally and moved to the Sullivant building.

Miss Margaret Sutherland became principal in 1889, and continued in that post for 32 years. Hundreds of teachers received their professional training in the Normal School before it was closed in 1931, and many proud alumni are still teaching in the city's schools.

Compulsory education became law in Ohio in 1890, providing that all children, "between the ages of eight and 16 years, not engaged in some regular employment, shall attend school" unless excused for some specific reason.

Educators' concern about the tremendous gap between elementary and high schools was answered in Columbus in 1909 when the Board of Education organized the new Indianola School, first junior high in the country.

So successful was the experiment that the following year the board decided to organize the entire system on the six elementary, six junior high and six high school years basis. The entire country soon followed.

Through the eras that followed, each with its special demands on the educational system, Columbus kept pace.

Their success is written in the annual report — at the close of the 1961 school year, 88,499 pupils were educated at a cost of $317.56 per student, in 138 buildings.

Settlers Shoot 19,600 Squirrels In 1822 Hunt

The abundance of wild life in the Scioto Valley was a mixed blessing to the area's pioneers.

Although the settlers' very existence was dependent upon the game as a source of food, the animals were quite often a menace to their crops.

Squirrels were so numerous and destructive that a statute was passed Dec. 24, 1807, providing that every person subject to the payment of county tax should, in addition, produce to the township clerk a prescribed number of squirrel scalps.

Township trustees set the number in proportion to county levies, and also levied a fine of three cents for each scalp short and paid a bounty of two cents for each scalp over the set amount.

The threatened destruction by squirrels of the settlers' corn crop in 1822 prompted the "grand squirrel hunt" the last part of the summer.

Call for the hunt was publicized in the Columbus Gazette Aug. 29, and signed by Ralph Osborne, Gustavus Swan, Christian Heyl Lucas Sullivant, Samuel Flenniken and John A. McDowell.

Two or three men from each township were to meet in the house of Christian Heyl on Saturday, Aug. 31, 2 p.m. and plan the project.

The county was divided into districts — all the areas east of the Scioto, south of the mouth of the Whetstone and east of the Whetstone River was designated as one district, with Lucas Sullivant as field marshal.

The second district, with Ralph Osborne as marshal, was all the area west of those boundaries.

To make the hunt more interesting a match was arranged, with a barrel of whiskey as the prize for the winners.

Dates of the three-day hunt were set as Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 7, 9 and 10.

When the hunt was over, 19,600 squirrel scalps were produced. The Gazette added, however, that it was impossible to tell how many squirrels were actually killed since many hunters did not come in.

The west district, winner, of the event, claimed the prize whiskey.

THE COVERED WOODESN BRIDGE spanning the Scioto at W. Broad-st from the early 1800's until 1882 when it was replaced by an open ironwork bridge. Tolls were charged for crossing until 1834.

Scioto Bridge First To Be Built In Franklin County

The river between Franklinton and Columbus was spanned by Lucas Sullivant in 1816 when his wooden toll bridge, first across the Scioto in Franklin County, was opened.

Under a charter from the Legislature, granted by an act of Feb. 15, 1815, Sullivant built the bridge and opened it for travel the following Dec. 1.

The gates were opened for free passage to churchgoers on Sunday, to legislators going to and from the General Assembly, and for funeral processions. Other travellers were charged a toll.

After ten years Sullivant replaced the bridge with another, more substantial structure, at a slightly different location at the foot of W. Broad-st.

After his death, the bridge franchise was included in the portion of Sullivant's estate that was inherited by his son, Joseph.

During the construction of the National Road through Columbus in 1822 and 1823, the superintendent of the project proposed to build a free bridge over the Scioto for use of the Road, providing Sullivan't franchise was relinquished.

The franchise was purchased for $10,000, $8000 by private subscription and $2000 contributed by the county.

The temporary National Road Bridge, washed away by the flood of 1834, was replaced by the permanent span.

The wooden structure was built with no iron and no nails except for those holding the shingles on the roof. The bridge itself was secured with wooden pegs.

Stones for its abutments were brought from the quarry near what is now the State Hospital.

Two separated tracks for vehicles were provided on the bridge, with outside walks on each side for foot travelers.

The bridge was finished for several days before its strength was tested; the road was used for heavy travel and to transport large herds of livestock across the river and citizens were doubtful of the bridges safety.

Such a herd of 700 cattle, being driven through Columbus to Franklinton arrived at the river. The herder also doubted the bridge's strength, decided to swim the animals across.

He agreed to risk them only after Capt. Brewerton, who had engineered the bridge, promised the government would pay for any loss.

The test proved more effective than expected for the herd suddenly stampeded, and all 700 thundered across the bridge. Many had left their work to watch, convinced that they would see the bridge fall.

But the structure stood firm, and continued to offer safe crossing for nearly 50 years until it was replaced by an open ironwork bridge in 1882 and 1883.

Monroe First President To Visit City

President James Monroe became the first president of the United States to visit the new capital when he arrived in August, 1817.

He and his party were returning home from an inspection tour of the fortifications in the Northwest, travelling by horseback from Detroit.

He was met in Worthington by the Franklin Dragoons, commanded by Capt. Joseph Vance, and escorted to Columbus.

The group was met and entertained by an imposing array of prominent citizens — Lucas Sullivant, Abner Lord, Thomas Backus, Joseph Foos, A. I. McDowell, Gustavus Swan, Ralph Osborne, Christian Heyl, Robert W. McCoy, Joel Buttles, Hiram M. Curry, John Kerr, Henry Brown, William Doherty.

His face ruddy from the summer sun, the president wore "an old fashioned, three-cornered cocked hat," in contrast to his otherwise sober, civilian clothing.

An official welcoming address by Hiram M. Curry, treasurer of the state, was delivered at the statehouse.

Dickens Stopped In City During Stagecoach Trip

The famous author, Charles Dickens, and his wife, were visitors to Columbus in the autumn of 1842.

They arrived unannounced by stagecoach, after an all-night ride, and stopped at the Neil House.

In his American Notes, the author wrote of a stagecoach ride from Cincinnati to Columbus, and then on to Sandusky.

He wrote, of his visit here, "We had excellent apartments in a very large unfinished hotel called the Neil House which were richly fitted with the polished wood of the black walnut, and opened on a handsome portico and stone verandah, like rooms in some Italian mansion."

Ex-President Adams Visits Here In 1843

Hospitable Columbus had a warm welcome for John Quincy Adams when he visited the city in 1843.

Then ex-president, he stopped here enroute to Cincinnati where he was to be honored guest of that city's Astronomical Society.

His diary records that he left the canal boat, "Rob Roy" at Hebron and then went to Kirkersville by stagecoach, where he stopped for a meal.

He then travelled the rest of the way to Columbus by stagecoach, arriving at the Neil House at 4 p.m. on Nov. 4. That evening at 8 he was officially welcomed by the mayor at Dr. Hoge's Presbyterian Church.

The following day he was visited by Jesse B. Thomas, former US Senator from Illinois.

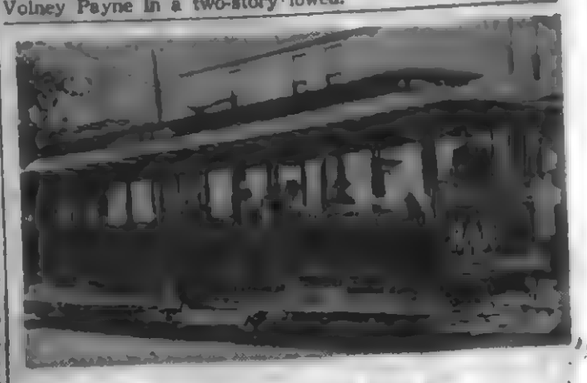
On Monday Adams and his party departed escorted across the Scioto to Franklinton by two military companies and a brass band.

War Heroine Is Pioneer

Ann Simpson Davis of Revolutionary War fame and her husband, John, were among the early settlers of Dublin.

Ann, a messenger who carried Gen. Washington's orders to other commanders from 1779 to 1780, is supposed to have concealed them in bags of meal.

John Davis was a Revolutionary War General and served in Lafayette's Light Brigade.



Married in 1773, the couple [illegible] to Ohio in 1816 from Maryland and settled in Delaware County. They bought a 400-acre farm near Dublin in 1818, and lived there in a hewn log house. They were the parents of eight children.

Ann died at 86 years and was buried in a small private cemetery south of Dublin.

A DAR Chapter bears her name.

FIRST TAVERN

The first tavern was opened in the spring of 1813 by Volney Payne in a two-story brick building house built for that purpose by John Collett. Several other taverns soon followed.

If P. W. Huntington could see it now

On January 2, 1866, two young men expressed their faith in the future of Ohio's still small capital city. Pelatiah W. Huntington and David W. Deshler founded a new bank, P. W. Huntington & Co., on the site of the present Deshler-Hilton Hotel at Broad and High Streets.

If P. W. Huntington could only see it now.

This same faith is still held by The Huntington National Bank of Columbus. For more than 96 years, the Huntington has served the families and businesses of Columbus and Central Ohio, helping the community grow and keeping pace with its expansion.

Within the past year two new Huntington offices, on West Lane Avenue and on Cleveland Avenue, have been opened, and an office in Grove City has been acquired through merger. Another office is under construction on Georgesville Road, south of West Broad Street.

Whatever is needed for efficient, friendly banking and trust service, you can expect with confidence from this bank that has faith in the future of Columbus and its people.

Canal, 'Coaches' Bring Prosperity

Canal Boats Open Market For Produce

Appropriate pomp and ceremony, with state and local dignitaries, civil and military officers, and the militia in full regalia, marked the launching of the Ohio Canal System at Licking Summit July 4, 1825.

A company of cavalry was called up to provide open space for the program among the thousands who were on hand for the historic occasion.

And two years later, on Apr. 30, ground was broken for the Columbus branch in an equally colorful manner.

A program at the state house, attended by nearly 1000 citizens, was followed by an impressive procession to the location, led by officials and militia companies.

A new era of prosperity arrived in the Scioto Valley with the first canal boat to reach the capital, Sept. 23, 1831.

The story of the six years between the opening of the system and the arrival of canal boats in Columbus was written by its builders.

The far-sighted officials who envisioned what the river commerce would do for the region, Alfred Kelley, whose financial wizardry accounted for the canals' completion, and the surveyors and engineers, the chainmen, axemen and rodmen who traced the torturous path through densely wooded valleys, malarial swamps and bayous.

Legislation to build the Ohio Canal from Cleveland to Portland through Licking Summit, and the Little Miami between Dayton and Cincinnati was passed by the General Assembly Feb. 4, [illegible].

A board of canal commissioners was appointed to supervise the project, and a canal fund commission was authorized to borrow money for construction on the state's credit, under the plan proposed by Alfred Kelley.

James Geddes was hired as first engineer of the canal at $1500 a year, assisted by Isaac Jerome.

The work was difficult, taxing men's strength to the limit. The canal way led along the valleys of streams, only sparsely settled with occasional cabins. Malaria was rampant.

Eight of the 23 engineers and assistants died of exposure and diseases during the six years.

Farmers and their sons sought work on the canal because currency was then so scarce. Laborers were paid $8 for 26 workdays, sunrise to sunset.

They were well fed, and lodged in temporary shanties.

Each man also received a portion of free whiskey at sunrise, 10 a.m., noon, 4 p.m. and at supper. However, since the practice "caused mischief," it was discontinued by Canal Commissioners M. T. Williams and Alfred Kelley.

When the Columbus branch to the main system was launched Apr. 30, 1827, nearly 1000 thronged to the statehouse at 2 p.m. for the celebration.

After appropriate addresses, a procession, led by Col. McDowell and Col. McElvain as marshals, and headed by Gen. Warner and Capt. Joseph McElvain's Dragoons; Capt. Foos' Riflemen, Columbus Artillery and state officers, marched to the location.

Farmers and producers during the next four years eagerly awaited completion of the canal, the dam across the Scioto, Columbus locks and the four-mile locks at Lockbourne.

Water was let into the canal first at Licking Summit in June, 1827, and the canal boat "Experiment," was launched. Boats arrived first at Dayton from Cincinnati on the Miami Canal in 1829, and the same year, the Ohio Canal was ready for water from Newark to Lake Erie.

Water was let into the Columbus branch Sept. 13, 1831, and the "Gov. Brown" arrived from Circleville on Sept. 23.

An eight-cannon welcome boomed over the water as the boat, carrying prominent citizens from Pickaway County arrived. The "Gov. Brown" returned to Circleville the next day.

On the second day, the "Cincinnati" and "Red Rover," first to arrive from Lake Erie via Newark, were met at the locks by a reception committee and a salute of 24 guns. The boats were escorted with music to a point just below the National Road bridge.

Joseph Ridgeway, Jr., first canal toll collector, had his office at Ridgeway Warehouse on W. Broad st, where boats loaded and unloaded their freight.

The office of M. S. Hunter, second collector, was moved to the head of the canal.

Succeeding collectors were David S. Doherty, Charles B. Flood, Samuel McElvain and Benjamin Tressenrider.

The first canal boats arriving in the capital came full, but most returned empty.

People were slow to grasp the commercial revolution canals had brought; farmers hadn't realized just what markets the boats would open and failed to have their shipments ready of pork and beef, flour and grain.

Travel by canal was a pleasant experience, moving through Ohio's meadows and woods as fast as a horse could trot.

Boats were painted white with windows framed in green shutters and covered with red curtains. Panel cabins were lined with pictures and mirrors, and used as dining and sitting rooms during the day, and for sleeping at night.

Staterooms for the ladies were placed at each end of the boat, and stewardesses were on board to serve them.

Meals were superb. On the trip from Columbus to Chillicothe, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; both dinner and supper were served.

For years, boats always arrived at a town with bands playing on deck. Horses moved at a trot and were changed about every 10 miles.

For 30 years the waterways were an important part of Ohio's way of life.

The boats increased commerce and encouraged manufacturing. Villages in the forest became cities, farming became profitable.

The canals brought wealth to the state. It is estimated they put into the state treasury $6,000,000 more than their cost.

"Y" BRIDGE

America's first "Y" bridge was built at Zanesville 150 years ago during the War of 1812.

Stagecoaches Provide Pioneer Passenger And Postal Service

Stagecoaches, the pioneer of all wheeled passenger and mail service, came to Columbus in 1816 when Philip Zinn inaugurated a once-a-week line between the capital and Chillicothe.

As roads were opened, coach lines were added and expanded until, by 1831, 70 coaches were arriving each week, carrying mail and passengers from every state in the union.

Post coaches continued to grow in importance to mail service and travel until the railroads began to open in Columbus in 1850.

Zinn's initial effort in 1816 proved so popular that he soon extended the service to semi-weekly and, about 1819, added a coach to Delaware.

By 1822 Zinn's coaches carrying mail and passengers were fanning out from Columbus in all directions.

In the same year, John Stearns started a stage line from Chillicothe to Lower Sandusky and C. Barney inaugurated a service between Columbus and Mt. Vernon.

Neil was to make Columbus the center of one of the most extensive stage coach operations in the country.

He first visited Columbus as the guest of Capt. Joseph Vance, owner of land now occupied by the Ohio State University farm. Neil later purchased Vance's land in 1828.

William Neil was cashier of the Franklinton Bank in 1822 when he first contracted to carry mail. He and Vance acquired Philip Zinn's interest in the same year and transported mail and passengers three times a week to Chillicothe.

The service continued to improve, until by May, 1826, Neil and A. I. McDowell announced their line of stages would run from Cincinnati through Dayton to Columbus in four days.

In 1831, with 70 coaches arriving in the city each week, Robert Neil sold his interest in the Ohio Stage Lines to William Neil, and retired.

By 1834 the company was known as Neil, Moore and Co. (Henry Moore of Wheeling.)

And, at the time, an advertisement for 100 stage drivers specified that drivers must be "of good, steady habits and moral character."

There was more to driving a stage than holding reins and managing four horses, difficult enough, especially on slippery winter roads in the Eastern Ohio hill country.

Runaway teams, upset coaches and resulting death or injury of passengers were not always avoidable.

The driver had to cope with the weather, roads, mail and passengers.

They were responsible, intelligent men, good drivers, steady and taciturn, with plenty of good, common sense. Many were well-educated.

Opposition lines sprang up in 1836, and staging became a lively business.

Rival coaches sometimes raced their foaming horses into town at full speed, whips cracking, mud flying, drivers cheered on by laughing passengers.

Starting point of Neil, Moore and Co. coaches was the office next to the National Hotel. The opposition lines started coaches from Russell's Globe Inn.

Passenger rates were reduced in 1837 to $8 from Columbus to Wheeling; $2 to Zanesville; $2 to Springfield, $3.50 to Dayton and $5 to Cincinnati.

Fare to intermediate points was figured at five cents a mile.

In the autumn of 1839, Neil, Moore and Co. announced the employment of a guard for each coach, whose duty it was to protect baggage, see to the comfort of passengers and prompt changing of horses, and see that time schedules were kept and that drivers discharged their duties properly.

Mail robberies sometimes occurred. The Great Western Mail, bound east, was taken from the coach between Columbus and Springfield Sept. 19, 1837.

And a similar robbery by two [illegible] who stopped the mail coach for Columbus about [illegible] miles east of Chillicothe was recorded Mar. 8, 1840. The driver was forced at pistol point to hand over the mailbag.

The last president's message to be delivered in Columbus by stagecoach arrived in the city in December, 1846, carried the last 135 miles from Wheeling in six and a half hours, by the Ohio Stage Coach Co.

The stage coach lines' mail service began to give way to railroads in February, 1850, with the opening of the Columbus and Xenia Railway.

The Bee Lines to Cleveland followed a year later, and the Central Ohio Railway between Columbus and Wheeling, in November, 1854.

Robberies became more frequent in 1841.

The Prairie House

The Prairie House was named and popularized by Frank Lloyd Wright in the early 1900's. It had the long horizontal lines of the prairie, horizontal bands of windows, and roof projections which continued out as porte-cocheres and pergolas. These large homes required servants, and all too often now are divided into series of apartments.

Log Cabin Served As First Franklinton Post Office; Store Was Capital's First

Franklinton, although the seat of county government since 1803, had no regular postal service until 1805 when Adam Hosac secured the first mail contract for weekly service to Chillicothe.

The first log cabin post office, later enclosed by a frame house, is still standing on Gift-st.

Col. Andrew McElvain, as a boy of 13, was the first postman on the long and lonely route.

He left Franklinton each Friday, stayed overnight at Markly's Mill on Darby Creek, and next day arrived at Chillicothe. The return journey was by way of Thompson's on Darby Creek, and he arrived home on Sunday.

There was no post office between Franklinton and Chillicothe, although one was established during that first winter at Westfall.

Prepayment of postage was not required and, until 1816, rates were determined by distance — one piece of paper, folded into a letter, cost eight cents under 40 miles; ten cents under 90, 12 and a half cents under 150, 17 cents under 300, 20 cents under 500 miles and 25 cents for all distances over.

Succeeding Hosac as postmaster of Franklinton were, in 1811, Henry Brown; 1812, Joseph Grate; 1813, James B. Gardiner; 1815, Jacob Kellar; 1819, Joseph McDowell; 1820, William Lusk, and in 1831, W. Risley.

The office was discontinued soon after that.

Postal rate was changed under legislation enacted in 1816, with additional rates set for each paper over one, and four rates for letters weighing more than one ounce.

Columbus' first postoffice was established June 23, 1813, by Postmaster General Gideon Granger, at the request of James Kilbourne, founder of Worthington.

Matthews Postmaster

Matthew Matthews, clerk in the branch store of Worthington Co. managed by Joel Buttles, was named deputy postmaster. He did not establish a separate post office, but distributed from his desk the mail that came over from Franklinton.

Matthews resigned in 1814, succeeded by his employer, Joel Buttles, who served in the post for 15 years, until 1829.

By 1816, when Columbus became the state capital, the city's post office was serving a population of 6000.

FRANKLINTON'S first post office was a little log structure, enclosed in this frame house still standing on Gift-st.

An express post was inaugurated Mar. 26, 1813, and post riders would arrive in Franklinton from Chillicothe each Thursday and Sunday about 4 p.m. They would pass through the village again, on their way back to Chillicothe each Tuesday and Friday evening.

Post riders, announcing their arrival at full gallop with blasts on a tin horn, were colorful figures, and residents of Franklinton rushed to their doorways to see them dash past.

The sturdy, fleet horses were saddled and bridled and waiting at each relay station for the fast change, and mail was carried in a valise, swung over the post rider's shoulder.

Since he stopped only 15 minutes in Franklinton, mail was always made up and ready.

The express route was from Chillicothe by way of Franklinton and Delaware to the rapids of Miami and the trail wound along the west side of the Scioto until it reached Franklinton, when riders would cross to the east side of the river and continue to Upper Sandusky and on to the Rapids.

The first wheeled passenger and mail service was introduced in 1816 when Philip Zinn contracted to carry the mail by stage once a week between Columbus and Chillicothe.

Popularity of the service soon increased the run to a semi-weekly basis and, about 1819, Zinn contracted to carry mail to Delaware.

New lines of mail service were added rapidly and by 1829 daily post coaches were arriving and leaving.

A record of rapid communication unparalleled in the region was set in December, 1829, when the president's message was delivered in Columbus by the Ohio State Coach Co., over 420 miles of bad roads, in 34 hours and 45 minutes.

The use of adhesive postage stamps, pre-payment of postage and the reduction of rates was enacted by Congress Mar. 3, 1847, and a supply of five and ten cent stamps was received in Columbus.

Postage was reduced to five cents up to 300 miles, and ten cents for all greater distances.

Rates were further reduced by the postal act of March, 1851, to three cents for distances up to 3,000 miles and six cents for all destinations beyond that. Registered mail service was introduced in 1855.

Distance factor for determining postal rates was removed entirely in 1863 and, in 1855, cost was set at two cents per ounce for a first class letter.

Free city delivery was established in 1863, postal money order system followed the next year, authorization of the one-cent post card in 1873 and, in 1885, special delivery service.

Land for Columbus' first postal facility at State and Third-sts was purchased by the the Post Office Department in 1882 for $59,326, and the building completed five years later at a cost of $790,-384.

The post office was delivering an average of 60 pieces of mail per person that year, to a population of 124,000. Postal receipts during the first year of operation at the building amounted to $140,309.42.

By 1912, the postal business had so increased to keep pace with a population growth to 221,000 that an addition to the office was completed.

Site for the present facility was purchased for $400,000 in 1933 and the building completed two years later at a cost of $1,419,202.

Postal receipts of 1960 reached a high of $15,696,-678.29.

City Honors Statesman

Henry Clay was among the distinguished visitors to early Columbus.

In 1830, then leader of the National Republican Party, he met with other party leaders here. Forty of 50 Federalists, mostly newspaper editors or lawyers were at the gathering.

Clay was not seeking any office that year. He was later nominated for the presidency but was defeated.

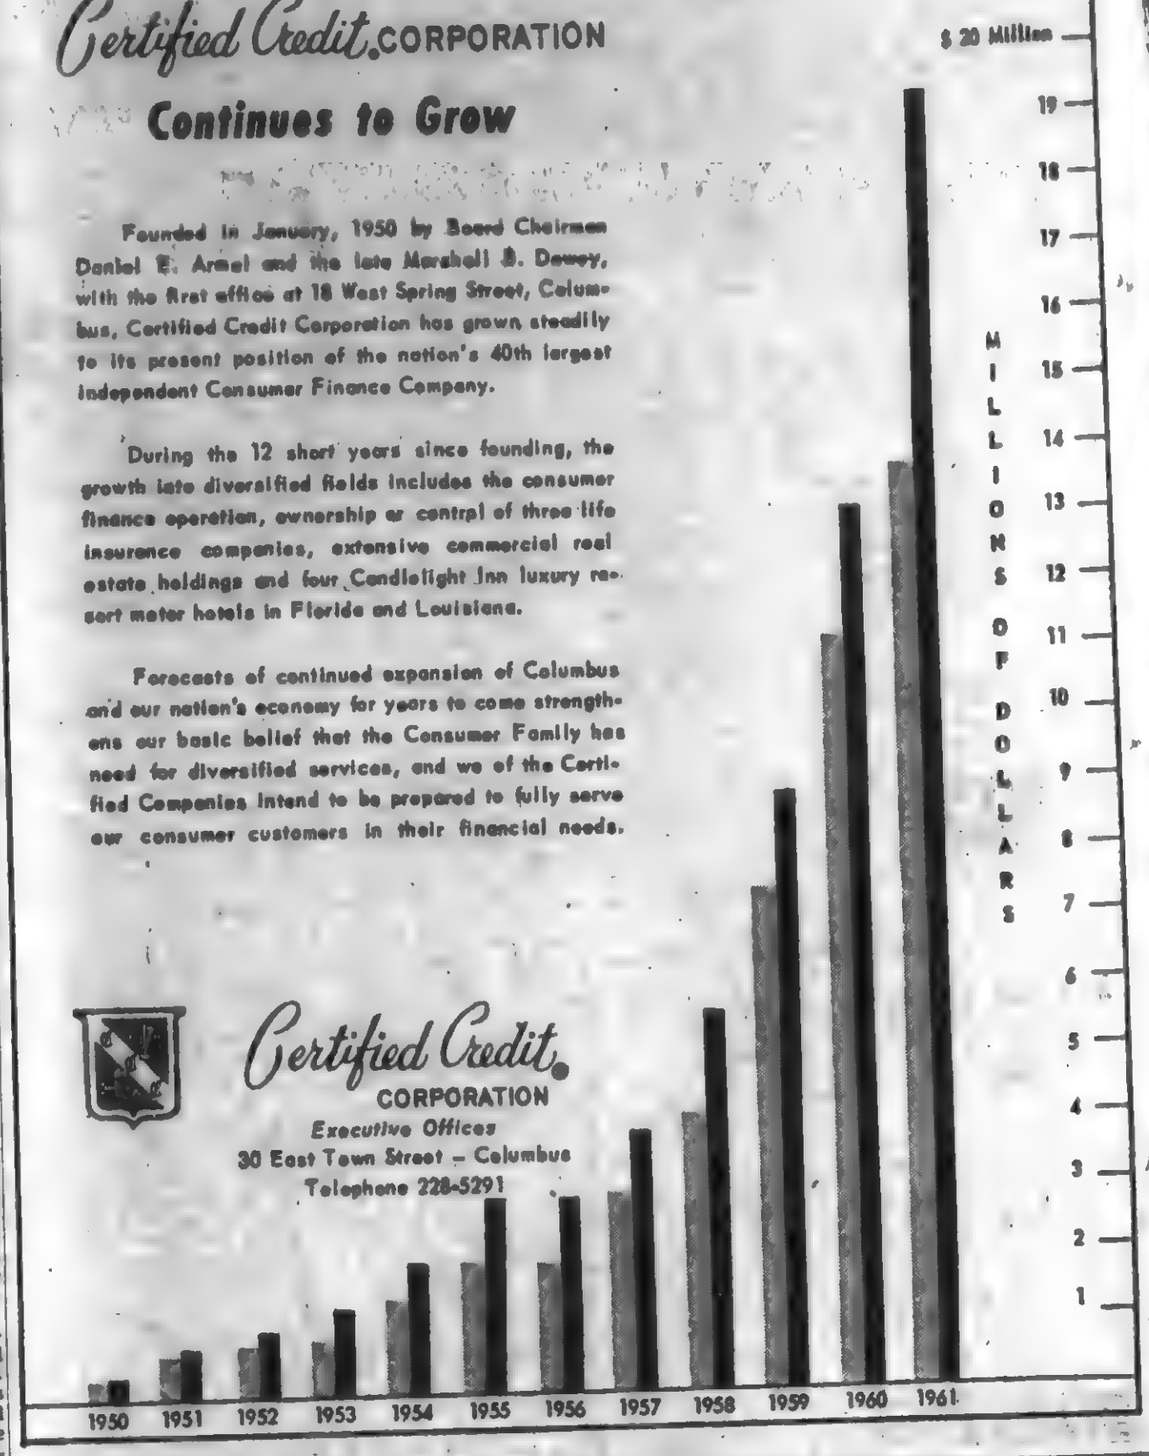
Clay frequently had business in the higher courts here. He had traveled to New Orleans and other Mississippi River towns in January of 1830, and toured Ohio during the summer.

Clay died June 29, 1852, and his funeral cortege passed through Columbus July 7, enroute to his home in Kentucky.

A procession had been formed, committee and city councilmen in carriages, firemen, Capt. Schneider's and Morgan's Volunteers, and citizens in carriages.

When the train arrived bearing Clay's body it was transferred to a hearse, and the procession moved down High-st to Town and then to the Neil House, where it remained overnight.

The procession was marked by the tolling of bells and the firing of minute-guns. Stores and business places were draped with crepe, and those in the procession wore mourning for America's orator and statesman.



Certified Credit CORPORATION

Continues to Grow

Founded in January, 1950 by Board Chairman Daniel E. Armel and the late Marshall B. Dewey, with the first office at 18 West Spring Street, Columbus, Certified Credit Corporation has grown steadily to its present position of the nation's 40th largest independent Consumer Finance Company.

During the 12 short years since founding, the growth into diversified fields includes the consumer finance operation, ownership or control of three life insurance companies, extensive commercial real estate holdings and four Candlelight Inn luxury resort motor hotels in Florida and Louisiana.

Forecasts of continued expansion of Columbus and our nation's economy for years to come strengthens our basic belief that the Consumer Family has need for diversified services, and we of the Certified Companies intend to be prepared to fully serve our consumer customers in their financial needs.

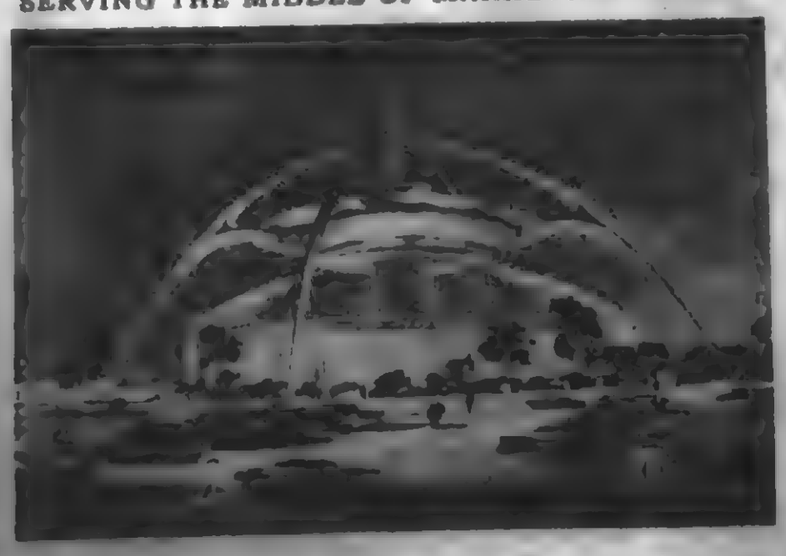
ELECTRICITY WILL MAKE THE NEXT 150 YEARS ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE

Did you ever stop to think how much electricity has contributed to our progress in just the last 75 years of our 150-year history?

The latter years of the nineteenth century were still in the era of the oil lamp and the coal stove, the washboard and the flatiron.

Now let's project our thoughts into the future and envision the marvels that electricity will bring in the NEXT 75 years.

High frequency sound waves being used in a new kind of washing machine and dishwasher. A combination freezer and electronic oven will produce full meals in fifteen minutes, while a remote control will allow the homemaker to turn appliances on or off from miles away.



In education, teaching machines will enable each student to progress at his own pace.

In medicine, electronic counting machines and charts will give supreme accuracy to medical diagnoses.

Many of these and other marvels will come to pass in our own lifetime. For future citizens, there will be a whole new world of electrical convenience.

Electricity has a truly great and wonderful potential for better living!

Let's continue growing together

Ohio Bell salutes Columbus — its residents and businessmen — for 150 years of growth and progress. We are proud to be part of our state capital's history. Forty years ago, there were only about 25,000 telephones in the Columbus area. Today, there are over 379,000 phones in the city of Columbus alone! Your local calling area is much greater now too, encompassing such outlying communities as Galena, Westerville, Reynoldsburg, and Canal Winchester. And look at the improvements in telephone daign and operation! Pictured above is a phone used in the 1920's, while next to it is the fashionable new Princess phone. The future? Soon, you'll probably dial friends by pushing buttons . . . or perhaps you'll call overseas — from your living room — via communications satellites. Yes, we've only scratched the surface. So let's keep growing together . . . we make a good team.

Scioto Crossed Only By Ferries

Ferries were the only link between Franklinton and Columbus until Lucas Sullivant built the first bridge across the Scioto in 1816.

One of these was The Old Ford, a canoe ferry operated by James Cutler near what is now the foot of Main-st.

NAMES LIVE ON

Names of the earliest settlers of Columbus are still familiar and persist in parks, streets and public buildings. Names of Lucas Sullivant, Robert Armstrong, Rev. James Hoge, William Neil, Joseph Shrum, Jeremiah Armstrong, Edward C. Livingston, Lincoln Goodale, Lyne Starling, William Merion and Levi Buttles have been bywords since as early as 1797.

700 IN 1815

The census, taken locally in 1815 found the population of Columbus to be 700.

Franklin County's First Church Founded By Rev. Hoge In 1806

FIRST BRICK CHURCH in Franklin County was built in 1811 on what is now McKinley-av, west of Sandusky-st. The surrounding burial grounds, Franklinton Cemetery, is still in existence.

A young, newly-ordained minister, to become the founder of the first church in all of Franklin County, extending at that time to the northern limits of the state, rode horseback into Franklinton on Nov. 19, 1805.

Rev. James Hoge was vested, at 21, with the formidable title of "missionary to the state of Ohio and parts adjacent thereto."

He was accompanied on the last part of his long journey from Virginia by two federal judges, on their way to the county seat to open the first session of Supreme Court ever held in Franklin County.

The judges invited the young minister to hold church service in their court, a room in the house of John Overdier. The frame, two-story building stood about 200 yards north of Broad and Sandusky-sts, site of the county courthouse that would be built two years later.

And on the following Sunday Rev. Hoge preached his first sermon in Ohio, with the judges adjourning court to hear the service.

Rev. Hoge and Lucas Sullivant, founder of Franklinton, became friends, and the minister remained for sometime as a guest in the Sullivant's red brick home on W. Broad-st at Sandusky-st.

The first church of any denomination in Franklin County was organized by Rev. Hoge Feb. 8, 1806. The following Sunday he administered communion to 13 members, including Lucas Sullivant's wife, Sally.

Rev. Hoge was installed as minister of the church, a pastorate he would keep for more than 50 years, on June 11, 1807.

The formal call, in the handwriting of Lucas Sullivant, was signed by elders, Robert Culbertson and William Reed, and trustees, Joseph Dixon, John Dill, David Nelson, William Domigan, Joseph Hunter and Lucas Sullivant.

Yearly Salary $300

He was paid an annual salary of $300 for three-fourths of his time, with the promise that the congregation would pay him at the same rate for his full time as soon as possible.

Lucas Sullivant, in 1808 deeded to the church a tract of land near the Scioto, to be used as a cemetery and church ground. The burial ground still remains on what is now McKinley-av, west of Sandusky-st.

First brick church in the community was built on the site by Sullivant in 1811.

The building, however, was taken over for use by the military before its completion, and used as a granary and storehouse during the war of 1812.

Blown down by a tornado in March, 1813, the building was replaced by another church in 1815, where the congregation worshipped until 1821.

Families rode for miles along bridle paths through the forest to attend Sunday services. The Reids, Shaws, Nelsons, Longs, Pattersons and Fishers were among the early members.

Sermons were lengthy, and an elder gave the pitch for hymns.

Indians Were Curious

A curious Indian in paint and feather finery, attracted by the singing, was occasionally an interested observer at the door or window.

In the spring of 1814 a hickory log cabin, 25 by 30 feet "Old Hickory Church," was built on land belonging to Rev. Hoge in Columbus, founded two years earlier, near the corner of the present Third and Spring-sts. Meetings of the congregation were held at both locations, although usually in Franklinton.

By 1808 most members lived on the Columbus side of the river, and it was decided to replace "Old Hickory" with a more substantial church.

Ten subscribers each gave $100 for the new church, to be reimbursed from the sale of pews.

They were, Lucas Sullivant, John Keer, Henry Brown, James Hoge, Ralph Osborne and John Lughrey.

The large frame building, composed of three parts that could be sold or used separately as needed, was constructed on a lot donated for the purpose at the southwest corner of Town and Front-sts.

"Trinity In Unity"

Because of its three-part construction, the church was referred to as "Trinity In Unity."

The church, with the old Franklinton congregation, was organized as the First Presbyterian Congregation of Columbus in 1821. Two years later Rev. Hoge's salary was raised to $800.

By 1830 the congregation had so grown that a larger building was needed and a new church was completed in 1830 at the southwest corner of State and Third-sts, now the location of the Hartman Theater Building.

Rev. Hoge had received a Doctor of Divinity degree from Miami University in 1824, and when the church was completed, his salary was raised to $1000 a year.

An extensive remodeling program in 1850 improved both the interior and exterior of the church. Seven years later, Dr. Hoge resigned as pastor.

In 1898-99, members felt it advisable to move farther east, and a chapel was built on Bryden-rd at Ohio in 1900. The present First Presbyterian Church, now standing on that location, was constructed in 1908.

In 1906, when the First Church and the Columbus Presbytery were celebrating the centennial of Presbyterianism in Franklin County, a memorial fund for church extension, amounting to $22,000, was raised in honor of Dr. James Hoge.

The money was placed in a revolving fund, to be used as a loan to churches in Columbus Presbytery. However, $5000 was granted to new Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, 2930 W. Broad-st, because it was named in honor of Dr. Hoge.

You Live In "America's Original Natural Gasland"...

WHERE YOU GET THE FINEST GAS SERVICE IN THE COUNTRY
One of the big reasons why Ohioans enjoy the finest gas service available — at rates that are among the lowest in the country — is because Ohio is part of "America's Original Natural Gasland".
In Ohio are huge natural underground rock formations containing countless numbers of tiny pores suitable for storing billions of cubic feet of natural gas.
During summer, great volumes of gas piped to Ohio from the Southwest are stored in these big "warehouses" — thousands of feet underground. The gas is withdrawn from storage in winter, as needed, to help heat your home. On cold winter days, more than half the gas used by Ohio Fuel customers comes from underground storage.
Underground storage makes it possible for Ohio Fuel to meet the tremendous demands for gas — in homes, in stores, and in industries — at such moderate costs.
NEW MOVIE — A new Columbia Gas System sound, color movie, "These Are My People", shows how natural gas is delivered to your home, and what it takes to get it there. The movie is available for showings for schools, churches, club groups, and other organizations. Call your Ohio Fuel Gas Company office about it.

ELECTRICITY WILL MAKE THE NEXT 150 YEARS ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE

Did you ever stop to think how much electricity has contributed to our progress in just the last 75 years of our 150-year history?

The latter years of the nineteenth century were still in the era of the oil lamp and the coal stove, the washboard and the flatiron.

Now let's project our thoughts into the future and envision the marvels that electricity will bring in the NEXT 75 years.

High frequency sound waves being used in a new kind of washing machine and dishwasher. A combination freezer and electronic oven will produce full meals in fifteen minutes, while a remote control will allow the homemaker to turn appliances on or off from miles away. In education, teaching machines will enable each student to progress at his own pace.

In medicine, electronic counting machines and charts will give supreme accuracy to medical diagnoses.

Many of these and other marvels will come to pass in our own lifetime. For future citizens, there will be a whole new world of electrical convenience.

Electricity has a truly great and wonderful potential for better living!

Let's continue growing together

Ohio Bell salutes Columbus — its residents and businessmen — for 150 years of growth and progress. We are proud to be part of our state capital's history. Forty years ago, there were only about 35,000 telephones in the Columbus area. Today, there are over 379,000 phones in the city of Columbus alone! Your local calling area is much greater now too, encompassing such outlying communities as Galena, Westerville, Reynoldsburg, and Canal Winchester. And look at the improvements in telephone dsign and operation! Pictured above is a phone used in the 1920's, while next to it is the fashionable new Princess phone. The future? Soon, you'll probably dial friends by pushing buttons . . . or perhaps you'll call [illegible] — from your living room — via communications satellites. Yes, we've only scratched the surface. So let's keep growing together . . . we make a good team.

Scioto Crossed Only By Ferries

Ferries were the only link between Franklinton and Columbus until Lucas Sullivant built the first bridge across the Scioto in 1816.

One of these was The Old Ford, a canoe ferry operated by James Cutler near what is now the foot of Main-st.

NAMES LIVE ON

Names of the earliest settlers of Columbus are still familiar and persist in parks, streets and public buildings. Names of Lucas Sullivant, Robert Armstrong, Rev. James Hoge, William Neil, Joseph Shrum, Jeremiah Armstrong, Edward C. Livingston, Lincoln Goodale, Lyne Starling, William Merion and Levi Buttles have been bywords since as early as 1797.

The census, taken locally in 1815 found the population of Columbus to be 700.

Franklin County's First Church Founded By Rev. Hoge In 1806

A young, newly-ordained minister, to become the founder of the first church in all of Franklin County, extending at that time to the northern limits of the state, rode horseback into Franklinton on Nov. 19, 1805.

Rev. James Hoge was vested, at 21, with the formidable title of "missionary to the state of Ohio and parts adjacent thereto."

He was accompanied on the last part of his long journey from Virginia by two federal judges, on their way to the county seat to open the first session of Supreme Court ever held in Franklin County.

The judges invited the young minister to hold church service in their court, a room in the house of John Overdier. The frame, two-story building stood about 200 yards north of Broad and Sandusky-sts, site of the county courthouse that would be built two years later.

And on the following Sunday Rev. Hoge preached his first sermon in Ohio, with the judges adjourning court to hear the service.

Rev. Hoge and Lucas Sullivant, founder of Franklinton, became friends, and the minister remained for sometime as a guest in the Sullivant's red brick home on W. Broad-st at Sandusky-st.

The first church of any denomination in Franklin County was organized by Rev. Hoge Feb. 8, 1806. The following Sunday he administered communion to 13 members, including Lucas Sullivant's wife, Sally.

Rev. Hoge was installed as minister of the church, a pastorate he would keep for more than 50 years, on June 11, 1807.

The formal call, in the handwriting of Lucas Sullivant, was signed by elders, Robert Culbertson and William Reed, and trustees, Joseph Dixon, John Dill, David Nelson, William Domigan, Joseph Hunter and Lucas Sullivant.

Yearly Salary $300

He was paid an annual salary of $300 for three-fourths of his time, with the promise that the congregation would pay him at the same rate for his full time as soon as possible.

FIRST BRICK CHURCH in Franklin County was built in 1811 on what is now McKinley-av, west of Sandusky-st. The surrounding burial grounds, Franklinton Cemetery, is still in existence.

Lucas Sullivant, in 1808 deeded to the church a tract of land near the Scioto, to be used as a cemetery and church ground. The burial ground still remains on what is now McKinley-av, west of Sandusky-st.

First brick church in the community was built on the site by Sullivant in 1811.

The building, however, was taken over for use by the military before its completion, and used as a granary and storehouse during the war of 1812.

Blown down by a tornado in March, 1813, the building was replaced by another church in 1815, where the congregation worshipped until 1821.

Families rode for miles along bridle paths through the forest to attend Sunday services. The Reids, Shaws, Nelsons, Longs, Pattersons and Fishers were among the early members.

Sermons were lengthy, and an elder gave the pitch for hymns.

Indians Were Curious

A curious Indian in paint and feather finery, attracted by the singing, was occasionally an interested observer at the door or window.

In the spring of 1814 a hickory log cabin, 25 by 30 feet "Old Hickory Church," was built on land belonging to Rev. Hoge in Columbus, founded two years earlier, near the corner of the present Third and Spring-sts. Meetings of the congregation were held at both locations, although usually in Franklinton.

By 1818 most members lived on the Columbus side of the river, and it was decided to replace "Old Hickory" with a more substantial church.

Ten subscribers each gave $100 for the new church, to be reimbursed from the sale of pews.

They were, Lucas Sullivant, John Keer, Henry Brown, James Hoge, Ralph Osborne and John Lughrey.

The large frame building, composed of three parts that could be sold or used separately as needed, was constructed on a lot donated for the purpose at the southwest corner of Town and Front-sts.

"Trinity In Unity"

Because of its three-part construction, the church was referred to as "Trinity In Unity."

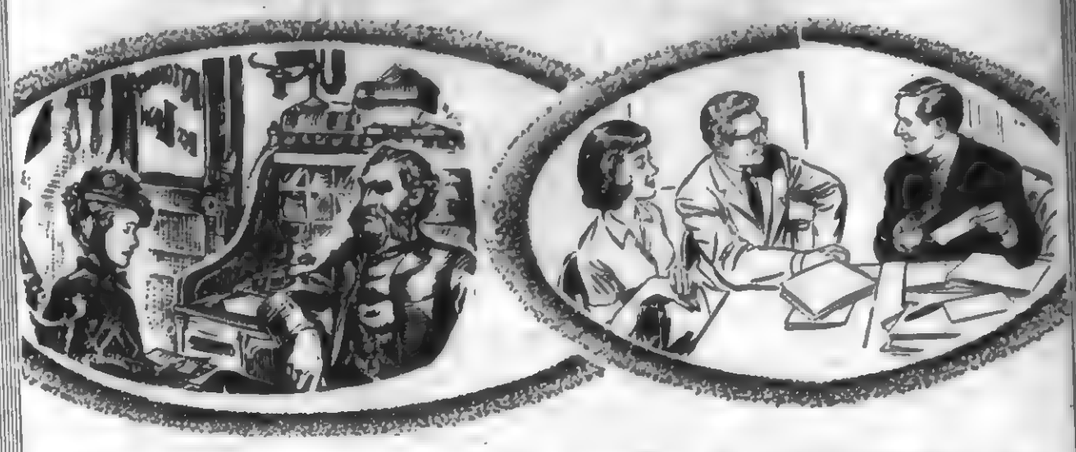
The church, with the old Franklinton congregation, was organized as the First Presbyterian Congregation of Columbus in 1821. Two years later Rev. Hoge's salary was raised to $800.

By 1830 the congregation had so grown that a larger building was needed and a new church was completed in 1830 at the southwest corner of State and Third-sts, now the location of the Hartman Theater Building.

Rev. Hoge had received a Doctor of Divinity degree from Miami University in 1824, and when the church was completed, his salary was raised to $1000 a year.

An extensive remodeling program in 1850 improved both the interior and exterior of the church. Seven years later, Dr. Hoge resigned as pastor.

In 1898-99, members felt it advisable to move farther east, and a chapel was built on Bryden-rd at Ohio in 1900. The present First Presbyterian Church, now standing on that location, was constructed in 1908.



In 1906, when the First Church and the Columbus Presbytery were celebrating the centennial of Presbyterianism in Franklin County, a memorial fund for church extension, amounting to $22,000, was raised in honor of Dr. James Hoge.

The money was placed in a revolving fund, to be used as a loan to churches in Columbus Presbytery. However, $5000 was granted to new Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, 2930 W. Broad-st, because it was named in honor of Dr. Hoge.

You Live In "America's Original Natural Gasland"...

WHERE YOU GET THE FINEST GAS SERVICE IN THE COUNTRY

One of the big reasons why Ohioans enjoy the finest gas service available — at rates that are among the lowest in the country — is because Ohio is part of "America's Original Natural Gasland".

In Ohio are huge natural underground rock formations containing countless numbers of tiny pores suitable for storing billions of cubic feet of natural gas.

During summer, great volumes of gas piped to Ohio from the Southwest are stored in these big "warehouses" — thousands of feet underground. The gas is withdrawn from storage in winter, as needed, to help heat your home. On cold winter days, more than half the gas used by Ohio Fuel customers comes from underground storage.

Underground storage makes it possible for Ohio Fuel to meet the tremendous demands for gas — in homes, in stores, and in industries — at such moderate costs.

NEW MOVIE — A new Columbia Gas System sound, color movie, "These Are My People", shows how natural gas is delivered to your home, and what it takes to get it there. The movie is available for showings for schools, churches, club groups, and other organizations. Call your Ohio Fuel Gas Company office about it.

First State Hospital Destroyed By Fire

Present Building Opened In 1877

Columbus State Hospital, familiar landmark on Columbus' west side for nearly a century, is the second building to house the capital city's institution for mentally ill.

The present hospital was opened to patients in 1877 after the original building, constructed on E. Broad-st burned in 1868.

State legislature in 1853, on the recommendation of a state medical convention held in Columbus that year, passed an act to establish the institution, and appointed directors to purchase a site and arrange its construction.

Directors were Dr. Samuel Parsons, who became first superintendent, Dr. William M. Awl, and Gen. Samuel F. McCracken.

Thirty acres of the E. Broad--st location were purchased in July, 1835. An additional 27 acres in 1839 and seven more in 1845 increased the site to 64 acres. Entire cost of the land was $6,905.35, averaging each acre about $108.

ORIGINAL STATE HOSPITAL, located on E. Broad-st, was destroyed by fire in 1868, and replaced by the present institution in 1877.

COMPLETED IN 1839

Cornerstone of the building, designed by architect N. B. Kelley to accommodate 120 patients, was laid in April, 1837 and the institution was completed in November, 1839.

Enlarged facilities were soon necessary and a west wing with corner veranda was completed in 1845, an east wing in 1846 and a center wing built in 1847.

The disastrous fire which claimed the lives of six women patients by suffocation occurred Nov. 18, 1868. Originating in the east wing, housing 42 women patients, the fire was thought to have been started by the patients.

The fire department, summoned by the alarm telegraph then in service, answered promptly, but the water supply gave out before the fire was extinguished.

The 314 patients were housed temporarily in the institution's hospital which escaped damage, and at the Deaf School. They were later transferred to institutions in Cincinnati, Dayton and Cleveland.

Legislators in 1869 passed an act for the construction of a new building to accommodate 400 patients on the institution grounds, and work was started almost immediately.

However, in April the next year, the Legislature reconsidered its action, stopped work on the building and laid plans for a new institution in a different location.

The land was sold on May 3 for $200,500 to William S. Sullivant, R. Jones, O. Johnson, John L. Winner, A. D. Rogers, Fred J. Fay, D. W. H. Day, J. G. Mitchell, James Watson, S. S. Rickley, W. B. Hayden, Charles Baker, W. B. Hawkes, John and T. E. Miller, and John Joyce.

The cost was divided into 20 shares of $10,025 each, with some of the purchasers taking two shares. The land was divided into lots with streets, avenues and parks, and the development titled East Park Place.

PURCHASED FOR $100,000

Present state hospital grounds of 300 acres was purchased from William S. Sullivant for $100,000.

It's location, at that time two miles west of the city, was described as 'bounded on the east by a line at right angles to the National Road, extending from the second milestone west of Columbus northwardly to the railroad from Columbus to Xenia, on the north by that railroad, on the south by the National Road, and on the west by a line parallel to the first second line.

Excavation started on May 6 and the institution, seven years in the building, admitted patients in 1877. Cost of the structure was $1,520,980-45.

Levi Schofield designed the building, according to the plan of Dr. Kirkbridge. Cottages and other buildings were added in later years.

Dr. Richard Gundry was appointed superintendant in 1876, and the institution was named.

OHIO'S FIRST INSTITUTION for the mentally retarded was held in a leased building on Friend-st, later to become Main-st.

State School Is Ohio's Second

Columbus State School grounds, among the most beautiful sites in Columbus, was a bargain for the state in 1864 at its $35 an acre price.

The original hundred-acre tract has since been expanded to include 164 acres, stretching west from Central-av between W. Broad-st and Sullivant-av.

The first educational institution for mentally retarded youth in Columbus was established in a large, leased house on Friend-st, later to become Main-st, across from the Blind School.

The institution was authorized by Legislature Apr. 17 1857, William Dennison, Jr. of Columbus, Asher Cook of Perrysburg and N. W. Townsend of Avon were members of the first board of trustees.

Dr. R. J. Patterson served as first superintendent of the school.

Sixteen students were admitted in November of that year and by Nov. 1, 1860, the building was crowded with 35 pupils.

The house was enlarged at that time and enrollment rose to 54.

Plans for permanent location and the construction of necessary buildings were laid by legislators in March, 1864, with an appropriation of $25,000.

The site selected by trustees was pleasing for its beauty and farming possibilities as well as price.

SITUATION IS BEAUTIFUL

They pointed out in their report, "The site selected for the building is near the brink of the elevated plain, on the west side of the Scioto Valley. The situation is a beautiful one . . . and at the same time the principal part of the land is in the Scioto Valley, and is easily susceptible to cultivation."

Construction on the building, designed to accommodate 250 to 300 students, was started the next year and, by July, 1868, was far enough advanced to be occupied.

Through the years other buildings in the complex have been added to the institution's present strength of hospital, school, dormitories, recreation, administration and service facilities.

Early Lawmen Collected Taxes And Sold Lots As Well As Keeping Peace

The early police officer, clad in homespun coat with little or no identification, and vested with doubtful authority, bore as little resemblance to today's smartly-uniformed, professional specialists as the wilderness on "the high bank" does to metropolitan Columbus.

On the city's birthday, June 18, 1812, the state legislature authorized the formation of the borough, fixed the boundaries and outlined the charter form of government with a mayor and council.

The incorporation was effected Feb. 10, 1816, and the first election followed on May 16.

Establishment of a police authority was among the first official acts of the first Common Council, and Samuel King was named marshal. Salaried at $80 a year, he worked directly under the authority of the mayor, Jarvis Pike.

His first duties involved little law work — he was tax collector and sold lots for unpaid taxes. Later he was responsible for the enforcement of ordinances prohibiting the galloping of horses or the discharging of firearms within the borough.

Even earlier, during the years when there was no municipal government, between 1812 when the formation of the borough was authorized and 1816 when it was incorporated, law officer was Squire Shields, a justice of the peace.

Since Columbus had no jail, its prisoners were lodged in the county jail, located in Franklinton until the county seat shifted to Columbus in 1824.

Police On Strike

That first jail, at the confluence of the Scioto and Olentangy Rivers on the west bank, was at first a small log structure. A brick building replaced it later.

The times and trials of the next 18 years, until Columbus became a city on May 3, 1834, are graphically recorded in the borough's laws.

It is evident that the town fathers had the citizens' good at heart, and their quaint, rustic ordinances and regulations on marketing, street improvements and sanitation, and fines against drunkenness, vice and disturbances, became the mould of modern police policy.

In 1818 a case of smallpox prompted an ordinance isolating all infected persons, and a pound for stray animals was established.

Market hours were also designated that year as from 15 minutes before sunrise until 10 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays. All other buying and selling within the borough within those hours, unless conducted at the market house, was made unlawful.

The power of the borough to levy and collect a tax was tested in a case in 1819, dogs were taxed and new market regulations adopted.

The following year the marshal's salary was raised to $150, a commitee on nuisances appointed and a common seal for the Borough of Columbus adopted.

A watch was established in 1821, consisting of able-bodied men of the borough under the direction of the mayor and council, to patrol the village between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. Patrolmen had authority to arrest any suspicious person found between those hours and bring them before the mayor.

The town fathers were evidently concerned about the morals and manners of the citizens in August, 1827, for ordinances were passed prohibiting "nine-pin alleys, ball alleys and gambling houses in the borough and persons were also forbidden under threat of fine or imprisonment from "serenading any individual or making unnecessary disturbances."

'Evil Design' Illegal

Another ordinance made punishable intoxication or "strolling about the streets or alleys of the borough with an improper or evil design after 10 p.m."

Grocers and alehouse keepers were required to be licensed in 1829, and fines prescribed for "vagrants, idlers and riotous and lewd persons guilty of disorderly and indecent behavior, and upon persons intoxicated."

The cholera year of 1833 focused attention on the borough's streets, trash heaps, stagnant pools and neglected alleys, and many improvements were made under the direction of an appointed committee.

Columbus was incorporated as a city on May 3, 1834, and its first election was held the following Apr. 14.

The position of city marshal changed from that of the earlier town marshal. He was elected by council for one-year terms, and had the power to appoint one or more deputies and dismiss them at his wish.

Abraham Stotts, the first city marshal, had the additional duty of clerk of the market.

The position of city marshal continued until May 1, 1873, when it was changed to superintendent of police.

The first "watch" under the city form of government, established in 1849, was the first real law enforcement body in Columbus.

Members assembled one hour after sundown and were on duty throughout the night. Anyone absent for more than two roll calls without sufficient reason was dismissed.

Offices for the force were provided in May, 1851 in the new market house on Fourth-st. A room 20 by 30 feet was designated as the marshal's office and two cells were provided.

The mayor and other city officials also had offices in the building.

A new arrangement in 1858 provided for the election by Council of 10 regular and 20 special policemen, with Henry W. Wakefield named as captain.

The construction of a station house was authorized by Council in 1855 and the following year the 24 by 34 foot, two-story jail was completed, containing 11 cells on the ground floor with the upper floor reserved for police use.

This first police station, constructed near the Scioto on E. Town-st, was used by the department until destroyed by fire in 1920.

Homespun civilian clothing and crude star hammered out by a blacksmith gave way to police uniforms in 1868.

A new police commission was appointed in 1872 and the position of town marshal changed to superintendent. Alexis Keeler was named superintendent on May 1 the following year.

Since Charles Engelke, last of the marshals, still had a year to serve, the result was confusion. However, both Keeler and Engelke were retained.

The legislature that year was Republican, and the following year, when a Democratic legislature was elected, members appointed another Police Commission and Keeler was dismissed after only one year's service.

The controversy between Keeler, Engelke, the mayor and the Police Commission resulted in an editorial battle, and was the news of the day.

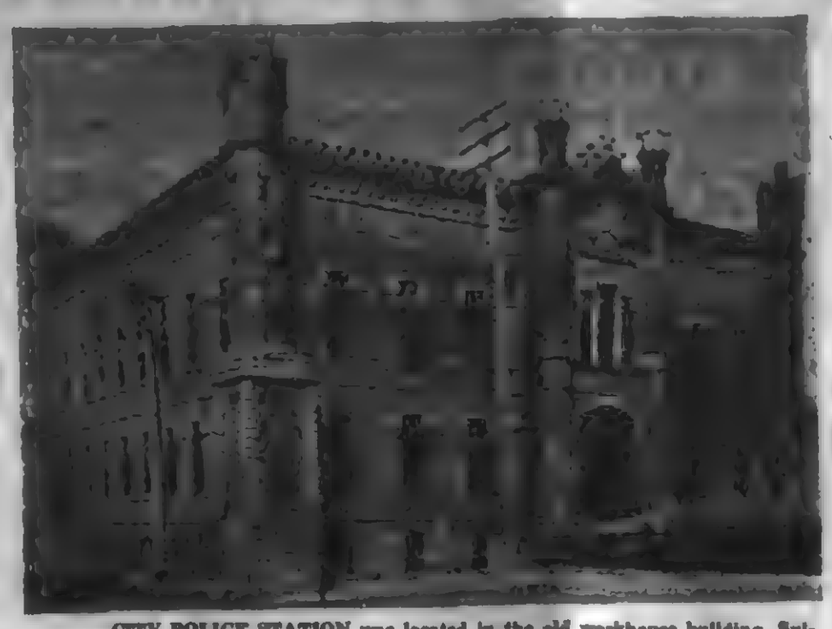
Council refused to appropriate money to pay a police force that was "top heavy" with officials and so, when the pay-less pay day rolled around, the policemen went on strike.

The watch failed to go out to their districts at 6 p.m. that evening, and the lawless soon took over the city armed with stones and clubs, smashing windows in homes and business places.

Citizens in turn flocked to city hall and the police station for protection and, by midnight, Mayor Lorenzo English guaranteed police officers' salary if they would return to duty.

Council, seeing the damage done during the six hours' strike provided the appropriation for salaries.

Much of the annual report of 1878 might be included in today's police report.



Charles Engelke, then police superintendent, referred to "the continual growth of the city" and the "inadequacy of our present force."

There were then six regular daytime patrolmen and 19 for night duty. Engelke further pointed out that "the time spent in lighting and extinguishing the city gas lamps . . . leaves the city virtually unprotected for several hours."

The city then comprised 10 miles and was divided into a North and South Precinct. Men worked in 12-hour shifts.

The police station on Town near the Scioto was destroyed by fire in 1920 and the department moved into the old Workhouse Building Sullivant-av at McDowell-st.

They continued in operation there until 1929 when a tornado struck and partially destroyed the building.

CITY POLICE STATION was located in the old workhouse building, Sullivant-av at McDowell-st, from 1920 to 1929 when the structure was seriously damaged by a tornado. The police moved into the present building on Marconi-blvd at Gay-st in March of the following year.

Certified Credit Grows, Assets Near $20 Million

Certified Credit Corp., the nation's 40th largest independent consumer finance company, headquartered at 30 E. Town-st, continued its steady, sound rate of growth during 1962.

During 1961 and in the first six months of 1962, Certified Credit acquired Credit Finance Services, Inc., an Akron consumer finance firm; the 135 room Anthony Wayne Hotel in Akron; the eight-story Monument Office Building in Springfield; the former Reef and Miramar East Resort Motor Hotels in Clearwater Beach and Fort Walton Beach, Fla., respectively, as well as the 24-unit Candlelight Beach Apartments in Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

With this continued growth and expansion, the number of employes has increased to more than 550 in the diversified operation of 18 consumer finance offices in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Louisiana, three life insurance companies in Louisiana and Texas, commercial real estate holdings in several states, four Candlelight Inn resort motor hotels in Clearwater Beach, Fort Walton Beach, Fla.; New Orleans and Lake Charles, La., as well as the Candlelight Beach Apartments, also at Fort Dalton Beach.

Board Chairman Daniel E. Armel and the late Marshall B. Dewey founded Certified Credit Corp. in 1950, with assets of $18,000. As of Dec. 31, 1961 assets of Certified Credit Corp. and affiliated finance companies were $19,395,421.

CAUSES FOR WAR

Historians today generally concede that fear of Indian aggression in the Old Northwest and British insults to American honor on the high seas were the principal causes of the War of 1812 which was declared 150 years ago.

ORIGINAL STATE BUILDINGS in Columbus were the first state house, at right, and first state office building, center.

Ohio State's Capitol Replaces Statehouse Destroyed By Fire

Columbus' first Ohio state house was built, in accordance with the agreement by the city's original proprietors, at the southwest corner of the public square.

Started in 1813 and completed the following year the building's stone for the foundation, window and door sills was brought through 14 miles of mud and swamp from Blacklick.

The brick were partly made out of the old Indian mound that once stood at the intersection of High and Mound-sts.

The two-story building had a square roof with a balcony in the center, and was distinguished by a spire that rose 106 feet from the ground. Protected walks on both sides of the balcony offered a view of the capital.

Huge wood fires in spacious fireplaces warmed the legislative halls.

After 38 years of service the state house was destroyed by fire on Feb. 1, 1852. When the flames reached the belfry the building was doomed for firemen could not reach that height with water from their hose.

It was said that, as the burning belfry swayed, the bell rang as if in requiem.

Ohio State's present capitol is one of the country's most outstanding examples of the Greek Revival style, the symplicity of the Doric structure emphasized by a row of Doric columns at each of its four [illegible].

The cornerstone was laid in 1839 and, although occupied by some departments in 1857, was not completed until 1861.

A railroad was especially constructed to haul limestone for the structure from quarries northwest of the city.

Construction was slowed by delays in state appropriations, a cholera epidemic and labor difficulties, and at one time stopped entirely for six years.

Before its final completion, five architects had served during the administrations of 12 governors.

The capitol's total cost was approximately $1,650,000. An annex east of the building and connected with it by a stone terrace was added in 1901 at a cost of $450,000.

Twelve steps from each of the four entrances lead to a central rotunda. Elaborately carved wood, marble from many lands and paintings and sculpture by noted American artists distinguish the interior.

Thirteen blocks, representing the 13 original states, surrounded by three circles and 32 points, one for each state existing at the time, form the center of the rotunda's inlaid marble floor.

The circles represent the unorganized territory at the time the marble was laid, the Louisiana Purchase, and the territory acquired in the Mexican War.

The whole is enclosed by a fourth circle, symbolizing the Constitution.

'Road' Is Lifeline For Travel, Trade

The National Road, highway of adventure and romance, longed-for link between Ohio and the East, brought a new era of travel, trade and prosperity to Ohio.

Arriving here in 1833, the Road had inched its way slowly toward Columbus since 1811 when the first contracts for 10 miles of road west of Cumberland, Md., were awarded.

For the next 20 years it would be the lifeline of the region's progress; its surface of crushed limestone would become compressed smooth and hard by traffic.

Toward the east traveled a steady stream of wagons, stages, foot travelers and herds of cattle, sheep, horses and hogs, all on their way to eastern markets.

And westward, on foot, horseback and by wagon, came settlers, whose night fires along the roadside lit up the countryside.

Huge covered wagons loaded with goods of all sorts, rolled on broad wheels, pulled by from four to eight horses. The horses, sturdy, well-shod and well fed, each wore a chime of musical bells.

The teamsters were a class all their own—rough and hearty, whiskered and sunburned, profane and fond of story-telling.

Stagecoaches, carrying mail and passengers, traveled in both directions, as did traders, peddlers, traveling musicians and beggars. And many a legend of highway robbery was woven of the Road.

The Road provided employment for many, increased the value of property along the way and prompted the opening of many inns and taverns.

And many, tired of traveling, stopped to rest in Columbus and stayed to make the city their home. The population of Franklin County increased 70 per cent in 10 years, from 14,741 in 1830 to 25,049 in 1840.

The Alleghenies, a natural barrier between the east and the west, had halted commerce and communication until in the early 1800's, Albert Gallatin of Pennsylvania advanced the idea of a road over the mountains.

Gallatin had seen, as a boy in Switzerland, much larger mountains crossed by roads, and knew the project was possible.

By 1818 the Road was opened to the Ohio River at Wheeling.

It bogged down there for a while, until Ohioans succeeded in having a bill passed by Congress in March, 1825 for $150,000 to extend the road from Wheeling to Zanesville, and two years later, a bill for $170,000 to complete the highway to Columbus.

During the five years after the Road reached Columbus in 1833, it moved westward toward the Indiana line.

Portions of it were soon turned over to the state by the national government, to maintain and keep in repair. For this purpose toll gates were built about every 20 miles.

One of these gates, just west of Reynoldsburg, was still collecting tolls in 1899, and that year took in $522.08.

The railroads, after their advent in the region in 1853, took much of the business and the glory from the National Road. It flourished again from the beginning of the Civil War until 1876, and then fell into neglect for a quarter of a century.

The Road came into its own again as U.S. Route 40, the highway of tourists, although it never regained the status of importance it achieved during the 20 years after 1833.

And soon it will be retired as the major east-west highway.

State route 70, the new superhighway spanning the continent, will supersede Route 40 in a few years. Many miles of the new highway already parallel the Road.

Before many years historic Route 40 will be traveled mainly by those who seek scenery rather than speed.

Drama Debuts In Columbus

First play ever given in Columbus, "She Stoops To Conquer," was presented Apr. 10, 1828, probably in the old Market House on State-st.

Columbus Theatre, first in the city, was located on the west side of High-st between Broad and Gay-st, and was built in the fall of 1835.

There was a saloon in the rear rooms of the building and drinks were served between acts.

The playhouse closed in 1841, and was purchased two years later by M. J. Gilbert. It was known as City Hall for many years.

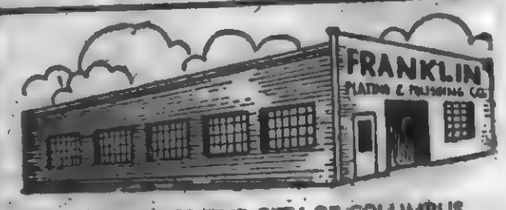
City Marks Anniversary Of Founding Of Franklinton

The 100th anniversary of the settlement of Franklinton was celebrated in the community Sept. 14, 15 and 16, 1897, with the observance's main events staged in "the natural ampitheater west of Columbus State Hospital."

Fr. Clarke of Holy Family Church in May called a meeting of citizens in the West Side Market House to launch the project, form committees and lay plans.



Expositions of pioneer relics and handwork were displayed at Highland Avenue School during the anniversary celebration.

Activities at the amphitheater during the three-day observance included addresses by Gov. Asa S. Bushnell, Gen. John Beatty, Sen. M. A. Hanna, Bishop John A. Watterson, Col. [illegible] L. Taylor and B. F. Martin.

There were also athletic events, a military and civic parade and a display of fireworks.

The centennial was concluded with a sham battle between a large tribe of Indians recruited for the event. They assaulted a block house erected for the purpose and not only captured it, with a will, but threatened to overrun the land to the west.

A heavy rainstorm dampened their enthusiasm until a contingent of the 14th Regiment could be assembled to restrain them within the limits laid down by the program.

COLUMBUS and FRANKLIN COUNTY on this MEMORABLE OCCASION

It has taken the efforts of many to bring this community where it is today. We are confident that our people will continue in the next 150 years to carry on in the manner of their forefathers.

Railroad Arrives In Cols. One Hundred Years Ago

The first railroad to serve the City of Columbus was the Central Ohio Railroad Co., incorporated by a special act of the General Assembly Feb. 8, 1847.

Amendatory acts granting additional rights to the company were passed by the assembly in 1849 and 1850.

Building of the Central Ohio line between Zanesville and Newark, a distance of 25.5 miles, was completed toward the end of 1851, and the section was opened for traffic on Jan. 26, 1852.

Construction of an extension to Columbus—one of the original main termini, was completed on Jan. 18, 1853 — a further distance of 33.06 miles.

The line from Zanesville eastward to a point (now Bellaire) opposite Wheeling, W. Va., 78.5 miles, was completed in the fall of the following year and opened Nov. 1, 1854.

Under authority of an act passed by the General Assembly in 1863, the Central Ohio sold an undivided one-half interest in its line between Newark and Columbus, to the Steubenville and Indiana Railroad Co. The sale was confirmed by the court and conveyance made by deed Aug. 31, 1854.

A receiver was appointed to take over the railroad and property of the Central Ohio in 1859, and following decree of foreclosure and sale in 1865, the property was reorganized under the name of The Central Ohio Railroad Company as Reorganized.

And, in 1899, an agreement was entered into for operation of this railroad by the Baltimore and Ohio.

The Central Ohio Railroad Co as Reorganized sold its entire line of railroad and branches, side tracks and leases, together with all its property, rights, franchises and other possessions, to The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., under deed dated Oct. 1, 1915.

The second line to become part of the Baltimore and Ohio system was The Columbus and Cincinnati Midland Railroad Co., originally incorporated as "The Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad Co." in [illegible].

Late in 1882, active construction on the company's proposed line between Columbus and Clinton Valley (now Midland City), was begun. By November, 1884, the road was complete and in operation from a connection with tracks of the present New York Central Railroad at Columbus to the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio at Clinton Valley, a distance of 69.86 miles.

The company, in 1890, leased its entire line to the Central Ohio Railroad for a term of 999 years, and the Central Ohio assigned the lease to the Baltimore and Ohio.

For five years, from Nov. 17, 1884, the properties were operated by the company's own management. The Baltimore and Ohio operated the property from 1890 to 1915.

By agreement, in 1914, the company agreed to sell its line and properties to the Baltimore and Ohio. Conveyance of the properties was made by deed dated Oct. 1, 1915.

Firemen's Training Academy Drill Dramatizes Functions Of Center

By TED BEARDSHEAR

The Columbus Fire Department's Training Academy, located at 240 Greenlawn-av, is an impressive five acres of efficiency.

Within the confines of the asphalt-covered grounds are buildings designed to centralize the functions of Columbus' scattered fire prevention units. Included is a structure housing the administrative offices of the department. Adjacent is the police and fire communications building which houses repair facilities for both departments.

But the outstanding unit is the six-story training tower, more than 70 feet in height. It is used principally to give men experience in fighting fires involving tall buildings, stairways, standpipes, and elevators and sprinkler systems.

Typical of the facilities activities is an aerial ladder rescue which was enacted for the Ohio State Farmers Association recently.

The rescue took a "victim" from the top of the academy's tower. According to Fire Chief Walter Strickfeden, the Training Academy started operation in March, 1962.

Before that date, firemen were trained at a number of different locations in the city. The academy "centralizes the entire training of the Fire Department," explained Strickfaden.

The academy is in operation seven days a week. Firemen from all over the city are constantly going through refresher courses.

New firemen are received at the academy. Here they are under the direction of Assistant Chief Herman Harrison. For five weeks, the new men are drilled in the fundamentals of fire-fighting. They then are assigned to an experienced unit where they continue both classroom and drill training.

According to Assistant Chief Harrison, there is a "constant flow of training procedures" at the academy.

During the first phase of a rescue demonstration, squadmen administered necessary first aid to disabled patient atop the tower. Next, they placed the victim on a backboard, covered him with a blanket and placed a footrest and leather straps in position. Essential web straps go completely around the victim and the backboard. Finally, a triangle bandage was placed on the man's head and fastened through slots in the backboard.

The victim was completely immobilized by the straps, in case he became conscious during the descent, or panic at his extreme height, it is necessary that he be unable to disturb the smooth lowering procedure.

While the men on the roof prepared the victim, the aerial truck was placed in proper position. The optimum position for the truck is with its back to the building. A hose roller was attached to the fly ladder. The roller cannot be secured elsewhere because of the need to extend and retract the ladder.

The ladder was raised and extended until the top was nearly as possible directly over the victim. A rope was attached to either end of the backboard and dropped to men on the ground. These ropes were used to guide and

Hilltop YMCA 1962 Roundup To Start Tuesday, Sept. 18

Maps New Approach Toward $12,000 Goal

Hilltop YMCA's annual Membership Roundup will start Sept. 18 with M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner serving as "Big Boss," assisted by Ray Anderson.

Roy Agin, membership committee chairman, will coordinate this year's drive which will have a new approach.

All present Hilltop "Y" members, whose memberships expire during the remainder of the 1962 calendar year, have been sent letters requesting they renew by mail. This is being done in order to reduce the number of contacts of former members by the cowboys, thereby allowing more time for prospective new members to be approached.

Members will also receive a fall and winter program schedule, a list of informal school classes to be offered this fall and a schedule of open house artivities which will take place Sept. 15-16.

A goal of $12,000 has been set for the current roundup. "Ranch Foremen" who will be assisting big boss Sensenbrenner are C. H. Campbell, Melvin Senerius, William Prillerman, Mrs. Harry Miller, L. B. Swinford, Mrs. George Hughes, Mrs. John Sines, Mrs. Chris Glaros, and Mrs. Robert Walker. Junior and senior high school boys and girls will organize a team

A Great Adventure Starts

Today we join the thousands of mothers and dads all over the nation who realize how fast the little ones grow up, as off to school they go.

It is a great adventure ahead as they start out to explore the field of learning. In most cases their knowledge at age six is far beyond that of ours at the same age. They have already learned so much and there is so much more they will learn.

The road ahead is an important one and we pray that those who receive them will be teachers and not just baby sitters.

Responsibility for the development of these little ones in the years ahead is a great one and surely there are real satisfying rewards for the dedicated teacher.

But the responsibility for the development of our young men and women does not rest with the teacher alone. Whatever success may come their way will also be in direct proportion to the interest of the parent.

Many a man and woman sending that little one off to school for the first time today is likewise embarking on a great adventure as they face new and greater responsibilities. They will grow together.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Residents Seek Action In Valleyview Protest

By Sam Dobbins

Petitions were to be circulated today throughout the Valleyview area in protest by residents who claim that an open ditch is the cause of a rat, mosquito and odor infestation.

The ditch, located in Valleyview Heights No. 2, has been the subject of controversy between area residents and Columbus City Council.

An attorney for the citizens, Robert J. Perry, said the petitions, requesting that action be taken to eliminate or have the ditch covered, will be circulated by Mrs. Barbara Lombard of 455 Westmoor-av and Mrs. Nancy Fareqhar of 2999 Westmoor-ct.

The petitions, when signed will be submitted to the City Clerk's office on Friday and then to Council on Monday, Sept. 10.

"We have already talked to the City Attorney's office about getting the petition properly prepared," said Perry, "and hope to discuss the issue with several councilmen before the meeting."

"If action is taken by the City which is acceptable to residents of Valleyview before Monday," the attorney added, "we will not go ahead."

Perry said that some of the people claim there has been oil slick coming from some of the businesses through the ditch to the west of Valleyview-dr. He added that one boy reportedly fell into the water which is said to be poluted and had to have his eyes treated by a doctor.

Twenty homes are situated along the ditch which residents claim is the storm drainage for two subdivisions along Valleyview-dr. Residents there are hoping the

Elk Skeleton Reclaimed At Camp Willson Possibly Dates Back To Prehistoric Age

SENIOR ARCHAEOLOGY STUDENTS at Ohio State University study the bones of an elk found this summer embedded deep in the bottom of Lake Mac-O-Chee at Camp Alfred Willson. The skeleton will be studied carefully by the Ohio Historical Society at the Ohio State Museum. From left are, Richard Moore, Stephen Butt

An ancient elk skeleton, recently recovered from the bottom of Lake Mac-O-Chee by staff members at the YMCA Camp Alfred Willson, south of Bellefontaine, was presented to the Ohio Historical Society last week.

The skeleton, third to be found buried in the sand at the bottom of the lake, is known to be at least more than 100 years old, and may date back thousands of years.

The last elk of the original herds was killed in Ohio in 1837. But the beast was a prehistoric animal, and the ones reclaimed at the camp may have been buried in the spring-fed, glacial lake for centuries.

The first skeletons were discovered by campers in August, 1960, their presence revealed by the tips of antlers in the lake bottom. These, too, were given to the society by the YMCA.

A fragment of the weapon that killed one of the original skeletons has been discovered in the bone of the animal.

Robert M. Goslin, the society's assistant curator of natural history, is now engaged in cleaning the latest addition, and the bones will then be treated to harden and preserve them for study purposes.

Church Schedules Christ, Scientist Lecture Sunday

Large web straps attached to the board are united with the ladder rope, which with the guide lines, lowers the victim to the ground to be transferred to a stretcher and waiting ambulance.

Chief Strickfaden hopes that the operation of this facility will be a factor in helping to get a better fire rating from the Fire Underwriters for the City of Columbus.

EUB Church Youth Plan Rally Dates

Young people of the 19 Evangelical United Brethren Churches in the Columbus area will attend a "double-header" youth rally this Saturday and Sunday.

The Saturday rally will be held at East Linden EUB Church at 7 p.m., and will include a singspiration period under the direction of Lavern Warner, a brief message by Dr. John Knecht from the denominational offices at Dayton, a showing of a feature-length film, "Goal To Go."

Sunday's rally will be at 2:30 p.m. at Ohio Avenue EUB Church.

Candidates for election in the district will make campaign speeches, officers will be elected and installed, and delegates to the youth convocation at Estes Park, Colo., will report briefly.

There will be a fellowship supper at the church and the rally will close with a singspiration led by Lavern Warner and a concluding message by Dr. Knecht.

Rev. Irvin H. Lane, pastor of the Burgess Avenue EUB Church, is advisor to the Columbus Area EUB Youth.

Going away to SCHOOL
At this time of the year, all over our nation, boys and girls are leaving home to attend the school of their choice. Many, for the first time in their lives, will be away from home and their home church. They should be encouraged to, immediately, seek a church nearby where they may continue to worship the Lord, and have the companionship of friends with similar outlooks on life and God.
ATTEND CHURCH
IN YOUR NEW COMMUNITY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EIGHT WEEKS OF CHILD CARE study at Children's Hospital is included in a year-long course in the School of Practical Nursing. Students, Ellen Stambaugh, (left), 358 Toy-rd, Groveport, and Patricia Good (center) 1420 Kent-st, watch as clinical procedure is demonstrated on a mannequin doll by Miss Natalie Kress, R.N. of Westerville, R.R.

People Learn To Be Useful At Practical Nursing School

By MARTHA G. K. NEWTON

"Automation will never take your job," Miss Elizabeth Gurney, director of the Practical Nursing School of Columbus told a prospective student.

Training in practical nursing prepares the student for service in hospitals, clinics, physicians offices, private homes, public health nursing and juvenile diagnostic centers.

According to Miss Gurney, new scientific advancements are making additional demands of the medical profession. This has enlarged the entire field of nursing—and has given the practical nurse increased responsibility, too.

Who sponsors the School of Practical Nursing? It was started in 1953 by a united effort of the Columbus Board of Education, Columbus Hospital Federation, Central Ohio League for Nursing, and the United Appeal (at that time it was called the Community Fund). Today it is sponsored by the Board of Education with the cooperation of affiliating hospitals.

Since March, 1961, the school has been functioning in the old Broadview Elementary School, 1485 W. Fifth-av which has been completely remodeled. Before that it was located in the basement of nurses home, Mercy Hospital.

There are offices, classrooms, a growing library, a nutrition laboratory and a practice laboratory ward of eight beds. Instruments and other equipment used by nurses are neatly kept in glass cabinets.

"Mr. and Mrs. Chase" the manikins, are always in the ward awaiting the care of beginning students. The "Chase doll" is an adult size mechanical substitute for a human subject in the teaching techniques and procedures for the care and treatment of the patient.

The course in practical nursing covers a year of study. The first four months consist of class work at the school, including a few hours each week at a hospital. For the last eight months of the course, the students receive on-the-job hospital experience, dividing their time between the Columbus Children's Hospital and with University or Riverside Hospital, and a third location.

To be admitted to the school, an applicant must give evidence of good moral character and show a sincere interest in serving others. She must be in sound physical and mental health. She must provide a birth certificate and be between the ages of 18 and 50. A high school diploma is necessary for those between 18 and 25.

Conferences for prospective students are held the year round. Classes begin in February and September.

The application procedure includes a series of tests, a personal interview, a transcript of the candidate's high school credits and a physical examination. The applicant must also submit a photograph.

Upon completion of the course the graduate must pass the State Board examination in order to become a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN).

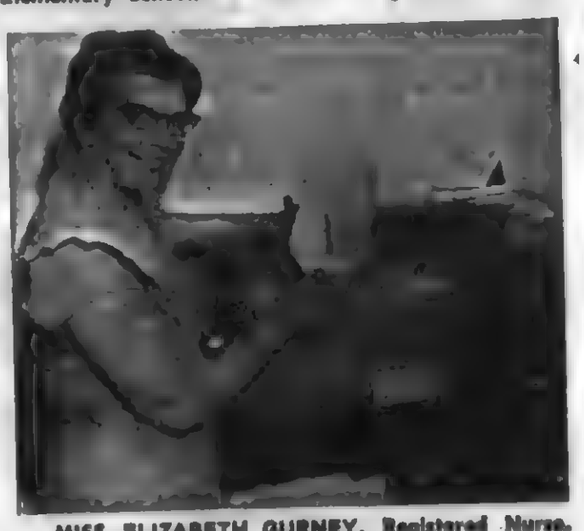
How does the income of an LPN compare with that of a registered nurse? Generally, she can earn three-fourths the salary of a graduate nurse.

Differences in ages among the students creates no problems, according to Miss Gurney. There is a give-and-take situation. The more mature individual recognizes the aptitude of the young, while youth must necessarily acknowledge the wisdom of maturity.

Let's talk to some of these students to find out what promped them to enter the nursing field.

Mrs. C. W. Hefner, 47 years old and slim, is a mother of three children and a grandmother of two. She said she always wanted to be a doctor, but it was too expensive an ambition. "I decided on this profession now so as to get in under the age limit," she said.

Attractive, blue-eyed Karen A. Burke, 20, said: "I always wanted to be a nurse. I took the course to get the feel of nursing. Now I'm going to stay at it because I like working with people."



"I think I can do much to bring comfort to the ill besides the usual required duties," said Betty L. Swarmer, 18. "There are post graduate courses for practical nurses, and I may go to one of them sometime," said Betty.

(There are post graduate schools all over the country where the practical nurses can receive further training in operating techniques, obstetrics and pediatrics, rehabilitation, psychiatric, and in the care of eye and ear patients).

I'm going to work on the eleven o'clock night shift at one of the hospitals," said Mrs. Leroy Kennerly, 36. Mrs. Kennerly said she always wanted to be a nurse and took the training primarily so that she could take care of her family in case of illness. She and her husband have two children.

PRACTICAL NURSING School of Columbus is conducted by Columbus Board of Education at 1485 W. Fifth-av, in a building which was once Broadview Elementary School.

MISS ELIZABETH GURNEY, Registered Nurse, is coordinator-director of the school.

Mrs. Loran Loughran, 31, a 1961 graduate of the school, said: "Practical nursing is just what it implies. You learn what you use constantly. I am doing private duty and have all the work that I can handle, and more. I would highly recommend the course to anyone who has a desire to be a nurse."

Occasionally, a male student will register for the course in practical nursing. At present one of them who who has been registered operates a rest home. According to Miss Gurney, he said he couldn't expect his help to carry out orders of which he knew nothing. There is a definite field for the male nurse.

At Children's Hospital, students of practical nursing learn about prevention, treatment and control of children's diseases. They also learn about the general physical, mental and emotional make-up of a child, according to Miss Natalie Kress, nurse and teacher at the hospital. "In cases of extended recovery, such as polio, the child is prepared to take his place in society again," she said.

As students, the girls wear white blouses and lavender pinafores. After graduation, they wear all white uniforms. Their insignia, the purple letters LPN on a light orchid background, is worn on the left sleeve.

According to Loretta Davis, teacher of nursing at Riverside Hospital, the practical nursing student is taught bedside nursing and how to perform treatments and assist doctors. "The student is an important member of the nursing team," she said.

Mrs. John Hathaway and Mrs. Freda Thomas, who teach the practical nursing students at University Hospital, agree that they meet a definite need. They take their share of responsibility in the care of the patients assigned to them. Yet they work under the direction of a professional nurse. Frequent conferences are held so that they will understand individual patient's needs.

'Our graduates are really proud of the service they perform. They know they are really useful," said Miss Gurney.

A Hartley Headliner Report

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Civil War Charades Are Disgusting

What with being in the midst of the Civil War centennial, chauvinistic historians, writers and poets daily are deluging us with tomes and poems singing the glories of that infamous holocaust.

Perhaps I'm in a minority, but I'll be damned if I will contribute to the glorification of the Civil War.

McPeek

It was a stupid, barbaric, internecine slaughter of thousands — a bloody, senseless struggle, fought largely under false colors.

All wars are a result of man's stupidity, and in many instances, to gain freedom and dignity, man had no choice other than to fight.

But the Civil War was not one of them. It was a war that pitted neighbor against neighbor, brother against brother — and if the truth is recognized, slavery as a moral issue was not at cause.

The Civil War erupted when statecraft collapsed — a collapse brought on by the blind, greedy determination of the "slave power" to retain its economic death grip on the South — and not only to retain that power, but to expand it into opening territories of the West.

This "slave power," using state sovereignty as its banner, willingly, or so it appears, brought on the great national tragedy of a 100 years ago.

All historians are aware that at the beginning of the Civil War most people and leaders of the North had not desired to interfere with slavery, but circumstances had been too strong for them.

Even Lincoln had declared he meant to save the Union as best he could—by preserving slavery, by destroying it, or by destroying part and preserving part.

The abolition of slavery served only as a weapon to wipe out the feudal control imposed on the South with a one-crop economic system which benefited only a few.

If slavery had been the true moral cause of the Civil War, as many falsely paint in our history pages, then we could take pride in this centennial commemoration.

But it wasn't, and I won't permit myself to be duped by jingoistic ignoramuses who look upon war as one of man's higher forms of art.

Experienced Outdoorsmen Enjoy Fall

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

With the passing of Labor Day, the summer season is officially drawing to a close. Vacations are over for the most part, and school is beginning. Fishing tackle and camping gear are stashed away somewhere, probably near a dry-docked boat in the garage or basement. It's all over for another year.

Over for the amateurs, that is. For experienced outdoor people one of the best seasons of all is just beginning. Not only hunters are getting the urge to tramp the fields and forests. But cooler weather is good for both fish and fishermen, and the best angling since last May is available. Campers and hikers enjoy a panorama of beauty during early autumn and state parks are uncrowded. Boating is at its best, with more dependable weather since the spring and summer shower seasons are over.

Fall is the only time when all outdoor sports are available, except swimming. When else can you combine a fishing-hunting-camping trip in ideal weather? When else can you launch your boat and navigate the state's lakes and streams under blue skies and white clouds, with no crowd at the launching ramp? When else can you hike or view nature's beauty without throngs carrying transistor radios? Early autumn is a season to savor.

It is true, of course, that fishing is good from now until freeze-up. As the water cools, bluegills will stop hitting on the surface, but will take slowly-fished wet flies. Live-bait anglers will find them deep, and watching a bobber dance on a hazy Indian summer day is a sport that I recommend.

Bass once again will hit a lure with authority through September and perhaps early October. But as the leaves fall you will also have to slow your fishing pace to catch bass. Some say that bass go on a feeding spree just prior to cold weather to store up energy for the winter. I have never been sold on this reasoning, for bass feed all winter and probably take in enough food to sustain their slowed activity. In any case, they do gulp in the calories and anglers should take advantage of it no matter what the reason.

For several years now fall has meant two things along Lake Erie — perch and small mouth bass. Mainly it has meant perch, and the good fishing started early this year. Fishermen on everything from row boats to sailing yachts drop anchor to get in on the perch bonanza. Party boat captain Elden Hales, 409-A E. Catawba-rd, Port Clinton, writes that excellent catches are being made and that many of the perch are big ones called jumbos.

Labor Day signals the coming of fall, it is true. But it means the beginning of a great outdoor season rather than the end.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

In this explosive and perilous age the people of this earth are confronted by individual and collective problems that seem almost insoluble. They seem to be turning for help more and more to things of mind and spirit.

No better guide for the future can be found than a re-examination of the past. There, if anywhere, we may discover values that we cannot afford to lose.

In the realms of mechanics, of spirit, of intellect, too many people have a pathological fear of being considered old-fashioned. There is nothing wrong about new things if they satisfy needs and don't violate legitimate laws of man and divine decrees of God and nature. But discovery of the new is based upon knowledge of the old. That is why we have education.

Always, and especially in this century, the struggle for power and prestige among earth's nations has dulled the sharp distinction between right and wrong. Expediency has replaced honesty in too many collective decisions about what to do or not to do. Necessity is the chief reason given for actions that often do not lead to satisfactory solutions of problems.

All this, we believe, is also true among individuals and families. Public moods reflect private, and the sum of individual qualities is the total of national if properly understood by national leaders.

So we think the new can be reconciled with the old. Why not rediscover the best of the past and use it as a foundation for the future?

It says here:

Too many have changed the Golden Rule to read, Do unto before he does you.

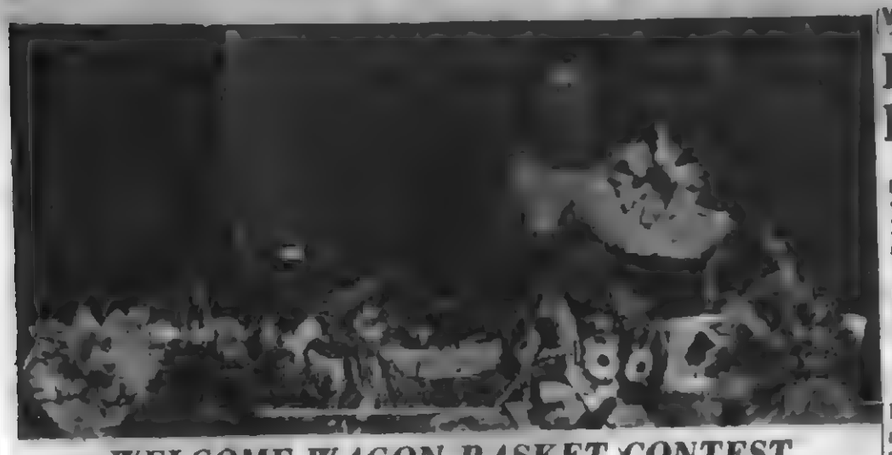
Aim Your Life On Target Of Truth

I once heard about a young fellow who went about shooting a rifle at everything he saw. A hunter following him was amazed to discover that on fence posts, trees, buildings and so on bullseyes were painted. And in every instance the bullet holes were smackdab in the middle of the bullseye. He overtook the young gun-toter and expressed admiration for his exceptional ability to hit the bullseye. "How do you do it?" he asked, "Don't you ever miss?" "It's easy," the youth replied, "I just shoot and then I draw a ring around the bullet hole."

Rev. Bailey

Well! who couldn't hit the bullseye every time? But, who did he think he was kidding? To be sure, it fooled the following hunter for awhile, but eventually the truth came out.

There are probably a great number of us who follow this principle when it comes to something more important than shooting a gun at a fence post. Here is the person who does what he pleases and then draws a ring of righteousness around it. His moral practices are pretty much subject to his appetites. What he wants, he takes or gets; then he tries to figure out a way to make it look respectable. It's like the king who wanted to do certain things that were against the laws of his land. He went ahead and did them and forced the parliament to pass laws which made what he had done legal.



One founder of a religion believed in having as many wives as one could support. But, in the interest of his faith, he limited the number for any man to two wives. He had his two wives when one day he met a beautiful young girl with whom he fell madly in love. There were laws against divorce and the maximum number of wives was two. These he already had. But he worked it out so that the law was changed and he as the leader could have the special privilege of having four wives if he chose! Do what you want, he would say, and then draw the ring of respectability around it and make it legal.

This goes for the folks who think honesty is a relative thing. It varies from day to day and generation to generation, they say. After all, we must keep up-to-date and old-fashioned honesty may not be good enough for our modern day. Scale your standards to fit your desired practices, they assert.

Somehow, I get the idea that this is getting the cart before the horse! What is the purpose of a bullseye? I always had the idea it was a challenge to the gunner or the archer. This is the standard and we should seek to scale our performance to the center of the target where the bullet or the arrow should go.

And I cannot find any honest reason for moving away from the standards of Jesus as the points of reference for keeping one's life on target. How easy it is for us to succumb to the temptation to seek to bend His teachings to fit our practices! Let's try shooting at the target and avoid drawing rings around our bullet holes!

Theron E. Bailey, Pastor
Obetz Jackson Chapel Methodist

Players Set Drive For Membership

The start of the big 1962-1963 Prairie Players membership drive will be Sunday, Sept. 9.

Plans for a big kick-off meeting are taking shape and all signs point to a gala affair.

The high spot of the evening will be the presentation of awards for the 1961-62 season.

At the close of a brief business meeting, a new one-act comedy, "The Other Half" will be presented.

All would-be actors, directors, stagehands, set designers, artists, playwriters, stage managers, producers, lighting technicians, sound technicians, set builders and all those who are interested in the live theater are invited.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Prairie-Lincoln School Auditorium. Refreshments will be served.

For further information contact Mrs. Richard Butler at 878-4744.

Traffic Signals To Be Installed Near Lazarus W.

Installation of traffic signals has been approved for Georgesville-rd, south of W. Broad-st, in an agreement reached Aug. 30 between county commissioners and Nationwide Development Co.

Purpose of the signals is to handle traffic to and from the new Lazarus Shopping Center.

Nationwide will pay an estimated $4786 for the signals.

Commissioners were also informed the state had entered into an agreement with Nationwide to install similar lights on W. Broad-st west of Georgesville-rd.

The company will pay an estimated $9,200 for these signals.

Notre Dame Alumni Stag Picnic Set

The annual Notre Dame Alumni Association of Columbus Stag Picnic will be held starting at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 8, at the Hallridge Club, 4200 Hall-rd.

Cash Register System Electronic At Lazarus West

EDITOR'S NOTE: Quick sales tallies each day are vital to merchants for sound inventory control — to assure that the right merchandise is in the store at the time the customers want it.

To help in this complex job, a first-of-a-kind electronic cash register system has been installed in the new Lazarus West, the department store's first branch, located at Georgesville-rd and W. Broad-st.

Pictures below give a step-by-step account of how the system works.

ONE OF THE MODERN features especially designed for the new Lazarus West is the automatic cash register system. When a sale is recorded the registers identify, on paper punch tape, the amount of purchase, the department making the sale and the type of merchandise sold.

AT THE CLOSE of each business day the punch tape contains a record of all sales and related sales information processed on the individual register. The tape is then removed from the housing beneath the register and sent downtown to Lazarus' electronic Data Processing Department.

DOWNTOWN, tapes from the 20 Lazarus West cash registers are edited and spliced together, then mounted on an automatic tape reader and electronically read into the data processing machine. The data processing machine then breaks the information down into an analysis of sales, both by departments and by types of merchandise.

THE DATA PROCESSING machine feeds the compiled sales analysis into an electronic printing machine where a detailed summary of the previous day's business at Lazarus West is prepared. The entire operation, from removal of paper punch tapes to the time key Lazarus executives receive completed summaries the very next morning, takes less than eight hours. The actual electronic data processing is accomplished in approximately two hours.

Connie Beachler, Briane Spangler Are Married Saturday At Westgate

Sunburst arrangement of white carnations and frosted jade foliage adorned the altar of Westgate Methodist Church for the marriage of Miss Connie Lucretia Beachler and Mr. Briane Lee Spangler.

Fourteen branch candelabra and emerald trees complimenting the chancel completed the church decorations.

Rev. Sidney Everson officiated at the ceremony on Sept. 1.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beachler, 3248 Race-st. Mr. Spangler's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Spangler, 811 S. Harris-av.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of imported embroidered organdy fashioned with a jewel neckline and short sleeves. The fitted mid-riff accented the bouffant skirt.

Her crown of tulle leaves and iridescent flowers held an elbow veil of imported English silk illusion.

The bride carried a Bible topped with garlands of white snowdrift fugi pom poms with clusters of pearlescent grapes centered with a white hybrid orchid.

Miss Sharon Spangler, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Frakes, Miss Sharon Leppert and Miss Joyce Peer.

They wore identical sheath gowns of lilac silk organza fashioned with scooped necklines and bracelet sleeves. The tunic pouf overskirts were fashioned in front with a bow.

The attendants wore matching open crown pillbox hats with circular veils and carried sheath bouquets of purple grapes and soft pink florets.

Flower girls were Kendea and Cindy Gay. They wore white dotted Swiss dresses with lilac underskirts and carried net and tulle baskets with petals to drop.

Best man was Mr. Steven Spangler. Guests were seated by Mr. Lugene Spangler, Mr. Robert Spangler, Mr. James Boachler and Mr. Michael Spangler.

MRS. BRIANE LEE SPANGLER

Master Jeffrey Spangler was ring bearer.

A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Lugene Spangler, Mrs. Edna Spangler, Miss Darlene Gard of Hilliard, Miss Joann Gove and Miss Beverly Lancia.

The bride was graduated from West High School. Her husband is a graduate of Central High School and is employed as a salesman for Sutherland Lumber Co.

The couple is taking a wedding trip through the New England states.

Stevens' Will Celebrate Golden Wedding Sept. 11

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stevens, 152 S. Burgess-av, will observe their golden wedding anniversary, Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Stevens, will honor them with a family dinner at their new home on the lake in Bay Village.

The couple has two grandchildren, Nan Alison and Sally Marie Stevens.

They were married in Marysville Sept. 11, 1912.

Indian Trails First Pioneer Highways

When Columbus became the capital in 1812, there was no road worthy of the name in any direction.

And when Franklinton was named seat of government for the newly-formed Franklin County in 1803, overland ways into the settlement were tedious and perilous trails through the forest, broken first by animals and later followed by Indians.

The establishment of roads as the necessity of travel and trade was the immediate concern, and a number were soon located. Trees were felled and, more or less, stumps were removed.

The humble beginnings of the county's highway system came close on the heels of the location of Franklin County in 1803.

First was the road to Lancaster, crossing the Scioto at "Old Ford" and passing through the woods to intercept what is now Chillicothe rd. Surveyed by Joseph Vance, this road continued to be used until Columbus was laid out.

The road from the north end of Gift-st to Newark became the second road. Samuel Smith was its surveyor.

Another, surveyed by Capt. John Blair, started at Franklinton's public square at Broad and Sandusky-sts stretched to Springfield.

Rev. James Kilbourne was among petitioners in 1804 to request a road from Franklinton to Worthington.

Joseph Vance was commissioned to survey this project, and Kilbourne was named, at the same time, to survey a crossroad from the thoroughfare to Newark into Worthington.

At their best these roads were difficult, filled with large holes and stumps. And after heavy rains they became virtually seas of mud.

A network of turnpikes, mostly built or planned by incorporated companies as private enterprises and operated as toll roads, was started in 1816, and would eventually stretch in all directions.

FIRST TURNPIKE

Construction of the first turnpike from Columbus to Newark, was authorized and the Franklinton Turnpike Co. organized under an act passed Dec. 2, 1816.

The company included Lucas Sullivant, James Johnston, John Kerr, Lemuel Rose, Timothy Spelman, David Moore, John J. Brice, William Taylor, Zachariah Davis, William W. Gault, Stephen McDoughal, Lyne Starling, Joseph Vance and Joseph Miller.

Joseph Vance and Abraham Pickens were named commissioners for a road from Jacksonville to Columbus the following year.

Legislation for a state road from Columbus to the north boundary of Clinton Township was enacted in 1820.

A road crossing the Scioto near the west end of Gay-st, wound west, through the settlements on Big Darby and Gahanna, and crossed Alum and Big Darby Creeks by toll bridges built by David Pugh.

SANDUSKY TURNPIKE

Plans for construction of the first connection between Columbus and Lake Erie were authorized, and the Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike Co. incorporated by the General Assembly Jan. 31, 1826.

The company was formed by John Kilbourne, Abram L. McDowell, Henry Brown, William Neil, Orange Johnson, Orris Parrish and Robert Brotherson of Franklin County, and others of Delaware, Bucyrus and Sandusky.

With an eye towards speeding mail service and possible use of the road by the military, the government gave Ohio, for use of the company to aid in construction of the road, nearly 32,000 acres along the highway. These lands were to be sold for financial assistance.

Nearly eight years in the building, the 106-mile-road was opened in the fall of 1834, constructed at a cost of $74,376, or $701 a mile.

Built entirely of earth, with a graded arch in the center, the turnpike became nearly impassable with mud after heavy rains.

The public was loud in its dissatisfaction, and repeatedly tore down toll gates that were immediately replaced.

The turnpike company stood firm on its claim that the road's earth construction was in keeping with the conditions of the charter. However others claimed that gravel, stone or wood had been specified.

Finally, nine years after the turnpike was opened, the company's charter was repealed by the General Assembly in 1843.

A commission was appointed to build a state road on the bed of the turnpike and this was opened as a public highway in 1845.

Other turnpikes, all converging on Columbus were constructed as private enterprises until 1845.

The original toll roads, one by one, were purchased by the county, and the cost assessed against owners of adjoining lands. The last toll road disappeared about 1892.

Franklinton Reaches Peak Of Prosperity In 1812 War

The settlement at the fork of the Scioto, as center of military activity in the area as well as the east of county as well as the seat of county government, reached its pinnacle during the War of 1812.

Headquarters of the Second Army under Gen. Harrison was at Franklinton. Thousands of troops were constantly being moved through the town, and sometimes as many as 3000 would be quamped there.

Currency, so scarce in the pioneer settlement, became plentiful. Military agents in Franklinton purchased huge quantities of supplies for the troops, paying top prices.

But the prosperity bubble was to burst at war's end, and Franklinton never recovered from the staggering blow to its economy. The town steadily declined until, in 1824, the county seat was moved across the Scioto to Columbus.

Prices of livestock, pork and flour were inflated many fold during the war years. The price of oats and corn rose from 50 cents to $1 a bushel, and hay from $10 to $20 a ton.

Many of the settlers were able to pay for their homes from the sale of supplies and refreshments to the soldiers.

In the depression that followed the war, commodities and real estate plunged to a new low.

Money became scarce and unemployment was widespread. Families once considered wealthy were reduced to poverty.

Franklinton's sister settlement, the borough of Columbus across the Scioto, also suffered during the slump.

Alexander McLaughlin, one of Columbus' four proprietors and considered the wealthiest man in the state, went bankrupt during the depression.

Another proprietor, James Johnston, also failed, as well as many other landowners in Columbus.

Their lots were all offered at public sale by the sheriff or US marshal, but money was scarce and the land would not sell at the required two-thirds of its appraised value.

They were re-appraised and offered for sale again and again, until choice lots around the capital square that had brought $300 a few years earlier, went for $10 or $20. Some even sold for as little as $7.

The general depression was made worse when Starling's title to the half-section on which Columbus was partly located was questioned in 1822 and 1823.

Heirs of the land's original owner challenged the legality of Starling's purchase, and ejectment suits were filed in the Supreme Court of Ohio and in the United States Circuit Court against owners of the most valuable lots in the tract.

Starling had guaranteed the titles to purchasers of the lots, and so defended the suits.

The final decision in Starling's favor was made in 1816.

A claim disputing the title of Kerr and McLaughlin to their half-section followed, and this was settled in 1827.

Lyne Starling was the only one of Columbus' original four proprietors to survive the depression with his large fortune intact.

McLaughlin, after his bankruptcy, taught school for a living until his death in the early 1830s.

Johnston, who failed, moved to Pittsburgh where he died in 1842 without recovering his prosperity.

Kerr's large estate was lost by his family after his early death in 1812.

Chief 'Caldwell' Played Big Role In Ohio History

The courageous and noted Chief Sauganash, or Billy Caldwell as he was most widely known, lived for short intervals with other Indians of Franklin County and makes a frequent appearance in histories of the county.

Believed to be the son of William Caldwell, a British officer, and a Ptoawatomi woman, he studied with the priests at Detriot and spoke several Indian languages as well as fluent English and French.

He was Tecumseh's interpretor for six years, and it is thought that Caldwell encouraged Tecumseh and the Prophet at Greenville in 1807.

Although opposed to the advance of white settlers, historians are of the opinion that he did not believe in cruelty. It is certain that he prevented the death of several at Fort Dearborn (Chicago) when he arrived there the day after the massacre of Aug. 15, 1812.

Caldwell was in the British-Indian Department until 1828, and during that time declared his allegiance to the United States.

His frame house, built for him by the government in 1828 just north of the Chicago River, was probably the first of its kind in the Chicago region.

A man of high intelligence and exceptional abilities, Caldwell was respected by his white neighbors. He died Sept. 28, 1841.

High Flying 'Blue Angels' Headline Sunday Air Show

For those who have trouble keeping their stomarchs in the right place during a take-off, it is somewhat incredible to think anyone would willfully turn a plane upside down, tilt it on its side and do a loop-de-loop. Yet that is precisely what the "air-crobats" coming to Columbus next week plan to do — and furthermore they love it.

The high flying demonstrators will perform their air antics as part of the free admission Sesquicentennial Air Show to be held at Port Columbus on Sept. 9 at 1:30 p.m.

Headlining the three-hour air show are the Blue Angels, a Navy jet acrobatic team that executes rolls, loops, and other precision maneuvers at speeds of better than 600 miles per hour with wingtips barely five feet apart.

The group of pilots and fifty enlisted personnel is made up of regular navy or Marine Corps officers between the ages of 25 and 26. Their rigorous schedule as part of the "Blues" lasts for about two or three years before they return to the calmer fare of jet piloting with a squadron in either the Atlantic or Pacific Fleet.

The Navy's other contribution to the Sunday show is the "Chuting Stars," a group of volunteer Naval Parachutists, who will demonstrate their accuracy at landing in small target areas.

Demonstrating their dual formations flying will be Harold Krier and Charles Hilliard; Hilliard will give a solo demonstration of light plane flying and his famous "Joe Spook" comedy-batics act. Krier will pilot a plane for an air walking act and he and Krier will demonstrate their amazing car to plane transfer.

Comedy highlights of the show will come from "Uncle Fudd" who is noted for such fantastic stunts that no other pilot dares to copy him. He hanks his pint-size plane, seats himself backwards and flies upside down.

In addition to the air artistry, the show will also feature a helicopter demonstration, display of a jet engine, commercial and airline aircraft and antique and home-built planes for public inspection.

Planning for the Sesquicentennial air show began five months ago when civic and government leaders determined that the city should honor the various segments of the air industry, which has done so much to develop land-locked Columbus.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake appointed an executive committee headed by W. H. Yahn, president of the Columbus division of North American Aviation to produce the show.

The sesqui-centennial show is free to the public with free parking. The 17th avenue entrance to the airport will be closed. There will be parking on both sides of E. Fifth and in the North American lots.

The official birth of the Columbus air age is July 8, 1929, when the first Port Columbus facilities were dedicated on the site picked by Charles Lindbergh. At 8:17 that morning a tri-motor plane, aptly named "The City of Columbus," took off with 10 passengers including the famed Amelia Earhart. Today seven major airlines serve Columbus. Among the famous fliers who have used the Port Columbus facilities are Charles Lindbergh; Eddie Rickenbacker, Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan and John Collins, who landed the first commercial plane at Port Columbus in 1929, and followed up 25 years later by landing the first helicopter to score a notable "double."

Appearing with the "Blue Angels" in Sunday's Air Show is stunt man "Uncle Fudd" who will entertain with his daring air antics.

At Ease . . . TIMELY TIPS . . . FOR PLEASURE

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

She's Just Plain Funny— With Or Without A Script

It's hard to tell who's laughing the loudest — the audience or the cast — in the current Kenley show "Wildcat."

The reason for the hilarity on both sides of the footlights is star Martha Raye who does as much ad-lib clowning as she can get away with. The result is that the cast can hardly keep a straight face and the audience gets a double dose of one of the funniest ladies to grace a stage.

The story of "Wildcat" needs all the help it can get. It is the rather weak tale of a brash lady prospector (Miss Raye) whose sheer determination bags her a gusher as well as a man. Miss Raye saves the show with her natural talent for hamming it up.

BEVERLY

The Kenley cast makes the most of their roles. Don Potter is uproariously funny as Sookie, the "dirty old man," who sells "Wildcat" (Miss Raye) the oil well land; Alice Nunn steals a few scenes with her portrayal of the Countess, "Wildcat's" friend, and Robert Gallagher is a strong male lead as the man that gets caught.

None of the tunes from the show have become popular music; yet, when Miss Raye and Sookie sing "What Takes My Fancy" or when star Raye and the Countess double up on "Dancing on My Tippy Toes," they are as entertaining as any show songs can be.

The show remains Miss Raye's personal triumph. She is just a funny woman —her gestures, her speech, her singing—she can even get a laugh by standing still.

If you like her, her performance is one not to miss.

Symphony Holds Chorus Try-Outs

Evan Whallon, music director for the Columbus Symphony chorus, announces that auditions for the chorus will be held on Sunday, Sept. 9, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The Columbus Symphony has scheduled three choral performances at the Veterans Memorial this year. The first performance will be William Walton's Balshazzar's Feast on Wednesday, Dec. 5, 1962.

To obtain more information concerning singing with the chorus, contact Wilbur Walters, administrative director of the chorus, at HU. 6-3626, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. or evenings at 885-5630.

Apple Festival Held In Jackson

Hundreds of displays and free attractions will highlight the Jackson Apple Festival, to be held in Jackson, Ohio, Sept. 19-22. The festival is one of the oldest and largest events of its kind in the State of Ohio. Parades including more than 100 floats and musical units, will be held on the first and last days.

Play Season Announced

The Players' Club, celebrating its 40th anniversary year, has announced its program of 1962 productions.

During the coming season the club will present "Critics' Choice," "Write Murder," "Happy Birthday," the 40th anniversary show, "Richard the Third," and "Little Mary Sunshine."

Due to the new expanded facilities of the Players Club, there are now openings for new members. Those interested should call the membership chairman, Wayne Trapp, 221-8362, for further details.

Prairie Unit Slates Play

Sunday, Sept. 9, will mark the opening performance of a new one-act play by the Prairie Players, formerly the Players Guild of Prairie Township.

The play, "The Other Half," a comedy, concerns a city-bred couple who find out how the-other-half lives — the simple, down-to-earth, happy life of people who live with and by nature.

The city couple are played by Mrs. Tom Haydock and Dr. Robert Chosy; the nature livers by Mrs. William Davis and Robert Sutton. The play is directed by Dr. Robert Chosy.

Memberships are available in the Prairie Players and information may be received by calling Mrs. J. J. Lane, 878-5449 or Mrs. Richard Butler, 878-4744.

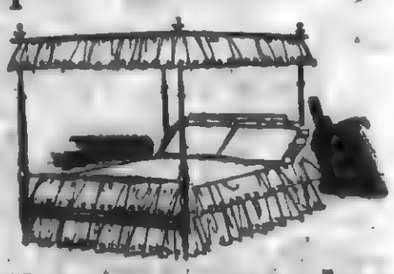
Shakespeare Festival Ends Season, Announces Play Choices For 1963

The Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival, now at the beautiful, air-conditioned Lakewood Civic Auditorium, Franklin Boulevard at Buntsrd, goes into its last week of repertory.

The very popular AS YOU LIKE IT will have the stage on Thursday, Sept. 6 at 8:30, and a change in schedule adds a performance of this lyric comedy at the Sunday matinee on Sept. 9, the final day of the festival, at 2:30 p.m.

OTHELLO will be performed for the last time on Friday, Sept. 7, at 8:30 p.m. At a Twi-nite on Saturday, Sept. 8, RICHARD II will be on stage at 5 p.m. and HENRY IV, Part 1 at 9 p.m. These two performances may be seen for $3.50. A buffet dinner will be served in the Lakewood-on-Erie Room between performances for $2.50. Dinner reservations as well as seat reservations should be made in advance.

The successful season of the Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival will close on Sunday evening, Sept. 9 with a performance of the MERCHANT OF VENICE at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for all plays are $2 for adults and $1.00 for students.



As the first season draws to a close the Board of The Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival announces a 1963 season with the following plays being considered for possible presentation next summer. RICHARD III, HENRY, V, ROMEO and JULIET, MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING, CORIOLANUS, THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR, MEASURE FOR MEASURE, LOVE'S LABOUR'S LOST. Five or six will be chosen from this list and it is expected that the 1963 season will get underway earlier next year to allow for additional performances

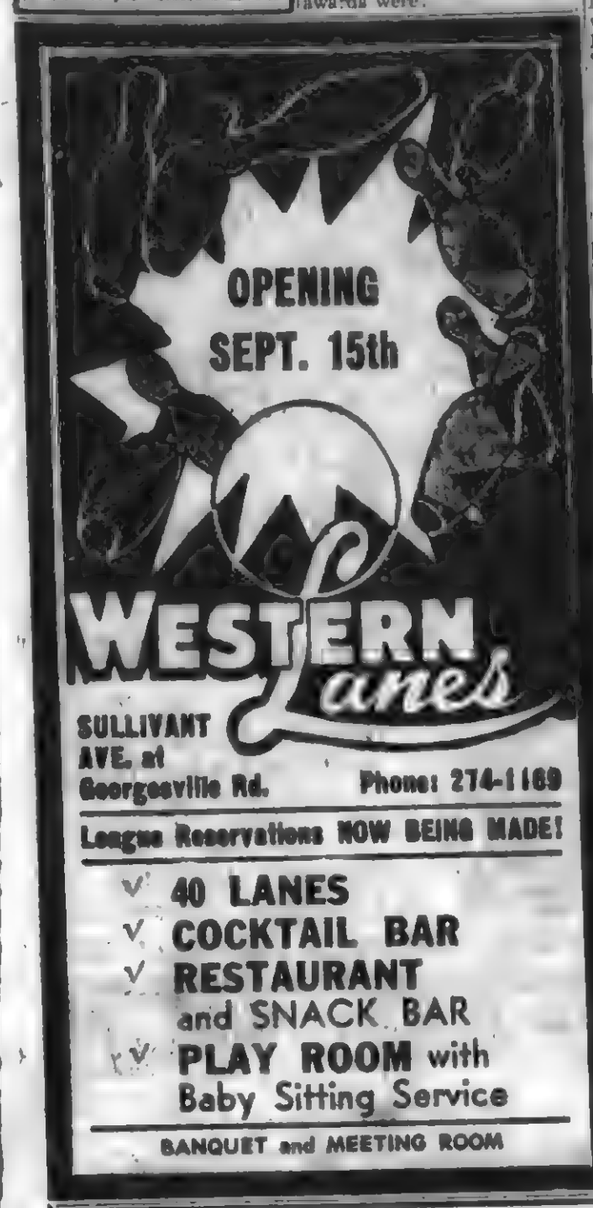
Camp Fire Girls

By NANCY TRUELOVE



Many girls from this area won prizes at the Ohio State Fair. The best individual intermediate award went to Bonnie Wisecup, 832 S. Roys-av. Other intermediate class awards were:

Best ceremonial gown, Bonnie Wisecup, 832 S. Roys-av; best ceremonial jacket,, Alice Marie Ehman, 321 S. Southampton; best sewing, Debbie Clark, 4905 Malden-wy. Mrs. Betty Jenks' group, Ko-Da-Ki-Wa, was awarded the grand trophy for their intermediate demonstration team.

The planning committee for Camp Fire Day at Great Western met Aug. 23 at the home of Mrs. Jeanne Sutherland, chairman. Attending were Mrs. JoAnn White, Mrs. Helen Kilbourne, Mrs. Nancy Truelove and Diana Haist. Mrs. Sutherland will be at the West Leaders' Association meeting Sept. 11, 9:30 a.m., at the YMCA to answer any questions concerning this event.

Two important dates to remember are Sunday, Sept. 9, when the Blue Bird Fly-Up will be held at Westinghouse from 2:30 to 4 p.m. and the Junior Hi reception at the Westgate Shelter Thursday, Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

RECORD CARRIER

Boy Scout Carries Hurt Girl Home

Mike Beeler, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beeler, 133 Eldon-av, did his good deed last Wednesday in a big way.

Tina Newell, seven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newell, 135 N. Eureka-av, had been playing at Holton Park. Some boys pushed her into the creek where she lacerated her leg. Frightened, she started to run home.

"I was just deliverin' papers when I saw her, and I picked her up and carried her home," explained Mike.

Mrs. Newell called the emergency squad. They rushed Tina to Mt. Carmel Hospital where she received a total of 21 stitches for her wounds. She was released and is now temporarily confined to a wheel chair.

Mike is a member of Troop 181 of the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Tina's father said he estimated the distance at three blocks. "I would hate to have to carry her that far myself and I'm her father," he said. "She's almost as big as Mike. I don't know how he did it."

Mike was delivering the Hilltop Record.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The members of the Hilltop YMCA would like to say a word of thanks to Gary Link who has served as Youth Work Secretary at the Hilltop "Y" for past seven months. Gary, who was active in Gra-Y, Jr. Hi-Y, and twice president of West Sr. Hi-Y, has accepted a teaching position at his alma mater where he will teach history and geography and assist with the West Reserve football team.

Prior to becoming a full time staff member at the "Y," Gary worked for three years as a part-time staff member. His outstanding contribution to the program of the Hilltop YMCA has been greatly appreciated by all. During the coming year he will serve as advisor of the West Jr. Hi-Y Club.

Plans for the coming program for the fall and winter activities have now been set. A schedule of starting dates for various activities at the "Y" has been sent to all members and is also available at the "Y."

The Gra-Y program for boys in grades 4-6 will get underway the week of Sept. 17-21. Applications, with a schedule of meetings for the Hilltop schools, will be distributed the week before. Announcements as to the start of Junior and Senior Hi-Y activities will be made in the respective schools.

A regular schedule of Youth Center activities will begin on Sept. 17. Once more elementary age boys and girls will be able to use this facility each day from 3:30-4:45. Evenings from 7-9 are being set aside for junior and senior high school boys and girls with Friday evening reserved for families.

The High Winders Auto Club of the Hilltop "Y" will sponsor a model car show for all ages. Classes have been set for those 15 and under, and those 16 and over. Trophies and other awards will be presented to the top entries. Entries should be turned in at the "Y" before Sept. 15.

A photo contest will also be held for youth and adults at the Open House scheduled for Sept. 15-16. Contestants may enter slides and snapshots. Awards will be presented to the winners.

Further program information is available by calling the Hilltop YMCA at BR. 6-5306.

The ashes employed in the blessing on Ash Wednesday are those made by burning the palms used in the service on Palm Sunday of the preceding year.

Pirates Win Fair Exhibition

Over 2,000 football fans at the Ohio State Fair watched a first for the Ohio Bearcat Football Association last weekend.

The West Side Pirates met the Maryland A C gridders in the first game of youth football ever played at an Ohio State Fair. Both teams are members of the OBFA, an organization of boys, 10 through 14 years of age, weighing not more than 120 pounds.

Maryland AC, undisputed champions of the Bearcat Association for the past two years, failed to score against the Pirates in the pre-season exhibition scrimmage, losing by a 20-0 score.

Cowboys Contender For City Laurels

By BOB LYNCH

Have you noticed what's been happening over at West, and for that matter the other high schools in the city, in this 90-degree heat? That's right—football!

It's hard to believe; but football, the king of sports in this part of Ohio, has started again. High school football hopefuls have been practicing for almost three weeks in preparation for the upcoming season, which starts this Friday for most Columbus area teams. West is no exception to this either.

On Monday, Aug. 13, over 80 candidates for the Cowboys' football team turned out for physicals and to be assigned practice uniforms. On the following Friday, practice began in earnest, as the boys started limbering up muscles which until then had been restricted to swimming, baseball, tennis, and lawn-mowing. It was quite a change for them—from the swimming pool in 90-degree weather to the football field in 90-degree heat.

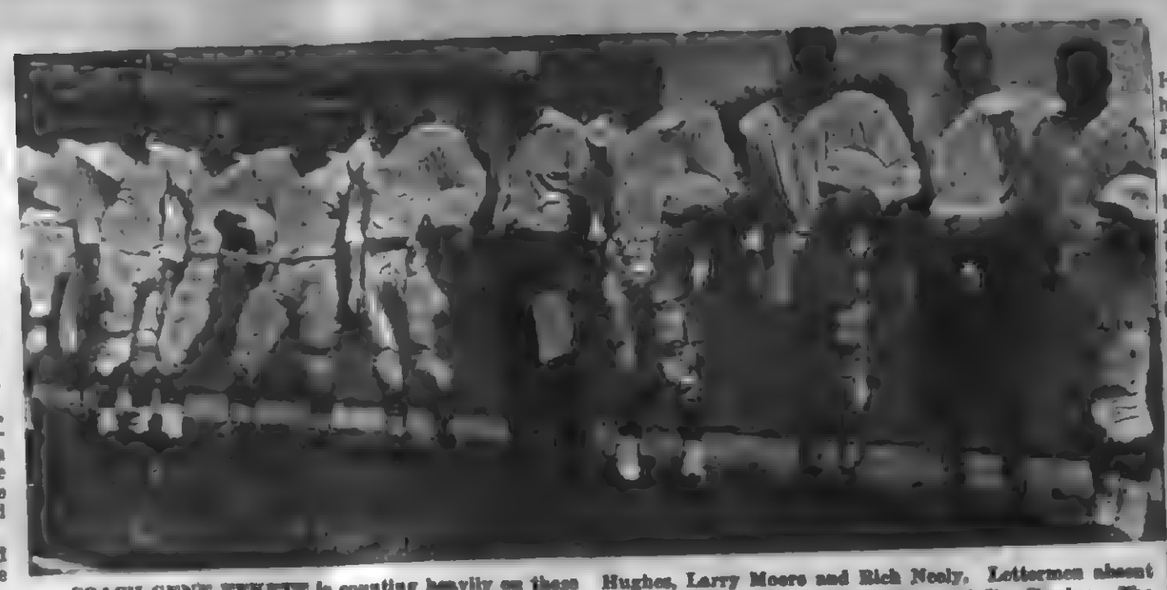
The major problems faced by head coach Gene Fekete and his coaching staff, composed of John Butler, Charles Meyers, and Gary Link, were teaching the boys their full schedule of plays in the short time period alloted for training; judging each player's skills to decide where he could best be used; and finally, the hardest part, making the cut. Coach Fekete had to cut his squad from the 80 who turned out, to a 48-50 player maximum.

Although there was such a large turnout, Coach Fekete was exceptionally pleased with the desire and enthusiasm of the sophomores who reported. Most of these boys had little previous organized experience in football. He plans to keep several of them on the varsity to work together and gain valuable experience but they will in all probably, play in the reserve games to obtain experience under game conditions.

Cowboy football fans are looking forward to this season optimistically, and for good reasons. The Cowboys have eleven lettermen returning: Mike Hobbs, Rick Finke, Steve Takos, Bill Gray, Art Clemmer, Lew Coles, Jim Hughes, Larry Moore, Jim Burden, Bill Baesman, and Rich Neely.

Finke played part of last season at quarterback, and is figured to be the number-one man at that position this year. He will have two of last year's starting backfield to back him up, Lew Coles at right halfback and Rich Neely, City League scoring champ in 1961, at left halfback. Filling the gap at fullback will be Don VanOrder, a junior.

At the ends, Jim Hughes will play right end, where he played part of last year; and Carl Graves, also a junior, will play left end. Moving in along the forward wall finds Jim Burden and Larry Moore at the tackles; Carles Castle and Bill Gray at the guards; and Jim Jones playing center.



At this stage of the preseason practice, the offense is understandably progressing faster than the defense, and it looks as if this year, the Cowboys' strong suit will be their offense.

Lead by Neely, the offense looks capable of running through almost any City League defense. In a practice scrimmage on Saturday, Aug. 24, the Cowboys met Eastmoor and came away on top, 36-18. Of course, this was only a practice game, but if the Broncos can do nearly this well in the regular season, the City League had better watch out for West.

Coach Fekete feels that the offense has improved over last year's, and he stated, "Our offense has the potential to be much faster, stronger, and more aggressive than last year's."

Here is the 1962 West football schedule:

Sept. 7—at Whetstone
Sept. 14—Watterson
Sept. 21—Central
Sept. 28—at Marietta
Oct. 5—Aquinas
Oct. 12—at North
Oct. 19—at Linden
Oct. 26—Walnut Ridge
Nov. 2—East
Nov. 9—South

Recently in St. Louis a group of angry Pittsburgh ballplayers carried a grievance to the front office and demanded that their terms be met. The problem centered around a day-night doubleheader, hurriedly scheduled as the result of a rain-out the night before.

The storm center of the matter rested on the fact that the Pirates would have to play an additional twin-bill the following afternoon. Pirate player spokesman Bob Friend insisted that the management didn't have the right to do such a thing.

CARDINAL BUSINESS manager Art Routzing, considering the dollar and cents angle of the problem, quite tactlessly answered, "We have the right to schedule the game and the players don't have anything to say in the case."

Well, that did it! Friend's response was a little firmer. "We hope it doesn't come to a strike or a walkout. The players want to make a stand on this issue. We sit down every spring and they say they will consult us but they don't."

To make a short story long, the front office finally won out and the day-night doubleheader went into the record books as scheduled. However, letting the imagination wander a bit and considering that biggest, little word 'if', let us suppose that the Pirates did walk out. Ever wonder what might happen if a major league ball club actually did walk out. Every wonder what might happen if a major league ball club actually did go on strike?

WE IMAGINE it would be confusing at first until Leo Durocher organized the United Ballplayers Union and Bo 'let's get a pool table in every dugout' Belinsky was named Director of Publicity.

Then each time the ballplayers would spot something detrimental to their interests, the turnstiles would stop and the lines of paying customers would be replaced by lines of picketing ballplayers. Of course, ground crews and concession vendors would walk out each time in sympathy.

But it might be a good thing at first. Retired and twilight muscle-man players like Ted Kluszewski and Steve Bilko could find employment as strike-breakers. Cincinnati pitcher-author Jim Brosnan might write the great American novel portraying the tragic first-baseman torn between his love for the game and his loyalty to the union. The Chicago Cubs would probably even have to name one manager for the [illegible] season.

BUT TOO soon the novelty would wear off and everybody would begin complaining. Pro football's Washington Redskins might not be able to get into the capital's ballpark since the Senators schedule had been delayed over a month by Jim Piersall's demand for a congressional investigation of American League umpires.

And there would be repercussions in other quarters also. The bubble gum baseball card people would perhaps become bitter about having to run .240 hitters in with the Mantles' and Kaines' following the 'equal space' decision by the union. And the fans would start to kick up a fuss about the increased price for their grandstand ticket to bolster the players' strike fund.

The Florida Chamber of Commerce would go back to plugging oranges when the Yankees and Cardinals voted to make spring training a matter of 'personal integrity.' Players would grow out of shape and begin to lose their popularity. Long-established stars would go unmentioned in the audience of the Ed Sullivan Show.

THE IMAGE OF the clean-cut ballplayers would vanish from the American sports scene. Shaving cream sales would drop off sharply and America's teenagers would go back to 'using that greasy kid's stuff."

Well, it's only a thought. The Pirates did play the doubleheader and baseball's labor and management retained their peaceful co-existence, at least for the time being. Anyway, it couldn't happen— could it?

'Fearless' Predictions

Well, here we go again! Every year about this time, all sport wags roll up their sleeves, wade through piles of statistics and then proceed to make calculated guesses as to the outcome of the football games of the day. Here's how they look this opening week of action on the gridiron:

WEST at WHETSTONE — Cowboys initiate City League schedule with victory. West.

CENTRAL at ZANESVILLE — When in doubt, stick with the home-towners. Central.

AQUINAS at SOUTH — Terriers have too many holes to fill in the line. South.

MIFFLIN at FRANKLIN HEIGHTS — Falcons open season successfully. Franklin Heights.

BISHOP READY at MT. VERNON ST. VINCENT (Saturday — Silver Knights sophs produce under fire. Ready.

STRAIGHTAWAY

BY BILL GRAY

It was a short feature Friday night at Columbus Motor Speedway. Junior Kenny took the feature which was called after 30 laps because of rain.

Powell opened its racing season Sunday as fast qualifier Jack Minnich of Dayton took the feature event. Powell will run sportsman type cars every Sunday afternoon.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S show at Columbus Motor Speedway was full of thrills. Numerous accidents extended the show longer than its regular finishing time. The only injury of the evening was in the seventh lap of the first semi when Dick Edders flipped his car in the south turn and was taken to the hospital with a few fractured ribs.

It was the seventh straight win for Al Smith of Dayton who captured the 50-lap feature. Everyone missed the "Flying Irishman" Ralph O'Day, who is in Canada fishing. His good old number 12 was jockeyed by Curt Kraft.

The Columbus Motor Speedway has dropped Friday night racing for the balance of the season but will continue with Sunday events for several more weeks.

This Sunday night, the Williams-rd oval will be the scene of a combined program of flying-stocks and super-modifieds. The stockers will run in three events and the modifieds will race in five. Time trials will begin at 7 and the first race will get underway at 8.

A week from this Sunday, Sept. 16, racing will move to the afternoon for the second annual Charity Newsies program. The super-modifieds and flying-stocks will race in better than 200 laps of action. Following the race program a "demolition race" will be held. In this event, "junkers," driven by some of the stock pilots, will crash and smash into one another, until only one, the winner, is left running.

Advance sale tickets for the Charity Newsies races are available at the Newsies headquarters, 716 S. High-st.

Jackson Queen Brings Apples For Jet Fans

Miss Carolyn Myers of Oak Hill, the 1962 Jackson County Apple Festival Queen, and her court will be guests at Jet Stadium Sunday afternoon as the Columbus nine wraps up its home season.

Miss Myers will present apples to managers Larry Shepard of the Jets and Joe Schultz of the Atlants club along with some samples for the fans.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

News of Troop 965
St. Agnes School

Troop members have been busy this summer and have earned quite a few badges. They will be Cadets Girl Scouts when school starts, and will start their first-class badge work and also their Marian Award (the Catholic Award).

On July 14 the girls spent the weekend at Jeffrey Lodge, near Dublin. Saturday afternoon, troop member Virginia Cain's father, Harold Cain, led a nature hike and tree and leaf identification tour, and explained the different trees, and leaves. Several girls were able to complete their Tree and Leaf Badge. Saturday evening the girls held a cookout and baked dinner in foil. They also prepared their breakfast the following morning. Troop members attending were: Sally Adams, Lida Marie Burke, Virginia Cain, Julie Kulp, Kathleen Luken, Nancy Martin, Mary Monsour, Christine Nye, Susan Ruscilli and Cynthia Stout. Adults attending were: Mrs. Charlie Burke, leader; Mrs. Louis Ruscilli, co-leader, Mrs. Mary Adams, committee member, and Mrs. Samuel Martin, also a committee member. Guests were Charlie Burke, Jimmy Ruscilli, John Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cain.

A swimming party and picnic and birthday party were held in honor of several girls on July 18 at Hall Ridge Swimming Club. Girls attending were: Sally Adams, Jane Agriesti, Linda Marie Burke, Virginia Cain, Nicki Ann Hurdzon, Nancy Martin, Mary Monsour, Cynthia Stout, Patricia Ruscilli and Susan Ruscilli. Adults accompanying the girls were: Mrs. Charlie Burke, Mrs. Louis Ruscilli. Fathers assisting with transportation were Charlie Burke and Nick Hurdzon. Birthday girls honored and receiving birthday remembrances were: Jane Agriesti, Sally Adams, Virginia Cain, Nancy Martin, Patricia Ruscilli, Susan Culluro, Sharon McKean and Christine Nye.

On July 26, Patrick Mulholland, owner of Trampoline and Fly By Wheel and Miniature Golf Course invited the troop members to be his guests in the afternoon. Troop members attending were: Virginia Cain, Linda Marie Burke, Sally Adams, Nicki Ann Hurdzon, Mary Monsour, Christine Nye, Patricia Ruscilli and Susan Ruscilli. Adults attending were: Mrs. Charlie Burke and Mrs. Ben Nye, assistant leader. Fathers who furnished transportation were Charlie Burke and Nick Hurdzon. Guests were Nancy Fisher, Kathy Jo. Smith, and Greg Young.

The girls started their Bowling Badge requirements at the 3-C Bowling Alley and their instructor was Jerry Baker. They started their lessons June 27 and finished Aug. 15. Girls who took the lessons named their own teams, three girls on a team. Team one was called 965 Pinbusters with Jane Agriesti, Nicki Hurdzon and Susan Ruscilli; Team 2—the German-Irishmen—were Sally Adams, Julie Kulp and Kathy Luken; Team 3 — Lucky Strikes with Linda Burke, Virginia Cain and Patricia Ruscilli.

Team 4—Alley Cats with Nancy Martin, Mary Monsour and a blind. Their compensation was another girl Scout Troop, Hopeful Three and another group of girls called the Twisters. The girls made their own bowling towels. Adults accompanying the girls were Mrs. Charlie Burke, Mrs. Louis Ruscilli, Mrs. Mary Adams, and assisting with the transportation was Nick Hurdzon.

Hilltop Kiwanis Elects Sept. 13

Officers of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club for 1963 will be named at the club meeting Sept. 13.

Nominees are as follows: President, Lee Swinford; first vice-president, Dale Rose and Joe Goodwin; second vice-president, William Dawson and Carl Stephan; treasurer, Don McVay.

Seven directors will be selected from the following: Dave Phillian, Robert Miller, Ed Planck, James Foote, Ray Anderson, Jerry Wolfe, Robert Kneisly, Franklin Sparks Charles Moore and E. H. LeFever.

Smallest of the U.S. presidents was James Madison, who stood five feet four inches in height.

MASS IMMUNIZATION SET

Polio Will Be Erased Here In Only 18 Hours

Polio will be erased in Franklin County this fall. It will take only 18 hours to do it.

Mass immunization by Sabin oral vaccine will be held from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on three Sundays — Sept. 30, Nov. 4, and Dec. 9. By nightfall on Dec. 9, polio will be wiped out.

It will, if all Franklin Countians over two months old drink the small cup of water containing two drops of harmless, tasteless Sabin vaccine on each of those Sundays.

There will be no trouble in obtaining the disease-killing liquid. A total of 114 Sabin stations will be set up in schools and other buildings all over Franklin County. A station will be within walking distance of nearly everyone.

It'll cost nearly nothing. A donation of 25 cents per persons will be asked. Those who can't afford to pay won't have to pay anything.

Dr. Richard L. Fulton, heading the SOS, — Sabin on Sunday — campaign here, stressed that everyone over two months old, including those who have been inoculated with Salk anti-polio shots, should take the Sabin vaccine.

That's because Salk shots — even though they prevent an individual from getting polio — still permit him to be a carrier of the disease. Even those of advanced years, normally too old to get polio, can still be a carrier. So they too should take the Sabin vaccine.

Dr. Fulton also emphasized that everyone must take one dose of the vaccine on each of the three Sundays. That's because there are three different kinds of polio. The first dose will immunize against Type 1 polio — the most common kind. The second dose will protect against Type 3 polio — the second most common kind. The final dose will protect against Type 2 polio — not so common but still a threat.

Sabin vaccine, Dr. Fulton stressed, is absolutely harmless. It has no bad effects whatsoever, even if the individual being inoculated has some disease or condition. But Sabin vaccine does protect against polio.

Some 10,000 volunteer workers are being massed to handle arrangements for SOS in Columbus. They'll make it easy for everyone to take the vaccine.

Just as easy as a drink of water.

Holly Hills, Walnut Springs School Bus Service Dropped

Free bus transportation for students attending several Columbus schools, including children living in the Georgian Heights addition on the Hilltop and the Walnut Springs subdivision on the South Side, has been discontinued by the Board of Education this year.

The reason, according to Warren Beers, assistant superintendent, is that conditions which necessitated bus service to these areas last year has been corrected.

The confusion of new construction was, in the opinion of the school board, an added hazard to pupils walking from Walnut Springs to Watkins Elementary last year, and school buses were needed for their safety.

And the extension of public buses to Holly Hills this year offers transportation to Georgian Heights youngsters attending West High School.

"Schools are required by law," Beers explained, "to transport elementary students who live more than two miles from school. The Columbus Board interprets this to include grades through junior high.

"The board also provides free transportation to pupils who live where there is no public bus service and must, therefore walk too far under unsafe conditions.

"By these standards, youngsters in Holly Hills and Georgian Heights were transported by school buses last year."

Further steps taken to assure the safety of school children walking from Walnut Springs along Koebel and Bulen to Watkins and Fairwood schools were outlined by Beers.

"We are working with the city to widen the berm so the children will have a safe place to walk, and also have the assurance of the Police Department that they will help.

"We are also providing a path directly from the subdivision to Fairwood School."

School bus service was also eliminated to Sharon on the North Side, and Brookhaven, northeast.

Goal—

to solicit memberships.

Report meetings have been set for Sept. 25 and the final tally will be made on Oct. 1. No change in membership fees have been made this year. Youth memberships for boys and girls 18 years old and younger are $5. Adult memberships cost $7. A family plan for those with more than one child of program age can be purchased for $20 cash or $21 over a 60-day period.

A "Partner With Youth" membership is available for those persons who are interested in giving a Hilltop YMCA membership to some less fortunate youth who otherwise would be unable to take part in the local "Y" program. It is the policy of the Hilltop "Y" not to refuse membership to any Hilltop youth who is unable to pay the annual membership fee. Money from this particular membership also goes toward defraying any program costs for which some members cannot pay. Cost of this type membership is $10 and up.

The newest type membership just established will be designated as a contributor. Covered in this class will be those persons wishing to assist the local "Y" program with contributions of under $10.

Further information on Hilltop YMCA membership may be obtained by calling the office at BR. 6-5306.

Invite Public To Finish Limerick To Combat Litter

The Columbus Division of Parks and Forestry is urging the public to help with its war against litter. The division is sponsoring a limerick contest and winning entries will be posted in the parks.

There are no prizes or awards other than your line used on the posters.

Just insert the last line in the limerick composed by Park Superintendent J. Richard Lawwill:

"Before you scatter that litter,
There's a very good point to consider.
Clean up that trash!
Save yourself cash!
Send completed limericks to the park office, 1826 Franklin Park S., Columbus 5. Phone, CL. 2-2115.

"Statistics show that it costs the American people thousands of dollars each year to clean up litter", Lawwill said.

"Many costly man-hours are spent in collecting and disposing of the paper, cans, bottles, and garbage dumped on public lands".

Perry said that one area resident contacted Mayor Westlake who reported that "something would be done."

Perry added that as many people as possible are planning to attend Council meeting Monday. If the petitions are not signed by this week, then action will be delayed until the next meeting on the following Monday.

"Either way, we hope something is done by Monday," the lawyer said.

100,000 Expected To Attend Air Show

A crowd of more than 100,000 Central Ohioans is expected to attend the thrill-a-minute Sesquicentennial Air Show Sunday, Sept. 9 at Port Columbus. Admission and parking are free for the three-hour show which begins at 1:30 p.m.

The crowd estimate was made by W. H. Yahn, president of the Columbus division of North American Aviation, who heads the executive committee appointed by Mayor Westlake to produce the show. Yahn based his prediction on the past two Columbus air shows, both of which drew more than 100,000 persons.

The program will feature segments of military, precision, stunt and comedy flying with National Air Show performers doing most of the non-military flying.

Air show buffs will recognize many current favorite performers. Harold Krier and Charles Hilliard will demonstrate dual formation flying, while Hilliard will give a solo exhibition of light plane precision flying and his famous "Joe Spook" comedy-batics act.

Krier will pilot a plane for a wing-walking act, demonstrate grand national championship acrobatics and team with Robert McComb as "Uncle Fud" and Robert Hoover of North American putting an F-51 Mustang through its paces are other noted performers who will lend their talents to the show.

The Army, Navy and Air Force will display their air artistry. The Army will stage a helicopter demonstration, the Navy will present the "Blue Angels" and "Chuting Stars" and the Air Force will offer a fighter interceptor squadron flyby, A3J Vigilante flyby, aerial refueling of a B-47 by a KC-97 tanker and the Eighth Air Force Band.

"The 'Blue Angels' richly deserve their reputation as crowd pleasers," Yahn said. "These teams of highly trained Navy pilots put on spectacular exhibitions of rolls, loops and other precision jet aerobatics at better than 600 miles per hour within wingtips barely five feet apart. Another Navy unit, the 'Chuting Stars', will display pinpoint accuracy in landing in small target areas."

On the ground, there will be displays of a jet engine, commercial and airline aircraft, antique and home-built planes and the "Mace" and "Houndog" guided missiles.

Midway Rides Halved During GW 'Carnival

An added attraction this week at Great Western Shoppers' Mart, during its "Carnival of Sales," will be 10 rides supplied by the Gooding Amusement Co.

Located in the cruising lane between Grant's and Woolworth's all rides will be offered at half price by obtaining tickets at any Great Western store.

Adding to the carnival atmosphere, clowns will pass among the crowds and distribute free balloons and other favors, according to Bill Trayte, executive secretary of the Great Western Business Association.

Local Firm Low Bidder On Rt. 40 Resurfacing

The contract for the resurfacing of U.S. Rt. 40 in New Rome and Prairie Township apparently will be awarded to the Complete General Construction Co. of Columbus.

The company bid $116,837, which is $12,437 over the State Highway Department's estimate of the cost.

The resurfacing would begin approximately 450 feet west of the intersection of Rome-Hilliard-rd and U.S. 40 and go, at intervals, to approximately 330 feet east of Wilson-rd.

GM Hikes Pay Allowance Sept. 1

General Motors has announced an upward revision of one cent an hour in its cost-of-living allowance to hourly rate employes. The increase will be reflected in the pay envelopes of several thousand employes at the local Turnstedt plant.

The revision becomes effective with the first pay period beginning after Sept. 1.

Eligible salaried employes will receive an equivalent increase of $5 in their quarterly cost-of-living allowance.

GM wages are reviewed quarterly and adjusted in line with the consumer price index of the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The next review will be in December based on the October BLS index.

Receives Suspension

The D&J Carry Out of 1590 Sullivant-av received a permit suspension from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control beginning noon Sept. 6. The firm was listed as delinquent in payment of sales tax assessment. Suspension will continue until assessment is paid in full, the board said.

Sesqui Year not Success It Could Have Been

A lot of attention has been centered on the sesquicentennial year for Columbus. A huge Air Show on Sunday was billed as a sesqui feature.

Taking nothing away from the sesqui events sponsored to date, we venture the statement that the biggest sesqui event of all appears to be lost in good old Columbus town.

We think our sesquicentennial year has not been a total success without a good big sesqui parade and all the old time clothes, bugs, ox carts and beards that went with our early history.

It may be too late—if so, Columbus missed the best thing that could have been done to observe a sesquicentennial.

Something to Think About

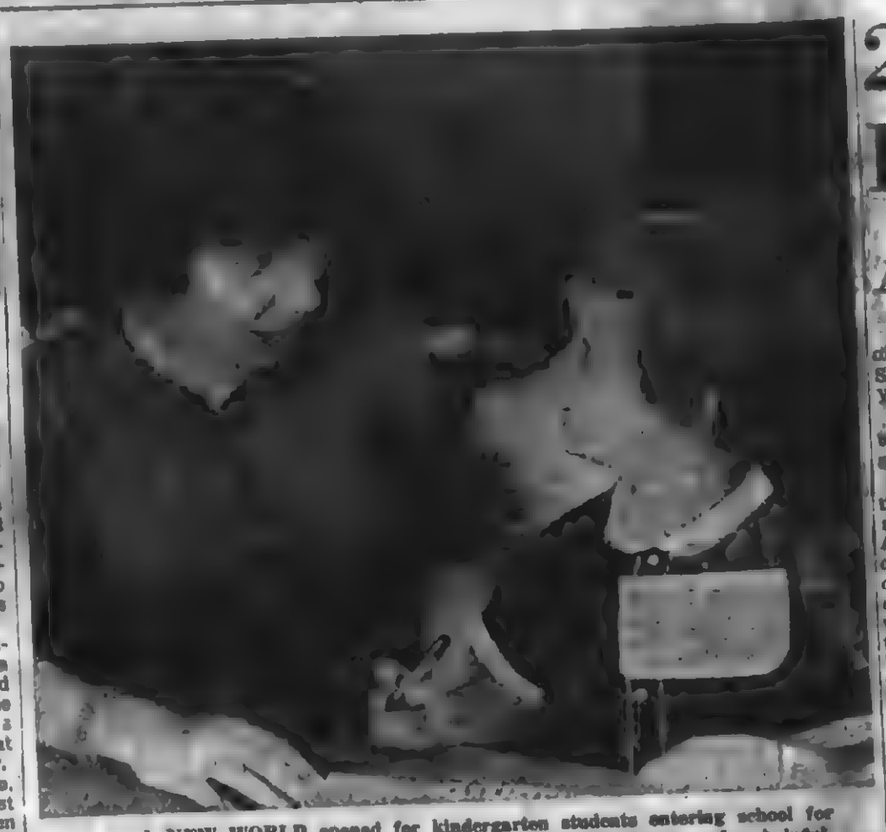
Those brave souls who made up the crowd of around 200,000 who gathered near Port Columbus Sunday to witness the air show surely had plenty of time to ponder over traffic problems as they moved a foot, stopped then moved another foot until they got home and joined the chorus of "Thank God, we only do this once in a long time."

How many of you stopped to give a thought as to how vulnerable we are in this country as the Communist does move their equipment within 90 miles of the USA down Cuba way?

While we spend billions in a race to get to the moon, which is perhaps not a heavenly place to be, one little well-placed bomb in each major American city could so confuse us that it would take months before another strike would be necessary.

Comes the first snow of winter and we will become literally paralyzed.

If one-thousandth of our energy and money spent on our space program could be put to good use on our traffic and road problems, our country could rest in far more security than now faces us.



Just something to think about!

A NEW WORLD opened for kindergarten students entering school for the first time last Friday. The big day was filled with firsts, and a helpful, understanding teacher like Miss Jane Workman at Highland Elementary smooths out the bumps, makes school routine easy to master and fills the day with fun. First-day achievement for Kim Walton, 38 Whitethorne-av, was learning to write her own name.

120 Highland Pupils Housed At Oakley

Students at Highland Elementary overflowed from the school into the church next door this year with four kindergarten classrooms set up in Oakley Baptist Church.

The 120 youngsters, comprising of two classes in the mornings and two in the afternoons, are studying in two of the church's spacious Sunday School rooms.

Rented by the Board of Education for $260 a month, the rooms meet the board's rigid safety standards and are furnished with school furniture—tables and chairs scaled to small size, and teachers' desks.

Blackboards and bulletin boards, colorful kindergarten wall decorations, a piano and equipment for recreation periods, as well as study, were installed and ready for school Monday morning.

An extension of Highland's playground area clear back to Clarendon-av is also planned by the board.

Property will be purchased and the houses razed to make room for the expansion.

The neighborly exchange of facilities between the church and school has been in effect for many years.

The congregation uses Highland's play area for parking on Sunday, and students use the church's gymnasium.

Richard E. Snide, principal of Highland, expressed his appreciation of the church's cooperation.

"This arrangement not only permits comfortable accommodations for the kindergarten, but opens the auditorium. Last year, classes were held in the auditorium."

Registration at Highland this fall accounts for 700 of the 91,859 fourth-day enrollment figure in Columbus Public Schools.

Total enrollment is expected to reach a record high of 93,143 by early October, according to C. L. Dumaree, assistant superintendent in charge of administration.

Fourth-day figures for the schools are, kindergarten through the sixth grade, 59,801; junior high, 19,047, and senior high, 13,011.

On the fourth day of 1961, totals were, kindergarten through the sixth grade, 56,533; junior high, 18,677, and senior high, 11,636.

"Although we are continuing to experience large increases in our elementary schools," Warren Beers, director of research and school plant studies, cautioned, "the highest per cent of pupil increases will be occurring on the secondary levels."

Secondary high schools increased from 30,312 in 1961 to 32,058 this year.

The basis for this increase on the secondary level, Beers pointed out, is that the post-World War II babies are starting to reach the 10th-grade level.

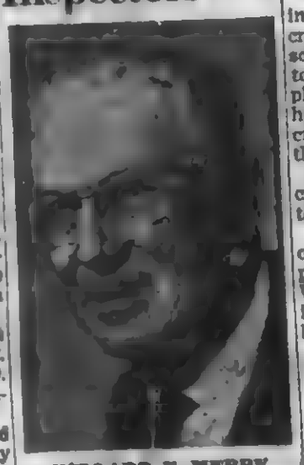
Gladden Announces Fall Programming

The fall program at Gladden Community House will begin Monday, Sept. 17. Clubs, classes and activities will begin for neighbors of all ages.

Classes for adults will be held in the evenings. These include ceramics and slimnastics on Monday, Women's Club on Tuesday, sewing on Wednesday, upholstering and pottery making on Thursday. Registration can be done by attending one of these classes or calling Gladden.

The community house has increased the club program for children and teenagers. One group added to the teen age program is a young adult men's club for boys 18, 19, and 20 years of age.

Registration of children who have not already signed up for a club may be done within the next three weeks by contacting the program supervisor, Barbara Cox. Children under 11 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or other adult.



Tap and ballet registration will be held Saturday, Sept. 22, and Saturday, Sept. 29. Children ages 4 to 14 may enroll.

Family nights are to be held every first and third Friday evenings of each month. These events are intended to provide relaxation and entertainment for all age members of West Side families. The first of the family nights is scheduled for Oct. 5.

Membership cards are available for the 1962-63 program year. The price is fifty cents for children, one dollar for teenagers and adults. Special family rates are available for large families. All participants in the program at Gladden Community House are required to have membership cards by Oct. 1.

Additional information concerning the program at Gladden can be obtained by calling CA. 1-7801.

Merry Heads City Plumbing Inspectors

WILLARD F. MERRY

Appointment of Willard F. Merry, 201 S. Sylvan-av, as chief plumbing inspector for the City of Columbus was announced Saturday by Safety Director Albert Giles.

Merry succeeds Harry Jones, who retired Aug. 25. Merry has been a plumbing inspector of the City Division of Building Regulation since 1948. He also served as Franklin County's first plumbing inspector.

Merry has had 52 years experience in plumbing as a journeyman, foreman and inspector. He is a veteran of World War I and a member of the Columbus Lodge of Masons, the Scottish Rite and the World War Veterans, Inc. He is married, has no children.

The position carries a salary of $573 a month.

Valleyview Petition Set For Council

A petition which was circulated last week by Valleyview residents seeking elimination of an open ditch which they claim is causing a rat-mosquito and odor infestation will be presented to Columbus City Council next Monday night.

An attorney for the group, Robert J. Perry, said the petition was given to the City Service Committee and then will go to the Sanitation Department which is to report to Council on the problem at the next meeting. The lawyer said there were over 100 names on the petition.

Perry added that the Valleyview residents were to meet Tuesday night to organize a "united" group which would go to Council on Monday.

2-Day Open House Is Set At Hilltop 'Y'

There will be something of interest for every member of the family from sub-teens to Golden Agers Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 15 and 16, at the open house of the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr.

Featured on the diversified program are games, contests, exhibits, demonstrations, movies, picnics, dancing and a band concert.

High on the list of attractions is the archery demonstration by the Wyandotte Archers of Westerville, who can literally knock the fuzz off a peach with their bows and arrows. Coin collectors will find the display and auction to their liking. Shutterbugs will have a chance to prove just how good they are by bringing their outstanding slides and snapshots and entering them in the contest.

The model car contest will reveal what the boys have been doing out in the workshop.

A judo demonstration by Jack Schaff and partner will reveal the scientific application of the twist. Schaff, former pro football star with the Washington Redskins, is now "Y" secretary at Indianapolis. He holds the black belt in judo.

A concert by the West High School Band Sunday evening will furnish the grand climax to the two days' activities.

Refreshments will be served both days. They will include the ubiquitous hot dog, roast beef sandwiches, pie, coffee, potato chips, popcorn, ice cream, ice cones and soft drinks.

A fish pond will be available for the youngsters who can make a catch without bait or the danger of toppling in.

Open house is a community affair, the purpose of which is to acquaint everyone with the type of program available throughout the year to YMCA members. It precedes the annual membership roundup campaign which will begin Sept. 18.

Complete information on the "Y" program and membership will be available at a corral located in the lobby of the "Y".

The open house committee is composed of C. Roy Agin, chairman; Robert B. Walter, vice chairman, Victor G. Karl, Harry W. Grashel, John A. Brown and William E. Jones.

Strikers Return To Work

A Westinghouse official spokesman said Wednesday morning that "a majority of employes have returned to work."

A temporary restraining order issued by Common Pleas Court Judge George Marshall halted the unauthorized strike by members of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

A meeting between union and company officials was set up for 1 p.m. Wednesday.

The strike had disabled the operations of nearly all of the more than 4,000 hourly rated employes at the Westinghouse plant.

Company supervisors had to be flown over picket lines by helicopter during the strike.

Some shipping to "critical areas" was carried on during the strike by a handful of employes who managed to get past the pickets.

W. S. Council Group To Meet

The executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council will meet Thursday, Sept. 13 at 7:45 p.m. in Gladden Community House.

The regularly scheduled Sept. meeting of the full Neighborhood Council will not be held.

All members of the executive committee are urged to be present, said Walt Cunningham, council president.

CLARENCE BATEMAN, ed Inkler, is West High's industrial arts instructor who got a long-withstanding project off the ground there — a "Hall of Fame" for athletic recognition of that school's former stars and championship teams. Handing another addition to Bateman is West's principal, David Randall, a former athlete there himself, and looking on is athletic director George Williams.

MEMORY MAKER

'Hall Of Fame' Proves Popular At West High

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

West High School remains unique at this hour when traditions are being forgotten in educational institutions faster than you can say: "Pick a Pack of Trophy Cases."

Thanks to some long, extra-curricular hours by that school's industrial arts instructor, Clarence Bateman, the bright beginnings of athletic recognition there are blossoming.

Perhaps preservation is a better word than recognition since the aim of Bateman and the West High athletic department is to keep alive the accomplishments of former sports standouts.

During the summer, Bateman and some of his wood-shop helpers accumulated dozens of old team and individual sports stars' pictures, constructed frames to properly display them, and they're currently lining the halls at West.

They call it "West's Hall of Fame"—strictly a "non-prophet" organization since it reflects past greatness and holds merely a promise for the future—and it's designed to serve as a "morale booster" (for one thing), according to principal David Randall.

"I feel everyone likes to see a picture of accomplishment," Randall said. "It's good for school morale."

Perhaps this "Hall of Fame" is indicative of renewed emphasis on athletics at West under leadership of Randall, who is a former player and coach at the Powell-av school.

"Athletics play a prominent role in school life," Randall believes. "Preservation of it is as important as promoting it in the future. Such a gesture, too, is good when former graduates come back since they can see their own personal contribution to the school."

Both Randall and the members of the athletic administration agreed that this recognition idea is one that has "just been put off" over the years.

Bateman turned out to be the "take-charge" guy and he's appropriate since the graying gentleman has spent 30 years at West and has probably had more than a nodding acquaintance with most of the outstanding athletes there.

Now that the tradition's wheels have been started, West's administrators vow that it won't be quickly forgotten.

"We plan to continue it," Bateman promised. "We'll probably include—in the future—team pictures of championship squads and individual pictures of athletes who receive special recognition, such as all-City, etc."

According to Randall, the selection of pictures to be erected in the "Hall" will be done by the coaching staff and the rest of the faculty. All expenses for frames and any other costs are to be paid through the school's athletic fund.

To date, pictures displayed include:

City football champs (team pictures), 1936-37-43-45-47 and co-City champs team picture of 1933.

City League basketball co-champions' pictures of 1959 and 1960.

Seven track and cross country championship teams, nine baseball championship teams and one championship swimming team (1959).

Besides these group shots, a total of 88 individual West High stars are displayed.

The only prominent sports figure missing from the Hall of Fame is Aurelius Thomas—Ohio State all-American and West High grad.

A full length color picture of Thomas is displayed in the school's front lobby trophy case, along with oth-

Kiwanians, Air Force Sponsoring Kids' Day

Kids' Day, co-sponsored by the Central Ohio district Kiwanis clubs and the U.S. Air Force at Lockbourne AFB will be staged this year on Sept. 22.

The event which attracted 80,000 youngsters from the central Ohio area last year, is expected to be even larger this year.

Six "Base Commanders" will be picked from the entrants and registration can be made by filling out the coupon inside this paper and returning it to the address listed.

A full day on the base with tours and talks will be made available to the kids.

The purpose of the day is to entertain and educate youngsters on the defense of their country.

Honorary base commanders will be chosen Sept. 20 and notified Sept. 21. They will be introduced from the speakers' platform at the air base and will also appear on a local television station.

Members of the "staff" will be the base commander, fire chief, air police commander, tanker commander, fighter commander and bomber commander.

Hartley Newspaper area clubs participating in the event are the West Franklin, Hilltop, Grove City, Ashville, West Side, Reynoldsburg and Eastern Kiwanis.

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club will have buses to transport visitors to the base, leaving from Westgate Park and Glenwood Recreation Center at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 22.

WHS Student Interviews Blue Angels At Show

Tom Baird, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger T. Baird of 833 Powhaten-av, interviewed the Blue Angels after their Sunday performance at Port Columbus.

Tom is a senior at West High School majoring in radio and TV newscasting. He is the staff photographer of the Visual Arts club, and was the junior radio announcer and engineer. He is also active in journalism at the school.

Previously, Tom interviewed Colonel John Glenn after his historic flight and President John F. Kennedy during his January Columbus visit.

At the Ohio State Fair, Tom taped the press conference given by Col. Glenn. Since it was mainly on education and science, Tom feels it may be of interest to school groups. Organizations interested in using the tape may call journalism department at West High.

$1000 Cash

This amount will be given away during the 1962 football season as Hartley Newspapers announce its gigantic football contest beginning Sept. 20.

Watch next week's papers for full details.

Round, Square Dance Dated

St. Mary Magdalene Athletic Association will stage a round and square dance Saturday, 9 p.m. until midnight, in the church hall.

Tickets are available at the door. Free refreshments will be served.

Hilltoppers Elected To Head Navy-Marine Post, Auxiliary

Navy and Marine Post 276, American Legion and its auxiliary, will hold a joint installation of officers at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 12 in Room 208 of Veterans Memorial.

Patrick J. Rogers, 903 S. Harris-av, will be installed as commodore, and Mrs. Russell C. Parrish, 2728 Schurtz-av, as president.

Retiring Commodore Ralph Hedrick is the post's installation chairman, with Howard F. Lamprecht, PC, assisted by the Twelfth District Degree Team, as installing officer.

Other post officers are, Russell C. Parish, first vice-commodore; Earl Foit, Jr., second vice-commodore; Croft S. Merritt, chief yeoman; George R.

Patrick J. Rodgers

Reiser, paymaster; Larry Evans, chaplain; Jack Price, historian and John Clancy, master-at-arms.

For the auxiliary, Mrs. Earl Struble, 235 N. Wheatland-av, is installation chairman, and Mrs. Patrick J. Rodgers, installing officer.

Other auxiliary officers are, Mrs. Jack Price, first vice-president; Miss Charlotte Dill, second vice-president; Mrs. Earl Foit, Jr., secretary; Mrs. Croft S. Merritt, treasurer.

Mrs. Harry Dill, chaplain; Mrs. Gus DiNovo, historian, Mrs. Harry McNamee, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Agnes Merritt, Mrs. Harry Dill and Mrs. Ralph Hedrick, executive board.

Mrs. Al Geary is the retiring president.

Mrs. Russell Parrish

Glenwood Choir Starts Season

The Adult Choir of Glenwood Methodist Church will hold its first rehearsal of the season Thursday, Sept. 13, 7:30 p.m. in the choir loft.

New members are welcome, and there are openings in all sections. Male voices are needed.

Anyone interested is invited to come to the first rehearsal.

The original "Doubting Thomas" was the Apostle Thomas (John 20:25)

Sunshine Recreation Center

The fall program at Sunshine Recreation Center started last week with registration of boys and girls. Those who have not registered are encouraged to sign up now. There will be many and varied artivities offered this year. The new hours of operation are: Pre-teens 3:15—6:00 p.m.; Teenagers 6—10 p.m. throughout the week and on Saturdays 9—10:30 a.m. for the Pre-teens and 10:30—12 a.m. for the teenagers.

SOCIAL DANCES

There will be a teenage dance every Thursday from 7:30 to 10. The new schedule for the Friday night dance will be as follows: 1st through 4th grades will attend from 7-7:30; fifth through eighth grades will attend from 7:30 to 10 p.m.; 9th through 12th grades will attend the dance in the teen room.

BOYS LEADERS CLUB

Boys Leaders Club will start this coming Monday and the theme will be "Places to go, Things to do, and" People to see". Boys 13 through 18 years of age are encouraged to come over and join in the fun.

AIR RIFLE CLUBS

Shooting can be fun, cooperative, and educational for all boys and girls. Those boys and girls interested in learning how to shoot and in competing for awards come over to Sunshine and register. The classes will be broken down into boys and girls in different age groups accordingly. There will be movies, shooting matches, and social events, to help make this program a lasting experience.

GAME ROOM

The game room will offer a variety of activities this fall. There will be table tennis, pool, shuffleboard, checkers, chess, four-square, tetherball, carrom and a variety of table games.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

The art room is open for business for the coming year, so come on in! Painting, figure sketching and india ink drawing are just a few of the things to do; and if you have some new ideas, you're welcome to try them out. If you've ever wanted to help put on a puppet show, this is your chance: we're going to start from scratch, make our own puppets, and plunge right in. Just come and help. The room will be open for grades one through four on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5:30, and for grades five through eight on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Teenage girls are welcome Monday evenings at 8:30, and boys on Tuesday evenings.

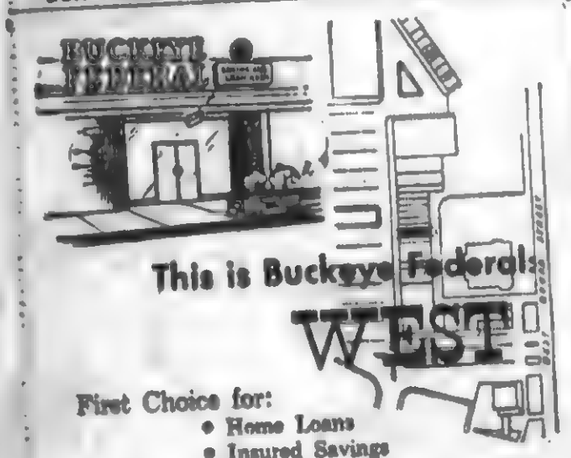
SEWING

The beginning class will be on Tuesday from 6:30 to 7:30, and advanced on Thursday the same hours. If you'd like to join, please bring in something you've already made so we can see how far along you are. There are two sewing machines just waiting to be used.

DRAMATICS

All you undiscovered talent out there — come and get discovered! We're starting a dramatics club on Wednesday evening at 7:30. Once we see how many are interested, we'll start planning toward a show, so everybody is welcome. If you like to act, dance, paint sets, build things, do make-up, or if you just like to be behind the scenes, we want you.

DANCE



The pre-teen Ballet Class on Friday afternoons will continue. There will also be a teenage social dance class, girls on Monday from 7:30 to 8:30, and boys on Tuesday.

Retarded Children's School Needs Aid To Continue Remainder Of This Year

There is a serious problem in our community which needs the help and support of all citizens.

For 10 years the Franklin County Council for Retarded Children has been working very hard and diligently to build a good school program for the severely mentally retarded. In those years this program has grown from the first class of 10 children to the present enrollment of 243. They have a workshop at Goodwill Industries with 36 children learning to work and make things with their hands.

Council members are very proud of the growth of this program and the success it has had.

Now however, they fear that all of this program that is so needed in the community could be lost due to lack of sufficient funds for operational costs.

Recently the council presented a check for $35,000 to Franklin County commissioners to finance reopening of the school again this fall. This money was raised by the council members and citizens of Franklin County. This amount is only half of the amount needed to run this school program until the first of the year.

As stated by the county commissioners there is no money in the general fund to supplement this program at this time.

We would like to ask you to support this school program that is so badly needed for these children. Write to the Franklin County Council for Retarded Children, 131 E. State St., Rm. 314, Columbus 15.

This is an educational program for those children who are denied, by law, attending public schools. These children deserve the right to learn to the fullest extent of their ability.

Our society today can only be judged by the way we support those less fortunate, especially our children.

Who Are The Gideons?

A Bible at the bedside in an unfamiliar room has brought comfort to travelers and solace to the ill and frightened in nearly every country in the world.

The work of placing Bibles in hotels, motels and hospitals has been the project of the Gideon Organization since it was formed at the turn of the century.

Three Christian traveling salesmen, knowing from their own experience the need of Scriptures for those far from home, first introduced the idea and formed the organization.

From this small beginning, the society has so grown in scope that Gideon Bibles are found in hospitals and hotels throughout this nation, and are printed in many languages for distribution in other lands.

The Gideon Organization, now composed of business and professional people are carrying out a broad, non-sectarian ministry undertaken by no single denomination.

Regional groups of the organization are referred to as "camps" and, like the Gideon Camps of old, are limited to small memberships.

In addition to supplying hotels and hospitals, Columbus Camp gave thousands of Testaments to men in the armed forces as they passed through Columbus on their way to training camps.

For a while, wherever accepted by superintendents, the camp also gave hundreds of School Testaments to children under 12.

Columbus Gideons, in 1958, supplied all motels, hotels and hospitals in the city with Bibles, and in 1961 presented Riverside Hospital with 450 bedside Testaments and 50 Bibles, and Grant Hospital with 400 Testaments

The same year, Gideons in 50 countries distributed more than 45,000,000 copies of the Scriptures.

ASSIST FROM AUXILIARY

Columbus Camp Auxiliary, through their own donations and efforts, have helped advance the society's work with the presentation of white Testaments to every student nurse in local hospitals, as well as trainees in the School of Practical Nursing and Nurse Aids.

More than 4000 copies have been distributed in this manner since 1956.

Last year Riverside students received 96, University students, 92, and Grant students, 105.

And during the war years women in the armed forces passing through the city enroute to assignments were presented with Testaments and served cookies.

Opinion Swings Toward Early Traditions

"Doc, mark my words," said I yesterday in my best Drew Pearson manner, "the pendulum has begun to swing back. I'm convinced that most Americans are tired of having socialistic bunk tossed at them by the far-left goof-balls."

McPeek

Doc, whom I have no right to identify ((politics and medicine don't mix well) and I were talking about some of the recent socialistic type programs rocking around in the halls of Congress.

Like many Americans, Doc is alarmed that we gradually are being robbed of our heritage of freedom and free enterprise.

"Go home, Doc. Take a couple aspirins, a hot shower and relax," prescribed I. "If it will make you feel better, dash off an irate letter rapping heck out of Medicare to your congressman. I'll stop by tomorrow to see how you're doing."

But seriously, we can be thankful that many men like Doc are expressing concern. One has only to look at the Kennedy record to see that the pendulum of opinion has begun a slow swing back to the early traditions of this great country.

Let me point out a few things:

Kennedy has been almost totally successful in obtaining approval of measures that are clearly necessary to the national welfare and security. The $50 billion defense budget is proof of that. The amendments and changes made were minor.

He is virtually certain to be equally successful in obtaining approval of moves and policies that, whether we like them or not, stem from the pressure of irresistible world forces. The trade expansion plan, which is to give the President great and unprecedented powers in adjusting tariffs, and in making and gaining other trade concessions, is the prime example here. Sentiment, based on the hard rock logic and necessity, is powerfully in favor of it.

The President's legislative failures, on the other hand, have been in areas of welfare state expansion. Three examples are paramount — the Medicare bill, the farm bill, and the bill to establish an urban affairs body at the cabinet level. All would have advanced, one way or another, the welfare state "Big Brother" philosophy.

It would be absurd to argue that this Congress is anti-Kennedy. His party holds heavy majorities in both branches. But the country has had heavy doses of welfare-statism, and is learning what the costs are in lost liberty and independence, no less than in billions of money.

There are signs that the people have had more than enough of it—and the acts of Congress simply reflect the popular will.

'Closed On Sunday' Decals Identify Supporters Of Preserving The Sabbath

Southern Kiwanis "Closed on Sunday" decals are being increasingly displayed by community merchants. These decals are available to both Kiwanians and non-Kiwanians.

Decals such as these do not, alone, resolve controversy or materially change convenient Sunday shopping habits. However, they have well intended purpose.

Kiwanis believes the decals identify responsible persons of serious mind who have, we hope, made individual decisions for the best reason — a singular reason — the desire to preserve the Sabbath for its intended purpose.

The Sunday closing issue has become quite complex. We know there is both state and municipal "Blue Law." We know that some merchants exploit the Sunday opportunity and are irresponsible to both themselves and the community. We know the issue is another example of "gentle persuasion" being obscured by clamor.

Many persons are saying many things, and, unfortunately, we hear many folks resolve the issue by merely saying "It isn't very important . . . it's just another political football."

A few others hold to the conviction that Columbus' downtown merchants are at war with suburban merchants who are rewarded by staying open when the others close. We believe the issue cannot be simply defined. Many factors seem involved. And as long as church leaders plead bearing in the matter, Kiwanians believe the issue is VERY important.

Let's consider:

(1) Because there is a state "Blue Law" regulating Sunday sales, the issue seems to have genuine legal involvement. Perhaps the law needs refinement, and perhaps it doesn't.

(2) Because there is a municipal law, and the local police have been asked to observe it, the Columbus courts seem to have a regular and rightful jurisdiction. We believe Monday morning decisions should be based on strict interpretation of the law. This law perhaps needs refinement or restatement.

(3) Because a few merchants seem disposed to make opportunity of Sunday, and seriously threaten the success of some community merchants, they have precipitated an issue that will not "just go away." Our community merchants reflect responsibility; their competition exploits opportunity.

(4) Because our clergymen must accomplish tasks by gentle means, and deserve effective assistance and consideration in the matter, we believe they should be heard again — and listened to most carefully.

One of the objectives of Kiwanis is to "Support Churches In Their Spiritual Aims." Sunday is Sabbath to most persons. But it might also be Saturday or Wednesday — the day of the week doesn't matter as long as a Sabbath is observed.

Kiwanians try very hard NOT to judge others; they prefer not to editorialize except in matter of very serious importance.

This is one. We contemplate a Sabbath of infinite serenity and contemplation, a day when families and friends, and church, can be associated together according to choice. The day should be wholly unviolated by common conduct, by things for material purposes that can easily be done at another time.

We also are disposed to sentimentally support community merchants whenever we can. We know they offer services out of proportion to rewards. We know that they, alone among all merchants, respond to gentle persuasion, reminders, and good example. They seldom require ultimate public law.

The decals being displayed are supplied by Kiwanis. They are being displayed in communities all over the United States and Canada. Each decal reflects individual decision. Kiwanis applauds persons of deep convicition.

We will support them in material ways. We will enjoy their services and call it a privilege. We urge others to do the same.

—Support of Churches Committee
Southern Kiwanis Club.

Play Leader Writes

As one of the leaders from Haunts Park who has been contributing weekly articles to your newspapers' playground sections, I want to thank you for the consideration which you have given us. Your full coverage is not only appreciated by the playground leaders but also the parents and children in the community who looked forward to reading about themselves and future park activities.

Linda Phillips

From Mr. Barack . . .

Your papers were very kind in giving the Columbus Recreation Department adequate and excellent coverage of all our playgrounds. We felt that this was responsible for our having the highest number of participants ever in a playground season for the department.

Our sincerest thanks.

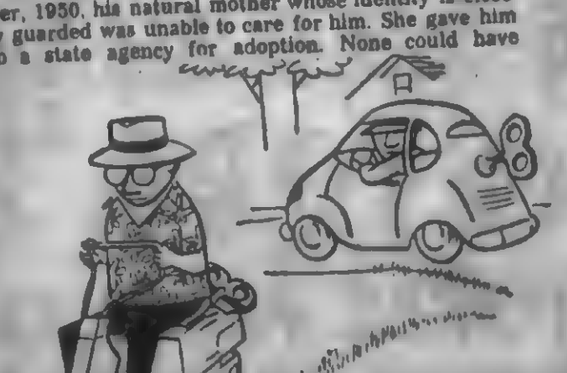
TEXT: Matt. 6:19-21. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Real Treasure Is Better Than Gold

I read recently of a 22-year-old business man in Summerville, Mass., who paid a premium of $60 on an insurance policy and three months later collected $62,336. This is how it happened. He and a friend took out partnership insurance which would cover the life of each partner. One month later the other man was accidentally killed. As a consequence for the price of $60. the remaining partner received $24,970 outright and an additional $37,366 at the rate of $208 per month for the next 15 years. The John Hancock Insurance Company reports that this was one of the largest amounts ever paid for this type of policy.

Rev. Sowers



This was an unusual investment made here upon earth. We are looking for investments with big dividends, but the greatest investment we can make is in the bank of heaven which is an investment that will pay dividends throughout eternity.

Jesus tells us in Mark 10:29, 30, the results of such an investment: "Verily, I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or fathers, or mothers, or wife, or children, or lands, for my sake, and the gospel's, But he shall receive an hundredfold now in this time, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life."

When little Tevis came into this world in December, 1950, his natural mother whose identity is closely guarded was unable to care for him. She gave him to a state agency for adoption. None could have known then that he was to be adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Forbes Morrow Jr. of Santa Monica, Calif. Mr. Morrow is a fabulous California-Texas-Wyoming oil man whose yearly income is about one and a half million dollars. The boy, now 11-years-old, is the sole heir to a 20-million dollar fortune.

We as Christians have a greater inheritance for we are the adopted sons of God. Paul writes: "We are the children of God and if children, then heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with Him, that we may be also glorified together." (Romans 8:16, 17). Paul prayed that each Christian might come to an understanding as to "what is the hope of His calling and what the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints." (Ephesians 1:18). My friend, as you tread the pathway of life you are constantly faced with a decision. What shall it be . . . . gold or God!

Rosehill Church of Christ

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

Of all the earth's people, only in a million is a genius. A few more are richly blessed with powers and skills of body, mind, and spirit. The rest of us are run-of-the-mill.

We are all sinners, but few of us ordinary folk are either saints on earth or totally unrepentent scoundrels. Most of us are in between, hating and loving, getting and giving, doubting and believing, rejoicing and sorrowing, liking or despising our jobs, but going about doing the things that must be done. We do most of the world's work.

In this time of earth's greatest peril, we feed and clothe and protect our children as best we know how, hoping and fearing for their future. After we've crossed the hump, we wonder how good a job we've done. But by then it's too late to cry. We cross our fingers, hope for the best for them and ourselves, and still try, sometimes not too earnestly, to find and fill our niche in the human brotherhood of our time and place.

Prhaps at times we cuss too much and pray too little. We get too impatient about the long haul. The mountains seem too high to cross, the way too rough and long. Then we remember. We live in a free land where after all we have a chance. That and God's grace are all we need.

It says here . . .

Success is doing your best with what you have.

$5000 Award Will Go To Community Homemaker

OFFICIAL ENTRY BLANK

To: Suburban Homemaking Editor

Name of Newspaper

Please enter the following nominee as the "Suburban Homemaker of the Year."

Name_____

Address_____

Married ☐ Single ☐ Widowed ☐

Approximate Age_____

Number of children (if any)_____

Attached is letter of no more than 500 words which covers the questions contained in the Official Judging Standards as they pertain to this nominee.

Will She Be From Our Community?

Area Homemaker May Participate

Some time in early November, at a gala event in Chicago, a suburban housewife will step forward to receive the congratulations of her family — her friends — and the nation — as she accepts a trophy and a $5000 cash grant as the "National Suburban Homemaker of the Year."

Prior to that date Hartley Newspapers will cooperate in a search for the woman who has contributed most to "advancing family and community life."

Joining in the search will be civic groups, women's clubs, service organizations, and other groups in the areas served by Hartley Newspapers.

The National Award is planned as a sincere tribute to and recognition of the important role of the homemaker in the family, civic, and economic life of the suburban community.

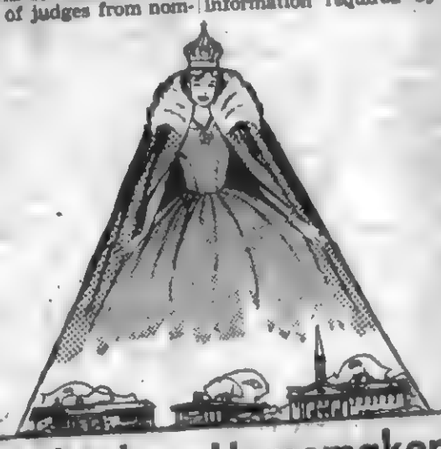
How Search Will Be Made

In each community a local woman will be chosen by a local panel of judges from nominations made by families, friends, or organizations. The local woman so honored will receive a certificate and a trophy. She will be one of the group from which the National Award recipient will be selected by a panel of national judges.

Nominating the woman whom you believe qualifies for the tribute is easy. Appearing below are the Official Judging Standards which the judges, both local and national, will use as a yardstick for selection, and an Official Entry Blank.

You need not use the official blank so long as your letter of nomination includes the information required by the blank. Official entry blanks will also be made available at locations to be announced later.

Let's Go, Central Ohio!



Begin thinking now of the woman in our community you believe has made the most worthwhile contribution to our community's way of life. She may be a member of an organization, your wife, or your mother.

Tell us about her in a simple letter of no more than 500 words, accompanied by the information requested in the Official Entry Blank. Style of writing or manner of presentation will be not factors in the judging.

Deadline for nominations is Oct. 20.

Nominations may be made by any one in the community —friends, family members, or mere acquaintances of the nominee.

Send in your nominations today for our own community's "Suburban Homemaker of the Year."

FINALIZING PLANS for the second-annual Charity Newsies auto race program scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, at the Columbus Motor Speedway in Ed Brinkman, chairman of the affair; John Nuckles, co-chairman; Bill Krause and Howard Foley. Nuckles is president of the Columbus Speedway, while Brinkman, Krause and Foley, are all former presidents of the Newsies.

Charity Newsies Sponsor Sunday Auto Race Program

The second-annual Charity Newsies auto race program is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, at the Columbus Motor Speedway.

There will be a combined program of super-modified and flying-stock races, with a total of 200 laps of racing. The super-modifieds will compete in two 50lap features and a 25-lap contest, while the flying-stocks will race in two 20-lap heats and a 35-lap feature.

There's $2000 in prize money for the modifieds and a guaranteed purse of $700 for the stockers.

Following the races, there will be a destruction derby, in which stock drivers will drive "junkers." They will smash and crash into one another, until only one, the winner, is left running.

Time trials start at 12:30 p.m. and the first race gets going at 2:30 p.m.

Advance tickets are now on sale at the Newsies headquarters, 716 S. High-st, and at the Columbus Speedway. Adults can save money by buying advance tickets.

For bargains see the Hartley Newspapers' Want Ads.

Goodwill Industries Sponsors 'Dolly Derby'

Goodwill Industries needs dolls for Girl Scouts in nine Central Ohio counties for the third annual Dolly Derby, Rev. George Morey Evans, executive director of Goodwill Industries of Central Ohio, announced.

The derby is a three-day open house with dressed dolls on display. It is held at the Columbus Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd, and in each of its branches in Chillicothe, Marion and Newark.

Dolls are cleaned, repaired and packaged in clear plastic bags by Goodwill Industries' handicapped employes. Each Girl Scout chooses the doll she wants to dress. She designs a costume for her doll, buys new fabric, not to exceed $1 in cost, sews the clothing, dresses the doll, and returns it to Goodwill Industries prior to the date set for judging the entries.

First, second and third prize ribbons are awarded in several classifications of dolls, and in two age categories of the scouts: 9-11 and 12-17.

Evans said that Girl Scouts in Franklin, Delaware, Fayette, Licking, Madison, Marion, Pickaway, Ross and Union Counties are eligible to enter the doll-dressing competition. This is a service project for the Girl Scouts and qualifies them for merit badges.

Dolls which are usable, or can be made so, are needed.

Dolls may be taken directly to the Goodwill Industries sheltered workshop or store nearest you, placed in a Goodwill collection booth, or picked up with other donations at your door, by calling Goodwill Industries.

Zoners Will Hear Request By Nursery

A public hearing will be held by the Franklin County Board of Zoning Appeals at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 10, in the County Commissioners' Hearing Room at the Franklin County Court House, at Mound and High-sts.

Purpose of the meeting will be to consider Ongaro's Nursery and Garden Centre, Inc., 1550 Wilson-rd application for a variance in the classification of uses to permit the expansion of a nursery and garden store on a tract of land containing approximately two acres located on the east side of Wilson-rd, approximately 900' south of Trabue-rd in Franklin Township.

Army Promotes Truman Collier

Truman Collier Jr., 19, whose parents live at 495 Woodrow-av, recently was promoted to specialist four at Fort Hood, Tex., where he is serving with the 2d Armored Division.

Collier, a tank driver in Company A of the division's 37th Armor, entered the army in April, 1961, and received basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky. He is a 1961 graduate of South High School.

PENNEY MANAGER GETS ORDERS

WHO, ME? seems to be the question being asked by Les Swinford, manager of the J. C. Penney Great Western store, of Gail Stone and Edith Snyder (right) who are presenting him with his hat and luggage, with the implication to "get going." Gail, assisted by Edith, will take over the managership of the store Friday during the annual Ladies' Day, marked by all Columbus J. C. Penney stores, and they indicate in photo that they just don't want Les around on that date.

ONE OF THE 310 naturalized citizens who are to be honored by the Citizenship Committee of Columbus Sunday, Sept. 16, at the YWCA is Mrs. F. D. Heffner. Mrs. Heffner was born in Germany and became a citizen in June of this year.

Citizenship Committee To Honor 310 At 'YW'

The Citizenship Committee of Columbus will celebrate Constitution Day at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, at the YWCA. Congressman Samuel L. Devine will talk on "What It Means To Be An American Citizen."

Purpose of the gathering will be to honor 310 persons who have become naturalized citizens of the United States during the past year. These individuals have studied for citizenship and passed the required tests.

Typical of these new citizens is Mrs. Erma Martha Heffner, 86 Mayfair-blvd., who was born in Berlin. She was reared by her grandparents in Mecklenburg, Strelitz.

After attending business school, she worked in a retail store which was bombed in 1941. After the bombing, she was forced to work in a salt mine, some 500 meters underground. At the mine she became ill and upon her recovery she worked in a factory under the Hitler regime.

In 1947, she met F. D. Heffner, a United States civil service army man of the engineer branch, whom she married in 1955. He had been transferred to headquarters in Heidelberg after a stay in Korea.

In 1958 Mr. and Mrs. Heffner came to the United States and settled in Reading, Pa., Mrs. Heffner began studying for citizenship there but took her final examinations in June 1962 in Columbus.

Her hobbies are gardening and swimming. "I like the United States because the people are so friendly and helpful. But best of all, I'm proud of my citizenship papers," said Mrs. Heffner.

HOSPITAL TEST

The Boy Scouts of Columbus took part in a Columbus-wide civil defense hospital emergency test on Sunday, Sept. 2.

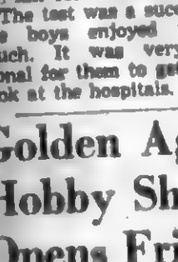
The test was to see if our hospitals could handle a mass emergency.

The scouts were fixed up with artificial wounds and injuries. They were then loaded in trucks which transported them to hospitals where they were given complete treatment.

The test started at the Ohio State Fair. The boys got a free meal and free entrance to the fair for their cooperation.

The test was a success and the boys enjoyed it very much. It was very educational for them to get a good look at the hospitals.

Golden Age Hobby Show Opens Friday



The 14th Annual Golden Age Hobby Show opens at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 14 at the Columbus Art Gallery. Exhibits will be open until 10 p.m. Friday and will be open on Saturday and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

In honor of the Ohio Sesquicentennial year, a special program will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Derby Room of the art gallery when the "Ohio Golden Era of Sports" will be presented.

Earl Green, WTVN-TV, will introduce Dr. James Hull who will serve as master of ceremonies honoring Franklin County sports greats who are now golden agers. Mayor Ralston Westlake will make presentations to the aged athletes.

Casselli Joins Matson Agency As Underwriter

George Matson of the Matson Agency has announced the appointment of Joseph Casselli to the position of life underwriter with his firm.

Casselli

Casselli will specialize in the servicing of Mutual of New York accounts.

He is a graduate of the Dale Carnegie course and later served as a graduate assistant in that program. He presently is a member of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

A resident of Columbus for the past five years, Casselli is married to the former Evelyn Scott. The Casselli's live with their daughter, Michele, at 1307 King-av.

In the Chinese language, Kong Kong means "Fragrant Harbor."

Walter H. Popp Joins Deffet

Deffet Real Estate has announced Walter H. Popp has joined its sales force. He comes to the firm from Quaker Hill, Inc.

Popp

A resident of the Hilltop for 19 years, Mr. Popp is married and has a daughter, Dianne, a junior at Weal High School.

He and his wife, Doris, have been actively engaged in numerous community projects. For the past nine years the Popps have spent a great deal of their spare time working in the Camp Fire Girls organization.

Sabin Vaccine Campaign Coins Motto, Selects Dates

"Free Us From Polio. Sabin On Sunday Needs Everybody."

Franklin Countians will be hearing that slogan during the next few months. It's the official campaign theme of SOS, Sabin on Sunday, in the community.

Dr. Richard L. Fulton, president of the Columbus Academy of Medicine and head of the SOS drive, explained why the theme was chosen.

"'Free Us From Polio'" is part of the theme," he said, "because SOS will do just that. The Sabin oral polio vaccine has been given to 250 million people in Europe and many more millions in the United State including about two million in Ohio. Among these, there hasn't been one case of polio. It has been completely wiped out.

"'Sabin On Sunday Needs Everybody'" is the second key part of the theme," he continued. "And it means just what it says.

"Salk shots, though they prevent an individual from getting polio himself, may still permit him to be a carrier of the disease. Even older persons, who normally wouldn't get polio themselves, can still carry it to other people. But Sabin vaccine not only prevents the disease, it also prevents the individual from being a carrier. Thus it can completely wipe out the threat of polio in our community.

Dr. Fulton stressed that everyone must take the vaccine on each of the three Sundays that the SOS drive is conducted in Franklin County, Sept. 30, Nov. 4, and Dec. 9.

"There are three different types of polio. A different kind of vaccine will be given on each of the three Sundays, and each dose will immunize you against a different kind of polio. When you have all three doses, you will be completely freed from the threat of polio in all its forms," he said.

Dr. Fulton also emphasized that the Sabin vaccine is completely and absolutely safe.

A total of 114 Sabin stations, one within walking distance of nearly everyone in the county, will be in operation on the three Sundays of the campaign. Sabin vaccine will be given on those days from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Two drops of the odorless and tasteless vaccine will be placed in a cup containing a small portion of distilled water. The recipient will just drink it. If the recipient is a baby, two drops of the vaccine will be placed directly on his tongue.

The SOS campaign will be paid for through donations. The donation will be 25c per person. But those who can't afford it won't have to donate as they'll get their vaccine anyway.

By nightfall, Dec. 9, SOS will spell the end of polio.

Broad St. Takes On New Meaning In Summer As Out-Of-Staters Get Glimpse Of City

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

U.S. Route 40 becomes much more than that in the summer time.

The thoroughfare, better known locally as Broad-st, seems to take on a new meaning as soon as warm weather hits and the usual dull, drab stretch of asphalt suddenly turns into a pathway to vacation fun.

The out-of-state license plates tell the story. Families from all over the country pass through the heart of Columbus on Rt. 40 and their comments switch from the beginning-of-summer-phrase,—"we're going on vacation" to the end-of-summer phrase, "we're heading home."

It takes approximately 45 minutes to travel through Columbus on Rt. 40. During this time, first-time visitors grab impressions of this city and some of their comments are enlightening.

The thing most remembered by the fleeting passengers is "that tall building downtown"—the LeVeque-Lincoln Tower.

Other travelers—while stopped at a traffic light on W. Broad-st—inquiried wearily, "Where's Ohio State Stadium?"

The sports influence has played a big part on first-timers going through Columbus. One man expected to see a Jerry Lucas memorial downtown.

Maybe it's due to the lack of publicity, but most out-of-staters replied with a surprised "Oh, yea, that's right" answer after being asked if they saw the statehouse and informed that Columbus is the capital of Ohio.

Gas station attendants along the Rt. 40 main-stem are, perhaps, more aware of the large number of visitors than any other persons. A short visit on a service station lot will turn up interesting conversations.

Most of the time, the visitors shout the praises of "the beautiful scenery in California" or "the impressiveness of the World's Fair." They make the gas-jockey's day a little brighter.

One unexplainable thing is the fact that you can see more out-of-state license plates in the morning than at any other time.

A Hartley Newspaper survey revealed that one morning—within a half-hour time period—nearly 30 per cent of all motorists on Rt. 40 were from outside Ohio.

Figures from the Columbus Convention Bureau report that approximately 33,000 visitors come to the Capital City every year just for conventions downown.

"Ohio's such a meeting state," said a Convention Bureau spokesman, "that even Ohio conventions here draw out-of-staters from West Virginia, Kentucky and other nearby states because of the increased activity here."

Rt. 40 truly gives U.S. neighbors at least a nodding acquaintance with our city—that is, as long as the wife doesn't drop coffee on the road map.

State Park System Is Rated Near Top

Ohio's state parks have again been rated near the top of all state parks systems in the country according to V. W. Flickinger, chief of the Ohio Division of Parks. A national survey was conducted by the National Parks Service.

"When the eight factors used to determine rankings are averaged, Ohio rates third place among the 50 states," said Flickinger. "Only New York and California were ahead of Ohio, and were in that order. Pennsylvania was ranked fourth, followed by Kentucky. This indicates that Ohio has one of the leading park systems in the country, despite the fact that our state is 36th in size and has population density of 235 people per square mile, which is exceeded in only seven other states."

In total expenditures Ohio ranked fourth with $5,614,253. Ahead were California, New York and Kentucky.

Ohio was also fourth in funds available for expenditures, with $5,928,577. Here the order was changed to New York, California and Kentucky.

In revenue from operations Ohio was ninth with $696,076.

Ohio was third in attendance, behind New York and California.

The Buckeye State was ninth in areas and acreage, fourth in personnel, ninth in anticipated expenditures, and fifth in cost per visitor.

Questionnaires were sent to 106 agencies in the 50 states that administer state parks, recreation areas, historic sites, parkways and related facilities. All but five of these were returned, and were the basis of the foregoing findings.

The National Park Service conducted the survey at the request of the National Conference on State Parks and Related Recreation Areas.

No Polar Bears Around Here But Squirrel Season Is Near

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Bob Richard, Rt. 1, Galloway, that intrepid big game hunter, writes from Norway that two less polar bears are now wondering around on the ice. He is in Lappland at Latitude 78 degrees N. and Longitude 30 degrees E. This is not much of an address if you had to find him in a hurry.

There are no polar bears in the Columbus area, although it felt like there could be, one night last week. But there are squirrels and the season opens at daybreak on Friday, Sept. 14. Hunting bears and squirrels are about as far apart as you can get, yet the benefits derived from each are about the same. Except for a white rug that is too precious to walk on, you can shed your present address and telephone number and exchange it for Farmer Jone's woodlot. By changing your address, if even for only a few hours, you walk into a different world — the outdoor world — and this is the real reason for going hunting anyway.

You can hunt squirrels too fast. The secret to fun in a squirrel woods is to go slowly and leisurely. There is no such thing as a "world record squirrel" nor a title of "best squirrel hunter." With no trophies or records, there is no compulsion to beat somebody else. All that is left is the pure enjoyment of watching and listening for squirrels, examining the odd shapes of mushrooms and toadstools, looking at ants marching purposefully along their trails, speculating on how long it will take a spider spinning a single strand of silk to reach the ground.

Hunting squirrels is a contemplative sport. A lot of hunters like to keep on the move, slowly and silently through a woods. They look for deer tracks, ripe persimmons and the like as well as squirrels. Others prefer to find a couple of hickory trees and to sit down and wait. If a tree trunk is handy that fits your back, so much the better. This leads to soaking up enormous amounts of September sun and to catnapping. A squirrel or two that come to feed on the hickories constitute a bonus.

There are some squirrel hunting tips that will improve your chances. One is to take some mosquito lotion into the woods with you — often these insects are out in hordes and biting fiercely at this season. Another is to wear tennis shoes or crepe-soled shoes to enable you to get around quietly. If a squirrel is on the other side of a tree from you, throw a stick into the brush on his side. Sometimes this ruse works in chasing the squirrel into view, but other times it does not. Finally be careful—be sure it's game before you aim!

You won't find any bears come Friday and Saturday but you can find relaxation and pleasure aplenty.

MEDICK FORD EXPANDS

C. W. MEDICK, owner of Medick Ford, 2691 N. High-st, announces that the firm is adding an additional 26,400 square feet to the present facility of more than two acres. This brings present facilities up to 110,800 square feet on more than 2½ acres. Medick Ford is now in its 41st year in servicing and selling Fords in the same location under the same local management and ownership.

ZIELKE-DE LONG WEDDING SERVICE READ AT HOGE MEMORIAL CHURCH

MRS. RICHARD B. DELONG

Sunburst arrangements of white carnations against a background of frosted jade foliage banded the altar of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church Sept. 2 when Miss Helen Marie Zielke, daughter of Mrs. Herman Zielke of 254 N. Wayne-av, and the late Mr. Herman Zielke, became the bride of Mr. Richard B. DeLong, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. DeLong of Ironton.

Rev. Ralph Martin read the double-ring service at 7:30 p.m.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Lloyd Zielke, the bride wore a floor-length gown of imported lace with basque bodice, scalloped neckline accented with pearl and sequin detail, and long tapering sleeves. The bouffant skirt had a tiered effect in the front and back panels.

Her full illusion veil was held by a circlet of seed pearls, on lace and she carried a full sheath arrangement of feathered white Fujii chrysanthemums and garlands of white sweetheart roses, centered with a removeable white orchid.

Miss Karen Zielke, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Miss Dorothy Taylor as bridesmaid.

The honor attendant wore a street-length dress of rose petal pink, and the bridesmaid more blue. The identical taffeta gowns featured fitted bodices, scoop necklines, brief sleeves and insert midriff. The controlled skirts [illegible] accented with bows.

They carried French nosegays of pink demure sweetheart roses.

Mr. John Davis of Lancaster served as best man and ushers were Mr. Richard Powers, Mr. Paul Stelzner, and Mr. Clarence Zielke, Jr., cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Ranald Beard, Miss Nancy Holloway, Mrs. Donald Peppercorn and Mrs. James Trachsel.

The bride [illegible] graduate of West High School and attended Capital University. She is employed at Chemical Abstracts.

Mr. DeLong was graduated from the University of California and is employed by W. T. Grant Co.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will reside at 152 Arnold-av, Lancaster.

Nancy Draper To Be Bride In December

MISS NANCY DRAPER

Judge and Mrs. Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Mr. Edwin T. Jeffery, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Jeffery, Sr., 21200 Almar-dr, Shaker Heights.

The bride-elect attended Gulf Park Junior College and is a graduate of Denison University where she became a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. This fall she will attend Ohio State University in the School of Physical Therapy.

The wedding will take place Dec. 15.

Net farm income in 1962 probably will be maintained near the $12.7 billion level of 1961, according to Ohio State University extension economists.

Dr. King To Address Jaycees Wives Club

In one second, this child's foot will be two sizes larger!

When your child stands, his foot may actually be two sizes longer than when he sits. On the other hand, supine children's feet do not elongate as all when standing. To make sure of proper fit, we measure the foot in both positions — and that's only the beginning of our careful fitting techniques. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight H. Harlor, 112 N. Hague-av, will honor their parents with an open house reception celebrating the Harlors golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Sept. 23.

The affair will be held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Walter (Jane) Reeb, 4211 Dublin-rd, 3 to 6 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlor are also parents of a son, Dwight Howard, Jr., 377 N. Burgess-av, and have seven grandchildren.

Mr. Harlor was retired five years ago from the Columbus and Southern Electric Co.

Mrs. Harlor, born in a house where Seiler's parking lot is now located, has lived all her life on the Hilltop.

After their marriage the couple lived first at 375 S. Eureka-av and then built a home at 129 N. Chase-av, where they lived for more than 30 years.

Great Books Groups Date October Meets

The Adult Activities department of The Jewish Center, 1125 College-av., announces that its First, Second, Third and Fourth Year Great Books groups will begin meeting regularly in Oct. Registration is now being accepted and is open to the community.

The Great Books Foundation came into existence in 1947 and has grown to be the largest adult liberal education activity in the world. Its subjects are science and philosophy, poetry and history, politics and ethics, wit and tragery — the different expressions of man's understanding.

The end is liberal education for all interested adults, the method is reading and group discussion of an organized list of great works under the guidance of trained leaders.

Group discussion in the Great Books program affords experience in intelligent tolerance, the give-and-take of ideas, and reasonable argument, all essential to the citizenry of a democracy and for learning, ultimately, to think for oneself.

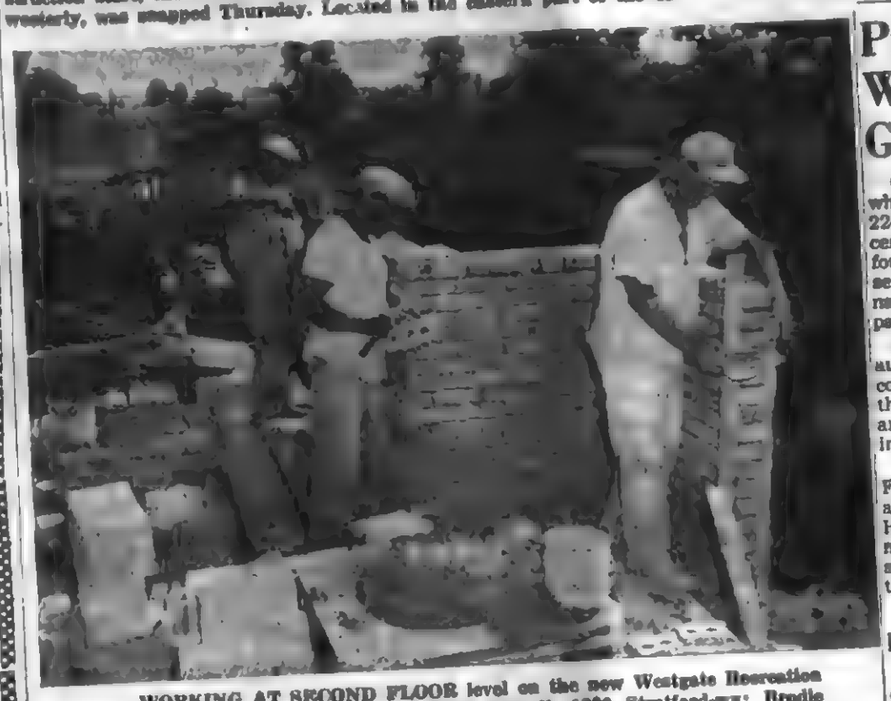
Anyone wishing additional information concerning the Great Books Discussion Groups is invited to call Harold M. Eisenstein at the Jewish Center, BE. 1-2731.

Mineral Society To Meet Sept. 20

The Good Earth Mineral Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, at 1100 King-av. Members and the public are invited.

The society is open for those interested in geology, Indian artifacts, fossils and jewelry making.

Subject of the meeting will be the "Summer Roundup." Members will present their findings over the summer months.



President of the organization is Robert Pancoast of 53 N. Chase-av.

There are an estimated 2,150 languages in the world.

WESTGATE RECREATION CENTER TAKING SHAPE

THE CITY'S new $369,000 recreation center is off to a good construction start, thanks to favorable weather. This scene, looking northwesterly, was snapped Thursday. Located in the eastern part of the 45-acre park the center will closely resemble Whetstone in the North Side. Sheaf Construction Co. holds the general contract. Work began July 11 and is expected to be completed by May 1, 1963.

WORKING AT SECOND FLOOR level on the new Westgate Recreation Center are brickmasons (from left) Fred Farrell, 1900 Stratford-wy; Brodie Williams, 644 S. Champion-av, and John Tocco, 2853 El Paso-dr. The center will consist of two floors and basement, measuring 120 by 190 feet.

COLUMBUS CAPITAL football coach Gene Fekete talks over plans for the '62 Bearcat League opener with the two opposing coaches. The game, between the Westgate Bears and the Southside Blues, will be played in Jet Stadium at 6:30 p.m., preceding the Capitals home opener against Louisville. Pictured left to right are: Bob Lindamood, Westgate coach, Fekete and Blue coach Marvin Bibb.

West Wins, Pirates Tie In Grid Debuts

By Bob Lynch and Kenny Ash

The Whetstone Braves, making their initial City League debut as a varsity squad, proved to be the perfect hosts Friday night, as they were defeated by the West Cowboys, 32-12. The game was the first ever played at the new stadium, just recently completed.

Led by left halfback Rick Neely, last year's City League scoring champion, the Cowboys lost no time in opening up the scoring for the night as they took the opening kickoff and marched 57 yards in six plays for the score.

NEELY CARRIED the brunt of the march, carrying for the final five plays, as he set the stage for the score by bursting through the right side of the line for 29 yards to the Braves' 12, scoring on the next play on almost the same type play. The conversion attempt was no good, and with 8:58 on the clock the Cowboys led 6-0.

As it turned out, the first three minutes were an indication of the tempo of the rest of the first half, and for that matter, the game. Before the end of the first half, the Cowboys and Neely had scored four times, as Rich rampaged for 135 yards rushing. At the half, then, the scoreboard read 24-0 in favor of the visitors.

In the second half things took a turn for the Braves as they came bouncing back to score the first two times they got their hands on the ball. The first TD came on a pass from Rick Zimmerman to Steve Borah.

ON THE ensuing kickoff, they pulled off a successful onside kick, recovering the ball on the West 46. They had scored again, with 6:40 left in the third period, before West knew what hit them. John Schumacher scored the second time for the Braves on a three-yard plunge.

Both teams traded the ball back and forth until the fourth quarter when West halfback Bill Wells intercepted a pass and returned it 28 yards for West's final TD. Neely then added the final two points on a pass from Rick Finke, and the scoring for the night was complete.

OVER 2000 spectators packed the Zanesville stands, Friday night to watch the Central Pirates and Blue Devils battle to a 20-20 deadlock.

Neither Central nor Zanesville could score in the first quarter. In the second quarter the Pirates marched the ball down the field to the one-yard line where Paul Frazure, Central fullback, drove into pay dirt for the first score of the game.

THE BLUE Devils scored twice in the second quarter. After the first touchdown the kick for the extra point failed. By scoring the second touchdown and running for the extra point Zanesville brought the score to 6-14 at halftime.

STARTING the second half Central kicked off to Zanesville. Zanesville failed to gain a first down in their series of plays and punted to the Pirates. The Pirates powered their way to within Zanesville's 20-yard line. Bill Solomon, Central halfback, swept around left end and ran 19 yards to score. This made the score 12-14 after Central failed to attain the extra points.

Zanesville marched the ball halfway down the field where Frazure intercepted a pass and raced 60 yards to score. Tom Fullove, quarterback, completed a pass to Harold Winton, for the extra point, and gave the Pirates a six-point lead.

In the fourth quarter Central's Fullove went in for a touchdown but it was called back because of a rule's infraction. Zanesville intercepted a pass and marched 87 yards. Ted Cochran, Blue Devil halfback, climaxed the drive with a 15 yard run that tied the game with 57 seconds remaining. Zanesville tried to kick the extra point but failed.

IN OTHER CL games, North seized the early favorite's role in the league with a hard-earned 14-0 win over defending champ Eastmoor. West's Titans spoiled Walnut Ridge's introduction to league competition with a 22-0 win and Aquinas rolled out all stops in a 20-0 victory over South Linden rounded ...Col 2 West Wins... Jack put City League action with a 20-0 win over Marion-Franklin.

Elsewhere in the area, a 40-yard scoring pass from quarterback Sam Gabriel to Dave Lutz provided the winning margin as Franklin Heights opened its '62 season with a 12-6 win over Mifflin.

The Golden Falcons scored first in the third period on Ken Thomas' two-yard plunge but the Gabriel-Lutz aerial put the game out of reach despite a fourth-period Mifflin score.

BISHOP READY, playing with only freshmen and sophomores this season, went down to defeat at the hands of Mt. Vernon St. Vincents, 28-0, in its opener Saturday night.

St. Vincent used a strong defense and a one-man offensive show by back John Reickert to down the Silver Knights. Reickert scored three times on runs of one, eight and ten yards, adding another two points on a conversion try.

Four of the five area teams play on the road this week. Central's Pirates travel to Newark in search of their first victory while Franklin Heights plays at Grove City Aquinas journeys to Steubenville Central Catholic Saturday and Bishop Ready tackles Pleasant View's reserves in an afternoon contest.

Only West's Cowboys enjoy the home field advantage, hosting a tough Watterson eleven, which Coach Gene Fekete tabs the toughest independent in the city this season.

Bearcat Teams Join Caps Home Opener

The Ohio Bearcat Football Association opens its '62 season one day early this year in order to provide Columbus football fans with the excitement of a gridiron doubleheader Saturday night at Jet Stadium.

The game, starting at 6:30 p.m., will feature a battle between the Westgate Bears, coached by Bob Lindamood, and the Southside Blues, directed by Marvin Bibb.

Gene Fekete will bring his '62 edition of the Columbus Capitals onto the field to open the Cap's United Football League home season with a game against the Louisville Raiders at 8 p.m.

The regular Bearcat season opens Sunday with two games on tap. The Westside Pirates play the UAW Tigers at 1:30 at Harley Field while the Westside Eagles take on Maryland AC at 2:30.

The other 1962 Bearcat coaches are: Glen Carr, Westside Pirates; Harry Maple, UAW Tigers; Bob Rand, Maryland AC and Tom Salvito, Westside Eagles.

announced that each and every member of the teams in the Association personally appreciated the privilege of being guests of the Columbus Capitals for this kickoff program.

The Bearcat Association Winged victory. Hartley.

'Fearless' Predictions

Ouch! The first week of high school football games threw a pretty good cross body block into our picks. The record stands barely over the .500 mark with a 13-6-1 standing. Particularly embarrassing were those Hilliard-Grandview and South-Aquinas calls. Bloody but unbowed, we'll try, try again. Here's how they look from this desk for the second chapter of football, 1962:

Eastmoor-Whitehall — Warriors bounce back. Eastmoor.

East-Zanesville — Tigers make it two in a row. East.

Central-Newark — Pirates put out the plank. Central.

Reynoldsburg - Marion Franklin — Raiders rebound in close one. Reynoldsburg.

South-Arlington — Bears muzzle Bulldogs. Arlington.

Watterson-West — Cowboys by a hair in game of [illegible] West.

Teays Valley-Walnut Ridge —CL newcomers break into win column. Walnut Ridge.

Dublin-Mt. Sterling — Shamrocks unlucky. Mt. Sterling.

Hamilton Township - Canal Winchester — Ranger machine speeds up. Hamilton.

Rosary-Amanda — Crusaders bring home win. Rosary.

Franklin Heights - Grove City — Falcons claw Greyhounds. FH.

Liberty Union-Groveport—Two in a row for Cruisers. Groveport.

Hilliard-Worthington — Wildcats on the warpath. Hilliard.

Gahanna - Licking Heights — Lions roar. Gahanna.

West Jefferson - Jonathan Alder — Battle of the offenses. West Jeff.

Grandview - Pleasant View —The view is fine. Pleasant View.

Fraze ysburg - Carroll—Win for the hometowners. Carroll.

St. Charles - Bexley—Cards are stacked. St. Charles.

Ready - Pleasant View (Reserves) — Silver Knights off to battle. Ready.

Aquinas - Steubenville C.C. —Terriors put on the bite. Aquinas.

St. Marys - Elm Valley — Ram(ble) on St. Marys.

Hartley-Springfield C.C. —

Pirates Down Hawk Club, 30-6

The Westside Pirates wrapped up a perfect 3-0 pre-season record by downing the Westgate Hawks of the OBFFL, 30-6, Sunday.

The Hawks scored in the second quarter on a 70-yard burst of speed by co-captain halfback Rick Winston. The Pirates countered with a six-yard TD run by quarterback Jim Bell.

MOST OF the action was reserved for the second half, however, as the Pirates' weight and age advantage proved too much for the Hawks. The winners poured across 24 points after intermission with Harold Frasure and Keith Edwards scoring on runs and Bob Arnett crossing the goalline twice with TD passes of 20 and 24 yards from field general Bell.

The Pirates, members of the Ohio Bearcat League, open regular season play Sunday at 1:30, playing U.A.W. at Harley Field.

Dennis McDonald, Westgate Hawk coach, announced Monday that his team will travel to Pittsburg on Sept. 22 to play McKeesport, the National Football League champion in that area. The Pennsy entry is currently undefeated in 56 [illegible].

The Pirates will open their candy drive on Oct. 7 with Booster bars selling for 50 cents.

Golf Roundup Held Sunday

The annual K of C Roundup, open to all members, will be held at the Oakhurst Country Club, Sunday, Sept. 16. Fees for the tournament will be payable to the league officers. Tee-off time has been set for 1:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in participating, who is not a regular player in the league, should contact Bill Burke (BR. 9-8733), Tony Fudoli (BR. 4-8830) or Moe Mulholand (BR. 9-4043) for additional information.

Any substitute golfer, wishing to attend the annual banquet, Sept. 22, may do so by paying the banquet cost.

Glenwood Slates First Aid Class

A first aid class for boys and girls 10 to 15 years of age will be started at Glenwood Recreation Center on Friday, Sept. 14 at 6 p.m. This class will meet every Friday from 6 to 7 p.m. for 5 weeks.

Anyone interested in this class should call Donna Berlo at Glenwood (BR. 4-7416).

Glenwood Calls Boy Gridders

The Junior Boys Six-man Football Program at Glenwood Recreation Center will get under way Thursday at 4:15 p.m. All Hilltop boys, 12 years of age and under (as of Sept. 1, 1962) and who weigh 125 pounds or less, are eligible.

Helmuts and shoulder pads are required and each player must furnish these items. Jerseys, purchased by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, will be furnished. No cleats will be permitted.

TEAMS WILL be formed Thursday and an effort will be made to place some of the best boys on each team to insure a more balanced league.

Every boy who attends the practices and games will get to play at least two quarters of each game. All games will be played at the Glenwood Center and there will be no games scheduled with outside teams or teams from other playgrounds.

Each boy must have a permission slip signed by his parents before he will be allowed to participate in any practices or games. For further information, contact Denny Belcher at Glenwood Recreation Center (BR. 4-7416).

Rich Street Church Plans Homecoming Sunday

Leonard Wymore

Rich Street Church of Christ, W. Rich-st at Grubb-st, will hold its annual homecoming Sunday, Sept. 16.

Leonard Wymore, executive secretary of the National Christian Convention of Cincinnati, will be the guest at the morning service at 10:30. His sermon topic will be "Lessons From the Early Church at Work."

All Bible School classes that meet at 9:30 a.m. will have guest teachers. They are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ballard, Mrs. Larry McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pumphrey, Mrs. Helen Staph, Mrs. Voris Beebe and Clayton Grimstad.

A basket dinner at 12:30 p. m. will be one of the day's highlights.

Earl Swank, minister of the Sunbury Church of Christ, will speak at the afternoon service at 2:30.

People who attended the Rich Street church before 1924 will be given special recognition.

Rich Street church was started in September, 1914, on Furnace-st, and has continued on the west side.

Bob J. Daugherty, the present minister, has served the church since September, 1957.

Fellowship Church Slated At Temple

Columbus Fellowship Church will meet Sunday, Sept. 16, 3:30 p.m. at Temple Israel, 5419 E. Broad-st.

Guest speaker will be Rev. John E. Evans, minister of The First Unitarian Church of Columbus.

The September Fellowship Church at Temple Israel has become a tradition. There will be a tea and tour of the Temple following worship service.

Nursery will be provided.

Lloyd Dillard is president; Mrs. Charles L. Shaw, recording secretary; Melvin I. Cooperman and Mrs. Bertha Krauss, co-chairmen of program and Rev. Samuel M. Beaty, chairman publicity.

New Novena Series Starts Next Monday

Fr. Raymond Bauschard, pastor of St. Mary Magdalene Church, Roys-av at Wicklow-rd, announces a new series of Miraculous Medal Novena services will begin Monday, Sept. 17, and continue for nine Mondays.

Fr. John Dreese of St. Charles Seminary will be the guest preacher.

Services are held each Monday at 8:30 a.m. with mass, at 10 a.m., 3, 4, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Confessions are heard during each service. All are invited.

Columbus Churches Hold Session

Columbus Area Council of Churches will participate in one of five state-wide ecumenical training conferences Sept. 24 through 28, sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

The session in which Columbus participates will be held at Springfield in the Central Christian Church on Wednesday, Sept. 26, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

It offers training in Christian education, youth evangelism, church women's work, chaplaincy, legislative action and more effective church cooperation.

Registration blanks and information are available through the Council of Churches office.

New Library Hours Begin

Hilltop Branch Library, 2935 W. Broad-st, will have new winter hours. The library will be closed Saturday nights.

Winter hours start Monday, Sept. 16, and are as follows:

Monday through Thursday, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5:30.

Ten-Week Rally Slated At Avondale

Avondale Evangelical United Brethren Church, W. State-st at Avondale-av, will launch a ten-week rally, "Christ First Through Church Loyalty" campaign, Sunday, Sept. 16, closing Wednesday, Nov. 21.

Commander-in-chiefs, Mrs. Faye Lamb and Mrs. Virginia Clark, leads the "hope" and "trust" teams, with members and friends of the church keeping weekly score for worship, evangelism, stewardship, service and fellowship.

Ten Wednesday church night services at 7:30 in the sanctuary will be features of the campaign. Guest speakers will discuss various phases of personal religious life and church relationship.

Church administration will be conference superintendent, Rev. Harold Dutt's theme. Christian education will be discussed by conference superintendent and Ohio Southeast Conference director of Christian education, Dr. Clayton F. Lutz.

Dealing with phases of evangelism will be former Avondale pastor and conference superintendent, Dr. Delbert S. Mills.

Missionary interest will be handled by a representative from the denominational headquarters, department of missions, Dayton, and Christian service by Rev. Lloyd W. Tuttle, pastor of St. Mark's EUB Church, Lincoln Village South.

Dr. E. E. Nietz, former conference superintendent, will discuss Christian fellowship, and Ohio Southeast Conference stewardship secretary, Rev. Louis C. Mathew, Christian stewardship.

Children and youth departments will sponsor programs explaining their work.

A thanksgiving praise festival will close the series with Rev. Carl L. Wilson in charge.

Special recognition will be given members with the highest score at an achievement dinner to be announced later.

Persons not attending church elsewhere are invited to Avondale.

Self-portraits usually are colored . . . Harold Coffin.

LETTER PERFECT
SATISFIED . . . because of a job well done.
The last check . . . reveals a well organized, carefully typed letter, and now she is ready to present it to her boss for his inspection and signature.
Each of us needs to periodically check our lives, making sure that all is in order and would stand an inspection by the Lord. Are we letter perfect? Would He be satisfied with us? It is true that none of us are perfect, but if we study God's word and strive to follow God's will, He will be satisfied with us.
ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this spreading in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Ready Eleven Set For Soph Season

Bishop Ready's football squad has growing pains this season. The Silver Knights, who only began playing the sport last year with a freshman squad, have one glimpse of experience behind them but still have a long way to go to establish themselves as a team to be reckoned with in city wide competition.

But if desire is any indication of success, the Silver Knights could go a long way in improving their 4-2-4 record of last season. Head Coach Jack Deppner has a total of 71 candidates out for football this fall, 40 of them sophomores.

DEPPNER FIGURES his club to be strong in the backfield with four sophs back to resume their assault on the goal line. Ready's tentative starting backfield finds Tom Weisenbach at quarterback, Pat Casey at fullback with Jay Kubin and ex-fullback Larry Fenorchito running from the halfback positions.

On the line, the tackle position will prove no problem with six sophomores battling for the two starting positions. Deppner is looking over Dan Javorina (190), Mark Johnson (175), Greg Stevens (185), Frank Monaco (180), Tom Hankle (185) and Bobby Minnix (172) in an effort to come up with the best combination.

The interior portion of the line will be one of Ready's trouble spots as was indicated in a scrimmage with Rosary's Crusaders recently. This weakness could prove quite a problem, Deppner pointed out, especially since the Silver Knights will be using the T formation this season.

DEPPNER'S ELEVEN suffered a serious blow when back Bill Capretta suffered a broken right ankle in the Rosary scrimmage.

The Ready coach will be counting on a very speedy backfield to do the job this season and he also is not concerned about the size of his line. The Silver Knights forward wall averages 155 pounds offensively and stands at 175 pounds when Ready calls on the defensive team. As Deppner pointed out this is not bad size at all for a team consisting entirely of freshmen and sophomores.

Assisting the Ready head coach with his players this season will be Pat Penn, backfield; Bob Herold, freshmen backs and defensive line, and Mike Close, line coach.

Here is the remaining Bishop Ready 1962 football schedule:

Sept. 8 — Mt. Vernon St. Vincent.
Sept. 13 — Pleasant View [illegible].
Sept. 18 — Hamilton Township Reserves.
Sept. 24 — West Jefferson [illegible].
Sept. 29 — Newark Catholic.
Oct. 2 — St. Mary's Re[illegible].
Oct. 11 — Hartley Reserves.
Oct. 18 — Watterson Re[illegible].
Oct. 23 — Grove City Re[illegible].
Nov. 1 — De Sales.

Preview Games Held Saturday

The third annual Ohio Boys' Football Foundation preview games will be held Saturday, Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. at the Franklin Heights High School field.

All 19 teams of the league will participate in this event, plus chosen queens. Both of the depending champs—Westgate Hawks, National Division champs, and Duckworth Plumbers, American Division champs — will be trying to defend their titles.

In addition to Duckworth, the American Division includes: the Harley-Davidson Comets, Mifflin Arrowheads, Arlington, La Compte of Reynoldsburg, and the Obetz Tigers.

The National Division includes: the Hawks, Beatty Lions, West Mound Rams, Gahanna, Meadow Gold Dairies, and Lockbourne Air Base. In addition to the 110-pound teams, the 90-pound teams will be featured.

Wolves Top Big Ten

Michigan University leads the all-time Western Conference (Big Ten) football standings with a 183-88-11 record. Ohio State is second with 167-84-18 and Indiana is last with a 76-187-20 mark.

Ohio U. Lists Local Gridders

The 1962 edition of football at Ohio University lists six local names on its gridiron roster. Four seniors are included in the list—quarterback Bob Babbit (6-0, 185), guard, Rick Thatcher (5-9, 189), both from Bexley, end Bob Naumoff (5-11, 190), and tackle Dick Schulz (6-1, 238), both from Eastmoor.

Lance Tigyer, a 5-10, 184-pound junior from Aquinas, returns to an end position and another end Ron Fowlkes, a 6-2, 195-pound sophomore, played his high school football at East.

Theater Group Sends Out Call For 'Glorious Hams'

The Prairie Players are sending out the call for new members. Whether you be a homemaker, business executive, or baker (they have all three in their current membership), you can qualify to join by a desire to work and a belief that the play's the thing.

Now in their fourth year, the Prairie Players are a non-profit organization, the members of which devote their free hours to play giving at the Prairie Township School. None of the members are professionals, but "we have one thing in common," commented Mrs. Paul Nobbitt, the director of this year's production, "we're all glorious hams."

Since its organization in 1958, the Players have undertaken an ambitious program of play-giving. Their past productions include "Our Town," "You Can't Take It With You," "The Little Indians," "Father of the Bride," "Desk Set," "Pleasure of His Company," and coming up on Sept. 28 and 29 of this year, "The Seven Year Itch."

Completely self-sufficient, the group of 45 does all its own costuming, set design, publicity, and ticket selling, with everyone pitching in where needed. During the year the group holds weekly meetings to increase their knowledge of the theater. Special speakers are invited to give tips on play selection, make-up, lighting and other topics of interest to the membership.

Last year the group's major project was to build their own permanent flats; this year they will devote time to studying lighting.

One of the Prairie Players' more recent expansions includes their membership in the Ohio Community Theater Association. In June of last year they entered an excerpt from their production of "The Pleasure of His Company." We didn't win anything," stated the club's president, Mrs. J. Lane, "but we learned a lot."

In the coming OCTA convention, to be held here at the Nationwide Inn Sept. 22, 23, the Prairie Players will enter their costumes from the children's play they did last season (which they also put on at a summer camp in Lancaster recently).

The recent growth of the Prairie Players in both undertakings and future plans has spurred them to seek new members. "There is so much to do," stated Mrs. Lane. "With a larger membership, we could give more plays, perhaps a costume play or musical. Membership in the Prairie Players is open to everyone, everywhere."

Aspiring Thespians can obtain more information by calling Mrs. J. J. Lane at TR. 8-5449.

MUNSEL CLOSES SEASON

PATRICE MUNSEL closes the Kenley season with "Merry Widow," which began a six-night run on Tuesday, Sept. 11. Co-starring in the production are Bob Wright and Don Melkay.

At Ease . . . TIMELY TIPS . . . FOR PLEASURE

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Why Not More Drama Next Year?

The Kenley production of "Merry Widow" brings the Columbus summer theater season to a close. Now that the tumult and shouting are over, comes the time for some ex post facto evaluation.

If your play appetite was satisfied with a good portion of Rogers and Hammerstein, light comedy, and a sprinkle of farce, you are probably sitting back with a satiated feeling. For the past three months of theater have been dominated by the big and brassy musicals, Kenley style, the comedies of Playhouse-on-the-Green, the situation plays of Stadium theater, and the comedy-farce plays of Denison Summer Theater.

BEVERLY

All this is well and good. Each of the four groups had its outstanding productions that provided three full hours of humorous entertainment; but why the neglect of more serious fare? For some reason, there is a feeling that anything thought-provoking is hands off for the summertime.

Yet one of the best attended performances of the summer was Stadium Theater's "All the Way Home." The play was dramatic and, if you will, depressing. Yet this did not discourage its support.

Other less than comic performances were provided by POG's "Little Foxes" and "Dark at the Top of the Stairs"—both extremely well done and well received.

Granted that the producers and directors have to be concerned with box office draw; but other straw hat circuits tackle O'Neill, Ibsen and Williams with success.

Although no theater group could exist on drama alone, maybe a bigger taste of some serious American playwrights could balance out a diet heretofore dominated by a lot of raspberry ice.

Hast-Amend Series Starts October 15

The concert stage, ballet theater and opera comprise the variety of attractions to be presented by the Hast-Amend Civic Concert series at the Veterans Auditorium, season 1962-1963.

The series will open Oct. 15 with Verdi's opera, La Traviata, with an all-star cast, chorus and orchestra by the Goldovsky Grand Opera Company, Boris Goldovsky, producer.

Nov. 15, regiment bands, pipes, drums and dancers of the Royal Scots Greys and the Argyl and Sutherland Highlanders with a company of 100 men will be presented.

Jan. 17, Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers, singers and musicians will perform.

Feb. 6, for the first time, will feature Leonard Bernstein gala. It is a three part production of Bernstein's works. The opera, ballet and Broadway are represented. "Trouble in Tahiti," the one-act satirical opera, the American Ballet Theater production of "Fancy Free," Bernstein's first success to the choreography of Jerome Robbins and selections from West Side Story, On The Town, Candide, Wonderful Town and Peter Pan, are all selections.

Heading the cast will be Robert Rounseville, star of the original Candide, and Claire Alexander, a soprano prominent among soloists, accompanied by a full orchestra.

The series will close Apr. 2 with Birgit Nilsson, soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera. Mme. Nilsson is recognized as one of the most exciting singers of our time.

Season tickets are on sale at Summers Music Store, 114 E. Broad-st.

OSU Theater Announces Fall Family Plays Program

The OSU Theatre, department of speech, will again present, in cooperation with the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, the Family Plays program during the coming year.

The plays, from the American Theatre Wing's Community Plays Project, explore a wide range of family problems.

Three plays are available for booking after Nov. 1 by interested community groups at their meetings. The plays will tour to any group in Franklin County. A total of 60 performances are made during the year.

The plays are: "According to Size," "The Case of the Missing Handshake," and "And You Never Know." "According to Size" dramatizes child restraint problems and suggests an area of search for the answers. The relationships between three mothers and their daughters are amusingly illustrated.

"The Case of the Missing Handshake" sympathetically presents two sides of a 10-year-old's confusing behavior.

"And You Never Know" is a swiftly moving play that demonstrates the need for complete understanding within the family. It portrays the relationship of Tom and Eleanor Hollis with their daughter, Margaret, age 12.

Director of Family Plays for the 1962-63 season is Byron Schaffer, Jr. Schaffer is former director of theatre at West Virginia Institute of Technology and is now a graduate student in theatre at Ohio State. Casts of the plays are made up of Ohio State students.

Information or bookings may be made by calling CY. 3-2361, or writing to Family Plays, in care of University Theatre, 154 N. Oval Dr., Columbus 10, O.

FOOD MARKET

Shop With Better Breakfasts In Mind

THIS WEEK FOOK FOR:

Fruits — Pears, grapes, cantaloupes, apples, frozen orange concentrate.

Vegetables — Salad vegetables, lima beans, eggplant, potatoes, cabbage.

Protein Foods — Ground beef, beef roasts, pork roasts, chops, hams, fryers, medium eggs, dairy products.

When you're making up the week's shopping list, you'll want to mark down foods with September's BETTER BREAKFAST in mind. Now that students of all ages are falling into that back-to-school routine, it's the opportune time to help them improve their breakfast habits.

Mrs. Franks

Today a sizable proportion of our population starts the working day without a good breakfast. Research has shown that nothing can replace a balanced breakfast, not even a morning coffee or milk break.

Scientists at the University of Iowa College of Medicine recently conducted a series of tests with office and factory workers ranging in age from 18 to 36 years. They found that when people eat an adequate breakfast, rather than just take a coffee break, they are generally more productive during the late morning hours, are quicker in their reactions, and don't tire as easily. Children are more likely to do well in studies and games when they start the day off with a balanced breakfast.

A wide range of foods offer good breakfast pot'nt' ls —and sluggish appetites often wake up to imaginative and different breakfast menu suggestions. For instance, teenagers sometimes enjoy hamburgers for breakfast, accompanied by a glass of milk and a piece of fruit, such as a cantaloupe wedge.

Convenience foods can be used to encourage the late sleepers to eat a meal before dashing off to school or the office. Surveys have shown that people often cut down on breakfast because of late dinners, T.V., and other entertainments which lead to tardy rising in the morning. Foods like frozen orange juice, can be fixed the previous night, or in seconds before breakfast. This favorite American waker-upper, —and a September plentiful, too—is an excellent source of vitamin C, and a good way to begin the day.

There are other tasty plentifuls — fresh pears and grapes for the fruit bowls, and plenty of milk by the glassful or pitcherful. Ready-cereals, pancakes and waffle mixes, sweet rolls and breads for toast are but a few of the quick-and-easy wheat items to highlight breakfast menus.

Pecans for your homemade pecan pie may be a little less plentiful this fall, since the 1962 crop will probably produce only one package of pecans for each three you saw on your grocers' shelf last year.

On top of that there will be only three-fourths as many filbert nuts and two-thirds as many almonds as last year.

The outlook for walnuts is better. According to the Statistical Reporting Service of U.S. Department of Agriculture, there should be almost one-third more walnuts this year.

City Fire Department Began As Volunteer Unit

Protection of property and lives from fires in the new city of Columbus became the concern of citizens when the capital was ten years old.

A volunteer company, organized about February, 1822, consisted of one hook and axe company of about 15 men, a ladder company manned by 12, and a company of 12 men to act as guards of property.

All citizens between the ages of 15 and 20 were drafted as members of a bucket brigade, and a supreme director was named to be in full charge of all fires.

In addition to two ladders, four axes, four short ladders and two hooks purchased by the city for the use of fire companies, each owner or occupant of a dwelling, store or shop was required to furnish water buckets of "good jacketed leather, to contain ten quarts each."

The first fire engine, purchased about ten years later, was dubbed, appropriately, the "tub."

The apparatus was a clumsy affair; entirely inadequate. Water had to be laboriously poured from buckets into the engine, and a force pump, manipulated by hand levers, furnished the jet of water to extinguish the fire.

Not only was the equipment too meager to meet requirements for their job, volunteer firefighters were also entirely dependant upon cisterns, springs and wells for their water supply.

Their early enthusiasm soon dwindled, and members became discouraged until there were only 13 left.

Little is recorded about the fire department until 1835 when it made a new beginning with 25 members.

First official act of the new organization was the purchase of badges and some miscellaneous equipment.

Two hand engines were later purchased, called the "Franklin" and the "Scioto" to service a city now grown to a populaton of more than 2000.

Firefighters received no pay, but were fined if they failed to attend fire meetings or respond to a fire.

In 1851 three sites were acquired for the building of fire stations—one at third and Chapel (then Sugar Alley), another on High-st at Gay and the third on State-st btween High and Front.

The new steamer, "Columbus," purchased in 1855, arrived Oct. 5, drawn by three powerful horses and was placed in service at the location on Third-st.

Cost of the steamer was $6000, a fraction of modern fire engines' $40,000 to $50,000 price tags.

It took the burning of the Neil House in 1860 to prove the inadequacy of hand engines, and Columbus emerged from the disaster as the fourth city in the country to adopt a full-time, paid fire department.

City ordinance also changed the title of "supreme director" at that time to Chief of the Fire Department, and John Miller, a banker, became the city's first.

From the colorful horse-drawn equipment of the department's beginning to today's shiny mechanical masterpieces; from three little fire stations to the system's present 25 and a handful of volunteers to a force of 700 trained specialists, Columbus Fire Department has kept pace with the city's growth.

The new Division of Fire Complex, dedicated May 27 this Sesquicentennial Year, on Greenlawn-av overlooking the Scioto River, houses fire administrative offices, the Bureau of Fire Prevention, photography department, Arson Squad, public information office, Communications Division with its radio and line departments, the Training School with offices and classrooms, and a six-story drill tower.

"PRIDE OF COLUMBUS," the city's first steam engine, was purchased at a cost of $6,000.

Chemical Unit First To Fight Hilltop Fires

Hilltop fire protection dates back to 1897 when a downtown fire unit was transferred to an old frame barn on W. Broad-st at Whitethorne-av, now the site of a service station.

Known as Number L Chemical House, the unit's equipment consisted of two horses and a double 80-gallon chemical wagon.

Four men were on duty 24 hours a day, six days a week, ready to answer Call Box 41, Sullivant-av at Princeton, alarm box for the entire Hilltop.

As the new community progressed the need for better fire equipment increased accordingly, and more call boxes were added.

Early in 1813 City Council provided for a new engine house to be located W. Broad-st at Wheatland, then part of the State Hospital grounds with an eye to the protection it would offer the institution.

The fire house, now designated Number 17, is still in use.

The station was used as a temporary morgue during the flood of 1913 for bodies brought from the flooded area.

That same year, when the new motorized company went on duty, the chemical unit was disbanded and its men assigned to building inspection.

Early Flatboats Carried Produce To New Orleans

A plan to carry produce by flatboat to New Orleans was launched by Lyne Starling in 1811-12. The route was by the Scioto to to Ohio River and to New Orleans via the Mississippi.

Floated downstream with the current were barges of wheat, hams, barrels of cider, whiskey, flour and bacon.

After the initial success, boats made the trip twice a year. In New Orleans they were sold for lumber and the men returned by foot or horseback.

Some early Franklinton settlers moved their families with these boats—John Ranseberg, who operated a flour mill here, built a large flatboat to carry his family, furniture and farm animals, and finally settled in New Madrid, Mo.

And in 1816, a flatboat, owned by Andrew McElvain, carried the McElvain, Ballentine and Skidmore families to Vincennes, Ind. They left on the Olentangy at the present site of the King-av bridge.

Greenlawn Was Once Sulphur Farm

White Sulphur Farm, named for the bubbling sulphur spring on its ground, bordered the Scioto River south of Columbus and was the farm of early Franklin County settlers, Isaac and Jeremiah Minor.

The brothers came to the pioneer village of Franklinton from their New York home in 1807. After two years here they farmed at Deer Creek in Madison County for awhile. Later they returned here where they purchased the huge farm, whose grounds included all the present Greenlawn Cemetery and several hundred more acres as well settled, an Indian Village was Before Franklin County was settled, an Indian Village was located near the spring, where Greenlawn bridge now crosses the Scioto.

Since Mr. Minor was a prominent judge, the community's influential families often entertained in the Minor home, scene of many distinguished social affairs.

After Judge Minor's death in 1831 his sons continued to farm the land for many years.

Veterans' Home Once On Hilltop

A Soldier's Home was established on the Hilltop, north of the Columbus State Hospital in 1864 and remained there until 1869, records show. More than 200 disabled veterans lived there at that time.

The patients were moved to General Assembly, Worth- the National Soldier's Home Except for one vote in the at Dayton in 1869 and the home was abandoned.

TO TELL WAR NEWS

Fifteen newspapers were founded in Ohio during the War of 1812 to meet the public demand for war news 150 years ago. Copies of these newspapers may be read at The Ohio Historical Society Library, Columbus.

CALL FOR RESERVATIONS

The Westgate Hawk Booster Club urges all Hawk fans who are interested in attending the Westgate-McKeesport, Pennsylvania game, Sept. 22, to make their bus and motel reservations immediately.

The Booster Club has reserved the T-Jay, Seymour and Kings motels at the south edge of Youngwood, Pa., for its headquarters. Motel and bus reservations will be open till 8 p.m. Sunday. Money for the reservations must be turned into Charles Carney (BR. 6-1710) by that time since a week's advance notice is necessary.

Members of both Westgate teams will canvass the area Saturday, selling raffle tickets to raise money for new equipment. Prizes include Westinghouse console high fidelity radio-record player and 19-inch portable TV set and a General Electric 14 AM-FM transistor radio.

The Booster Club will hold its next meeting Sunday evening at Westgate Park.

PING YEE HONORED AT DINNER

IT WAS A happy event Sunday evening when Clifford Yee, left, owner of Ding Ho Restaurant, 3715 W. Broad-st, invited a number of friends in to a party for his son, Ping, right, including Mayor Ralston Westlake, center. The occasion marked Ping's graduation from Ohio State with Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in business administration. Ping left Monday to accept a position with the security brokerage firm of Paine, Weber, Jackson and Curtis in San Francisco. Ping has been employed for the past six years at the Bexley Camera Shop, 2731 E. Main-st, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lett. About 25 guests attended the party.

Seeker In Japan

Marine Staff Sergeant Hubert G. Seeker, Jr., son of Mrs. Marcella L. Mantle of 790 S. Roys-av, is serving with Marine Aircraft Group 11, First Marine Aircraft Wing, based at the Naval Air Station, Atsugi, Japan.

Nun Honored

Sister M. Lolita, CSC, administrator of Mount Carmel Hospital, will be admitted to the American College of Hospital Administrators. She will be a nominee at the 28th annual convocation to be held Sunday, Sept. 16, in Chicago.

Receives Permit

K and T Realty Co., of 22 E. Fifth-av, has received a building permit to construct a two-story concrete block building at 1550 W. Mound-st. Valuation of the structure is placed at $35,000. Paul Seberig of 1595 Smith-rd is to be the contractor.

Receives Suspension

Short's Stop, 2094 Sullivant-av, has received a 21-day suspension of its permits from the Liquor Control Board in a compromise reached Sept. 7. The suspension begins at noon Sept. 20 and continues to noon Oct. 11. Sale of beer to a 13-year-old West Side boy in April was involved. The liquor board was deadlocked for some time on the length of penalty.

or momentos, which, Randall pointed out, was proper recognition and deferred any further space in the "Hall."

The new project does have its disadvantages, though. Many of the West High faculty are former athletes there and they often show up late for classes when they "lose themselves" in their own memories while gazing at the aged pictures.

"I have to watch it myself," Randall smiled. His picture's on the wall a couple of times since he was line coach in 1947 and 1948 and lettered in football during 1933-34 and 35.

POD Course To Explore Communism

Columbus Public Schools will look a little deeper into communism this year during high school classes on "Principles of Democracy."

A guide, "Americanism versus Communism," will be used to provide suggestions for teaching the advantages of the American way of life.

The guide is divided into It Functions; The Origin of American Government, How It Functions; The Origin of Communist Government, How It Functions; Techniques of the Communists; How Communism Controls People's Lives; and Comparison of Rights in the United States and in Communistic Countries.

In total, Columbus Public School system personnel revised and added 38 course and curriculum guides during the spring and summer. These guides will be used in the schools this fall.

Completes Course

Private John E. Smith, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of 3691 Eakin-rd, has completed the 15-week tracked-vehicle mechanics course at The Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

300 HIGH SCHOOL GALS HELP

Forget-Me-Nots Go On Sale Sept. 14-15

"Wear A Forget-Me-Not" will be the slogan of volunteer sales girls on Columbus streets Friday and Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15, as they urge all area folks to purchase the little, blue flower.

The Forget-Me-Not drive is sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans organizations of Franklin County.

Some 300 girls from area high schools will participate in the drive.

Funds derived from the sale of these flowers are used for rehabilitation of disabled veterans who received disabilities as a direct result of their war service and for their dependents.

"The excellent rehabilitation service of the DAV has brought incalculable returns, both humanitarian and financial, to thousands of deserving war-time disabled veterans," said Wayne McClung, general chairman of the drive, "and has thus helped the purchasing power of every community.

"It is in the interest of every citizen that this type of constructive service be continued."

Fern Sharp, local personality, has accepted the appointment as honorary chairman of the drive this year.

Headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce Building, 30 E. Broad-st.

McClung, of 3516 Wickliow-rd, is being assisted this year by June Marshall, co-chairman, 528 E. Royal Forest-blvd.

Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake issued an official proclamation naming next weekend as "Forget-Me-Not Days" and, he added, "Citizens of Columbus who contribute towards this cause will be making a big dividend-paying investment in community service."

Federal Mediator Conducts Westinghouse Strike Talks

Talks aimed at reconciliation to end a three-day-old strike at 3900 Westinghouse factory workers continued Wednesday at the plant at 300 Phillippi-rd.

Federal Mediator George Bell called his first conference of Westinghouse officials and representatives of the disputing Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The session lasted about four hours. Talks were resuming at press time (9:30 a.m.) Wednesday.

No details on the progress of the talks were released by the parties involved.

The strike is being nervously watched by a community which hasn't forgotten the 1955-'56 tieup of production at the plant which makes refrigerators, air conditioners, washers and other smaller appliances. Part of a nationwide walkout by IUE workers in some 30 plants, it was one of the longest major labor stoppages in history. The economic impact on local families and businesses was considerable.

This week's picketing began at 12:05 a.m. Monday. It followed a convocation of hundreds of Westinghouse workers at an outdoor meeting Sunday at Local 746 headquarters, 3580 Grace-st. There, the workers were reminded that the strike was voted by the union last April, and had been authorized by James B. Carey, international president. "We just want to know if we still have your support," asked Ellis Hockenberry of Pittsburgh, secretary of the IUE Westinghouse Conference Board. The crowd shouted "Yes."

The workers were warned not to start another wildcat (unauthorized) strike like that which touched off the trouble a week earlier. About 200 reportedly took part. Root of the union grievances, according to statements made by Albert Moro, president of Local 746, is that the company is working to change the wage system for about 30 operations from an incentive wage to a day-work basis. He said it would cut the wages of about 200 people from $25 to $30 a week.

Picketing got off to a rather nasty start before dawn Monday. About 60 assigned pickets were joined by more than 200 other employes at the four blockaded gates for a few hours.

During that time windows in two guard houses and an auto were smashed by rocks, expensive cameras belonging to newspaper and free-lance photographers were broken, and several street lights inside the plant were destroyed. The union complained that one picket, Ronald Walker of 659 Darby Creek-rd, was bumped by a car driven by a guard near gate 3. After that Moro reportedly ordered that no one be permitted to enter the plant. The guard then tried to go through another gate and, according to company officials, was pinned to a wall by about 15 strikers. They said he was instructed by his superior to fire a shot into the air. Shortly after that a sheriff's car appeared and the trouble broke up.

There have been no further reports of violence since early Monday. As an aftermath, one picket, a Darbydale man, has been charged with intoxication and malicious destruction of a Circleville photographer's camera. Some pickets were said to have concealed themselves from the lenses by wearing paper sacks over their heads.

Flowers of the Week

We want a nice Rosebud bouquet or potted plant delivered to our very good friend, Dusty Miller, at his home, 1783 Ridgecliff-rd.

Again Dusty endeared himself to some 25 fine residents of our communities who attended the Hartley Newspapers Golden Wedding Club parties this past week.

I have known Dusty for many years and say in sincerity it is a true delight to have the opportunity to share his warmth with others.

It Was a Fine Party

Another Hartley Newspapers Golden Wedding Club Party is now history but the memory lingers on.

Nothing our organization does in a year's time brings quite so much delight to the sponsors as well as the recipients. We say thanks to all those fine people who attended and we look forward to meeting them another year.

Such a party could not have been near the success it was without the fine cooperation of such wonderful people as Don Ward and Steinhoff at Holiday Inn, Leo McComb at Rosebud Floral and J. Curtis Allen photographer. And a nice pat on the back to our own Betty Daft for her interest.

It Still Goes

Over a century ago John Wanamaker department store in Philadelphia started advertising when he opened his new business and took $24 out of the first day's receipts of $24.67 to invest in further advertising.

This firm has been a consistent user of newspaper advertising over the years and has used more than a million lines in Philadelphia this past year.

The moral of the story is that success in business is dependent on good advertising.

Council Fights Tavern Increase

A comprehensive report was received by the executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, concerning the constant increase of bars, taverns, carryouts and nightclubs in the area. The meeting was held Sept. 13.

The council approved a two-point motion. First, that the [illegible]borhood oppose[illegible]ing of Control night [illegible]erns or [illegible]area. West Side [illegible]oups be [illegible]bership October [illegible]uncil to further, of the [illegible]oard be [illegible]g to ex[illegible]and pro[illegible]m. [illegible]orts were [illegible]irman of [illegible], welfare [illegible]es.

The traffic committee, headed by Frank Schneider, was instructed to complete negotiations with the city on incomplete matters of the Council City Master Traffic Plan. The plan was developed last fall in joint meetings with the city and includes such items as: one way traffic flow on Town and Rich-sts; traffic light at Yale and Broad intersection; traffic light at Davis and Town intersection; off ramps of expressway at Town and Rich-sts; adequate lighting under the expressway on Rich, Town and Sullivant-ave; a correction and widening of the intersection at Mound and Central intersection.

Some concern was expressed about the removal by the post office of several mail boxes in the West Side. The welfare committee will plan further action.

Fire Complex Has Traffic Dilemma

The Fire Department and the Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission have not reached an agreement concerning the seven entrance-exits of the Fire Department Complex on Greenlawn-av. The meeting was held Sept. 11.

The Fire Department had requested double lights at each end of the 760 foot section but was refused by traffic engineer Gallagher. Gallagher said that the lack of provision for somebody to be on 24-hour duty to activate the lights and the fact that in trying to clear out the area, one would be defeating the purpose of the law which requires all motorists to draw over to the side of the highway when a fire siren is sounded were reasons for his refusal.

The traffic engineer then proposed that two of the driveways be used in controlling the exiting of equipment from the complex following a fire alarm. These driveways are between the Administration Building and the Communications Building and between the Communications Building and the Traning Tower.

The engineer then produced a diamond sign, 36 inches by 36 inches, with large tierred lettering "Danger — Fire Vehicles" and with large red flashers indicated at the top and the bottom which he proposed be mast mounted at these two drives. The flashers would be actuated from points in the complex and have timers for a definite number of minutes.

Assistant Chief Zaager, of the Fire Department, refused the plan in hopes of having the entire 760 feet covered. Action on the motion was tabled by the commission until the Fire Department could further state its case.

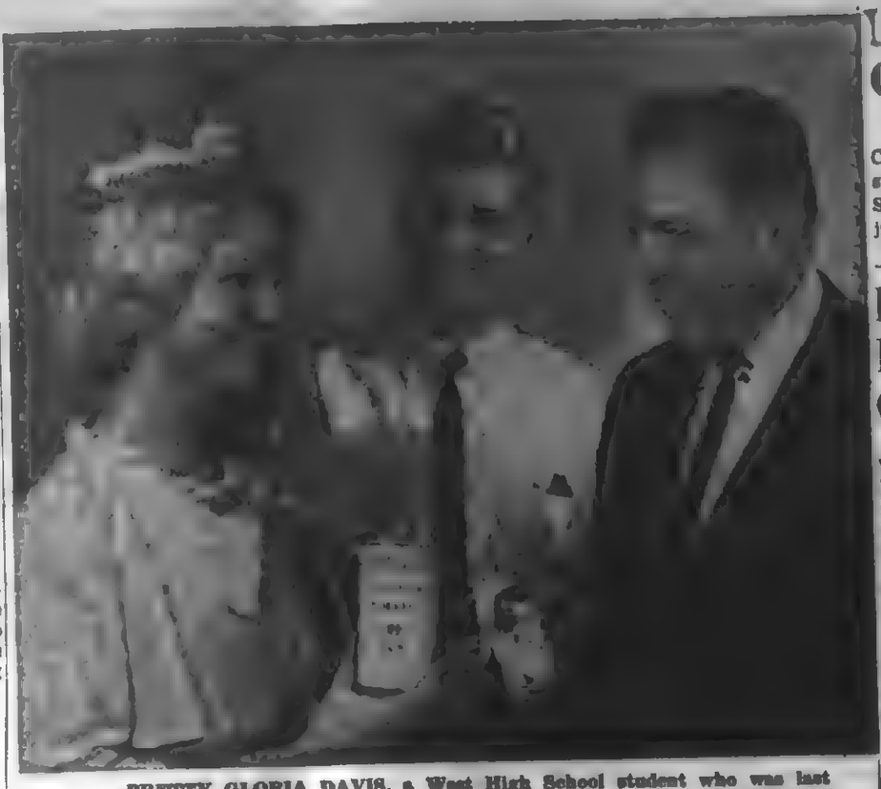
POD Course To Explore Communism

Columbus Public Schools will look a little deeper into communism this year during high school classes on "Principles of Democracy."



A guide, "Americanism versus Communism," will be used to provide suggestions for teaching the advantages of the American way of life.

The guide is divided into It Functions; The Origin of American Government, How It Functions; The Origin of Communist Government, How It Functions; Techniques of the Communists; How Communism Controls People's Lives; and Comparison of Rights in the United States and in Communistic Countries.

In total, Columbus Public School system personnel revised and added 38 course and curriculum guides during the spring and summer. These guides will be used in the schools this fall.

Completes Course

Private John E. Smith, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of 3691 Eakin-rd, has completed the 15-week tracked-vehicle mechanics course at The Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

Forget-Me-Nots Go On Sale Sept. 14-15

"Wear a Forget-Me-Not" will be the slogan of volunteer sales girls on Columbus streets Friday and Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15, as they urge all area folks to purchase the little, blue flower.

The Forget-Me-Not drive is sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans organizations of Franklin County.

Some 300 girls from area high schools will participate in the drive.

Funds derived from the sale of these flowers are used for rehabilitation of disabled veterans who received disabilities as a direct result of their war service and for their dependents.

"The excellent rehabilitation service of the DAV has brought incalculable returns, both humanitarian and financial, to thousands of deserving war-time disabled veterans," said Wayne McClung, general chairman of the drive, "and has thus helped the purchasing power of every community.

"It is to the interest of every citizen that this type of constructive service be continued."

Fern Sharp, local personality, has accepted the appointment as honorary chairman of the drive this year.

Headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce Building, 30 E. Broad-st.

McClung, of 3516 Wicklow-rd, is being assisted this year by June Marshall, co-chairman, 528 E. Royal Forest-blvd.

Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake issued an official proclamation naming next weekend as "Forget-Me-Not Days" and, he added, "Citizens of Columbus who contribute towards this cause will be making a big dividend-paying investment in community service."

Federal Mediator Conducts Westinghouse Strike Talks

Talks aimed at reconciliation to end a three-day-old strike at 3900 Westinghouse factory workers continued Wednesday at the plant at 300 Phillippi-rd.

Federal Mediator George Bell called his first conference of Westinghouse officials and representatives of the disputing Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The session lasted about four hours. Talks were resuming at press time (9:30 a.m.) Wednesday.

No details on the progress of the talks were released by the parties involved.

The strike is being nervously watched by a community which hasn't forgotten the 1955-56 tieup of production at the plant which makes refrigerators, air conditioners, washers and other smaller appliances. Part of a nationwide walkout by IUE workers in some 30 plants, it was one of the longest major labor stoppages in history. The economic impact on local families and businesses was considerable.

This week's picketing began at 12:05 a.m. Monday. It followed a convocation of hundreds of Westinghouse workers at an outdoor meeting Sunday at Local 746 headquarters, 3580 Grace-st. There, the workers were reminded that the strike was voted by the union last April, and had been authorized by James B. Carey, international president. "We just want to know if we still have your support," asked Ellis Hockenberry of Pittsburgh, secretary of the IUE Westinghouse Conference Board. The crowd shouted "Yes."

The workers were warned not to start another wildcat (unauthorized) strike like that which touched off the trouble a week earlier. About 300 reportedly took part. Root of the union grievances, according to statements made by Albert Moro, president of Local 746, is that the company is working to change the wage system for about 30 operations from an incentive wage to a day-work basis. He said it would cut the wages of about 200 people from $25 to $30 a week.

Picketing got off to a rather nasty start before dawn Monday. About 60 assigned pickets were joined by more than 200 other employes at the four blockaded gates for a few hours.

During that time windows in two guard houses and an auto were smashed by rocks, expensive cameras belonging to newspaper and free-lance photographers were broken, and several street lights inside the plant were destroyed. The union complained that one picket, Ronald Walker of 659 Darby Creek-rd, was bumped by a car driven by a guard near gate 3. After that Moro reportedly ordered that no one be permitted to enter the plant. The guard then tried to go through another gate and, according to company officials, was pinned to a wall by about 15 strikers. They said he was instructed by his superior to fire a shot into the air. Shortly after that a sheriff's car appeared and the trouble broke up.

There have been no further reports of violence since early Monday. As an aftermath, one picket, a Darbydale man, has been charged with intoxication and malicious destruction of a Circleville photographer's camera. Some pickets were said to have concealed themselves from the lenses by wearing paper sacks over their heads.

Columbus Public Schools will look a little deeper into communism this year during high school classes on "Principles of Democracy."

A guide, "Americanism versus Communism," will be used to provide suggestions for teaching the advantages of the American way of life.

The guide is divided into It Functions; The Origin of American Government, How It Functions; The Origin of Communist Government, How It Functions; Techniques of the Communists; How Communism Controls People's Lives; and Comparison of Rights in the United States and in Communistic Countries.

In total, Columbus Public School system personnel revised and added 38 course and curriculum guides during the spring and summer. These guides will be used in the schools this fall.

Completes Course

Private John E. Smith, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of 3691 Eakin-rd, has completed the 15-week tracked-vehicle mechanics course at The Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

300 HIGH SCHOOL GALS HELP

Forget-Me-Nots Go On Sale Sept. 14-15

"Wear a Forget-Me-Not" will be the slogan of volunteer sales girls on Columbus streets Friday and Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15, as they urge all area folks to purchase the little, blue flower.

The Forget-Me-Not drive is sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans organizations of Franklin County.

Some 300 girls from area high schools will participate in the drive.

Funds derived from the sale of these flowers are used for rehabilitation of disabled veterans who received disabilities as a direct result of their war service and for their dependents.

"The excellent rehabilitation service of the DAV has brought incalculable returns, both humanitarian and financial, to thousands of deserving war-time disabled veterans," said Wayne McClung, general chairman of the drive, "and has thus helped the purchasing power of every community.

"It is to the interest of every citizen that this type of constructive service be continued."

Fern Sharp, local personality, has accepted the appointment as honorary chairman of the drive this year.

Headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce Building, 30 E. Broad-st.

McClung, of 3516 Wicklow-rd, is being assisted this year by June Marshall, co-chairman, 528 E. Royal Forest-blvd.

Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake issued an official proclamation naming next weekend as "Forget-Me-Not Days" and, he added, "Citizens of Columbus who contribute towards this cause will be making a big dividend-paying investment in community service."

Federal Mediator Conducts Westinghouse Strike Talks

Talks aimed at reconciliation to end a three-day-old strike at 3900 Westinghouse factory workers continued Wednesday at the plant at 300 Phillippi-rd.

Federal Mediator George Bell called his first conference of Westinghouse officials and representatives of the disputing Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The session lasted about four hours. Talks were resuming at press time (9:30 a.m.) Wednesday.

No details on the progress of the talks were released by the parties involved.

The strike is being nervously watched by a community which hasn't forgotten the 1955-'56 tieup of production at the plant which makes refrigerators, air conditioners, washers and other smaller appliances. Part of a nationwide walkout by IUE workers in some 30 plants, it was one of the longest major labor stoppages in history. The economic impact on local families and businesses was considerable.

This week's picketing began at 12:05 a.m. Monday. It followed a convocation of hundreds of Westinghouse workers at an outdoor meeting Sunday at Local 746 headquarters, 3580 Grace-st. There, the workers were reminded that the strike was voted by the union last April, and had been authorized by James B. Carey, international president. "We just want to know if we still have your support," asked Ellis Hockenberry of Pittsburgh, secretary of the IUE Westinghouse Conference Board. The crowd shouted "Yes."

The workers were warned not to start another wildcat (unauthorized) strike like that which touched off the trouble a week earlier. About 300 reportedly took part. Root of the union grievances, according to statements made by Albert Moro, president of Local 746, is that the company is working to change the wage system for about 30 operations from an incentive wage to a day-work basis. He said it would cut the wages of about 200 people from $25 to $30 a week.

Picketing got off to a rather nasty start before dawn Monday. About 60 assigned pickets were joined by more than 200 other employes at the four blockaded gates for a few hours.

During that time windows in two guard houses and an auto were smashed by rocks, expensive cameras belonging to newspaper and free-lance photographers were broken, and several street lights inside the plant were destroyed. The union complained that one picket, Ronald Walker of 659 Darby Creek-rd, was bumped by a car driven by a guard near gate 3. After that Moro reportedly ordered that no one be permitted to enter the plant. The guard then tried to go through another gate and, according to company officials, was pinned to a wall by about 15 strikers. They said he was instructed by his superior to fire a shot into the air. Shortly after that a sheriff's car appeared and the trouble broke up.

There have been no further reports of violence since early Monday. As an aftermath, one picket, a Darbydale man, has been charged with intoxication and malicious destruction of a Circleville photographer's camera. Some pickets were said to have concealed themselves from the lenses by wearing paper masks over their heads.

Council Fights Tavern Increase

A comprehensive report was received by the executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, concerning the constant increase of bars, taverns, carryouts and nightclubs in the area. The meeting was held Sept. 13.

The council approved a two-point motion. First, that the ... ighborhood ... is opposed ... nting of ... Control ... l night ... verns or ... area.

The traffic committee, headed by Frank Schneider, was instructed to complete negotiations with the city on incomplete matters of the Council City Master Traffic Plan. The plan was developed last fall in joint meetings with the city and includes such items as: one way traffic flow on Town and Rich-sts; traffic light at Yale and Broad intersection; traffic light at Davis and Town intersection; off ramps of expressway at Town and Rich-sts; adequate lighting under the expressway on Rich, Town and Sullivant-ava; a correction and widening of the intersection at Mound and Central intersection.

Some concern was expressed about the removal by the post office of several mail boxes in the West Side. The welfare committee will plan further action.

Fire Complex Has Traffic Dilemma

The Fire Department and ... Columbus Traffic ... Transportation Commission have not reached an agreement concerning ... seven entrance-exits of the Fire Department Complex on Greenlawn-av. The meeting was held Sept. 11.

The Fire Department had requested double lights at each end of the 760 foot section but was refused by traffic engineer Gallagher. Gallagher said that the lack of provision for somebody to be on 24-hour duty to activate the lights and the fact that in trying to clear out the area, one would be defeating the purpose of the law which requires all motorists to draw over to the side of the highway when a fire siren is sounded were reasons for his refusal.

The traffic engineer then proposed that two of the driveways be used in controlling the exiting of equipment from the complex following a fire alarm. These driveways are between the Administration Building and the Communications Building and between the Communications Building and the Traning Tower.

The engineer then produced a diamond sign, 36 inches by 36 inches, with large tierred lettering "Danger — Fire Vehicles" and with large red flashers indicated at the top and the bottom which he proposed be mast mounted at these two drives. The flashers would be actuated from points in the complex and have timers for a definite number of minutes.

Assistant Chief Zaager, of the Fire Department, refused the plan in hopes of having the entire 760 feet covered. Action on the motion was tabled by the commission until the Fire Department could further state its case.

Flowers of the Week

We want a nice Rosebud bouquet or potted plant delivered to our very good friend, Dusty Miller, at his home, 1783 Ridgecliff-rd.

Again Dusty endeared himself to some 250 fine residents of our communities who attended the Hartley Newspapers Golden Wedding Club parties this past week.

I have known Dusty for many years and say in sincerity it is a true delight to have the opportunity to share his warmth with others.

It Was a Fine Party

Another Hartley Newspapers Golden Wedding Club Party is now history but the memory lingers on.

Nothing our organization does in a year's time brings quite so much delight to the sponsors as well as the recipients. We say thanks to all those fine people who attended and we look forward to meeting them another year.

Such a party could not have been near the success it was without the fine cooperation of such wonderful people as Don Ward and Ed Steinhoff at Holiday Inn, Leo McComb at Rosebud Floral and J. Curtis Allen, photographer. And a nice pat on the back to our own Betty Daft for her interest.

It Still Goes

Over a century ago the John Wanamaker department store in Philadelphia started advertising when he opened his new business and took $24 out of the first day's receipts of $24.67 to invest in further advertising.

This firm has been a consistent user of newspaper advertising over the years and has used more than five million lines in Philadelphia this past year.

The moral of the story is that success in business is dependent on good advertising.

Area Sabin Stations Set To Give Vaccine

The Sabin on Sunday program in Franklin County will begin as scheduled Sunday, Sept. 30, but there has been a change in the dates of the second and third Sundays of the campaign.

The Sabin on Sunday steering committee at a meeting Tuesday morning announced that the second Sabin Sunday would be Nov. 4 and the third Sunday, Jan. 6.

Type No. 1 Sabin oral vaccine will be given on schedule Sept. 30. Type 2 originally scheduled to be administered the final Sunday of the campaign will now be given on the second Sunday, Nov. 4. Type 3 will be given on the final Sunday, Jan. 6.

Dr. Richard L. Fulton, president of the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County and head of the SOS steering committee, said the revision in the program was made in consideration of the latest recommendations of the U.S. Surgeon General and the Ohio Department of Health.

Sabin stations have been set up in the West Rural-Urban News area. They will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on each of the three Sundays that the Sabin oral polio vaccine is given in Franklin County.

Sabin stations have been set up in the Hilltop Record and West Side News areas. They will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on each of the

Pastor Marks 25 Years In Warren Ave. Pulpit

Rev. Harris B. Anthony will celebrate his 25th anniversary as pastor of Warren Avenue Church of the Nazarene, 650 S. Warren-av, Sunday, Sept. 23.

He will mark the occasion by giving the same sermon, at 10:45, that he gave on his first Sunday as pastor.

He is also a member of the Board of Orders and Relations, the Ways and Means Committee, and the Board of Church Extension of the Central District. Church of the Nazarene, and has served as trustee of Olivet Nazarine College, Kankagee, Ill., for 13 years.

For eight years he has conducted a radio program each Sunday, 9 a.m., over WMNI.

The congregation has called him to serve for another four years.

Born in Kennetcook, Nova Scotia, Canada, Rev. Anthony, at 18, went to Saskatchewan where he taught school for five years. He then studied at Northwest Nazarene College for two years, where he received a bachelor of arts degree.

After one year as high school principal there he took post-graduate work at Boston (Mass.) University.

His first pastorate was at the First Church of the Nazarene in New Haven, Conn., for two years, and he then served as pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene at Manchester, Conn., for seven years. He built a new church while at Manchester.

Under his pastorate at Warren Avenue, starting in September, 1937, the church has grown and expanded, and a new building and parsonage constructed.

A $5,000 mortgage was paid off and a building fund for the present building started in November, 1939, and in 1945, members voted to build a new stone church and parsonage.

The lot at 641 S. Warren-av and two lots at 642 S. Harris-av, were purchased immediately, and a frame

West Sider Named To Assist City Attorney

A West Side woman, Miss Georgena Howell, 910 Harmon-av, began duties Monday as Columbus' first woman assistant city attorney.

Miss Howell, who left her former post where she was the first woman referee ever to be named in Probate Court in Columbus, will now be in the office of City Attorney Russell Leach.

She was OSU assistant alumni secretary, a staff member of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee and served in the office of the Ohio Program Commission. Miss Howell was also a staff member of the Ohio House during two sessions of the Legislature.

She received her law degree at Franklin University in 1960.

LES SWINFORD

Swinford Is Kiwanis President

The manager of the Penney store at Great Western Shopping Center has been elected 18th president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. He is Les E. Swinford of 221 S. Sylvan-av. During the past year he served as second vice-president. He succeeds Jack Nash in the service club's top office.

Other officers are Dale F. Rose, first vice-president; Bill Dawson, second vice-president; Don McVay, treasurer; and Mack Pemberton, secretary.

Newly elected to the board of directors are: Ray Anderson, Jim Foote, Bob Knelsley, E. H. "Curley" LeFever, Bob Miller, Chuck Moore and Dave Phillian.

Installations will be held in early January.

Citizens' Association, S-W Will Fight Annex

Columbus may have a battle on its hands in trying to annex 946 acres in Franklin Township.

A petition was filed with the county commissioners last Friday to annex the land, which lies between Frank-rd and the Jackson Township line, north to south, and the Scioto River to Brown-rd, east and west.

Of the 18 signers of the petition, Columbus was the largest landholder, with approximately 239 acres.

Paul C. Hayes, superintendent of the South-Western City School District, which the land is now in, said that the school board will fight the annexation as has been done in the past.

Paul Wichterman, 500 N. Powell-av, clerk of the Franklin Township trustees, said that the trustees, as such, could not fight the annexation as was erroneously reported in other newspapers, but felt sure that the trustees,

Council Fights Tavern Increase

A comprehensive report was received by the executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, concerning the constant increase of bars, taverns, carryouts and nightclubs in the area. The meeting was held Sept. 13.

The council approved a two-point motion. First, that the West Side Neighborhood Council go on record as opposing any further granting of licenses by the Liquor Control Board for additional night clubs, carryouts, taverns or bars in the West Side area.

Second, that all West Side organizations and groups be invited to send membership delegations to the October open meeting of the council to discuss the matter. Further, that a representative of the State Liquor Control Board be invited to the meeting to explain the Ohio laws and provide other information.

In other action, reports were received from the chairman of the health, recreation, welfare and traffic committees.

The traffic committee, headed by Frank Schneider, was instructed to complete negotiations with the city on incomplete matters of the Council City Master Traffic Plan. The plan was developed last fall in joint meetings with the city and includes such items as: one way traffic flow on Town and Rich-sts; traffic light at Yale and Broad intersection; traffic light at Davis and Town intersection; off ramps of expressway at Town and Rich-sts; adequate lighting under the expressway on Rich, Town and Sullivant-ave; a correction and widening of the intersection at Mound and Central intersection.

Some concern was expressed about the removal by the post office of several mail boxes in the West Side. The welfare committee will plan further action.

Fire Complex Has Traffic Dilemma

The Fire Department and the Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission have not reached an agreement concerning the seven entrance-exits of the Fire Department Complex on Greenlawn-av. The meeting was held Sept. 11.

The Fire Department had requested double lights at each end of the 760 foot section but was refused by traffic engineer Gallagher. Gallagher said that the lack of provision for somebody to be on 24-hour duty to activate the lights and the fact that in trying to clear out the area, one would be defeating the purpose of the law which requires all motorists to draw over to the side of the highway when a fire siren is sounded were reasons for his refusal.

The traffic engineer then proposed that two of the driveways be used in controlling the exiting of equipment from the complex following a fire alarm. These driveways are between the Administration Building and the Communications Building and between the Communications Building and the Traning Tower.

The engineer then produced a diamond sign, 36 inches by 36 inches, with large tierred lettering "Danger — Fire Vehicles" and with large red flashers indicated at the top and the bottom which he proposed be mast mounted at these two drives. The flashers would be actuated from points in the complex and have timers for a definite number of minutes.

Assistant Chief Zaager, of the Fire Department, refused the plan in hopes of having the entire 760 feet covered. Action on the motion was tabled by the commission until the Fire Department could further state its case.

2 Accident Victims Die On Tuesday

Two West Side women injured in pedestrian accidents on W. Broad-st died Tuesday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Dead are Mrs. Ethel Leslie, 75, of 17 Jones-av, and Mrs. Harriet Gresser, 43, of 857 Scott-st. Both women suffered internal and head injuries.

Mrs. Gresser was struck Sunday evening attempting to cross W. Broad-st east of Martin-av. Driver of the car was Russell Warren, 63, of 487½ Josephine-av. The accident was still being investigated Tuesday.

Mrs. Leslie was struck Monday afternoon at W. Broad-st and Hawkes-av while trying to cross the street near a crosswalk. Driver of the car, Fred Morris Steadman, 63, Dayton, was not cited.

These deaths raised the city's toll to 33 for the year, as compared with 29 for this time last year.

Mrs. Leslie was taken to Rutherford Funeral Home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Gresser was taken to the Scott Funeral Home in Cambridge.

Orr Is Panelist

Marcus T. Orr, managing editor of the Hartley Newspapers, is one of six panelists taking part in the Theta Sigma Phi Publicity Clinic tonight at the Neil House.

The Columbus chapter of the national professional journalism fraternity for women has invited several hundred publicity chairmen from local service clubs and organizations.

Gillie Heads UN Fete

Municipal Court Judge William T. Gillie has been named general chairman of the United Nations Week Festival, to be held Oct. 26 to 28 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds. He said that some 40 to 50 local organizations are expected to participate.

Area Ditch Spurs Policy

If necessity is really the mother of invention, kindly refer to the Valleyview Heights Ditch as "Mrs. Necessity" in the days to come.

With reaffirmed faith in good ol' foresight, city officials will sit down to set a policy long overdue on a matter that has caused considerable grief—grief viewed now through hindsight.

"Something should've been done years ago," exclaimed Wayne Freeman, city finance director when [illegible] Tuesday about the [illegible] of drainage ditches in this city.

Residents protesting the health and safety hazards of the Valleyview Heights ditch brought their plea to Columbus City Council Monday night and, from this is springing hope that similar situations will not develop.

A motion accepted by the service committee, however, provides for the Board of Health to eliminate any health hazard that might exist in the area but the safety factor is still to be contended with.

Councilwoman Golda Mae Edmonston, Service Committee chairman, is to call a meeting with Freeman and Sewer Chief Carl Schoene. A date has not yet been set.

Freeman Gives Views

Freeman has his own theory on how to handle ditches in the future. As he sees it:

"The developer should bear a pretty doggoned big share of closing these ditches. If the area is so large and a ditch so big that it would prohibit development, then the city should step in and bear part of the expense—that's on ditches up to about 48 inches.

"Then, when feasible, the property owner should be brought in and charged assessments."

Freeman states that the city has never had a "firm policy" on drainage ditches and, even if a policy is set, the finance director feels sure that it's a problem that "won't be licked in a day."

Freeman feels that the city shouldn't move in and close these ditches down. These are just a few ditches—if we close these, 23 or 30 other ditches would have to be checked.

"It's my view, and I'm sure the mayor will agree with

Adult Leaders Sought For Camp Fire Girls

Calling all men and women interested in working with youth program.

This fall many girls between the ages of seven and 18 will be anxious to join the 52 year old Camp Fire Girls program of educational-recreational activities. They can join only if adult leadership is volunteered.

Program for the Blue Birds, 2nd and 3rd grade girls, is centered around their Blue Bird Wish. The Camp Fire program, for girls in 4th through 6th grades, is centered in seven fields of interest, the Seven Crafts of Camp Fire. The Junior Hi Camp Fire is for girls in the 7th and 8th grades. This is a new program level and includes a wide variety of activities. Horizon Club is the Camp Fire Girls program for girls in the 9th through high school. Some of the activities stress personality development, social skills, co-ed activities, community service, etc.

The Camp Fire Girls organization, the oldest educational-recreational program of its kind in this country, has the following objectives which it seeks to encourage in every girl member:

1. The application of her religious, spiritual and ethical teachings to her daily living;
2. A love of home and family that grows as she grows;
3. Pride in woman's traditional qualities — tenderness, affection, and skill in human relationships;
4. Deep love of her country, the practice of democracy, readiness to serve;
5. The capacity for fun, friendship and happy group [illegible];
6. The formation of healthful habits;
7. The ability to take care of herself, to do her work skillfully and to take pleasure in it;
8. Interests and hobbies she can enjoy with others, and alone;
9. Love of the out-of-doors and skill in outdoor living;
10. A happy heart that will help her find beauty, romance and adventure in the common things of daily life.

The purpose of Camp Fire Girls is to perpetuate the spiritual ideals of the home and to stimulate and aid in the formation of habits making for health and character. Because Camp Fire believes that a girl's experiences as she matures affects her entire life, it provides opportunities for enjoyable and worthwhile leisure-time activities through which she may develop her best potentialities as an alert citizen.

The program, which combines fun and friendship, is offered to girls from seven through high school age — of every race, religion, and economic background.

Adult leaders must be 18 years of age or older. No previous training or experience is necessary. The basic requirements are a real interest in working with girls and willingness to give some of your time.

A basic training course is offered to all volunteers early in November, at no charge of course. Baby sitting for preschool children is available at training classes and transportation can be arranged for you.

For further information, please write Camp Fire Girls, Inc., 718 S. High-st, Columbus 6, or call Mrs. N. Agnew —BE. 5-4640— Mrs. W. Coons —CL. 8-6027, or Mrs. D. Kloss —BE. 5-1015.

Food and Family Fitness

A Daily Food Guide

This Daily Food Guide, prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, defines the four essential food groups necessary to good health and physical fitness. Well-balanced portions of each should be included in every day's meals.

Isn't it deplorable that, in this land of abundance, we have health problems directly related to food? Figures show that it's not our poor who make this so, for malnutrition is as prevalent in families of upper income brackets as it is in those of lesser incomes. This is more appalling when we consider that we have a greater supply of food, and, most important, a greater variety than any other nation in the world!

What is the reason? It's our eating habits. Food is a fetish . . . not the pleasant gathering of the family for happy, pleasant dining of good, well-balanced meals.

Overweight is placed high on our health problem list today, and we've been made aware that obesity is something to guard against. And so we indulge in faddism—crash diets: self-denial—to lose weight in a hurry lest the scale begins to climb. From over 500 million to one billion dollars is spent annually on pills, potions and so-called health foods.

Malnutrition among our teenagers is most frightening. The rate is mounting, especially that of the girls. The no breakfast, catch-as-catch-can snacking which they consider "smart" is making its mark—not only in the teenagers of today, but on the future generations they are bringing into the world.

Why do we make such a problem of food! Our forefathers didn't think of foods and fads. They depended upon the good things of the land—meat, fruits and vegetables, milk and bread as general fare. They worked hard and ate heartily—and had energy and strength. There is no reason why we, too, can't eat the good, substantial foods by simply making it a habit to eat well-balanced meals. We're more static today—less physical effort in our way of living—so it is balance that counts. Quantities must be related to activity. Medical science has established the basic food requirements.

It's up to the families—especially the homemakers—to know the food requirements for health and fitness—and make them a habit of the household. A little discipline to establish these good eating habits, will eventually become a habit of enjoyment—not one of prohibition and control. And it can be fun for the cook, too, in creating interest and variety in the way these basic foods are prepared.

Make eating a good pleasure—not a hardship. Should a specific health problem come up, such as required dieting, see your doctor—not a health faddist.

Rose Festival Set For Sunday At Whetstone

The 13th annual Fall Rose Festival of Central Ohio will be held in Whetstone Recreation Center, 3823 N. High-st, Sunday, Sept. 23.

James McNelly, 67 E. Dunedin-rd, is general chairman of the event. He is assisted by Mrs. McNelly, chairman of the artistic arrangement division.

AROUND EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES

HIGHER HORIZONS

NEW YORK (ENS) — Volunteers from area colleges are helping out in the board of education's "Higher Horizons" project which seeks to raise the educational and cultural levels of school children in under-privileged neighborhoods. Between 150 and 200 students from Columbia University and Barnard College will work in the program this year.

MONEY NEEDED . . .

A recent survey by the State Department of Education shows that about $58.5 million is needed to provide adequate classroom facilities in Ohio public schools. Sixty-one districts in 34 counties said they do not have enough local funds for school building construction.

QUALITY COSTS . . .

A $33.6 billion a year price tag has been put on the cost of high quality public education by 1970. This is nearly double the current cost.

CHECKING COMMUNITY HEALTH

We Became A Joiner

Almost without exception, the communities which are thriving best also seem to be those served with well-functioning local newspapers.

Just which leads to which may be left open to conjecture, but it's a cinch that many communities are destined to grow faster in the next few years with the help of their hometown newspapers.

We see dozens of such cases every week in the "exchanges" mailed to us from every part of the country. One fine publication is the Arlington Heights Herald, one of the 14 Paddock weekly newspapers in the outer-Chicago area. Last week's regular edition of the Herald carried 120 beautifully edited pages. And a far cry from the old "country weekly" concept, it is! Nevertheless, it is serving the same basic purpose as that humble single-fold sheet still printed on a hand-fed press in a few towns . . . it's telling the people their story. Things about their homes, their schools and churches, their jobs.

There's a strange restlessness, however, that we've noticed among some publishers — the best ones seem to be the most impatient to improve their product. About a year ago Hartley Newspapers were attracted to the newly-formed Suburban Press Foundation. We were impressed with their kind of zeal: to improve the editorial and advertising content of suburban papers all over the nation. So we joined.

You're hearing from this foundation already. It has kicked off a nationwide search for the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year." A beautiful trophy and a $5,000 cash grant will go to some deserving housewife. She could be reading this newspaper now!

The Suburban Press Foundation has just granted its first college scholarship in Journalism. Dr. Curtis D. MacDougall of the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University selected the winning essays on the subject of "Suburban Journalism." Dennis Byrne of Marquette University won the top prize.

Chester K. Hayes, executive director of the Suburban Press Foundation said: "The interest shown by the journalism students from all over the nation is an indication of the increasing attention being paid to the suburban newspaper field."

But, it was something that young Byrne stated in his essay that was especially interesting. "Suburban editors," he wrote, "should not be blinded by the dynamic expansion of the suburbs to the extent that all they see worth reporting is news of (that community) . . . . they should take all the news of importance to their readers, even if outside their readership areas, and wrap it up with local news to present a neat, meaningful package to the reader."

DENNIS BYRNE of Northfield, Ill. and a senior in the School of Journalism, Marquette University, Milwaukee, is presented a check as the first place winner in a student essay contest sponsored by the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc. Robert Y. Paddock, foundation president and vice-president of Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, Ill., makes the presentation.

Dennis, you started us cogitating on our concepts, again! Maybe it's time to call another conference of the foundation.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Satire Best Ammo Against Stupidity

The great paradox of man is that he is the highest of animals, possessing unlimited intellect, and at the same time one of the lowest when it comes to habits of stupidity.

This probably explains why Roget's Thesaurus contains a half-dozen columns of synonyms for "stupidity" — verbs, nouns and adjectives — while "wisdom" occupies hardly one.

McPeek

Stupidity, or call it folly, being an easy target, through the ages has served as a ready butt for satire and denunciation.

But because stupidity is its own armor, it has survived millions of direct hits . . . and will continue to do so. Somewhere I once read "even gods fight in vain against it," a statement that in its implied acceptance of a multiplicity of deities, carries a fair amount of stupidity itself.

Being aware of man's seeming inability to cure this tumorous affliction, you would think a pip-squeak small-town editor would be wise enough to keep his mouth shut. But I'm not immune to vacuity.

Perhaps that is why it disturbs me — it is unpleasant to have a disease that appears incurable. This may be the reason I became a newsman: so I could have a weapon to take pot-shots at stupidity —even when the target is myself.

The history of stupidity—which most often crops up in the form of pride, vanity, greed, gullibility, prejudice and fear—started in the Garden of Eden (if we accept Genesis) and has continued to this moment.

It surrounds us.

It manifests itself in our total sacrifices for the sake of wealth, our beliefs in myths and disbeliefs in fact, our religious fanaticism, our love of titles and ceremonies, our sexual idiosyncracies, our entanglement in bureaucratic red tape, our search for eternal youth, and the irrational quirks and jargon of our laws, to name a few.

But incurable as it may seem, satire is still man's most effective weapon against stupidity . . . or perhaps irony, which is a more compassionate, gentle form of satire that often contains love.

At the risk of being pedantic let me give Webster's definition of irony:

"A sort of humor, ridicule, or light sarcasm, which adopts a mode of speech, the intended implication of which is the opposite of the literal sense of the words, as when expressions of praise are used where blame is meant, and vice versa."

For anyone who reads this column with habit, remember that definition.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Studies Show How Shoppers Use Ads

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bartlett pears, prune plums, apples, grapes, bananas

Vegetables — Potatoes, carrots, cabbage, yams, squash

Protein Foods — Fryers, ham picnics, sausage meats, ground beef, medium grade A eggs.

Are you a well informed food shopper? There are many ways that today's modern homemaker becomes informed. The most used source of information is probably the newspaper, according to findings of the vast amount of research done in this area. However, radio and television are also important media by which homemakers increase their knowledge of the food market.

Mrs. Franks

Magazines, food displays, neighbors and friends are also listed as sources of information about foods.

One interesting study, done in Indiana on newspaper advertising, revealed that 85 percent of the homemakers that were interviewed read food ads within the past week. Forty percent said they used the ads to "compare prices"; 22 percent used them to get ideas for meals and another 35 percent using the newspaper ads for both prices and menu ideas. It was also found that food ads were used by all the classifications and groups of people who participated in the study.

Another study, conducted by Life Marketing Laboratory, concluded that the supermarket advertising in newspapers appeals to the price-conscious shopper. For one thing, these shoppers tended to buy store brands rather than nationally advertised brands.

The same survey showed that supermarket emphasis on "specials" causes women to look upon the supermarket advertising as strictly a price deal. Some shoppers even feel it is a waste of space to list national brands at regular prices.

It might be interesting to check yourself against the above findings. Do they hold true for you? If yes, then consider yourself a close reader of food ads.

Meat Prices

How long meat prices will stay at present levels is difficult to predict. Livestock marketings were reduced sharply the first week of September as Cornbelt farmers withheld livestock for sale. How long the holding action will last isn't known at this writing.

However, it appears that the effect on supplies will be temporary and that marketings will gradually increase. Retail prices have gone up on many cuts, reflecting price increases at farm and wholesale levels. This is most noticeable on the highly demanded cuts, such as steaks and chops. These advances should be temporary.

Supplies of both cattle and hogs are relatively large from a seasonal standpoint. So sizeable price declines seem likely when a normal marketing pattern is resumed.

Mood Of Change In Air As Autumn Nears

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

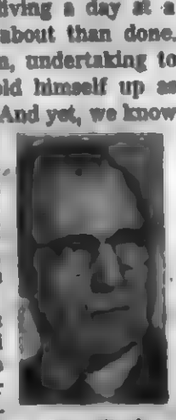
There is a certain feeling in the air as autumn approaches. In some strange way it can be hot and still feel like fall. I know that I am not completely nutty, for the animals, which are more closely attuned to weather and the seasons than humans, also feel this change.

Fish begin to move around, and apparently because of this fishing gets better. Hunting dogs that have loafed all summer begin to look attentive, and wait hopefully for the sign to jump in the car and be off. It can be 80 degrees and squirrels will be hiding nuts. The mood of change is in the air, some strange motivation that harks back millions of years can be felt by every one who is not completely housebound.

This is best observed in the birds, for even in August the species of blackbirds begin to flock together and create a hubbub with their noisy conversations. A sprinkling of ducks is seen on ponds that had no ducks all summer. By September the nesting orioles, thrushes and vireos of shady lawns and streets of Suburbia have disappeared. In their places are small, drab-plumaged birds which must be warblers.

The colonies of martins which delighted us last summer with their cheerful, gurgling clamor are already nothing but a memory. They are replaced by large, soaring flocks of nighthawks that take insects on the wing high in the evening sky.

Migration, of course, is only one of the changes felt in the fall. The hibernators are stuffing themselves with calories to last them through the long sleep ahead, not consciously but because instinct or an urge tells them to. Woodchucks do not know winter is coming, indeed, do not know what winter is for they have never seen one. They live in a world that is perpetually spring, summer and autumn, and like the warblers have never seen a snowflake falling.



While the woodchucks eat, the squirrels and chipmunks fill their larders with nuts and acorns. They do not know winter is coming either, but respond to invisible fingers pulling on invisible puppet strings. These are the tree planters in the animal world, for many of the treasures are not recovered but sprout and grow into trees.

A period of change is always a bitter-sweet time, and one can get nostalgic about the passing of summer. But ahead are the bright, blue days of October with the brilliant colors of changing leaves. Then will come the less colorful days of November that are enlivened with woodpeckers and nuthatches at the bird feeder, and exploding pheasants and running rabbits in the field. The constant shift of seasons is exciting as one time blends into another, and the sorrow of losing summer does not last for most of us.

'Living A Day At A Time' Is Wise Counsel

Let's consider this matter of living a day at a time, something far easier talked about than done. We dare say that no minister, even, undertaking to talk about living that way, can hold himself up as a perfect example of it at all times. And yet, we know that's the way we ought to be living. And because we don't our lives get all clouded up with fretting about the past and worrying about the future, which renders us incapable of living effectively in the present, with less peace of mind than we need.

Rev. Roth

One of the gilt-edged promises of the Old Testament, given by God through Moses, is, "As thy day so shall thy strength be." In your Bible that's found back in Deuteronomy, while on the early pages of the New Testament we have this from the lips of Jesus, Himself: "Therefore, be not anxious about tomorrow; let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day.

I don't think we take Him wrongly when we hear Jesus saying in these words: "Take it a day at a time." It's as though he were calling in our anxious thoughts from the stretch of the weeks and years ahead to the life and duty of the immediate day. In fact it was with an accent of rebuke in His voice and words that He referred to the practice and folly of those who are so given to dragging tomorrow's troubles and worries in today's living — a mental crossing of bridges not yet reached.

But with even less reason, probably, we too, are a generation haunted by the future — the possibility of failure and the uncertainty of success: the kind of home we want to acquire, maybe never really settling down to enjoy the one we have because of a better one on which we uneasily have our eyes. There's the understandable uneasiness about health, employment, old age, and retirement, and even anxiety about the possibility of mass destruction by atomic and hydrogen bombs.

But all this parting of the curtain with nervous fingers for peeping into the future does something for us that is NOT GOOD in the way it hinders us in living the present day, right now, with the result that bye and bye the past gets filled up with days of which we didn't make very good or full use, which we unfitted ourselves by the way we allowed anxiety about what's ahead to knaw at our vitals and keep us too nervous to do our best with what is to be done today.

But, a day at a time and we can do it according to God's promise. Otherwise we can't. A hospital patient who was reasonably sure it wouldn't be a big hospitalization looked anxiously into the doctor's face, and asked, "How long will I have to lay here, Doctor?" to which the wise doctor replied, "Only a day at a time, sister." Even sick people who take it that way get well faster than those who don't, and people who are well hold up better by taking it that way. Such people conserve their strength. They don't fritter it away in anxious worry about tomorrow and which they haven't yet come.

We recall the old boatman who ferried an old-fashioned boat across the English Channel remarking that he didn't wait to start until he had enough steam to get all the way across. "The old boat would explode if I did that," he explained. He'd get up about 30 or 40 pounds of steam, and start. But as further explained that he did carry enough coal aboard to make the necessary steam for the crossing. Make your own application of that, friend. God doesn't give us enough grace at any point in time to carry us all the way across. We wouldn't need it if we have capacity for it. But He does say in words of golden promise: "As thy day, so shall thy strength be." Let's take life the way God gives it and live it out to us — a day at a time, matching His good promise with daily faith and trust.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

"I bid you, my friends, never own a dog. He will love you, and he will leave you, and he will break your heart."

So wrote the late O. O. (Odd) MacIntyre after his dog had been killed in New York traffic. Now, Odd himself, sleeps on Sentinel Hill, Gallipolis, beside his beloved Ohio River.

Many remember, too, the moving tribute to dogs by the late Senator Vest. Someone else said, "Never say a man is all bad until his dog deserts him."

People have a great variety of pets, but perhaps more dogs than any others. Veterinary medicine has become an important and respected profession, and a large part of its practice concerns dogs. Owners spend much time, effort, and money on them. The rewards are love, companionship, and gratitude.

The dog is probably man's oldest pet. Ancient writings and primitive art describe him. We can imagine that a wild dog poached what was left of the first caveman's kill, then learned to help hunt the next quarry.

So began a lasting partnership. Each had something to give the other. In many new ways the team still sticks together. May it ever be so.

It says here . . .
Every dog should own a man.

Circus Days At Central Point

On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday the merchants at Central Point Shopping Center, W. Mound-st at Central-av, will present a gala attraction "Circus Days."

The event is aimed at making the children happy, and the parents, too.

On Friday clowns will give away free balloons on sticks.

On Saturday, in addition to the clowns and balloons, there will be free rides for all the kids on a miniature merry-go-round and pony-drawn circus wagon.

In addition, Tony, The Hurdy-Gurdy Man and his wonder monkey, Chris, will entertain on the sidewalks. This tiny animal will amaze his followers with his bag of dozens of human imitations.

All Central Point Stores are offering seasonable "Bargain Days" during Circus Days.

A holiday atmosphere will prevail this weekend for the entire family at Central Point where profitable shopping and a barrel of free fun await them.

Another feature of Central Point's weekend will be presented Saturday. From noon until 8 p.m. the Franklin County Humane Society, under the direction of Earl Hann, will stage "Adopt-a-Pet" Puppies and cats will be displayed for family adoption in the south-section storeroom between Canton Jewelers and Foy-Johnston Paint.

There will be no charge for the animal itself, but there will be a nominal fee to cover license and the veterinary treatment necessary before release.

Tony and his talking monkey, Chris, will be at Central Point Saturday.

New Youth Secretary Is Named At 'Y'

Hilltop "Y" Executive Secretary Bert Korte has announced the appointment of Doug Lewis as the new Youth Work Secretary.

Lewis, who is starting his first position with the YMCA, is from Beckley, W. Va., and has attended the West Virginia Institute of Technology. He plans to finish school at Ohio State this winter where he will seek a Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education.

DOUG LEWIS

The new secretary will be in charge of Hilltop Gra-Y clubs, sports and other activities.

Lewis was an all-league lineman on the Beckley football squad and played center and tackle for another four years at Tech.

An avid chess player, he was the Beckley City Chess Champ while in high school.

Lewis is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and Pi Battar Kappar, a national mock honorary fraternity.

He started work at the Hilltop "Y" last week.

Aboard Command Ship

Everett H. Phillips, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston E. Phillips of 3327 Eakin-rd, reported aboard the command ship USS Northampton, currently undergoing alterations at the Naval Shipyard in Portsmouth, Va.

VISITORS at last year's Air Force-Kiwanis Kids' Day at LAFB listen to an airman explain the meaning of the Strategic Air Command Emblem. This year Kids' Day will be Saturday, Sept. 22, starting at noon.

MAIN GATE OPENS AT NOON

Kids' Day At LAFB Features Dignitaries, Planes, Celebrities

The 10th District Kiwanis International and the U.S. Air Force at Lockbourne AFB, co-hosts to "Kids' Day" at the base Saturday, Sept. 22, are expecting more than 100,000 visitors.

Among the visitors will be Columbus Mayor Ralston W. Westlake, Rep. Sam Devine, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and members of the state legislature.

This year will be the eighth annual project for the youth of Central Ohio and will feature fighter plane demonstrations, model airplane shows, sentry dog demonstrations, survival gear, engine and flying apparatus displays.

Six "Base Commanders" will be chosen by the Kiwanians and honored at special ceremonies at 4 p.m.

Plenty of parking space will be available for parents and escorts who wish to drive to LAFB and the Kiwanis is furnishing buses for those youngsters who can't get a ride.

Buses in the Hartley Newspaper's area will leave from Glenwood Recreation Center, 1925 W. Broad-st; Sunshine Recreation Center, 667 Sullivant-av; Westgate Park, Westgate-av, and Wicklow-rd and Schiller Recreation Center, 1069 Jaeger-st, at 11 a.m.

Sponsors of the event stated that it was mostly for kids under 12, but that older persons are also welcome.

Entertainment Schedule

me," Freeman said, "that it's not fair to ask the general taxpayer to subsidize developers on these problems."

After policies have been set, then close watch will be done on developers to make sure that they comply, added Freeman.

"Under the law," he added, "we're not allowed to use sewer rental charges to construct storm sewers. Surely, though, some decision will have to be made on current ditches and we'll probably have to work them into the Capital Fund program on some kind of a priority basis."

A program will be devised between the developer, the City and the individual property owners—all of which have to be considered in any policy making.

At any rate, the problem seemingly isn't going to be "ditched."

and brick parsonage at the S. Harris-av location completed four years later.

The former parsonage was moved from its original site to the lot across Warren-av, remodeled and sold.

Last service in the old church building was held Easter Sunday, 1950, and the building was then sold and moved from the site. Excavation for the present church was started the next month, and the cornerstone ceremony held on Nov. 26.

During construction, Sunday services were held at West Broad Street School.

First service was held in the basement of the present building in April, 1951, and the first worship in the sanctuary of the following Nov. 4. The church was dedicated in March, 1952, and the mortgage was paid in full in August, 1961.

During Rev. Anthony's ministry 974 members have been received into the church, and last year 10 per cent of the gross income went to foreign missions.

Rev. Anthony is married and has three daughters, Pauline, at home; Mrs. Estle Oskins of Rockford, Ill., and Mrs. Roger Mitchell of Coldwater, Mich.

Sabin—

three Sundays that the Sabin oral polio vaccine is given in Franklin County.

The Hilltop Record-West Side News area Sabin stations will be: Central High School, 75 S. Washington-blvd; Burroughs Elementary School, 2585 Sullivant-av; Hilltonia Junior High School, 2345 W. Mound-st; Ready High School, 707 Salisbury-rd; St. Aloysius Grade School, 35 Midland-av.

Starling Junior High School, 120 S. Central-av; Valleyview Elementary School, 2989 Valleyview-dr; West Broad Elementary School, 2744 W. Broad-st; West Junior-Senior High School, 179 S. Powell-av; Westmoor Junior High School, 3001 Valleyview-dr.

Hilltop Record and West Side News area residents may use any of these stations, or any of the 114 located all over the county, to receive their vaccine. Doctors stress that to completely free the community from polio, all persons over two months of age must take the vaccine on each of the Sundays.

There's a good reason why everybody over two months old must take the vaccine.

Salk shots, though they prevent an individual from getting polio himself, still permit him to be a carrier of the disease. Even older persons, who normally wouldn't get polio themselves, can still carry it to other persons. But Sabin vaccine not only prevents the disease, it also prevents an individual from being a carrier. Thus, it can completely wipe out the threat of polio in the community.

The SOS, Sabin on Sunday, campaign has been endorsed by community and county boards of health. The vaccine is odorless and tasteless.

SOS does wipe out polio. The vaccine has been given to 250 million people in Europe and many millions in the United States, including two million in Ohio.

Giving the vaccine is easy. Two drops of it are placed in a cup of water containing a small amount of distilled water. The recipient just drinks it down. If the recipient is a baby, two drops of the vaccine will be placed directly on his tongue.

Dr. Fulton said the donation will be 25c per person. But those who can't afford it won't have to donate. They'll get the vaccine anyway.

shall heard arguments and viewed photos of alleged damage at the plant. Westinghouse lawyers asked the court to limit picketing and permit safe access to the plant. The judge held off in granting the injunction, however, after Moro promised to make efforts to insure a peaceful demonstration.

While grievances are being heard over the bargaining table, the union has been asked by the court to hold pickets down to three at a gate, allow persons and shipments to enter and leave the plant unhindered, refrain from all violence, threats and intimidation, and loitering by groups.

The company reportedly was prepared to take care of all employes who wished to stay in the plant. This involved the rental of sleeping cots, food supplies and even helicopter service into the area for key personnel.

individuals, would oppose the move.

Wichterman, who is a member of the Franklin Township Citizens Association, which has been fighting annexation attempts in the past, also said that he believed an association meeting would be held in the very near future to discuss the situation.

Dave Caperton, president of the association, was out of town at the time of the announcement.

The 946-acre tract is one of the largest to be requested for annexation in several years, according to a spokesman in the county commissioner's office.

Boy Scout News

By JIM [illegible]
279-2841

The Tomahawk Tribe, sponsored by the St. Mary Magdalene Holy Name Society, consisting of Troop 214 and 414, Post 214 and Pack 214 with new units Post 414 and Pack 414, present this letter from a boy to his father about his scouting summer.

Hello Dad: Last spring I became a Webios Den Member, and started training to become a Boy Scout. In June I walked five miles in Blendon Woods, and about a week later I became a Boy Scout. Then I walked The Chief Tarhi Trail (13.1 Very Rough Miles) near Lancaster, Ohio. The Explorers caught live snakes and turtles . . . Gosh are they brave. In July about 40 Explorers and Boy Scouts went to Camp Lazarus for a week, and you either became a man or a mouse real quick. Don't worry Pop I became a man real quick. Seven of the guys in our Tribe passed the mile swim contest, and we rowed boats, and did just about everything outdoors, that a guy would want to do!

In August we (56 Men, Women and Kids) went to Pike Lake for a weekend camp out. We went swimming, hiking, fishing and had lots of fun. Gee Pop I wish you were with us, because you missed a barrel of fun. Guess what Pop, they really make a man of us, because if we act like babies, they do just like Sister XXXXX does, they warn us, and then if we keep acting like a baby they spank us the same way, and in the same padded place that Sister XXXXX does, when we don't mind. Don't worry Pop I was one of the Good Guys.

In September (7, 8, and 9) we (51 women, men and kids) Camped at Old Mans Cave, and we hiked to Cedar Falls, and other trails. We walked between 10 and 15 miles and BOY were those OLE MEN on the end of the line tired, but the hike didn't bother me, a bit Pop! The only thing that scared me was a SNAKE 40 feet long. (Correct length 4 feet.) but Old Blood and Guts Our Fearless Leader took a 50 foot pole (Correct length 50 ft.) and tossed the SNAKE over into the weeds, and on our way back, the same ole snake winked at us and crawled into a cave.

P.S. Pop! Get out of the "Easy Chair" and bring Junior to the big Cub Scout Round-Up in St. Mary Magdalene Church Hall, at 1 p.m. (After-noon) Saturday, Sept. 22, 1962, and Mom can join too, because they CAN'T GET DEN MOTHERS, but don't you worry POP because I told Mr. Hoye, that both my parents would be there and help.

Signed: Joe, the Scout!
Cub Pack 357

Cub Pack 357 of Hiltonia EUB Church, Columbian at Springmont, will hold its pack meeting Thursday, Sept. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Cubmaster Maurice Fancher will present Wolf badges to Donald Hanby, Stuart Hatzer, Randy Spaeth and Greg Clark.

Parents of boys eight years of age wishing to become Cub Scouts, are invited to bring them to the program.

American Cancer Society Slates Public Conference

Dr. Jack Miles, 2586 W. Broad-st, is in charge of arrangements for the Cancer Volunteer Conference to be held in the Youth Center Building on the State Fairgrounds Tuesday, Sept. 25.

"This is a chance for everyone who is interested in cancer control to be brought up to date," Dr. Miles says. "The meeting is open to the public."

"We will show two new cancer movies, and we will also have a 90-minute panel discussion on research at 4 p.m. with Dr. Arthur G. James as moderator. Dr. James has arranged to have nine physicians on this panel," added Dr. Miles.

The program will start at 2 p.m. with the new movies.

Dinner at 6:30 p.m. will feature an address by Rutherford L. Ellis of Atlanta, Ga., on "The International War Against Cancer." Ellis, chairman of the American Cancer Society's national board of directors, recently returned from Moscow where he attended the International Cancer Congress.

The only charge for the day's program will be for dinner. Reservations should be made with the Society's Franklin County Unit Office at 2300 W. Mound-st. Dinner tickets are $2.50 each.

Hartley Golden Wedding Club Has One Hundred Fifty Members

MR. AND MRS. DUSTY MILLER, center, are flanked by two brothers and their wives — Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Major of Galloway and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Major of 58 S. Algonquin-av. All were married more than 50 years, and Dusty Miller was speaker for the occasion.

A GOLD FLORAL arrangement was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn, 23 S. Terrace-av, by Mrs. Richard DeWitt of Hartley Newspapers staff. The Dunns have 39 grandchildren and great-grandchildren, more than any other couple present. They also ran a close second to "longest married." Their wedding date was just 15 days after the winners, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Shade.

MR. AND MRS. CLAUDE BYMMER of Hilliard had the honor of cutting the cake. The couple are grandparents and great-grandparents of 34.

AN ORCHID FOR A BRIDE of 64 years ago was presented by Rosebud Floral Co. to Mrs. Jesse W. Shade, 615 S. Hague-av. Edward Steinhoff, manager of Holiday Inn and host for the party, congratulated the couple, married Feb. 16, 1898.

MRS. HAMPTON TO HOST UNIT OF ENGINEERS

American Institute of Electrical Engineers Auxiliary will hold a get-acquainted tea Sept. 25, 1 to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Paul E. Hampton, 43 E. Columbus-st, Canal Winchester.

Hostesses will be Mrs. S. P. Tomesek and Mrs. Joseph Marinello.

New officers for the year are Mrs. Ray Cavendish, chairman; Mrs. D. F. McNaughtan, vice - chairman; Mrs. James Roehm, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard N. Fisher, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John French, treasurer.

There is but one Love, yet his shape is legion . . . .Rochefoucauld

Soroptimists Elected To Area Offices

Miss Doris Wright, 3665 Dublin-rd, has been elected secretary and Mrs. George O. Petrie, 2760 Edington-rd, extension chairman for the Midwestern Region, Soroptimist Federation of America.

The Soroptimist Club is the largest women's international classified service club, is organized in 40 countries and has over 40,000 members. Midwestern Region consists of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Erie, Pa.

Local projects of the club are Alum Crest Hospital, Franklin Village and an $800 scholarship awarded annually to a Franklin County woman to any accredited school of her choice.

WOMEN VOTERS TO LAUNCH ANNUAL FUNDS CAMPAIGN

The League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus will kickoff its financial drive for 1962-1963 Sept. 17, with a goal of $4,000.

Mrs. Charles R. Wilcox is chairman. There are approximately 450 members in the league.

Money raised is used primarily for the 35,000 Voters Information Bulletins published by the league during election years. These bulletins are available in the public libraries in October.

Other community services such as publications given to Columbus public high schools are also financed by the drive.

The league office is at 65 S. Fourth-st, Columbus 15.

For further information, call Mrs. C. R. Wilcox 486-5837.

Goodwill Auxiliary Plans Luncheon Meet

Woman's Auxiliary of Goodwill Industries will begin its season with a luncheon meeting at 1331 Edgehill-rd, Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 12:30.

Rev. George M. Evans, executive director of Goodwill industries, will speak. Mrs. James G. Smith, president, will preside.

Robert Morris, OES, Arranges Program

Robert Morris Chapter, OES, will meet Tuesday, Sept. 18.

Past matrons and patrons will be honored and there will be entertainment and refreshments.

A "visit" will be made to France in honor of Robert Morris, founder of the order.

Kiwanikwe Will Meet

Kiwanikwe will meet for the first time this season Tuesday, Sept. 25, 8 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA.

Mrs. W. N. Sinester will show her collection of dolls, depicting first ladies of the United States.

Hostess chairman, Mrs. Marden Long, will be assisted by Mrs. M. E. Sensenbrenner, Mrs. Howard Lloyd, Mrs. Dan Best, Mrs. George Matson, Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. Otto Best, Mrs. L. E. Saunders and Mrs. William Dawson.

KING OES CHAPTER TO HONOR ESTHERS

RT King Chapter 340 will meet at 697 S. High-st, Sept. 28, for Esther Night, with all 1962 Esthers of other Chapters to be honored, as well as all past Esthers.

The Mary Star Point Circle will furnish refreshments after the meeting. Entertainment will be by the R. T. King Chorus. Special honors will be held for Star Points from other Chapters as well.

OSU CLUB GROUP PLANS LUNCHEON

Group "A", Ohio State University Mothers Club, will meet Tuesday, Sept. 25 for a dessert luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av.

Presiding chairman will be Mrs. Louis Krueznski.

Devotions will be by Mrs. R. L. Clements. Program chairmen: Mrs. Lewis Lennon and Mrs. Elmer Look.

OSNA To Help During Sabin Drive; Register At Hartley Newspapers

Fall is a busy time of year and the Ohio State Nurses' Association is planning for a big season of activity.

In first priority on the organization's "do" list is preparation for the "Sabin on Sunday" oral vaccine distribution which is to start in the near future.

The association is presently recruiting registered nurses and volunteers to help with the drive. Those interested can call District 12, OSNA Headquarters at 224-9724.

Volunteer application forms can be picked up at the Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st.

BEGIN DRIVE

Already in first stages of operation is the district's annual membership drive. All registered and professional nurses in the area have been invited to join the association.

The local drive is being conducted by the membership committee, Mrs. Frank Schwartz, chairman.

A workshop sponsored by District 12 will be held Thursday, Sept. 20 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the St. Francis School of Nursing, 3441 Clifton-av.

Theme of the workshop is "Basic Emergency Disaster Procedure."

Registration fee is $1 to members and $2 to non-members. Reservations can be made through district headquarters at CA. 4-2628.

Miss Jean Reed, R.N., of 40 E. Pacemont-rd, is president of the local professional nurses' organization.

Roundup Starts For Hilltop 'Y'

The Annual Hilltop YMCA Membership Roundup was kicked off at the Hilltop "Y" last night. M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner, Big Boss of this year's Roundup, challenged all Cowboys and Cowgirls to tell the community of the advantages of a Hilltop YMCA membership.

A good response to a letter requesting renewals by mail has been received by the "Y" office. All workers received some prospect cards and were asked to solicit new memberships during this campaign. No house-to-house solicitation will be conducted but all interested persons are urged to call the "Y" office at BR. 6-5306 for information.

Roy Agin, chairman of the Hilltop "Y" membership committee, announced that the first report meeting will be held Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. with the final report scheduled for Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Ray Anderson, of the Hilltop YMCA board of management, will serve as Assistant Big Boss. Other members of the membership committee are Roy Von Ins, James Goudy, Nelson Greene, Jr., Vic Karl, Jack Mitchell, Rev. Sydney Everson, Bob Walker, C. H. Campbell, and William E. Jones.

The goal for this year's drive has been set at $12,000 and 2075 members. Membership rates for the coming year will be youth (18 and under) 35 adults $7; family memberships $20 cash or three payments of $7; "Partner With Youth" $10; and contributor under $10.

Hilltop YMCA Open House Has Wide Array Of Events

The Hilltop YMCA Annual Open House was held Sept. 15-16. Activities and displays of all varieties took place during this two day period.

Among the highlights was an archery demonstration by the Wyandotte Archers. Club president Jim Bevin and his group entertained their audiences with displays with bows and arrows.

Jack Schaff, a "Y" Secretary from Indianapolis and a former member of the Washington Redskins, and John Stevens demonstrated to the audience some of the principles of Judo.

The Columbus Coin Exchange, Inc. held an auction in conjunction with the Sunday activities. Harry Detwiler, club president, served as auctioneer for the 200 lot sale.

The last outstanding event of the two day festivities was a concert presented by the West High School Band under the direction of James Hill.

Also included in this program was the annual summer awards presentations. M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner, Big Boss of this year's Membership Roundup, gave a welcome and a brief explanation of the upcoming drive.

Jack Mitchell, member of the Hilltop "Y" Advisory Council, recognized all members who took part in the Ranger program this year and presented them with patches.

Following this, Big Chief Al Stephens of the Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Longhouse presented graded awards to all participants in the Little 9 Baseball program during the past season.

Gary Sixt, Hilltop "Y" physical director, recognized all Little 9, coaches and presented outstanding manager trophies to Dan and Dave Walker for the 8-10 year old group and George Puchovich in the 11-13 category.

Charles Martin, member of the Hilltop Y's Men's Club, awarded championship awards to members of Indians' team who won the Slider boys division and to the Giants who took top honors in the younger age group.

Gary Link, former member of the Hilltop "Y" staff, presented the top Ranger awards to Bill Rees, Mike Taylor, Mike Rees, and Tom Roush in that order. Assisting Link in his presentations was Bruce Jones who helped with the Ranger program during the past year.

Ed Hedges, vice president of the High Winders Auto Club, announced the results of the model car show sponsored by the club and presented trophies to Jack McKendry in the 16 and over class and to Dan Downing in the 15 and under category. Ribbon awards were presented to Ike Cazan and Paul Johnson for their entries in the contest.

Last item of the awards was presenting of trophies to Craig Weaver for the outstanding photo entry and to Denver Hart for the top colored slide. Vic Karl, chairman of the Youth Program Committee of the Hilltop "Y", served as coordinator of this program.

There was a torch light parade and council ring ceremony presented by the Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Longhouse led by Big Chief Al Stephen. A new promotional film for the Hilltop Nation of Indian Guides was shown and explained by Russ Crawford, member of the Indian Guide executive board.

The High Winders Auto Club, under the leadership of president Ron Shelton, displayed a stripped motor with all componet parts, "Dead Parts for Dying People", club property and trophies, two hot rods in various stages of completion, and a series of pictures of accidents. The club also sponsored showings of safety films during this event.

Other displays included sketches done by former members of a class conducted by the Hilltop YMCA, and an Indian Guide display of tribal property. Charles Gilkey, who will be the director in this year's leathercraft class, presented a display on what can be done in leather work and demonstrated his techniques.

George Matson and his son, Steve, showed their collection of rifles and pistols.

Mrs. Mary Miller, Hilltop YWCA Center Director, was on hand to answer questions pertaining to local YWCA programs.

Athletic contests were conducted throughout the two days. Little 9 exhibition games ended with the following results: Cardinals over the Giants, Pirates beating the Phillies, and Dodgers beating the Braves in the 8-10 year old group. In the older division the Tigers turned back the Yankees, the Indians edged the Senators, and the Orioles set back the White Sox.

Members of the baseball clinic for boy 6-7 years of age played the last game of the season with the contest ending in a 5-5 deadlock. A series of games was conducted Saturday morning under the direction of the "Y" physical committee with Harry Grashel as chairman. Assisting in judging these contests were L. H. McAllister and Forest Rader who are committee members.

A Record Hop for teenagers was conducted by the Hilltop Y's Men's Club with Harry Miller serving as coordinator.

An open horseshoe tournament was won by Paul Mathias.

Refreshments were sold by members of the Y's Men's Club, Mothers' Council, Indian Guides, and the High Winders Auto Club. William E. Jones coordinated consession sales.

Chairman of the open house was Roy Agin with Bob Walker serving as assistant chairman. Other committee members were Vic Karl, Harry Grashel, John Brown, and William Jones.

Sunday School To 'Itch' For Carolyn

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

It's a good thing children aren't being allowed to see the Prairie Players' production of "Seven Year Itch" because what would they say seeing their Sunday School teacher playing an alluring siren?

"It's not my character at all," exclaimed Carolyn Lane, 4650 Musket-wy, Lincoln Village.

Mrs. Lane has the marilyn - Monroe - popularized lead in the "Itch" show. In real life, however, she goes to the other extreme and teaches Sunday School at First Community church, instructs an adult sewing class for the South - Western School District and is listed on the roles of Lincoln Village Beautifiers Club.

The Prairie Players, a southwestern Franklin County community theatre group, presents three major productions each year and as many minor productions as scheduling will permit.

"The Seven Year Itch" will be presented Sept. 28-29 at 8:30 p.m. in the Prairie School auditorium on Norton-rd.

The Friday night performance is the night of the theatre party and will include cocktails and dinner at the Nationwide Inn, seats at the play and a chance to mingle with actors and actresses at a dance at the Nationwide Inn.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Rolfe Harper, 878-3671.

Mrs. Lane sees "Itch" as a "real fun-type play." She says it's a "great deal of fun for me because I'm playing three different characters."

In case you're not familiar with the plot (or, your wife wouldn't let you see Marilyn's movie), Mrs. Lane is looked at in two dream sequences by the male lead, Tom Good.

"One of the dreams has to be in a silver, slinky gown," Mrs. Lane said. "A very sophisticated character with a cigarette holder and all."

In the other dream, Mrs. Lane appears in a very possessive role.

It all adds up to a big night of fun—two of them, in fact.

Mrs. Lane has appeared in "You Can't Take It With You," "Our Town" and "Desk Set" with the Prairie group and in "Auntie Mame" with the Columbus Players' Club.

Memberships in the group are still available for the year and persons interested are invited to join. Mrs. Richard Butler is membership chairman and may be contacted at 878-4744.

'Rhinoceros' To Open Gallery Players' Bill

Gallery Players of the Jewish Center announces that the Columbus premiere of "Rhinoceros" will be the first offering of its 1962-63 subscription season.

Tryouts for "Rhinoceros" will be held in the Green Room of the Jewish Center on Sept. 17 and 18, at 8 p.m.

Early in the spring, the Gallery Players will present a revival of "I Am a Camera," John Van Druten's well known play based on Christopher Isherwood's famous character, Sally Bowles, a girl living in Berlin prior to Hitler's rise.

In May, Columbus will see a Gallery Players production of the pennant winner of all musicals, "Dawn Yankees."

Also offered as part of the Gallery Players Subscription Season will be five outstanding International Film epics and two Actors Lab productions.

All films are followed by a "Koffee-Klotch Kritique." One of the Actors Lab productions will be "The Clown That Ran Away," a children's show with adult actors, to be presented during the winter holiday season.

Subscriptions, which may be obtained at the Jewish Center, are $5 for Jewish Center members, and $7.50 for non-members. Further information may be secured by calling BE. 1-2731, or from subscription chairmen, Mrs. David Roth (BE. 1-4730) or Mrs. Gary Kerstein (BE. 1-9360).

LIME LIGHTS

Tape Recorders Squeezing Record Company Business?

There's nothing more consorting than to remember hearing something which, at the time, seemed to come from a reliable source, and be unable to remember said source.

The problem becomes even more involved when checks with authorities in the field indicate that the story is false.

It was a couple of months ago that someone told me that either record companies or radio stations had devised a frequency at a pitch where it would be impossible to pick it up on home tape recorders.

Seems sort've logical, too, since I figured record companies were feeling the pinch in the pocketbook with folks doing their own recordings off the radio.

What was the reaction from greater Columbus area radio station engineers?

"Electronically impossible," replied Glenn Boundy, WTVN director of program operations at WTVN. This seems valid, too, in a day when we're about ready to believe that nothing is "impossible."

Record Companies Optimistic...

Boundy, who was speaking as an engineer, said he believes even firmer that the rumor was nothing more than that since "Cash", "Billboard" and "Variety" newspapers claim that the record business is booming. The publications go on further to state "More dealers are stocking more singles now than at any other time."

Clarence Schairbaum, engineer at WBNS radio, chimed in support of Boundy:

"A signal is put into 'free air' and I can't think of any way people with home tape recorders could be stopped from picking it up," Schairbaum said. "I don't put any stock into the theory."

These comments make it rather emphatic. Engineers say "it can't be done" but, then again, that's about the time someone sits down and does it.

Might not be a bad idea, either, if visitors to record stores become fewer and more far between.

Memoirs Of A Midnighter . . .

WTVN-TV personality Gene Fullen reports his record hops at Buckeye Lake every Saturday night are proving to be a popular stopping-off place for local teens. Season closes there Sept. 22. . . Interesting to note that Bel-Sha-Zaar, the first Egyptian dancer to open at Mike Joseph's Sands Club, 3915 E. Main-st, is back again following three or four of her predecessors. She must be the big favorite with the crowds. Incidentally, she told me not to confuse an Egyptian dancer with a belly dancer. "They use their bellies," she said. "We use our hips." "I'm hep," I said.

Downtown on the main stem, Benny Klein has been having good luck with pretty "twisters" and he's keeping pace. Currently appearing there are the Mambo-Cha Cha Dancers, having favorable results at the Broad and High Steak House. . . Columbus town has quited down somewhat with the folding of the local summer-stock tents and the stars slowly stealing away. Maybe theatrical houses — with the Cinema films, Dad — will feal an upsurge again now, until next summer anyway.

Just an all-too-brief mention of a wonderful performer, Mahalia Jackson, who'll appear Sunday, Sept. 30, 8 p.m. in Veterans Memorial on W. Broad-st. She's billed as the "World's Greatest Gospel Singer" and that ain't too far from wrong. Tickets on sale at Central Ticket Office, 46 N. High-st, and all Richman Bros. stores.

'Untie Me' Dave Hull's Big Pick

WVKO Radio's Dave Hull picks "Untie Me" by the Pams as the song to watch in upcoming [illegible] — promises that it'll be a big one.

This week, the top 10 tunes from the Fabulous 50 Tunedex at WVKO include:

1. "I Remember You" (Frank Infield); 2. "Monster Mash" (Bobby Pickett); 3. "Sherry" (Four Seasons); 4. "Patches" (Bickey Lee); 5. "Lookin' For A Love" (The Valentinos); 6. "Pulisher" (Bobby Vee); 7. "Hully Gully Baby" (The Dovells); 8. "Lie To Me" (Brook Benton); 9. "Boys' Night Out" (Patti Paige) and 10. "King of the Whole Wide World" (Elvis Presley).

The "GO" album of the week is "Jim, Tony and Bob — The Lettermen." The WVKO staff reports "When The Boys Get Together" by pretty Joanie Sommers is the "Go" Discovery Tune.

The Galloway United Presbyterian Church was struck by lightning during an early morning storm last week.

The lightning shorted out the wiring causing an estimated $500 fire.

Prairie Township firemen answered the alarm.

Church Plans Catechism, Study Groups

Catechism classes for children eight through 12 years will begin Wednesday, Sept. 19, 7 to 8 p.m., at Columbia Heights Methodist Church, Lincoln Village.

Classes will meet for six one-hour periods, four times during the year, for a total of 24 meetings. There will be a registration fee of $1 per child, or $2 per family.

Children may be registered by contacting Mrs. Myron Gifford, 66 Doherty-rd, TR. 8-4076.

The first of four meetings to study the book, "Who Cares?," by Janet T. Harrington and Muriel S. Webb, will be held at the church Oct. 3 at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Henry Warner and Mrs. Robert Trowbridge will present the discussion series. Those wishing to attend may contact Mrs. Gifford.

Firearms, from a single-shot .22 calibre rifle to heavy big game weapon to a fast-shooting automatic scattergun, are designed to kill birds and animals. They can also kill or wound humans.

Cincinnatian To Help Launch Great Books Groups Here

James Johnson of Cincinnati, area director for the Great Books Foundation will be in Columbus to launch the Great Books discussion program at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 26, at the Main Columbus Library, S. Grant-av.

This year marks the 15th anniversary of America's oldest and largest adult liberal education program totaling more than 45,000 participants. It offers an opportunity to all adults, regardless of formal schooling, to continue their education by reading the Great Books and then discussing with others the ideas and issues presented.

Beginning in mid-October, first year Great Books will be discussed at meetings held every two weeks in all areas of Columbus.

For more information or to register, call Mrs. Walker Lowman, HU. 8-8283.

BISHOP READY WINS

West, Central Lose City Loop Tuneups

By BOB LYNCH and KENNY ASH

After opening their season on a very successful note by defeating Whetstone, the West High Cowboys had the tables turned on them last Friday night by an inspired Watterson team which defeated them 48-0, before a Mothers' Night crowd at Magly Field.

An estimated 5,000 fans attending the game saw the Eagles dominate the entire affair, as their offense completely befuddled the Cowboys defense, and the Cowboys offense itself never got a full head of steam going. The first time West got the ball, Quarterback Rick Finke had his first pass of the evening picked off by Watterson co-captain Mike Watson, who returned it 54 yards for the score and the Eagles led 6-0.

JUST FOUR minutes later, the Eagles scored again, as halfback Keary Ryan, who along with John Schulthesis, was a thorn in the Cowboys' side all evening, scampered 40 yards to the West six, and one play later, scored from the four. Ryan's running mate, Schulthesis, then added the extra points, and it was 14-0.

In the second quarter, the Eagles took a Rich Neely punt on West's 47, and nine plays later, scored again with Schulthesis cracking 14 yards off right tackle for the T.D. As the half ended, the Eagles went to their lockerroom in possession of a 20-0 advantage over their hosts.

The halftime rest was not of much value to the Cowboys but it sure seemed to help the Eagles, as they took over possession of the ball on the West 47 again, and in three plays, aided by a 42-yard scoring jaunt by Schulthesis hiked their lead to 26-0. Ryan added the extra point, and with 7:34 left in the third period, Watterson led 28-0.

THE NEXT time they got the ball, following a West punt, the offensive demolition team started to work again, as Ryan carried 30 yards to the West 7 to set up the score, accomplished by Schulthesis three plays later. When the third quarter ended, the scoreboard showed Watterson with a 34-0 advantage.

The fourth period followed the pattern established in the previous periods, as Schulthesis added six more, and a pass from Weiner to Colonel tabulated the final six for the soaring Eagles.

For the Cowboys, it dropped their record to 1-1, while the Eagles' record reads 2-0.

CENTRAL PIRATES failed to score against their host, Newark, as the two teams battled it out with the Cats coming out on top 18-0.

The Pirates couldn't hold onto the ball and turned it over to the Wildcats on a fumble shortly after the kickoff. The Wildcats marched the ball 28 yards for the first score of the game, striking paydirt on Jim Gartner's run.

The Pirates fumbled the ball and Newark took over and again scored a touchdown on a 19-yard run with Gartner, scoring his second touchdown of the game. Newark kicked off to Central and Harold Winton, Pirate halfback, returned the ball 60 yards, but a clipping penalty brought the ball back 15 yards.

IN THE second quarter the Pirates' defense held the Wildcats on the one-yard line as Newark fumbled and Central recovered. The Pirates pushed hard down the field but time ran out and the first half ended, 12-0.

Both teams were held to a minimum yardage in the third period with neither team able to score in the quarter.

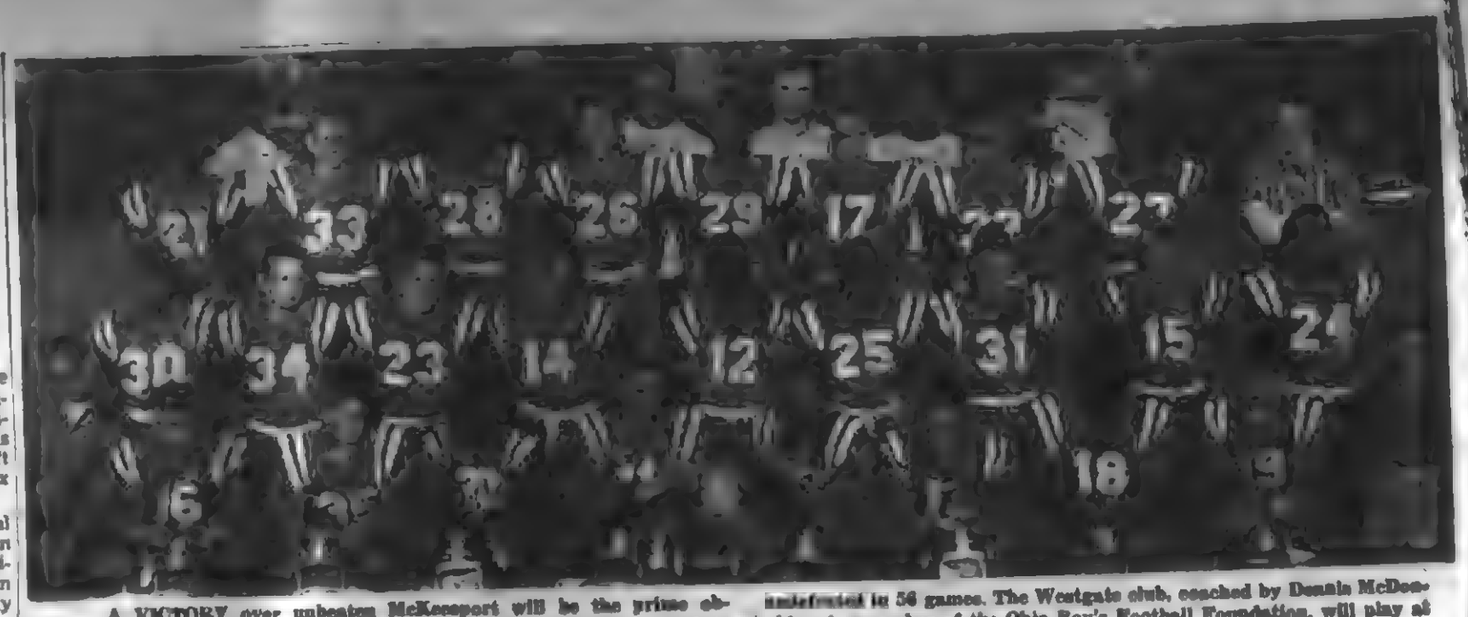
Harold Hunt took a 14-yard touchdown pass from Jim Tims to give the Wildcats their third touchdown in the final period. The Pirates failed to move the ball and Newark took over. The Wildcats drove into the one-yard line where the Pirates' defense held them until time ran out.

BISHOP READY scored in every period to gain its first win of the season with a 38-16 win over Pleasant View's Jayvee team.

The Silver Knights relied on their ground game, piling up 392 yards rushing. Sophomore backs Jay Kubin and Tony DiSantes were strongly instrumental in evening Ready's record at 1-1, dividing all the Silver Knight scoring between them.

Kubin proved a big threat on breakaway plays, scoring twice on runs of 57 and 48 yards before adding his third score with a five-yard jaunt. DiSantes' two tallies came on a 15-yard end run and a 55-yard burst off tackle.

A BLOCKED PUNT backfired on Franklin Heights to help Grove City gain a 13-8 win. Quarterback Gary Parrett gave the Greyhounds a 6-0 lead late in the first period when he picked up his own blocked punt and raced 64 yards for a touchdown.



The Falcons scored on Ken Thomas' short plunge in the second period to go ahead, 8-7, at halftime but Grove City marched with the opening kickoff in the third stanza, scoring the winning points when Tom Patton circled left end for eight yards and six points.

STEUBENVILLE Central Catholic scored 18 points in the second half to hand Aquinas its first loss of the season by a 26-12 score Saturday night.

The Terriers' Fortcamp crossed the goal line twice for the losers but it wasn't enough to offset the running of the host's Bob Hagerty, a 220-pound halfback, who set the CC pact with a pair of scores.

In other action involving City League teams Whitehall downed Eastmoor, 8-0; Arlington whipped South, 20-6; Middletown upended North, 36-6; Zanesville blanked East, 13-0; Marion-Franklin stopped Reynoldsburg, 12-6; Logan edged Whetstone, 8-6; Teays Valley slipped by Walnut Ridge, 8-6, and Linden battled Lancaster to a 14-14 tie.

Friday night's card finds Central (0-1-1) visiting West (1-1) in the area headliner. In other games, Aquinas (1-1) is at Whetstone (0-2) and Franklin Heights (1-1) hosts Grennon. University opens its '62 season, hosting DeSales at 3 p.m. Saturday.

A VICTORY over unbeaten McKeesport will be the prime objective for this Westgate Hawk football squad when they travel to Pennsylvania for their big game Saturday. The Hawks have compiled a 35-0 record from 1958 to 1961 while McKeesport's Little Tigers are undefeated in 56 games. The Westgate club, coached by Dennis McDonald and a member of the Ohio Boy's Football Foundation, will play at the Hempstead High School field at 7 p.m. (Columbus Time).

Western Clubs Nab 'Cat Tilts

Two touchdowns by Dennis Brady and a strong Bear defense provided the Westgate entry in the Ohio Bearcat League with all the necessary ingredients to defeat the Southside Blues, 14-0, Saturday night in the season's opener at Jet Stadium.

Brady showed the Columbus Capital football club, who followed the smaller gridders onto the field, some fancy footwork. He scored on a 25-yard end run and an eight-yard slant off tackle.

THE WESTSIDE Pirates displayed a balanced scoring attack to down the UAW Tigers, 28-0, Sunday at Harley Field. Bob Arnett scored twice on runs of 15 and 67 yards while Keith Edwards and Darnell Thomas also joined in the scoring, the latter on a 67-yard dash.

Fred Fillinger and Jim Fout teamed to lead the Westside Eagles to a 14-0 shutout victory over Maryland AC to complete the Bearcat Association's first week of play.

ND-Purdue Excursion Planned

The Notre Dame Alumni Association of Columbus has announced the opening ticket sale for their annual Notre Dame football excursion, Saturday, Oct. 6.

The railroad excursion is scheduled to leave Columbus Union Terminal at 6 a.m. and arrive at the Irish campus at 11 a.m., allowing three full hours for a tour of the campus.

FOLLOWING the 2 p.m. annual contest of arch rivals, Notre Dame vs. Purdue, the excursion will return to Columbus at 10 p.m. Cost of the entire trip is $25, which will include coffee, doughnuts, box supper, round trip rail transportation in reserved coaches, chartered bus to and from the game and a reserved seat at the game.

By popular demand there will be one car reserved for Notre Dame Alumni only, as well as one car for Purdue Alumni, at opposite ends of the train, naturally.

Reservations may be made by contacting Al Eichenlaub at 406 Oak-st, Columbus, or by calling CA. 4-5297. Interested persons are urged to make reservations early.

Ready Defeats Rangers, 24-6

Tony DiSantis scored two touchdowns on runs of 26 and 35 yards to lead Bishop Ready to its second win in less than a week with a 24-6 win over Hamilton Township's Reserve team Monday.

Quarterback Tom Weisenbach notched the other TD as the Silver Knights upped their season's record to 2-1. Ready plays West Jefferson's Reserves next Monday.

Touch Football For Sunshine

The Sunshine Recreation Center is in the process of setting up a boys' touch football program this fall.

Pre-teen boys eight through 12 years will play on Monday and Wednesday from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. The teen-age gridders (13-15) are scheduled for play on Thursday and Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Further details, such as team rosters, will be discussed at a later date with the boys themselves.

Al George will return to work with the West Side boys in their boxing program again this year. The weight-lifting program will also be reviewed and figures to attract many boys interested in adding an inch or two to the biceps.

SPORTS SLANTS

Hartley Sports Editor

Don't Stop Johnny On Injury Grounds

Football injuries are like hydrogen bombs. Everybody knows they exist but nobody likes to talk about them. Coaches dread them and the parents who send Johnny off to the gridiron wars each year consider his departure for the football field with apprehension.

Everytime a gridder is fatally injured somewhere in the nation (10 last year in high schools), newspapers run the story because it is news but in most cases the article is buried in the hopes that it won't reach the eyes of anxious parents.

SPORTS photographers are instructed to stay away from pictures that depict a player stretched out on the field with an injury of one type or another.

I'm not trying to say that the ugly side of the game should be given top billing. But injuries do occur and it's best to look at the problem realistically instead of pretending it doesn't exist.

With the advent of widespread organization along football lines, a great percentage of our nation's pre-college gridders today are members of either their elementary-high school team or some sponsored amateur organization.

THIS SETUP naturally is the most desirable since proper equipment and supervision are natural safeguards to prevent injury.

As a result of this organization, there are more boys than ever before playing competitive football. Considering the number of boys involved and the opportunities (each time contact is made) for minor and, on occasion, major injury, the injury figures are low.

Anyone who has ever seen a football game knows that, due to the necessity for constant contact, the sport is naturally rough. For this very reason proper physical conditioning is absolutely necessary in the prevention of injuries since it hardens the body and increases resistance to fatigue.

THE AMERICAN Medical Association recommends a minimum of three weeks of conditioning prior to the first game of the season. Of course, maximum protection against injury can be obtained by a year-round training program set up by the individual athlete. This plan might include daily exercises and a job that demanded physical effort.

There are many points to be considered by parents who wonder if they should let their son play football. Two are of prime importance. Does he really want to play and is he physically adequate?

The boy who plays without a real desire and love for the game and its contact is just asking for injury. Half-hearted blocking and tackling is a sure invitation to injury to say nothing of the psychological problems involved when he really doesn't want to play.

BEING HEALTHY does not necessarily mean being physically adequate. A boy who has a history of broken bones, a record of concussions or weak ligaments, for example, is not physically adequate, although he might be healthy.

A thorough physical examination is of prime importance for boys desiring to play football. Good medical care, such as the attendance of a doctor at all games, is a major factor in cutting down on serious injuries.

High school coaches today must be well versed in more than just ways and means to field a good football team and win games. He must check equipment to see that its adequate, safe and properly fits his players. On the field, he must keep an eye open for players who are tiring or no longer alert.

THERE IS a lot of criticism today about the "quick whistles" among game officials. However, the official that allows a play to continue after the forward progress of a player has been halted is placing gridders on the field in danger of direct injury. Today's officials must meet careful standards in order to qualify.

New and improved equipment has made football safer today than at any other time. The old style helmet, shoulder and hip pads have been supplemented with additional safeguards to protect almost every area of the body.

Face guards and mouthpieces have largely cut down on facial injuries and each year, sporting manufacturers work to find more ways to improve the safety of the helmet and cut down head injury.

ARM, ELBOW, hand and knee guards are accepted subordinate equipment today while ankle taping has become a regular practice for most teams.

Despite the progress of protective equipment, the American Medical Association has strongly advised the strengthening of neck and leg muscles, with a particular emphasis on the knees. In these areas, a large percentage of injuries occur.

However, despite the physical training programs, the close supervision and the protective equipment, football injuries continue to raise their ugly heads each fall.

STATISTICS do show, however, that your boys chances of suffering injury on the gridiron are far less than sports such as swimming, diving, hunting and even basketball. And how about the toll of young people taken on the highways each year — young people that might not have been behind the wheel for a joy ride if they were out on the practice field.

Football can be one of the most important steps to the social, physical and psychological development of our nation's youth. It's a rough, tough game but so is the game of life. It demands co-operation with others, discipline, sacrifice, perserverance and courage—all tools in attaining mental maturity.

But, perhaps most of all, it is a vital link in putting down the growing physical softness of America today. It is an important factor in tightening up the midsection of a nation that doesn't even have to cross the room to select a TV channel anymore.

Exhibition Game

The Sept. 8 game between the Westside Pirates and the Westgate Hawks was an exhibition game with neither punts, kickoffs or game officials. Since it was not an official game, the Hawks, who were beaten, 30-6, retain their 35-0 record.

Westgate Gridders Battle McKeesport

All arrangements for the Westgate Hawk's football game with the McKeesport (Pa.) Little Tigers Saturday evening have been completed, Hawk business manager Charles Carney announced yesterday.

The game will be played at the Hempstead Area High School on Route 71A, two miles west of Greensburg, Pa., starting at 8 p.m. (7 p.m., Columbus time) Saturday.

ADMISSION price for the game with McKeesport, who is undefeated in 56 games, is $1.00 for adults with children under 12 admitted free. Proceeds from the game will go to the high school band for their trip to the Orange Bowl, Jan. 1.

According to Carney, the best route to the game site is to follow U. S. Route 40 through Washington, Pa., pick up Route 70 and 71A to New Stanton at the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Follow straight through on Pa. 119 through Youngwood to Greensburg. Turn left at the interchange to Hempfield Area High School, two miles west.

The Booster Club has reserved the T-Jay Seymour and King Motels at the south edge of Youngwood, Pa., for its headquarters.

ELSEWHERE in Westgate Hawk happenings, Marvin Schmehl has been elected president of the Booster Club for the '62 season. Robert Miller is vice-president; Evelyn Reeves is secretary-treasurer, Charles Carney is business manager and Robert Colegrove is assistant business manager.

Mr. Miller has also been appointed chairman of the program ad sales. Ads are being sold for as little as $5 to all interested persons or businesses. Anyone interested in purchasing an ad should contact Miller at BR. 9-3030. A member of the Booster Club will call and pick up the ad.

Here is the '62 football schedule of the 110-pound Hawks and the 90-pound Falcons.

Hartley $1000 Football Contest To Start This Week

Area Football Fans Given Chance At Cash Jackpot

Don't read this story unless you are sure you could use a little extra spending money each week for little or no work on your part.

The gigantic Hartley Newspapers football contest will give every area football fan a crack at winning up to $100 each week for the next 10 weeks. The contest is open to everyone—there is nothing to buy—and contestants place themselves under no obligations.

In the advertisements on this page you will find 24 top games to be played on the weekend of Sept. 29. Included are games in professional, collegiate and local high school ranks.

Everybody knows the Columbus area has the world-wide reputation of being the hottest football section in the universe, so picking most of the 24 game winners should not be too tough. The real fun comes when you realize that amateur pigskin predictors have as much chance of winning as the "experts" do. There's enough upsets each week to make things mighty interesting.

Tie games will be disregarded unless entrans specifies same on the coupon blank.

Rules of the contest can be found elsewhere on this page. Read them carefully and don't forget to fill in all the blanks and the tie-breaker. Be doubly sure the coupon blank is sent to the Football Contest Editor of this paper, 2465 W. Broad st, Columbus 4, O., not later than Tuesday midnight the week of the contest.

Largest Crowd

The largest crowd ever to witness an Ohio State football game watched the Buckeyes defeat Michigan's Wolverines, 31-14 at Ann Arbor in 1957. The over-flowing stands held 101,001 football fans.

For bargains see the Hartley Newspapers' Want Ads.

'Fearless' Predictions

There is either going to be a terrific balance in area football teams or we better stop listening to those little voices whispering in our ears. Last week's slate of football picks were enough to send the crystal ball out the window with the forecaster right behind. With a new sense of humility, we'll give it another try, hoping to improve on a sad, sad 23-17-2 season's record. Here goes:

Aquinas-Whetstone — Terriers back in win column. Aquinas.

Central-West — Pirates in a tossup. Central.

Linden-Eastmoor — Panthers parade. Linden.

Walnut Ridge - Harlem-Franklin — Devils extend win streak. MF.

North-South—Bears bounce back. North.

Arlington-Bexley — Golden Bears growl. Arlington.

Grandview - Whitehall — Rams nab third win. Whitehall.

Gahanna-Grove City — A ride on the Greyhound. Grove City.

Groveport-Hilliard — Wildcats win Mid-Eight opener. Hilliard.

Hamilton Township - Amanda — Rangers roll on. Hamilton.

Academy - Carroll — Vikings open with win. Academy.

Rosary-Canal Winchester—Crusaders injured but . . . Rosary.

Circleville-Reynoldsburg — Roundtowners slip by. Circleville.

Jonathan Alder - Dublin — No four-leaf clovers. Alder.

East-Lancaster—Tigers derailed. Lancaster.

Greenon - Franklin Heights Falcons snap back. FH.

Teays Valley - Triad — Vikings record unspotted. Teays Valley.

Northwestern-West Jefferson—Ellinger and Co. West Jeff.

St. Charles-Mansfield Madison — Oh, that offense. St. Charles.

Pleasant View - Hartley — Hawks bow. Pleasant View.

DeSales-University — Little Bucks roll. University.

New Albany - Dennison St. Marys—No luck for Eagles. Dennison.

Bearcat Schedule

SEPT. 23—Southside Blues vs UAW Tigers (1:30), Westgate Bears vs Maryland AC (2:30) at Westgate Park. Westside Pirates vs Westside Eagles (3:30) at Starling Field.

SEPT. 30—Blues vs Pirates (1:30), Maryland vs Tigers (2:30) at Harley Field. Bears vs Eagles. (2:30) at Westgate.

OCT. 7 — Pirates vs Bears, 1:30, Tigers vs Eagles 2:30, at Southview Field, Blues vs Maryland (2:30) at Harley.

OCT. 15—Tigers vs Eagles (1:30), Maryland vs Pirates (2:30) at Starling. Eagles vs Blues (2:30) at Harley.

OCT. 21—Blues vs Pirates (1:30), Tigers vs Eagles (2:30) at Southview. Maryland vs Bears (1:00) at Harley.

OCT. 28—Tigers vs Blues (1:30), Eagles vs Bears (2:30) at Southview. Pirates vs Maryland (3:00) at Harley.

OBFF Opens Season Sunday

The Ohio Boys' Football Foundation will open its season play Sunday at 2 p.m. with 12 teams battling for league laurels this year.

American League matches find Arlington at Harley Davidson Comets, Obetz at Duckworth and LeCoumpte at Mifflin. In the National Division, Gahanna plays at Lockbourne and the West Mound Rams play at Meadow Gold.

Each fall several hundred hunters don't return alive and thousands of others return with a load of bird shot or a rifle bullet to be dug out. Behind almost every hunting accident is one cause: carelessness.

Murray Hill Manor, Mt. Carmel Affiliated

Affiliation of Mt. Carmel Hospital with Murray Hill Manor, a large non-sectarian nursing and convalescent home under construction at 890 Greenlawn-av, was announced jointly by Mt. Carmel Administrator Sister M. Lolita, CSC, and officials of Virginia Homes, Inc., builder of the 98-bed manor.

Manor Administrator Robert W. Stuart said the affiliation will enable both institutions to provide more efficient and economical continuity of patient care. Admission to the manor will not be restricted to Mt. Carmel patients. "The home was founded," he said, "to work in conjunction with all local hospitals in caring for the aged, the chronically ill and the convalescent."

Murray Hill Manor's records have been designed for easy integration with record systems of hospitals in the community. The manor's policies and operational procedures are being formulated in cooperation with the Columbus Hospital Federation and members of the Mt. Carmel administrative and medical staffs.

Dr. Galen H. Davis of 130 S. Davis-av, specialist in internal medicine, was recently appointed to serve as medical advisor of the manor, which will be staffed by registered nurses and other professional personnel.

The facility, for both men and women, is scheduled to open in December.

76 TROMBONES—Joe Gratonic, manager of Coyle's Music Center, 2402 W. Broad-st, is shown surrounded by a wide assortment of band instruments presently being featured in the firm's school band program. The store, which has been on the Hilltop for seven years, is open from 4 to 9 p.m. Thursdays, 4 to 8 p.m. Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

Folk Dancing Class Planned

The Columbus Folk Dancers will give a 10-week introductory course featuring some of the European folk dances which are the most popular in the United States.

Sessions will be held weekly, beginning 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25, at Linden Recreation Center, 1254 Briarwood.

Cost per person will be $4 for the entire course or 50 cents per session.

Further information may be had by calling Marge Schwab, 1505 Miller-av, HI. 3-1922; Pat Newman, 49 S. Huron-av, BR. 4-4616, or Margaret Artmour, 90 S. Ogden-av, BR. 4-1332.

AF Reassigns Stelz

Airman Third Class Richard R. Stelz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Stelz of 465 S. Harris-av, has been reassigned to Pease AFB, N. H., following his graduation from the Air Force technical training course for aircraft propeller repairmen at Sheppard AFB, Tex. He is married to the former Judith M. Clay of 714 Eureka-av.

Music Firm Offers Wide Band Variety

Coyle Music Center, 2402 W. Broad-st, has announced it is well-stocked with band instruments for students wishing to participate in school band activity.

Joe Gratonic, manager, said this year's school band campaign emphasizes trumpets, cornets, trombones, clarinets, saxophones, flutes and drums.

Coyle's trial-purchase plan lends itself well to acquainting fifth, sixth and seventh graders with satisfaction found in playing musical instruments.

Under the plan, which Gratonic called the "try before you buy plan," students may use the instrument for a two-month period from $7.50 up. The firm offers private lessons in the evenings and on Saturdays at a reduced rate during the trial period. It also carries a complete line of sheet music and instrument accessories.

NOMA Slates Fall Meeting

The Columbus Chapter of the National Office Management Association will hold its first fall dinner meeting at the Fort Hayes Hotel, Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 6 p.m. In addition to the regular business meeting, the group will hear the nationally known management consultant, Fred A. Palmer, Columbus, whose topic will be "Put Your Best Foot Forward." Earl Wright, president of the Columbus chapter will conduct the proceedings.

Dance Class Set At Hardy Studio

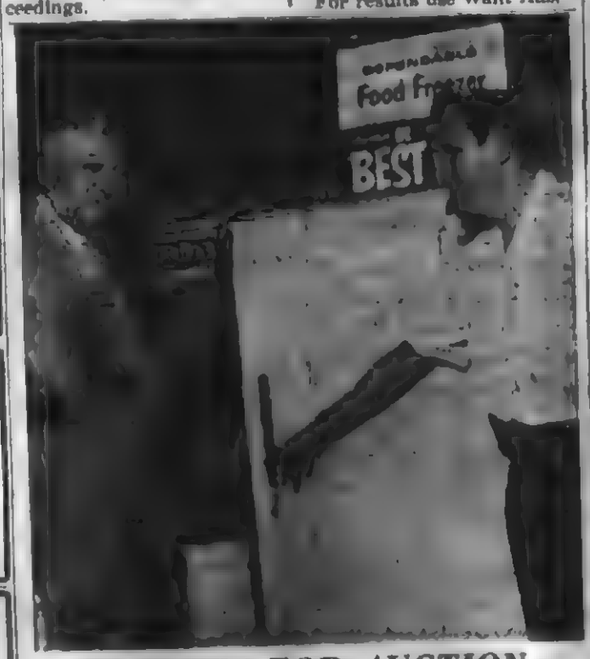
Jacquie Hardy Studio of Dance announces a beginning ballroom dance class for sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls and boys, to be offered at the Hilltop Studio, 709 S. Ogden-av, Wednesdays at 8:15 p.m., beginning Sept. 19.

The group will be taught personally by Jacquie Hardy Wright and will consist of 10 weeks of instruction in the basic ballroom dances, including cha cha, swing and slow dance for teens.

Interested persons may call the downtown studio for further information or registration.

William Botkin Joins Provident

William Howard Botkin, 66 S. Terrace-av, has joined the staff of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, Richard L. Wohlman, Columbus agency manager, announced.



Botkin is a recent graduate of OSU. He will marry Miss Jill Zeisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Zeisler, 5246 Riverside-dr, Oct. 5.

Prior to his association with Provident, he was manager of Hobby City Inc. Botkin is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

Euchre Party Planned

The Great Council committee, Degree of Pocahontas, will sponsor a progressive euchre game at City National Bank, 3100 W. Broad-st, Monday, Sept. 24, at 7:45 p.m. The public is invited.

Homemaker Contest Now In High Gear

"There she goes, walking on air she goes . . ." Chances are Bert Parks won't be on hand to sing these famous lyrics, but when the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year is selected in Chicago in November, she might well be from our area. And it's for sure the lucky winner will be walking on air — because she will be toting a check for $5000.

Because we believe the suburban homemaker is truly an important pillar in the American way of life, Hartley Newspapers, in cooperation with local civic groups, women's clubs, service organizations, and other groups in the area, is sponsoring a community-wide search for a local homemaker of the year.

Today's homemaker is wife, mother, interior decorator, cook, family purchasing agent, housekeeper, confidante, chauffeur, dressmaker, club and church woman, civic leader or worker, and even practical nurse.

All kinds of awards have been bestowed on today's career women, professional women and women executives. But what about the woman whose career it is to make a home for the man she loves and the subsequent responsibilities it entails.

We are all apt to hear a little too much today about the apologetic shrug which accompanies a "Well, I'm just a housewife." In all honesty the lady might say, "I'm Stella Dallas, Mary Queen of Scots, Little Red Riding Hood, and even occasionally Florence Nightengale. I'm enough of a professional to serve my family in so many ways, I'm not sure who I am.

The time has come to recognize the inherent human qualities of the suburban homemaker. Besides the honor of being named area winner of our local contest, the deserving lady will be entered in national competition.

Most homemakers are too modest to submit their own names, but each of us know many area women who deserve a chance at the final award of $5000, a trip to Chicago, and a trophy.

Deadline for entries is Oct. 20, so drop us a letter at once of not more than 500 words telling us of your choice. Use the officials judging standards below as a yardstick in preparing your letter. Don't forget to send along the official entry blank.

OFFICIAL JUDGING STANDARDS

Questions to be Answered:

1. In what ways has she revealed her spiritual and moral strength in modern day living—for her home, for her church, for her community, and for the world in which she lives?
2. In what ways has she helped in developing and maintaining the total health and fitness (mental, emotional, physical and spiritual) of her family?
3. How well does she demonstrate her personal health and fitness through her attitudes, habits, appearance and physical well-being?
4. To what extent has she participated in civic and community affairs—local, state, national and international? Please be specific.
5. How well does she exemplify her ability in the management of the family resources of time and income in relation to family needs and goals?
6. To what extent has she demonstrated her skills in:
   a. preparing meals
   b. clothing the family
   c. appearance of home
   d. housekeeping
7. How does she create an atmosphere of love, respect and affection for effective family living?
8. How else has she demonstrated her [illegible] as a successful homemaker?

JERRY JOHNSTON — Sept. 26, Oct. 17, Nov. 7, Nov. 28 and Dec. 9.
HOWARD MAUGEE — Oct. 3 and Nov. 21.
BOB MOTZER — Oct. 24.
JOE WEISBURG — Dec. 5.

Eagles Schedule Turkey Dinner

The Ritual and Drill Team of Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is sponsoring a roast turkey dinner at the Aerie Home, 771 N. High-st, Saturday, Sept. 22, from 5 to 8 p.m.

There will be dancing starting at 8:45. Donations will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12.

All members, their families and friends are invited.

McDonald's To Celebrate Second Year

The man who has served a whopping total of 4,800,000 hamburgers to families in Columbus is getting ready to celebrate his second anniversary of his McDonald's hamburger restaurant at 3643 S High-st, Great Southern Shopping Center.

Tony Felker will mark his second anniversary at that location on Sept. 28. He also operates McDonald's restaurants in Columbus at 45 W. Hamilton-rd, 2815 Winchester-pk in the Berwick Shopping Center, and 3500 E. Broad-st.

The local McDonald's is part of the big national chain which now numbers 370 units in 40 states. Nationally, McDonald's has sold more than 600 million hamburgers since the chain operation began in 1955.

"The overwhelming acceptance which families in Columbus have accorded McDonald's has been gratifying, and I would like to take the occasion of this anniversary to say thanks to them for helping us become a part of the community," Felker said.

Bell Changes Billing Dates

The Ohio Bell Telephone Company has announced a change which will affect the billing dates of most customers is being made in the company's Columbus District, which includes all of Franklin County, West Jefferson, London and Sedalia.

Ohio Bell is changing from six to 20 billing dates each month to spread the billing schedule more evenly over the month. Modern computer equipment has been installed in Ohio Bell accounting centers to help effect the change.

In order to cope with the complexities of billing, approximately 220,000 customers in the Columbus District, Ohio Bell has had to devise a smoother, more continuous workload schedule for its billing department.

J. P. Gibbs, Ohio Bell district commercial manager, said that a steady influx of new telephone subscribers, plus an increasing volume of long distance calls here, has made the change necessary.

The billing date change will begin with bills that some customers will receive the first week of October. And all customers will get their new bills before Oct. 31.

The fall hunting season is here again and millions of Americans of all ages and both sexes are taking to the woods and fields, gun in hand, bent on bringing back a loaded game bag.

Trudeau Ball To Kick Off Fall Season

Shorter days and chilly nights signal the return of the football season to thousands of central Ohioans who claim it as their favorite sport. For many, the pre-game and post-game social activities are part of the season's fun.

One such traditional autumn event is the kick-off ball, sponsored by the Trudeau Guilds and held on the eve of the first Ohio State "kickoff" game.

This year's ball will be held Friday, Sept. 28, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., at the Athletic Club, 136 E. Broad-st.

Ziggy Coyle's orchestra will supply the dance music.

Tickets may be purchased from any Trudeau member or at the door.

Chairman of the ball is Mrs. John Kessler, 1203 Ellsworth-av. Committee chairmen are: dance tickets, Mrs. Lawrence Rumsey, 2868 E. Moreland-dr, and hostesses, Mrs. Walter Miller, 1399 Lilley-av; Mrs. Charles West, 209 Beacon Hill-ct; Miss Alice Fox, 135 S. Garfield-av. Patron letters, Mrs. Don Miller, 4001 Hoover-rd, Grove City. Publicity, Miss Marilyn Amherst, 1372 Meadow-rd, and Mrs. Paul Lenox, 1411 S. Sixth-st.

The public is invited. All proceeds are used for the benefit of patients of Benjamin Franklin Hospital.

Sewing Club Has Style Show At Sullivant

The sewing club at Sullivant Gardens started off the season Sept. 12 with a style show and display of their work of last season. The club meets every Wednesday evening at the Coolidge Drive Center, 871 Coolidge-dr.

Modeling the suits, dresses and playclothes were Donna Jean Smith, Sandra Smith, Janie Smith, Mrs. Alma Smith, Annette Havener, Mrs. Sam Landrum, Christine and Doris Landrum and Mrs. Vivian Holmes.

Mrs. Alma Smith displayed her double wedding ring quilt and a crocheted poodle. Miss Eleanor Arthur displayed Christmas crafts and Mrs. Juanita Sims, center director, displayed some articles and talked over forthcoming plans with the group.

YOU HAVE A...
SERIOUS HEART CONDITION!

This warning by a doctor has made many stop and think seriously about the remaining years. When the doctor places you on a diet, or regulates your exercise, it is wise to obey.
Even more serious is the matter of making our hearts right with the Lord, for this deals with an eternity...
..."Man Looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."
Regular worship is God's prescription... Attend Church Sunday.

THE CHURCH IS DIVINE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man also of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or code of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Sunshine Recreation Center

One of the highlights of the recreation program at Sunshine this fall will be the boys' touch football program. Pre-teen boys, 8 through 12 years of age, will play Monday and Wednesday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. The teen boys, ages 13, 14 and 15, will play Thursday and Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

A familiar face to Near West Side boys will be back again this year. Al George will again conduct the boxing program. The weight-lifting program will again attract many who are interested in this varied type of activity.

This fall Sunshine is going to conduct a class in woodworking for pre-teen boys and girls. Arrangements have been made for a varied program so that many projects may be accomplished in the wood shop.

The Dramatics Club is still open for all who want to join; we'd like to see you on Wednesday evening at 7:30 to try some pantomiming and reading some scripts just for fun. We'll also begin talking about what kind of production we'd like to do, and want to hear your ideas, so please come.

We'd also like some prppeteers to visit the art room from 3:30 to 5:20 in the afternoons. So far we have a fox, rat, frog, and snake, and a lot of paper sack puppets, but can always use more.

Everyone who wishes to attend the teen dances must have a Sunshine registration card! Please come in any time from Monday through Wednesday to get this done before the Thursday and Friday night dances.

Ends Active Training

John L. Hank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armor H. Hank of 406 Danhurst-rd, completed two weeks of Naval Reserve active duty training Sept. 1, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

GARNERS GOURDS FROM TREE

JACK JENNY, 10, is aided by his mother, Mrs. George Jenny, as he picks gourds from a vine high in a mulberry tree in the rear of their home at 155 S. Roys. So far, Jack has harvested more than a bushel of ornamental gourds from the vine which twined 15 feet high in the tree branches.

Need Year To Study SCD Plan

Property appraisal of 1,400 parcels of land which is to be benefited in the Scioto Conservancy District's 11 project, $79.6 million flood control and water supply plan will begin in December or January providing the proposal is approved by the Conservancy Court.

Conservancy Chief Engineer Harry T. Turner said Friday that it would take around a year to determine whether benefits to be received will exceed the cost of the plan.

Prepared by Burgess and Niple, the plan will probably be approved or rejected by the court in late November or early December.

Cost of the appraisal is being financed by a $950,000 loan to the SCD from the City of Columbus. City Council previously approved the loan through the Treasury and Investment Board.

The money was part of the City's Capital Improvement project fund.

Under state law, the district can borrow to a percentage of the tax duplicate of the five counties in the SCD area which include Franklin, Pickaway, Pike, Ross and Scioto. Conservancy officials previously asked for a loan of $1.3 million to start preliminary plans. However, this has been held up in City Council.

A public hearing in City Hall council chambers has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 23. The hearing is required before the Conservancy Court can approve the plan. If there are objections, then another hearing would be required.

If the project and appraisal is approved then the Scioto Conservancy District can issue notes or bonds to finance the project.

Area Ex-Ray Results Revealed

One suspected questionably active case of tuberculosis was reported from free Christmas Seal Chest X-Rays taken in the Sullivant Gardens area Sept. 4, the Tuberculosis Society reported.

Other suspected finding include: one tumor, and three other chest abnormalities.

This year's X-ray survey at the gardens revealed over four per cent of those X-rayed to have suspected tuberculosis or other respiratory disease.

Fall Program Is Underway At Gladden House

Fall program clubs and activities are now in full swing at Gladden Community House. Most of the more than 1200 members are expected to be actively participating in program activities by October, according to Al Wilder, executive director.

Any family desiring to register in the program may contact Barbara Coe, program supervisor at the agency. Gladden Community House, a United Appeal agency, served individuals in group activities from 6 to 87 years during the past year. The program is geared to provide interest for all members of the family. Adults should enroll immediately to begin fall classes.

Camp Fire Girls

Nancy Truslove
ES. 6-7214

West Leader's Association held its first meeting Sept. 11 at the Hilltop YMCA. The new field director, Mrs. Diana Haist, was introduced. Mrs. Betty Ehman explained some of the services the girls could perform for the State School and Children's Hospital.

It was announced that Nov. 9 is the opening date of the annual candy sale. Day camp chairman, Mrs. Jerri Fine, expressed her appreciation to all the leaders for their help in making day camp a success this year.

All phases of Camp Fire Day at Great Western were explained thoroughly by Mrs. Jeanne Sutherland, planning committee chairman.

The publicity committee met at the home of Mrs. Thelma Sorg, chairman, on Sept. 12. Those attending were Mrs. Diana Haist, Mrs. Alice Hussey, Mrs. JoAnn White, Mrs. Jeanne Sutherland and Mrs. Nancy Truslove. Plans were made for the promotion of Camp Fire Day at Great Western and the annual candy sale.

Leaders Mrs. Mildred Cunningns, Mrs. Paul Calkins, Mrs. Jane Voelker and Mrs. Rea Bender had 35 girls from their groups passing the Trailseekers Rank Sept. 8. Nine girls under the leadership of Mrs. Jo Miller passed Woodgathers Rank Sept. 15.

There were 13 groups participating in the fly-up ceremony at Westinghouse Sept. 9. These girls were the first Bluebirds to fly up at the fourth grade level, under the new Camp Fire program.

Another phase of Camp Fire is the Jr. Hi program. There was a reception held at Westgate Shelter House Sept. 13 at which time 90 girls were received into the Jr. Hi. Mrs. Doris Popp explained the new program to the girls and the Horizon Club girls presented each Jr. Hi girl with her tie.

Slate Convention

Ohio Public Employes Council 8, AFSCME, AFL-CIO, will hold its annual convention Sept. 22 and 23 at 9 a.m. at the Fort Hayes Hotel.

Delegates from Ohio State University Employes, Local 580 will be V. E. Snodgrass, William Nelson and E. D. Pettway. Alternate delegates are John Hunter and Mrs. Juanita Ellis.

Police Tighten Area Regulations

Police chief George Scholer has announced there will be increased enforcement on speed and changing course violations on Mound and Broad-sts during the early evening hours.

He also branded the Sandusky and Spring-st intersection as a high accident intersection. The corner had five accidents during the period from Sept. 1 through Sept. 15.

FREE FRANKLIN COUNTY FROM POLIO

Take Your First Dose Of Sabin Vaccine This Sunday

Sunday is the day.

The all-out drive to free the community from polio will begin this Sunday, Sept. 30, at 318 Sabin stations located all over Franklin County. A Sabin station will be within walking distance of nearly everyone.

The stations will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Every resident of the county who is above two months in age should visit one of the stations and receive the first dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine.

The donation will be 25 cents per person. But those who can't afford it won't need to donate. They will get their vaccine anyway.

The program will continue on two later Sundays—Nov. 4 and Jan. 6. The same Sabin stations will be open on those days, also from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As the beginning of the mass immunization neared, several important facts were emphasized by Dr. Richard L. Fulton, president of the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County and head of the community Sabin on Sunday program. Dr. Fulton pointed out that:

• Type I Sabin oral vaccine will be given Sept. 30. This vaccine immunizes against the Type I polio virus. Type I vaccine is perfectly safe and harmless and completely effective. It should be taken by ALL persons above two months old.

• Type II Sabin oral vaccine will be given Nov. 4. This vaccine immunizes against the Type II polio virus. Type II vaccine also is perfectly safe and harmless and completely effective. It too should be taken by ALL persons above two months old.

• Type III Sabin oral vaccine will be given Jan. 6. This vaccine provides immunity against the Type III polio virus. In deciding whether or not Type III vaccine is given to everyone over two months old — or only to pre-school and school age children — the Sabin on Sunday doctors will follow the latest recommendations of the United States Public Health Service.

The Public Health Service has temporarily recommended that Type III vaccine be given only to pre-school and school age children and not to adults.

"However," Dr. Fulton said, "we are fully confident that Type III vaccine will soon be completely cleared for all persons. But to prevent any confusion, we have postponed the date for giving Type III vaccine until Jan. 6. This conforms with what other communities all over the country are doing.

"It's important to stress that the Public Health Service's recommendations for Type III vaccine do not in any way apply to Types I and II vaccine," Dr. Fulton said. "It's vitally necessary that everyone over two months old get Types I and II vaccine."

Dr. Fulton emphasized that even those who have had Salk shots should take the Sabin vaccine. The reason, he said, is that Sabin vaccine prevents the individual from being a polio carrier, while Salk shots do not. So Sabin should be taken even by older persons who normally wouldn't get polio but can still be a carrier.

It's anticipated that there'll be little or no waiting at the Sabin Stations. Two drops of the odorless and tasteless vaccine will be put in a disposable paper cup containing a small amount of distilled water. The recipient will just drink it down. In the case of babies, two drops of the vaccine will be placed directly on the tongue.

The Sabin Stations will be conveniently located and well marked. The program will be coordinated through the combined efforts of some 10,000 volunteers — doctors, nurses, pharmacists and others. Dr. Fulton said that the Type I vaccine — one million doses of it — has already arrived in Columbus and that all arrangements have been made for a successful kickoff to the program.

Annexation—'A Growing' Problem

NOW 16 will be the day of reckoning for the latest annexation attempt in Franklin Township. If annexed, the 946-acre tract (cross-hatched area, lower right) will give Columbus' present land area in a radical new shape to southwestern Columbus. The city block on the map, consisting of 237 acres, Columbus' present land area is located in the area. Further west can be seen the city's Big Run sewer (under construction) and Clime Road Park, now workhouse, sewage disposal plant and a new sewer are lo-

Newest Expansion Bid May Bring On Fight

Is there a scheme or plan to Columbus annexations in Franklin Township, which includes the South Western City School District?

Columbus City Director Ernest H. Stork says no.

South Western City School District superintendent Paul C. Hayes says "it certainly looks like there is!"

The question was brought about by the latest bid to enlarge the city of Columbus: a petition filed Sept. 14 to annex 946 acres in Franklin Township.

Columbus is owner of approximately 239 acres in the petitioned area which includes the Men's Workhouse, the Women's Workhouse (now under construction) and the sewage plant on Jackson-pk.

Petition Signers

Resident freeholders who signed the petition to the county commissioners were: Henry L. and Rose V. Dixon, 1960 Brown-rd; G. L. Crawford, 1986 Brown-rd; John Moore, 1992 Brown-rd; Esther S. Spencer, 1990 Brown-rd.

Glen R. Wood, 1962 ½ Brown-rd; Elza Kesserling, 2050 Brown-rd; Gerald Fryer, 1031 Frank-rd; Charles Feyh, 999 Frank-rd; Charles Feyh, Jr., also 999 Frank-rd; Martha Neer, 1369 Frank-rd; Malcolm Jeffries, 1009 Frank-rd, and George E. Rush, 1970 Brown-rd.

Stork said "we aren't trying to force annexation and we don't have a plan to take any certain territory."

He also said that the city was more interested in annexing "islands" of un-annexed land within the city rather than taking in more land outside the city limits.

Hayes, however, said that Columbus has, in its annexations, left "islands" of undesirable and relatively worthless (tax-wise) areas in the lap of S-W.

Developers for Annexing

Hayes admitted that Columbus didn't force annexation.

"Developers and construction companies do," he said.

Developers, realtors, builders and money have actually forced the annexation of many tracts in Franklin Township, and all over the greater Columbus area.

Developers have Columbus booming and the fuel needed to keep the "boom" alive is water.

Stork admitted that developers are so "thirsty" for Columbus water that they build their own streets, and lay their own water and sewer lines to speed up the process of servicing their product.

This is the "force" of annexation. Columbus could uphold the service rights of a development until annexation red tape had been wad through and city crews could get the job making streets and laying lines completed.

Hayes also said that there

All Quiet As Plant Reopens

All's quiet on the western front as some 3,900 striking employes at the Westinghouse plant on W. Broad-st returned to work Monday following nearly a week of discussion by company and union officials, and some turbulence in the picket lines.

Around 1,700 employes attended a meeting Sunday and voted to accept the company's proposal and return to their jobs.

The Westinghouse offer stipulates that the union will take a "wait and see" attitude about jobs being shifted from incentive to day-work rates; the company will pay for training and the union for the lost time of 10 employes who will receive time-study training; grievance procedures will start for three workers fired by the company for alleged strike violence.

Regarding "incentive and day-work rates, the union is to hold action until the results of a pending case involving the Mansfield plant is handed down.

During the five-day walkout after a two-day "wildcat" strike, company and union officials were kept busy trying to quell violence leveled by pickets at the plant.

A Hilltop man's home was damaged along with his station wagon during the strike last week.

However, Columbus Police discounted the fact that three men who threw pieces of metal through the window of the William Ream home at 167 S. Terrace-av, had anything to do with the Westinghouse strike and blamed this violence on vandals.

It was earlier believed by police that Ream was mistaken for a neighbor, Robert Moore, 171 S. Terrace, a non-union truck driver who left the plant during the strike with a truckload of merchandise.

Two Area Residents Will Judge National Homemaker Contest

The Suburban Press Foundation, Inc., sponsor of the 1962 national search for the suburban homemaker of the year, has announced that two area persons have been named as judges for the nation-wide event.

Judge Clayton Rose, president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, has been named to one of the five positions. A graduate of Ohio State University College of Law, he has had an extensive career as an Ohio lawyer.

See Suburban Homemaker Contest Story on Inside Page

From 1927 to 1936 Judge Rose served as public defender of Columbus, and as a judge of the court of domestic relations and juvenile court of Franklin County from 1936 until the present time.

He believes, "The problems and responsibilities of a homemaker are many in that we all know the strength of our family life is the cornerstone and foundation of our entire social structure. The homemakers' duties call for training as an economist, psychologist, sociologist, and above all, a community peacemaker."

The second local personality named to the national panel of judges is Mrs. Marie Pfeiffer of Columbus who has become something of an authority on the problems of young married couples in today's complex society.

During research for her doctoral thesis, Mrs. Pfeiffer interviewed young undergraduate married students and compiled data in a variety of areas. Questions in her survey covered childhood environment, social adjustment before marriage, marital adjustments, the special problems of the married student.

As a teacher, at both college and secondary levels, as

West Side Kiwanis Club Elects Weber

George F. Weber

West Side Kiwanians have elected George F. Weber as their eighth president. He will take office in early January, succeeding Ted Klentz, 493 Garden-rd.

The new president is owner and operator of Weber's Snack Bar, 780 W. Town-st, and resides at 1378 W. Sixth-av.

Other new officers are: Fred Van Order, president elect;; Leonard Maitland, first vice-president; Don McCann, second vice-president; Homer Johnson, treasurer. Ralph Burrell is the appointed secretary.

Directors are Gene Shade (three years). Dr. Walter Barcroft, Joe Davis, Jack Williams, Austin Hutt, and returning members Walter Cunningham and Frank Watts.

Policy Makers Meet Thursday

Dave Caperton, president of the Franklin Township Citizens Association said that an executive committee meeting of the Association will be held in the Franklin Township Firehouse Thursday, Sept. 27 at 8 p.m.

The committee will discuss the implications of the application filed with the county commissioners Sept. 14 to annex 946 acres of Franklin Township to the city of Columbus.

Caperton said that means of opposing the annexation will be sought by the committee and a general meeting of the Association will be scheduled, probably for Oct. 11.

Report Rebuked By Attorney

An attorney handling complaints from Valleyview Heights residents said Wednesday morning that "there is a contamination problem at the ditch." He added that there was also an existing rat problem and "I can get a hundred sworn statements and pictures to prove it."

Perry said that the official from the City Health Department who inspected the area reportedly "didn't even bother to get out of the car." (See earlier story inside.)

The attorney said that at least one resident will attend service committee meetings until something is done.

Motel, Road, Subdivision Are Studied

On the agenda of Columbus Planning Commission, Wednesday, was a petition to build an "apartment-type motel" of about 40 units on the north side of Sullivant-av, between Josephine-av and Darer-rd.

Plans for the project, to be called Sullivant Lodge, were to be presented by Burk Showe of Showe Realty.

The extension of Wilson-rd, also in that vicinity, was to be given a formal review by the commission, Wednesday.

Also up for consideration is a new subdivision of 18 homes, called Ponderosa, which is proposed on the north side of Fisher-rd, half way between Wilson-rd and Hague-av. Robert South and Clyde Nixon are the petitioners. The city has review powers on subdivisions planned within three miles of its boundary, a planning official said.

OUR ERROR

Last week we failed to give proper credit for the flowers provided for our Hartley Newspapers Golden Wedding Club Party. A very fine job of preparing these flowers was done by John Hensel at Rosebud Floral, 351 N. Burgess-av.

Westgate Hawks Eye World Crown

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Move over Jack Nicklaus and Woody Hayes, the Westgate Hawks earned their share of the Central Ohio sports limelight!

The Hilltop Ohio Boys Football Foundation team accomplished two big objectives Saturday night when it traveled to McKeesport, Pa., to play that city's topnotch little league entry.

The Hawks not only snapped an amazing 57-game Little Tiger winning skein with a 19-1 victory but pushed themselves into the national spotlight and a bid for the World Series of Little League football—the annual Milk Bowl at Pharr, Texas, in November.

HAWK COACH Dennis McDonald, understandably elated by his team's victory, announced Monday that the Hawks had received an invitation to return to McKeesport later this season to compete in the Eastern Division playoff game. Should the Hawks win that game, the eyes of Texas will literally be upon them.

McDonald and his 34-player squad left Columbus, Friday morning at 11 p.m., arriving in Greensburg, Pa., six hours later. The squad was greeted by the chairman of the Bando Booster Club, in whose benefit the game was played to raise money to pay for new uniforms when the Hempstead High School band travels to the Orange Bowl, Jan. 1.

The Hawk players attended the Hempstead High School football game Friday evening before returning to the high school. At the high school the team was paired off and spent the night as guests of Booster Club 'Foster Parents.'

After breakfast Saturday morning, the booster parents returned their guests to the high school and the Hawks set out on a five-hour sightseeing trip through the Laurel Highlands, a scenic resort spot in the area. The boys also took a ski lift ride at Seven Springs before lunching and returning to the high school at 3 p.m.

BY THIS time the rest of the coaching staff had arrived along with the boys' parents so the players returned to their motel rooms to rest up for the evening's game. Some 35 to 45 rooms had been reserved to accommodate the Westgate party.

After a light dinner, the

Doll Clinic At Goodwill For Trefoil Girl Scouts

"How to Sew for Dolls," will be the theme of a doll-dressing clinic at Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd, Saturday, Sept. 29, 9:30 to 11 a.m.

The clinic is for Girl Scouts of the Ohio Trefoil Council who will dress dolls for Goodwill's Third Annual Dolly Derby this fall.

Speaker for the clinic will be a former fashion consultant and home economics teacher, Mrs. John E. Palcich, 274 Charleston.

Mrs. William M. Deems, 182 Nottingham, volunteer chairman of the Dolly Derby, will also give tips on the doll sewing competition.

Dolls are donated to Goodwill Industries and are cleaned, repaired and packaged in clear plastic bags by Goodwill handicapped employees.

At the clinic each Girl Scout chooses a doll she wants to dress. She will design a costume for her doll, and using new fabric not to exceed $1 in cost, sew the outfit, dress the doll, and return it to Goodwill Industries prior to the date set for judging the entries.

Girl Scouts unable to attend the clinic may select their dolls at the Goodwill Industries Gift and Antique Shop, 909 W. Fifth-av, Monday through Saturday, 9 to 5:30, from Oct. 1 to Oct. 20. All dolls are to be returned to the same address before Nov. 10.

Open Bids Tuesday For Outerbelt

The highway department has divided construction of the new Columbus Outerbelt Expressway from Rt. 23 at the Hartman Farm west to I-71 on an alignment opposite Urbancrest into two parts:

Construction of the first section, a part of the connecting link between Rt. 23 south of the city and I-71, was opened for bids Tuesday by the Ohio Department of Highways.

Bidding was on a 1.5 mile, four lane limited access highway from the Scioto River west to I-71 with an interchange. Construction is to be completed in November of 1964.

Bids for the second project, which picks up the expressway at the west bank of the Scioto River and extends eastward to an interchange at Rt. 23, will be opened in October or next February.

Other bids opened Tuesday were for resurfacing of .62 mile of Main-st in Hilliard between Avery-rd and Scioto-Darby Creek-rd.

Also, resurfacing of 2.16 miles of County Rd. 36 in Canaan and Darby Townships, Madison County. The project starts 700 feet east of the intersection of the Plain City-Georgesville-pk.

Sunday Sabin Sip Is Beginning Of End Of Polio

An opportunity. An obligation.

That is the situation that will face all residents of Franklin County on three Sundays this fall and winter — Sept. 30, Nov. 4, and Jan. 6.

The occasion will be the Sabin on Sunday campaign in our community. Through the achievement of a dedicated Ohioan, Dr. Albert B. Sabin of Cincinnati, we will be able — once and for all — to stamp out polio.

Perhaps you aren't familiar with Dr. Sabin's story. It is one that needs telling. A Lithuanian immigrant, he began to work back in 1936 on a live vaccine that would immunize against polio. He found a way to grow polio virus in a test tube, and eventually developed three highly weakened strains — one that would combat each of the three types of the disease.

In 1955, Dr. Sabin started giving the oral vaccine to the first humans — volunteers from a penal institution. That same year, another dedicated American doctor, Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh, announced that he had developed a killed-virus that would be injected into the bloodstream through [illegible].

Then, as now, Dr. Sabin viewed the Salk shots as a step forward," but not the final answer. Convinced that his job "wasn't finished," he continued to work on his live-virus vaccine.

The result of his work will now enable Franklin County to conquer polio forever.

Here's why:

Salk shots, though they prevent an individual from getting polio himself, still permit him to be a carrier of the disease. Even older persons who normally wouldn't get polio themselves can still carry it to other people. But Sabin vaccine not only prevents the disease, it also prevents the individual from being a carrier.

That is where our opportunity and obligation come in.

The opportunity is to completely wipe out polio in our community.

The obligation is for all of us over two months of age — even the very old and those who have already had Salk shots — to visit one of the 114 Sabin Stations all over the county on each of the three Sundays.

It's vital that all of us go. And it's also vital that we go on each of the three Sundays. Why? Because on each of those days we'll receive vaccine that will immunize against a certain kind of polio. When we have taken all three kinds, we'll be completely free from the threat of polio in all its forms.

Taking the oral vaccine will be a snap. Just two drops of it, odorless and tasteless, in a cup of water. It's completely harmless — will have no effect on you whatever — but it will end polio. It's been given with 100 percent success to 250 million people in Europe and millions more here in the United States. The donation will be 25 cents, but if you can't afford anything you won't have to pay. You'll get the vaccine anyway.

It's our opportunity. And our obligation.

Ten Tests Of Good Religion Suggested

Romans 1:16 "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."

2nd Timothy 1:12 "For I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

In these days when we carefully test so many things to determine their practicability, it might be well to ask ourselves some challenging questions about our personal religion. The following 10 questions should help us to determine if ours meets the tests of good religion.

1. Is my religion practicable and reasonable?

Rev. Schurman

So many theories and doctrines of men fail to meet the tests of every day living though they sound plausible. "Come now let us reason together saith the Lord. Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow." Here is offered a remedy for our greatest dilemma, one that promises results that are both satisfactory and reasonable; pardon for sins, and cleansing from all unrighteousness."

2. Is my religion satisfying?

Does it leave you with hungers yet unsatisfied and frustrations unanswered? Have you experienced peace of mind and rest of soul, an inner assurance of faith in God and His Son the Lord Jesus Christ as your Savior? 2nd Corinthians tells us "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things have passed away; behold all things are become new."

3. Is my religion scriptural?

So often we accept religious doctrines and then we use our Bibles to support them? Why not let the Word of God speak for itself, and from the Bible itself discover and make ours the doctrines of Good Religion that meet the needs of life here and in the next world? We should be able to give Bible answers for the hope we hold.

4. Does your religion solve the problem of your sins?

Bible religion does. "His name shall be called Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins." Titus 2:14 "That He might redeem us from all iniquity." A sinning religion makes no difference between a sinner and a Christian.

5. Does your religion affect your sinful nature?

Hear David the Psalmist's prayer. (Ps. 51:) In it is a double request. First, "Blot out my transgressions." Second, "Create in me a clean heart." Inspired by a need for both pardon and cleansing.

6. Does your religion meet a universal need?

Throughout the world of many races and tongues lift hearts of longing in prayer, turn their prayer wheels and seek to atone for their sins. Only [illegible] Christ can meet this universal heart cry. "What [illegible] wash away my sins? Nothing but the blood of [illegible]." "What can make me whole again? Nothing [illegible] blood of Jesus." Faith in Christ brings the [illegible] God to everyone that believeth." John 3:16.

[illegible] my faith reaching others?

[illegible]men are expected to catch fish, and salesmen to make sales; but thousands of church members whole year fail to win and bring one [illegible] whose behavior they profess to love and serve. [illegible] forgotten that the Great Commission in-

[illegible] is your religion worth to you?

[illegible]es it if you lost it? Your religion [illegible]sts you in devotion, in sacrifice

W[illegible] do to die by?

[illegible]p respectable will be insuf[illegible]ath.

RA[illegible]n stand in the judgment?

[illegible] great day of His wrath is [illegible]able to stand?" Psalm 24:4. [illegible] the hill of the Lord or who [illegible] place? He that hath clean

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK
Convenience Foods Often Save You Money

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapes, Bartlett pears, apples, bananas, frozen orange juice

Vegetables — Cabbage, potatoes, salad greens, carrots, cauliflower

Protein foods — Beef "specials," pork loin roasts, cured pork items, fryers, small and medium grade A [illegible]

The important question is often asked, "How much more do convenience foods — foods with some of the work done for you — cost than foods you prepare from scratch?" More than four-fifths of our food is processed to some extent, if no more than being put in a plastic bag prior to sale.

Mrs. Franks

Until recently few studies have been made on this complicated subject. This year the U.S. Department of Agriculture is completing a study on comparing cost and time of preparation for 300 food items. Reports are slowly coming out. Here's one that may interest you:

You're saving money by using convenience foods such as frozen orange juice concentrate, canned chicken chow mein and instant coffee, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Comparing the cost of convenience foods with the same dishes prepared in your own kitchen, researchers found that 42 convenience items were less expensive and 116 were more expensive than home-prepared items. But if you're a typical shopper, you buy enough of the money-saving items so your food bill is smaller than if you bought only fresh foods and prepared them yourself.

For each $100 you spend in the grocery store, 68 cents goes for frozen orange juice concentrate. An equal amount of fresh orange juice prepared at home would cost $1.39. So, when you buy the concentrate you save 71 cents — and this does not include the value of time you have spent in squeezing the oranges.

You also make a sizeable saving when you prepare chow mein, whether frozen or in the can. Frozen chicken chow mein costs 85 cents for 4 servings; canned chow mein 66 cents. If you make it yourself, these same 4 servings would cost you $1.02.

Instant coffee, however, was the biggest bargain among the convenience foods studied. Out of every $100 spent on food, $1 goes for instant coffee. Yet the same number of servings from regular coffee would cost you $1.96.

Among the higher priced convenience foods — in comparison with the do-it-yourself variety — were fresh ready-to-serve yeast rolls. They accounted for 10.6 cents out of every $100 spent on food, while the ingredients to make an equal quantity of these rolls in your home would cost only 3.4 cents. However, many homemakers are willing to purchase convenience items such as this because of the time and skill required to prepare them at home.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

A college graduate was opening his gifts. When he got to the one from his mother, he found it was only her apron strings.

Of course, it was her silent but most eloquent way of saying, "Now you are on your own, my son. If ever things get too rough, come back for a time. But go now, and may God bless you."

So it has been for unnumbered generations. People cross the high bridge of their years, nurturing and teaching their young, then send them forth, hoping to see them, in their turn, meet the challenges as they come. Each generation succeeds or fails. There is little the older ones can do about it. Responsibility cannot be bought, traded, or sold. Each generation must hoe its own row.

The young of today face more challenges . . . and more opportunities than any have ever seen before. And they are wiser than we think they are. Sometimes a few make some more or less serious mistakes and get into trouble. But while too many of us oldsters are crying into our coffee about them, the rest are tackling the business of useful living with right good will and wit.

They might just rediscover Eden and rebuild a paradise on earth.

It says here . . . . .
Awareness of ignorance is the beginning of wisdom.

Pre-Hunting Advice: Go Take A Walk

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROB COCHRAN

Remember how they cured those miserable train windows you never could open? They didn't. They just air conditioned the old cars!

This was a fairly simple solution. Not so simple, however, is the conditioning of old hunters — young ones, too. With the current hunting season hardly away from the starting gate, I am stiff and sore from a couple of mornings in a squirrel woods. Hunting squirrels is not a strenuous sport, but you creep around trying to walk or crawl quietly and these seldom-used muscles protest for the following week. After looking skyward for a couple of hours, your neck seems to develop a permanent crick.

These early aches and pains are good warnings that your conditioning for field hunting should begin. Regular exercises are good, physicians have told me, but they are boring and I do not believe many people will take them short of doctor's orders. Upland hunting is mainly walking, and progressively longer hikes should ready you for the mid-November opening. These are a lot more fun than push-ups and sit-ups, and more hunters will probably take hikes than will do exercises.

Some hunters do not need conditioning, even in this age of mechanization. Farmers, even though they ride a lot on tractors and trucks, still do plenty of physical work to keep them in shape for hunting. Golfers who have been walking the links all summer will not put undue strain on themselves by taking to the field with a shotgun this fall. They might toughen up their arms and shoulders some by leaving their little carts at home, and carrying their clubs for a few rounds.

Others who are physically active all year find that hunting is fun—telephone linemen, construction workers, timbermen, brick layers, carpenters and the like. Those who get into trouble on opening day often are the sedentary workers — people in offices and factories. These are the ones who need conditioning.

You can be just as dead or crippled from a heart attack as a gunshot wound. Indeed, the newspaper headlines and accident report include heart failures and strokes in the field with other hunting casualties. The safe hunter guards against over-exertion as well as other accidents.

If you have a hunting dog, take him with you on your hikes. He will run his heart out for you while hunting, and you owe it to him to get him in shape.

A bonus derived from these preseason walks, is that you will meet farmers who will let you hunt this season. Also, you will have an opportunity to check the game populations in several areas. You will know the good places, and this knowledge will almost insure successful hunts later.

For more fun this fall then, start walking.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek
Phooey! Fuzziness Ain't Feminine!

Fellow husbands take heed; devote some time to careful study of your spouse's snoozie, because come winter the only recognizable thing about our mates may be their ruddy little snoots.

At least this will be so if those idiot fashion designers have their way. They've been traipsing in and out of New York from fashion capitals around the world in recent weeks to ready their winter attack.

McPeek

And it's a doozer. Seems the big emphasis will be on fur-lined garments, which is quite a switch from their usual pneumonia-baiting tactics.

Fact is, according to plans they've whipped out of their frilly sleeves, our women will be bundled from head to toe in bulky, furry, masculine garments.

(Could this be more Red subversion? Sounds like they want to make our women look like Moscow snow shovelers.)

Sure the last couple winters have been long and unpleasant and no doubt fur-lined dresses and undies would tickle our women pink, but I for one will encourage my soulmate to wear goosepimples before I fork out money, or even trading stamps, for clothing that will contribute to the decimation of our beloved squirrel and rabbit populations.

Besides which, I want my wife to continue looking like a woman. Who in sam heck wants to kiss a creature that may resemble Burt Lancaster after a trip to Denmark?

That's where I stand!

And even if the reports that my friend Harold Marx, generalissimo of the Bargain House, is building rabbit warrens in his back yard prove to be true, I won't be swayed.

So strong are my anti-fuzzy-women feelings that henceforth I shall raise no objection when Virginia uses my razor. But I do hope she doesn't forget to change the blade.

Slayer Taken For Examination

Roy Rutherford, 62, of 214 Whitethorne-av, who fatally shot his son-in-law; Michael Myers, 40, Sept. 22, was taken to Columbus State Hospital under an emergency commitment Sunday.

Police said the emergency commitment is to allow doctors time to determine Rutherford's sanity. Police said Rutherford may have intended to shoot his wife, Edna, 58, but Myers stepped in the way.

Services for Myers were held Tuesday in St. James the Less Roman Catholic Church. Surviving are his wife, Joan Rosalie; son, Michael, Jr.; daughter, Joan.

Informal School Classes At 'Y' Begin Fall Term In October

The Hilltop YMCA Adult Committee has set up a series of seven classes for the fall term of the Informal School at the "Y." These classes are open to both members and non-members of the Hilltop "Y." Chairman John Brown of the Adult Program Committee announces that several openings remain in the courses to be offered.

Persons interested in any of these classes are urged to call the "Y" office at BR. 6-5306 as soon as possible in order to assure a reservation for the group. All instructors who will be used have had considerable experience in the areas they will be teaching.

The schedule to be offered will include:

Beginning Bridge — This class is for the new bridge player. The bridge taught will be Rubber Bridge. Points to be covered will be basic fundamental bidding, the Goren point count system, scoring and playing the hand. The first part of each session will be devoted to instruction with the remainder for actual playing. This course will meet on six consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning Oct. 9 at 7:15. Registration Fee: "Y" members — $4; Non-members — $6. Instruction by Thomas R. Nealeigh, 328 Carilla Lane.

Intermediate Bridge — A class designed for those who have fundamental knowledge of bridge and those who have taken the Beginning Hilltop YMCA class. More detailed instruction will be offered in bidding, point count system, and playing the hand. This course will meet on six consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning Oct. 9 at 8:30. Registration Fee: "Y" members—$4; Non-members—$6. Instructor, Thomas R. Nealeigh, 328 Carilla Lane.

Sketching — Everyone can sketch and all will enjoy learning the skills of expressing themselves with the use of sketching paper and charcoal. Basic skills will be taught and class members will actually sketch several subjects. This course will meet on six consecutive Wednesday evenings beginning Oct. 10 at 8:00. Registration Fee: "Y" members — $4; Non-members — $6. Instructor, Robert McLinn, Art Instructor, West High School.

Copper Enameling — A new class designed for those who are interested in learning a new skill to make useful items for the whole family. No particular skills are needed to enjoy this course. This course will meet on six consecutive Thursday evenings beginning Oct. 11 at 8:00. Registration Fee: "Y" members—$4; Non-members—$6. Instructor, William Spratley, Art Instructor, Hilltonia Jr. High School.

Leathercraft — This class is a repeater from previous years in which members have learned the basic skills of elementary leathercraft. Small projects are completed by class members. Besides the registration fee, class members must purchase beginners' kits which will be available at the "Y." This class will begin on Monday evening, Oct. 8, from 8 to 10, and will run for six consecutive weeks. Registration Fee: "Y" members — $4; Non-members — $6. Instructor, Charles Gilkey, 308 Columbian-ay.

Law and the Layman — A series of nine sessions at which members of the Columbus Bar Association will deal with various topics of interest to adults. The first part of each session will be devoted to a lecture with the remainder set aside for questions and group discussion. Each of the scheduled speakers will be well known attorneys well versed in the areas they will be dealing with. Some of the topics will be criminal law and civil rights, buying and selling a home, auto insurance laws, family law and responsibilities for children. This course will be offered on nine consecutive Wednesday evenings beginning Oct. 10 at 8. Registration Fee: "Y" members— $3; Non-members—$5.

First Aid—This is a valuable course for all parents to have. Six 2-hour sessions will bring Red Cross certification to class members. All adults are invited to take this course. This course will meet on six consecutive Monday evenings from 8 to 10 beginning Oct. 8. An advanced course of nine weeks will be offered following the completion of the beginning course. Registration Fee: No charge to members and non-members. A fee of 75 cents will be charged for the text book. Instructor, Sgt. Kenneth Miller, Columbus Police Department.

Sunshine Shooters Schedule School

Sunshine Recreation Center, 667 Sullivant-av, is out to prove that you can have more fun shooting BB's for the National Rifle Association than you can pot-shotting at tin cans.

And to make this statement a reality, they have inaugurated a new program in marksmanship and the safe handling of guns through the use of air rifles.

Any boy or girl can register in the classes by stopping at the center for registration. There will be four different classes for boys and girls eight through 12 years of age and 13 through 18 years of age.

The center will provide all rifles and BB's.

The plan calls for two weeks of organization allowing the boys and girls to visit the range. They will be allowed to look at, handle and fire the air rifles, under careful supervision.

Following the orientation, there will be an eight-week basic training course which will include movies on safety, speakers from the police department and the National Rifle Association.

They will drill on the standing, sitting, kneeling, and prone positions of shooting.

When the eight-week course is completed, and the boys and girls have finished the required stages of instruction, they will be allowed to join the club that will be registered with the National Rifle Association and be permitted to shoot for awards.

Safety, the one guiding factor in this type of program, will be uppermost in the minds of the personnel of the center. It will be the rule stressed continually throughout the course.

Ed Dressler, a full-time leader at Sunshine, will be the instructor-supervisor. He is a senior at OSU majoring in Public Recreation Administration.

He holds various instructor ratings and certificates in rifle marksmanship. He has fired on the 83rd Infantry Division, US ArmyCorps, and 2nd US Army Reserve rifle teams over the years and attended various small arms firing schools at Fort Hayes, Fort George G. Meade and Camp Perry.

Kiwanis Delegates Named

Two local Kiwanis clubs have named delegates to the 1962 convention of the Ohio District of Kiwanis International at Cleveland. The convention will be held Sept. 30 through Oct. 3.

Hilltop Kiwanis delegates are: L. B. Swinford, president-elect of the Hilltop club; Don C. McVay, treasurer, and Richard W. Nash, president.

Representing West Side Kiwanis will be: Frank Watts, lieutenant governor designate; Ted Kientz, George Weber and Jee Davis.

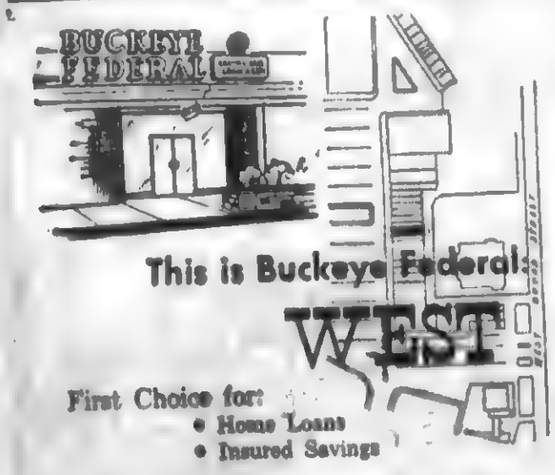
Post Camps



On Sept. 22, the members of Post 181 went to Camp Klages, located near Laurelville. This camp is open to older Scouts and Explorers. the pc .t went mainly for fun and a good time was had by all.

Those attending the camp-out were David Thurston, John O'Neal, Bill Ramage, Louie Thompson, Jim Renshaw, Jim Lucas, Rick White, Steve Stone, Craig Zimmerman, Chuck Saunders and leaders Joe Hutt and Larry Miller.

At its Sept. 17 meeting Post 181 had a speaker from the U.S. Air Force recruiting service. He talked on the requirements for entrance into the different services and gave information about them. He answered a lot of questions also. The boys learned a lot from this and thanked him for coming.

$5000 Cash Slated For Homemaker

Local Ladies Eligible For National Honor

Somewhere in Central Ohio lives a woman who typifies the best of Suburban home making and strong family life. Maybe you know her. Perhaps she is a relative of yours, or a neighbor, or belongs to the same club or church you do.

You can see that she gets the honor she deserves, by entering her in the Suburban Homemaker of the Year national search sponsored by Hartley Newspapers and the Suburban Press Foundation of which this newspaper is a member. The contest is now open, and the winner will compete with candidates sponsored by 91 member newspapers for a national award of $5000 to be given in Chicago the second week of November.

In this 1962 search, the winner will receive recognition like few women before her. In an exciting award ceremony, your favorite homemaker will reign supreme. There are no gimmicks — there is nothing to buy — and your homemaker candidate can be nominated from your own living room.

Here's all you have to do. Write us a letter of 500 or less words telling us about your nominee. In the letter answer the following questions:

1. In what way has she revealed her spiritual and moral strength in modern day living — for her home, her church, her community, and for the world in which she lives?
2. In what ways has she helped in developing and maintaining the total health and fitness (mental, emotional, physical, and spiritual) of her family?
3. How well does she demonstrate her personal health and fitness through her attitudes, habits, appearance and physical well-being?
4. To what extent has she participated in civic and community affairs — local, state, national and international? Be specific.
5. How well does she exemplify her ability in management of the family resources of time and income in relation to family needs and goals?
6. To what extent has she demonstrated her skills in: (a.) preparing meals (b.) clothing the family (c.) appearance of the home (d.) housekeeping.
7. How does she create an atmosphere of love, respect, and affection for family living?
8. How else has she demonstrated her abilities as a successful homemaker?

Remember, style of letter presentation is not a factor. The manner in which the letter is written will not be judged. Send your letter today, along with a filled-in Official Entry Blank, to Suburban Homemaking Editor, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad St., Columbus 4, Ohio.

Food and Family Fitness

Teenagers' Food Fancies

Food fads, favored by teenagers today, are showing the effects of malnutrition in all economic levels. This development period—the "growing" time—makes well-balanced meals (including meat, milk, vegetables, fruits, breads and cereals) most important to their future well-being. Help them to know that it is smart to be physically fit . . . that good health, appearance and popularity are always compatible.

What does food mean to a teenager? Camaraderie . . . and filling a void. What they eat is pretty much dictated by the clan spirit . . . their world of social doings. Unfortunately at this age food, as related to health and physical fitness, just doesn't belong!

To mention it is apt to bring rebellion. That's kid stuff! This age is the beginning of independence, and attempted control from adults is tantamount to kid treatment . . . like "Drink your milk and you can have dessert." The result of this rebellion is pronounced . . . in the growing number of our teenagers who are poorly nourished . . . not physically fit. There are many statistics which trigger a warning. They show that poor food habits among our teenagers are creating a national health problem — and one that is increasing.

There is no age at which well-balanced meals made up of the four food groups that have been established by nutrition research authorities—milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, breads and cereals—aren't essential to good health. They are paramount to growing youth.

It isn't a matter of how much they eat . . . but what they eat. Strangely, boys are apt to over-eat, for this is male. A healthy appetite is a BIG man's way. Teenage girls present a different attitude. Too much food is unladylike, it's fattening, and a svelte figure and pretty complexion are essential to popularity. And so many of them nibble . . . and not of the good, health-building foods. Today, many of our young mothers are still in their teens—and their malnutrition, caused by poor eating habits, ill equips them for child-bearing . . . and, unfortunately, their children may inherit the maternal weakness.

What's to be done about our teenagers? Rigid discipline at this age may lead to trouble and frustration. Understanding and guidance is far more beneficial. Positives, rather than negatives, have a better chance of making a goal. Make them realize they are smart—in understanding the importance of well-balanced meals—as an accomplishment, not as a rule dictated by adults. And let them practice it among their friends—with parties THEY plan at home — and meals they have selected and even prepared—in very adult fashion. And do appeal to their vanity—a good looking boy—an attractive girl—is a healthy one.

But, like most ills, prevention is always better than cure. If good eating habits—well-balanced meals—are established in the home, your children will carry the basic habit into their teens as a joyful pleasure, not a command. And this will serve them all through the rest of their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shato, 3536 Vanderberg-rd, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Mr. John Edward Pray, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Pray of New York City, N.Y.

The bride-elect is a graduate of West High and Bliss College, and is employed by the State of Ohio taxation Dept.

Mr. Pray is a graduate of Samuel Gompers High School and is serving in the U.S. Air Force, 87th fighter interceptor squadron, stationed at Lockbourne.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 10 at Burgess Avenue EUB Church.

'Dolls', 'World Religions' On Day-Long Program

A treat is in store for those attending "Tuesday at the Y," Oct. 2, at the Hilltop YWCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr.

Miss Bess Sperry will be the morning speaker and her subject will be "Dolls and Their Origins."

Dolls have long been a hobby with this avid collector, and she will bring a number from her collection with her. Her exhibit will include dolls of many countries, antique and contemporary.

In the afternoon Rev. Anthony P. Saris of the Greek Orthodox Church will speak and lead a discussion on "The World's Religions." He will compare the Christian and non-Christian religions with emphasis on their impact on the world situation.

Mrs. Donald Gephart will be in charge of arrangements for the gourmet luncheon which will feature three unusual recipes.

Members of the YWCA ($2) or those holding family memberships in the Hilltop YMCA may attend the day-long program, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., for $1, including luncheon.

Supervised baby-sitting is free of charge. Mothers are asked to bring a sack lunch for their children. Milk will be furnished.

For reservations or additional information call CA. 4-9121.

AUTUMN GOLD, BITTERSWEET ACCENT MAURATH-KIGHT WEDDING RITES

Miss Lynda Kaye Maurath became the bride of Mr. Jack A. Kight Sept. 22 at Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Rev. Harold Dutt read the marriage service at 1:30 p.m. before an altar banked with sunburst arrangements of yellow gladioli and large yellow chrysanthemums against a background of gilded jade foliages.

The chancel was flanked with 14-branched candelabra and accented with gilded emerald trees, and the aisle was marked with single Swedish tapers topped with poufs of gold and bittersweet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Maurath, 2757 Regina-av, are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Kight of 64 N. Huron-av.

The bridal bown of bouquet taffeta was designed with a crescent neckline and bracelet sleeves, and bodice overlaid with Alencon lace with seed pearls and brilliant sttones. The motif was repeated on the controlled silhouette skirt, and a separate wide train continued into chapel length.

The veil of silk illusion was caught to a queen's crown of seed pearls and crystals, and she carried a sheath of fleur d'mour, centered with amazonicas and accented with clusters of pearlescent grapes.

Miss Marilyn Kight, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor; Mrs. Gerald Fry, also a sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, and Mrs. James Rinehart as bridesmatron.

They wore autumn gold satin and bell-shaped dress with fitted bodices and bouffant bow headpieces. Each carried a sheath of bittersweet chrysanthemums with polished foliages.

Mr. Robert Kight served as best man for his brother, and guests were seated by Mr. Joe Maurath, brother of the bride; Mr. Gerald Fry, Mr. Robin Sharp and Mr. Norbert Berry.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride' parents.

The new Mrs. Kight was graduated from West High School and is employed at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Radio and TV Department.

Mr. Kight was also graduated from West High School and attended the Columbus College of Art and Design. He is employed by F and R Lazarus and Co., display department.

Following a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains, the couple will reside on the Hilltop.

Miss Harvey, Rev. Ylitalo Exchange Wedding Vows At Bethlehem

MRS. ROY LANCE DAVID YLITALO

Vases of white gladioli and cocculus foliage and candelabra decorated the chancel of Bethlehem Lutheran Church Aug. 12 for the marriage of Miss Susan Elaine Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis K. Harvey of 5610 Harrisburg-Georgesville-rd, Grove City, and Rev. Roy Lance David Ylitalo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ylitalo of Floodwood, Minn.

The 7:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony was read by Rev. Kay Glaesner of Springfield.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta, featuring a portrait neckline outlined in alencon lace, iridescents and seed pearls. Motifs of the lace and seed pearls were repeated on the fitted princess line and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train, accented with lace motifs and two self rosebuds at the waist.

A crown of seed pearls and iridescents caught her bouffant veil of illusion and she carried garlands of white glamellias with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Don Phillips, sister of the bride, of Ames, Ia., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Gene Cooper of Toledo, Miss Dee Millikan of New Castle, Ind., Miss Diane Senn of Tonawanda, N.Y., and Miss Lois Veler of Columbus. Wendy Zelazny of North Miami Beach, Fla., was the flower girl.

Attendants wore identical gowns of white lace over Nile green taffeta with bateau necklines and bell-shaped skirts.

Matching hats of petal bows completed their ensembles and they carried cascades of Nile green glamellias with showers of ivy.

Mr. Ronald Ylitalo, brother of the bridegroom, of Minneapolis, Minn., served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Roger Asp. of Minneapolis, Rev. Arthur Goetz of Heeah, Wisc., Mr. Larry Pinnow of Beloit, Wis., and Rev. Bill Moldwin of Detroit, Mich.

The bride has completed her junior year at Wittenberg University, where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. She has also attended Capital University.

Rev. Ylitalo received a bachelor of arts degree from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and in May received a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Hamma Divinity School, Springfield. He also attended Maywood and Pacific Seminaries. He has accepted a call to Christus Victor Lutheran Church, Terre Haute, Ind.

Following a wedding trip through the New England states and Canada, the couple is residing in Terre Haute, Ind.

MRS. SAMUEL HESSLER

Hilltoppers Wed August 4 In Ceremony At Aurora, Col.

Miss Fredericka Anne Krebs and Mr. Samuel Hessler were married in a double-ring ceremony Aug. 4, in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Aurora, Col. Rev. Leonard G. Fritschel officiated at the 2:30 ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Krebs, 160 S. Burgess-av, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Hessler, 206 S. Burgess-av.

The bride chose for her marriage a gown of organza over taffeta, designed with a scalloped crescent neckline overlaid with Chantilly lace and accented with iridescents and seed pearls, and long tapered sleeves. Lace was repeated in a redingote effect down the bouffant skirt and edged with wide chapel train.

Her bridal veil of imported silk illusion fell from a contessa coronet of aurora crystal and she carried a white Bible covered with feathered carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Mary Kay Krebs, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Bonnie Hessler, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Mr. Earl Beachler of Columbus served as best man and usher.

The new Mrs. Hessler is a graduate of West High School and was formerly employed as secretary at the Ohio Manufacturers Association.

Her husband, also a graduate of West High School, attended Ohio State University and is now serving in the U.S. Air Force, Lowry AFB, Denver, Col.

The couple is residing at 1121 Josephine-st, Denver.

Kiwanians Start Work On Paper

It's only September, but West Side Kiwanians are thinking Christmas already.

Thirty-five members of the local service club are selling ads for their Annual Christmas Newspaper. The paper, sold door-to-door and at Central Point Shopping Center (tentatively Dec. 14) is the main source of income for the club's year-round work in the community.

Last year 167 business people and other individuals purchased greeting ads in the paper. About 5,000 of the papers were distributed.

George Weber, 780 W. Town-st, is general chairman of the project. Chairmen of pre-sale preparations are Ted Klentz, Santa parade; Frank Watts, distribution: Homer Johnson, food for workers; Fred VanOrder, advertising; finance accounting, Austin Hutt and C. Donn Schneider.

HEADS CLUB

JAMES GOUDY of 230 Darbyhurst-rd has been elected president of the Kiwanis club of Western Franklin County. He succeeds O. O. Tope of 22 Volney-av. Goudy is the manager of the Great Western Branch of the Ohio National Bank. Other new officers include Richard Gillogly, first vice-president; John Simon, second vice-president, and John Hoffman, treasurer.

Hawks—

team returned to the high school to get dressed for the game which began at 8 p.m. Three bands added color to the game as did the crowning of three different queens at halftime.

After the game, coaches and players of both teams enjoyed a smorgasbord dinner while they got acquainted with the big victory in their with each other. The Hawks, with the big victory in their pockets, ate breakfast and attended church before heading for home Sunday afternoon. The team was greeted by a crowd of 750-1000 people when they arrived at Westgate Park around 7:30 p.m.

THE GAME itself was a complete success despite the fact that rain Saturday afternoon and ominous clouds at kickoff time held the crowd down to 6000 fans, well under the 10,000 expected.

Financially the effort blossomed with the profits totaling between three and four thousand dollars.

Coach McDonald had nothing but praise for the McKeesport program. "The Little Tigers were everything we'd heard they'd be. They are a very fine coached team and McKeesport has a tremendous organization," McDonald lauded Little Tiger coach Bill Lickert, a milkman in daily life, for his outstanding team.

"THE SETUP there is remarkable," McDonald said. They have their own blocking sleds, a $500 tackling dummy and their own locker rooms and coaches offices. They must have a lighted field since Bill (Lickert) says they practice five night a week."

We hope to have this kind of a program in three or four years. The local support is tremendous. They had over 7000 people attending their first league game and raised over $8000 in gate receipts."

The McKeesport team has traveled to Texas and Florida for games in the past few years and, until their defeat Sunday had an eye on a trip to Hawaii. The Little Tigers figure on an $8000 budget each year.

THE HAWKS, who have now upped their record to 36-0 in four out of state games and regular OBFF league play, open their '62 league season Sunday at 2 p.m. playing Linden at West.

Dennis McDonald might have a real job on his hands in the coming weeks of league play. League play might seem pretty dry stuff with that November encore at McKeesport and a ticket to the Milk Bowl just waiting there for the taking. (Game details on sports page).

Annex—

was no proof of planned annexation but that the purchase of approximately 275 acres along Clime-rd between Demorest and Georgesville-rds, the laying of the Big Run sewer line outside the city limits and the mention of three realty firms holding options on or owning land in Southern Franklin Township are not "accidental."

The land on Clime and Georgesville was bought, at an average price of $2,008 an acre, for either a metropolitan or city park.

Plans for the park project have been in City Hall since 1954.

Whether the park would be metropolitan or city is not as significant as the fact that Columbus, if and when the latest annexation bid is approved, would then own land at both ends of the southern sector of Franklin Township.

It is also to be noted that the Big Run sewer will be laid outside Columbus city limits for the expressed purpose of servicing the West Side of Columbus although the line will be as accessible from its west side as from the Columbus side.

Paul Hayes fears for the life of the South-Western City School District, and although annexation does not necessarily mean the loss of school jurisdiction and revenue, Hayes said that Columbus school board could, and has, taken the better part of the district.

Hayes' qualms weren't eased any by the county commissioners announcement that school district interests will no longer be considered in annexation matters.

A hearing before the commissioners has been set for Nov. 16.

SILVER KNIGHTS WIN AGAIN

Pirates Sink West In City Headliner

By BOB LYNCH and KENNY ASH

Central's Pirates, West's arch rivals, dealt the Cowboys a mortal blow in their hopes for the City League championship by downing them, 24-6, Friday night at West's Magly Field. The game was a key one for both teams, as they were both picked to be the top teams in the City League this season.

CENTRAL KICKED off to the Cowboys, and within a few plays, George Broadnax, Central halfback, recovered a fumble on the 39-yard line of the Cowboys. Tom Fullove, Central quarterback, threw a pass to Broadnax for a 33-yard gain, taking the ball to the one-yard line. Fullove took the ball in for a touchdown on a quarterback sneak and the Pirates led 6-0 with 4:08 remaining in the quarter.

In the second quarter, the Cowboys fought down to the Pirates six-yard line. Mike Grady, Central right guard and Dale Thompson, Central linebacker, threw Rick Finke, Cowboy quarterback, for a 13-yard loss. On a fourth and 13 situation, Finke's pass attempt failed and the Pirates took over but time ran out shortly after.

The third quarter proved to proceed along the same pattern as the first, with the Cowboys failing to score and the Pirates scoring again. This time, the Pirate tally came with 2:50 remaining in the quarter, as their fullback Cliff Moxley climaxed a 73-yard drive in 10 plays by blasting off right tackle for the final five yards.

AS THE THIRD quarter came to a close, the Pirates took over the ball again as they took advantage of a bad pass from center on a punt attempt and came up with the ball on the West 30.

In seven plays, the Pirates had rung up another six points, and led 18-0, as Bill Solomon charged over left guard for 17 yards and the score.

CENTRAL'S JUNIOR right halfback George Broadnax (66) stretches all of his 5-10, 150-pound frame to snare this 33-yard pass from quarterback Tom Fullove that led to the Pirates first quarter touchdown, with Cenertal scoring on the next play from the one. Central defeated West, 24-6, to take a giant step towards City League title honors.

After the kickoff, the Cowboys finally managed to get a drive going which proved successful. They took the ball over on the Central 49 and eight plays later, fullback Don VanOrder blasted over for the Cowboys first tally from the one.

However, Central had the same success, as they scored six plays after the kickoff when Solomon raced around right end, found an opening and sprinted 59 yards for the final score of the game.

BISHOP READY'S Silver Knights notched their third straight win of the season Monday, scoring a 16-8 triumph over West Jefferson's Reserves.

Jay Kubin got the Knights off to an early lead as he swept end for a 25-yard touchdown in the opening period, adding the first of two conversions to give Ready a 8-0 lead.

The Rough Riders gained an 8-8 halftime tie when Bob Marshall climaxed a West Jefferson drive with a 12-yard TD. But Jim Muir settled the score and helped Ready pick up the victory when he raced 30 yards to paydirt in the final period.

AQUINAS GAVE notice that it might make some title noises in the City League this season, downing Whetstone, 30-8, for the Terriers second win of the season.

Fleet-footed 175-pound senior halfback Mike Welling provided the Aquinas offensive thrust with most of its punch, scoring three touchdowns on long runs and adding up a fourth on a blocked punt in the Whetstone end zone.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS also poured on the coal in the second half to record a 28-14 win over Greenon in the Falcons homecoming game Friday night.

A 64-YARD touchdown pass from quarterback Kirk Sharrock to Larry Kelly earned DeSales a 12-12 tie with University in a matinee contest Friday.

In other City League action Friday, Eastmoor scored early to edge Linden, 8-6; North notched two fourth-quarter scores to down South, 12-0; Lancaster walloped East, 26-6, and Walnut Ridge came on strong in the second half to drop Marion-Franklin, 28-14.

The area's schedule for this weekend finds Aquinas (2-1) visiting Central (1-1-1), West (1-2) traveling to Marietta (the team that snapped Martin Ferry's long winning streak two weeks ago), Franklin Heights (2-1) hosting Washington C.H. and Academy (0-1) visiting University (0-0-1).

Probate Judge Joseph J. Van Heyde reports that with the addition of 26 filing cabinets this month and the remodeling of the court has increased the filing capacity by approximately 20 percent.

Hawks Edge Tigers To Hook 'Big One'

Prior to Saturday night's McKeesport-Westgate Hawk football game, the Little Tiger publicity director told Hawk coach Dennis McDonald that the Hawks could gain a moral victory by merely scoring on McKeesport.

As things turned out, the Hawks gained much more than just a moral victory by posting a 19-13 win and snapping the host's 57-game winning streak.

THE HAWKS scored the second time they handled the ball after holding the Little Tigers on a fourth-and-one situation. On the third play of the series, Marty Barnes went 40 yards for a touchdown to give the Hawks a 6-0 lead and the Tigers an indication of things to come.

A Westgate fumble on their own 31 set up McKeesport's score in the second period with the Little Tigers' Harper going the last three yards on tackle. The extra point was good and the Hawks trailed, 7-6, at halftime.

McKeesport, which relies on a tough defense and hasn't punted in five years, handed over the ball on their own 40-yard line early in the third period. Barnes swept end for 20 yards and then Rick Winston duplicated the effort for the final 20 yards on the next play to give Westgate a 12-7 lead.

WESTGATE HELD on their own 30 and then Winnie Dearing and Winston put together a 70-yard drive, highlighted by the latter's 30-yard burst to the McKeesport 17.

Two plays later Winston scored from the three and Dearing added the extra point to widen the Hawk lead to 19-7.

But the Little Tigers were far from dead, marching the ball for a touchdown in the final period after blocking a Hawk punt on the Westgate 30. Fullback Smith took it over from the six yard line and McKeesport trailed, 19-13.

THE HAWKS fumbled on the ensuing kickoff and McKeesport recovered on the Westgate 40 yard line with 2:04 remaining in the game. The Little Tigers made good use of their four remaining time outs and moved the ball to the Hawk 13 yard line on passes when time ran out.

Rick Winston was the offensive standout for the Hawks, scoring two touchdowns while averaging 20 yards per carry.

Zeros Feature OBFF Games

The Ohio Boys Football Foundation opened its third season of play Sunday afternoon with four teams maintaining shutouts in the 110-pound division.

Duckworth Plumbers downed Obetz, 38-0, Arlington upended Harley-Davidson Comets, 34-0, LeCompte Lathers stopped Mifflin, 12-0, West Mound Rams topped Meadow Gold, 22-0, and Gahanna defeated Lockbourne, 20-6.

In the 90-pound league, West Mound Rams tripped Meadow Gold, 6-0, Beatty Lions topped LeCompte, 36-0, and Gahanna and Harley-Davidson battled to a scoreless tie.

TIGER WIN TOPS BEARCAT PLAY

The Ohio Bearcat Association moved into its second week of play with three games played, Sunday.

The UAW Tigers scored a fourth period touchdown to edge the Southside Blues, 6-0; Maryland AC used a balanced scoring attack to down the Westgate Bears, 20-6 and the Westside Pirates used a passing-running combination to defeat the Westside Eagles, 22-8.

Sunday's action finds the Blues playing the pirates at 1:30 and Maryland facing the Tigers at 2:30 on Harley Field while Westgate Park will be the scene of the Bears-Eagles clash at 2:30.

Southside Blues - 0 0 0 0—0

Football Contest Going Full Tilt

Gee whiz! I don't know nuthin' about football, so how can I expect to win any money in Hartley Newspapers' giant foo'ball contest?

There's a good chance that this remark has been made during the last week in your own home. The truth of the matter is that every weekend, even our so-called "experts" in pigskin predictions find they don't know nearly as much as they thought they knew.

A football takes some mighty weird bounces, and consequently the outcome of football games each week is subject to all sorts of unpredictable outcomes.

It's for this reason that the little mother in the family household is able to compete with the local sports editor in guessing who is going to win that game.

Hartley Newspapers' big weekly football contest is a "nothing to buy — no obligation" kind of contest.

In the advertisements on this page are listed 24 top games to be played on the weekend of Oct. 6. Games in the collegiate, professional and local high school ranks have been included to make the contest more interesting to everyone.

Simply fill in the official entry blank, and don't forget to print the advertiser's name on the left side of the blank along with your selections down the right side.

Games resulting in ties will be disregarded unless the contestant specifies them as such on the entry blank.

Remember the deadline! The contest today pertains to games being played on the weekend of Oct. 6. No entries will be accepted unless postmarked before midnight, Oct. 3.

Winners will be notified by telephone and their names will be printed the week following the games.

Be doubly sure your blank is sent to the Football Contest Editor of this newspaper, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, Ohio.

change in format — something like "fearful predictions." With a cheery pat on the back from our police protection, we try this time to improve on our 36-25-3 seasonal mark with these calls:

Loyola - Newark Catholic —Silver Knights tarnished. Newark.

Aquino-Central — Pirates have pennant notions. Central.

Canal Winchester - Berne Union—Indians take scalps. Winchester.

South - Linden — Panther parade. Linden.

Academy - University — Little Bucks in Toss-up. University.

St. Marys-Hamilton Township — Battle of unbeatens. Hamilton.

West - Marietta— Cowboys hogtied. Marietta.

East-Marion-Franklin— A Tiger by the tail. East.

Eastmoor-Walnut Ridge — Warriors coming. Eastmoor.

Washington C. H.-Franklin Heights—Figure Waicons. FH.

Westerville-Gahanna — In the Lion's Den. Gahanna.

'Fearless' Predictions

We wondered till last weekend if anyone actually read these little 'calculated guesses.' Our burning ears this week are an indication that somebody out there does give us a look. Maybe we need a change in format — something like "fearful predictions." With a cheery pat on the back from our police protection, we try this time to improve on our 36-25-3 seasonal mark with these calls:

WEST PARK BALL CLUBS HONORED

THE MOWAC Class of the West Park Methodist Church honored its ball teams Sept. 19 at a banquet at the church. Awards were presented to class sponsors, one junior, one intermediate, one senior and two slo-pitch teams. Left to right are: Ellis Breckenridge, manager; Tom Schooner, manager; Rev. L. L. Young, pastor; Judge Robert M. Draper, guest speaker; R. W. Gray, a teacher for 33 years; Hugh Stinson, manager, and Bill Kuhn, manager.

Pick the Winners Of NEXT WEEK'S Games

PRIZES EACH WEEK of $25 to $100 Or Even More

NOTHING TO BUY -- OPEN TO ALL

UP TO $1000

HERE ARE THE RULES

Pick the most winners of the football games found in each of the ads on this page and win $25 in CASH. If you pick ALL the winners correctly for the week you will receive an additional BONUS of $25 . . . AND, if you are a regular paid subscriber to any one of the seven Hartley Newspapers you will win DOUBLE YOUR PRIZE MONEY!

Now . . . in the event no one picks ALL the winners this week, the BONUS money will be added to next week's BONUS. This will continue until the end of the contest. If no one wins the bonus for picking ALL the winners in the last week of the contest, the entire accumulated BONUS POT will go to the person or persons picking the most winners that week.

In event several persons tie in picking the highest number of winners, the entrant coming closest to guessing the exact score of the OHIO STATE game will be declared the winner.

Several members of the family may enter the contest each week by using one of the official entry blanks appearing below.

All games will be found in the advertisements on this page. Each winner picked must correspond to the advertiser's name in the order in which they are listed. Tie games will be disregarded unless entrant specifies them as such on the coupon blank.

The contest is open to anyone except employes of Hartley Newspapers and their immediate families.

Clip out this coupon blank and mail or bring it to the Football Contest Editor of this paper, 2465 W. Broad St., Columbus 4, Ohio.

Retain the rest of the page to record your selections.

MUST BE POST MARKED NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY MIDNIGHT WEEK OF THE CONTEST.

Edith Halpert Opens Lending Gallery Sessions On Oct. 4

The Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts will open its 1962-63 season with an exhibition of paintings from the Lending Gallery Oct. 4 through 25.

Edith Gregor Halpert, Director of the Downtown Gallery in New York, will address members of the Gallery at the opening of the Exhibition on Thursday, Oct. 4.

Mrs. Halpert has long been a supporter of contemporary American paintings and sculpture as well as American Folk art of the 18th and 19th centuries. She will discuss the scene "Behind the Canvas Curtin" and will include advice for the new collector.

The Lending Gallery collection contains some 200 painting from New York galleries and local artists Through this facility members of the Columbus Gallery may borrow original works of art for their homes and offices.

All the paintings in the Lending Gallery are for sale and the minimal rental fee can be deducted from the sale price. Family membership in the Gallery is available for as low as $15.00 per year.

Further information may be obtained from the Gallery (CA. 1-4409).

The Lending Gallery's collection this year contains works both abstract and realistic in style. Perhaps most interesting to residents of Columbus and Central Ohio will be the lithographs by the area's best-known artist, George Bellows. Others, from the more contemporary art world, include: James Suzuki, C. Heidenreich, Elaine De Kooning, Everett Shinn, Arthur Davies, Peter Hayward, Karl Schrag, Stanley Twardowicz, Ernest Kirchner and many others. Particularly notable will be the drawing by Paul Cezanne and two drawings by John Singer Sargent.

On Oct. 25, a dinner will be held at the Gallery for members when final choices will be made.

Jetsons: Added Testimony To Theory Of Mouse Traps

No one's theory of evolution can be complete unless it includes the cartoon industry.

Let's make one thing clear right now—this column isn't intending to take anything away from a Mr. Walt Disney because that mirror, mirror on the wall still says he's the greatest of them all.

The intention here is to merely point out what a little ingenuity, a little blood, sweat and money can do in an industry that seems to be about as set in its ways as a hunk of hardened cement.

The proof of this statement is on WTVN-TV and added testimony for the defense premiered Sunday, Sept. 23.

To keep from getting criticized by journalism majors for getting into the meat of a story slowly, we're writing about the Hanna-Barbera Productions — a big boom to the American Broadcasting Company, WTVN-TV and, specifically, to a fellow named Joseph Barbera and his associates.

This young cartoon empire is hitting Columbus area televiewers almost everyday of the week: Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. it's Quick Draw McGraw, Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. it's Yogi Bear, Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. it's Huckleberry Hound and Fridays at 8:30 p.m. it's the Flintstones.

Now, on Sundays at 7:30 p.m., it's the new half-hour show "The Jetsons"—supposedly a product of the Space Age. And, although press time prohibits giving a first hand account of the new Hanna-Barbera "baby," the lovely voice at the WTVN-TV home base called it a "darling show."

Love Is A Simple Thing . . .

Simplicity — that's the key to the success of these wild and nutty cartoons. Simplicity in an industry that seemed to be heading in and striving for one end—realism.

Cartoons were looking as good as feature movies with actions drawn so cleverly that one could hardly tell whether the characters were real or from an ink pen.

So, along comes Mr. Barbera who sets up a talented crew and throws the simplest of cartoon techniques on the viewer and he loves it. (Ex. a guy falls from a tree. The camera doesn't "follow" him to the ground. It just focuses on the tree-tops and a loud "Smash" and the tree shakes and everyone knows what happens. Effective, isn't it?)

In analyzing the success, let's not overlook the snappy dialogue — some of the funniest and cleverest stuff I've heard in a long time.

Barbera sums it up best: "We stress the new in visual gimmicks. In other words, if it's ever been seen before—anywhere, in any form—we don't want it for our animated series."

The new Jetson family will maintain a 100-year lead and keep in accouterments of Century 21. The cartoon studio has three designers working full time on Jetson futuristic "inventions."

For example, Elroy (one of the characters), is tubed off to school neat as a proverbial pin after being run through wash, rinse, spin dry and clothe cycles on a shower rail.

Should be good, clean fun anyway you look at it . . . and, you will.

Musings Of A Midnighter . . .

How about that. I was just sitting around the other night wondering why Columbus didn't take up a collection to bring back home sweet Nancy Wilson and I read where they've done it . . . and more!

She's a local girl—lived on the Hilltop—and will be appearing as a headliner with Omega's Jazz Festival at Vet's Memorial Oct. 30.

It's good we got her back before the song bird got too far out of financial reach. She's been singing with a talented fellow named Cannonball Adderly and, I figured, we might be able to afford Miss Wilson but never Cannonball. But, I read further, the trumpeter is making the trip too. You better get ready for this big show.

Highlights of CBS Shows Soon To Air On 10

Columbia Broadcasting System notes report these television highlights soon upcoming:

• Lucille Ball makes her rib-cracking return to TV in the new "The Lucy Show" Monday, Oct. 1, at 8:30 p.m. on WBNS-TV.

• Channel 10 will also carry the "Real McCoys," a popular comedy series for five seasons. The show makes its CBS debut Sunday, Sept. 30 at 9 p.m.

• Jack Webb returns to TV Sunday, Sept. 30, as host and narrator of "General Electric True," a new weekly half-hour series of factual dramas based on stories of high adventure from the files of True Magazine. Premieres on Channel 10 at 9:30.

• Two back-to-back CBS network shows start new seasons on Monday, Oct. 1, over WBNS-TV. "The Danny Thomas Show" starts its sixth season 9 to 9:30 p.m. and "The Andy Griffith Show" has its third season premiere, 9:30 to 10 p.m.

For Farmers

"Farm Forecast," local early morning agricultural program, with a brand new format and lengthened to half-an-hour, began at 6:30 a.m. Monday, Sept. 24, on WLW-C.

Dollar In Pick Circle

Johnny Dollar and the rest of the "Good Guys" at WVKO are pretty well wrapped up in a big "Miss Teenage America Contest" but Mr. Dollar took time out to pick "Everybody's Got A Dance But Me" by Big Dee Irwin as the tune to watch.

"It's moving up fast," Dollar said. "It's going to be a real smash."

According to the brand new Fabulous 50 Tunedex, here are the top ten in Columbus:

1, "I Remember You" (Frank Ifield); 2, "Monster Mash" (Bobby Pickett); 3, "Punish Her" (Bobby Vee); 4, "Sherry" (The 4 Seasons); 5, "Lie To Me" (Brook Benton); 6, "Patches" (Dickey Lee); 7, "Hully Gully Baby" (The Dovells); 8, "King of the Whole Wide World" (Elvis Presley); 9, "Warmed Over Kisses" (Brian Hyland) and 10, "Stop The Music" (The Shirelles).

"Go" Discovery is "The Cha-Cha-Cha" by Bobby Rydell and the "Go" Album this week is Bobby Darin's "Things and Other Things".

'Corner Lot' Readied

The Little Theater Off Broadway members are finishing up plans to present "Corner Lot" as the first production for the group this fall.

"Corner Lot" opens Sept. 28 and 29 and will be presented again Oct. 5 and 6 at Richard Avenue School in Grove City.

In case the play doesn't sound familiar to you, it shouldn't. It's a three-act comedy authored by hometown Grove City boy Dick Grace, who, and you might remember this, authored two former productions given by the group, "The Shirt Off His Back" and "Panic Seat."

The cast includes faces familiar to Little Theater productions as well as some newcomers to the group.

Ditch Again Pondered At Council

Columbus City Council, in one of its more heated sessions Monday night, skimmed by Valleyview Heights No. 2's protest about a drainage ditch which residents claim is unsanitary and is causing an odor problem.

However, council did receive a letter from Health Commissioner Dr. Ollie M. Goodloe concerning the protest.

The commissioner reported that after an investigation, which was recommended by the service committee, he found the ditch had been cleaned of debris. He added that the ditch was dry and lab tests verified that there was no sewage hazard.

Hilltop Church Pastor Marks Anniversary; Convention Set

Rev. Richard Rahrar

Rev. L. Richard Rahrar is beginning his third year as pastor of Hilltop Community Church, 179 N. Huron-av.

Former pastor of the Gospel Mission Church of Dublin, Ind., for 21 years and, before that, a Nazarene minister for 14 years, Rev. and Mrs. Rahrar came to Columbus Sept. 12, 1960.

A charter member of the Wesleyan Tabernacle Association organized in 1937 Rev. Rahrar has served on the executive board since 1941 and is now treasurer of the association.

The Rahrars have a son and daughter, and four grandchildren, all residing in Cambridge City, Ind.

Early fall activities of Hilltop Community include the annual state-wide convention of the Oriental Missionary Society, Oct. 4 through Oct. 7.

Services will be held at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. each day, and at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. Guest delegates will attend from throughout Ohio.

Speakers include Miss Noble Pope of Ecuador, Rev. Mardy Picazo of Haiti and Rev. Paul Haines, Jr., of Korea.

Rev. Edwin Messerschmidt, field representative of the Oriental Missionary Society, will be master of ceremonies for the convention. He will be assisted by his wife, Ruth, vocalist and flute player.

Miss Pope is a returned missionary to the Saraguro Indians in Ecuador. Rev. Picazo, now touring the United States in the interest of Radio Station 4 VEH in Cap Haitien, Haiti, is station manager and engineer at the station and served in the Caribbean and Central American area.

Rev. Haines, here on furlough, was born in Korea of missionary parents and spent most of his life there.

Hilltop CYF Sets Car Wash

Christian Youth Fellowship of Hilltop Christian Church Disciples will hold a car wash Saturday, Sept. 29, from noon until dusk at the church, Burgess-av at Olive-st.

Cost will be $1 with an added 25 cents for whitewalls. Proceeds will help finance the church youth program.

Bethlehem Plans Fall Schedule

Beginning with Rally Day, Sept. 30, a new schedule will become effective at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 598 S. Hartz-av.

Sunday School for children up to the sixth grade will begin at 9 a.m.

Parents are urged to accompany their children and attend the early worship service, which will be concluded at 10:15 a.m.

Intermediate and adult Sunday School classes will start at 9:15 a.m., with the late worship service as usual, at 10:30 a.m.

Seances Held At Boerstler

Circle seances are held at Boerstler Memorial Spiritualist Church, 79 McDowell-st, the first Thursday evening of each month at 7:30.

Public is invited to attend.

Attend WWI Veterans Convention In Buffalo

Three Hilltop couples are attending the Veterans of World War I national convention in Buffalo, N.Y. They are members of the local barracks and Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of World War I of the USA, Inc.

Those attending are: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fonlow of 870 Geneva; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mohler of 3040 Crescent-dr, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schmidt of 782 S. Brinker-av.

Condition Fair

A four-year-old Hilltop boy was in fair condition Tuesday at Children's Hospital after being struck by an auto at Sarahsville, near the Guernsey-Nobel County line Sunday.

Aaron L. Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanford, 272 N. Eureka-av, suffered a head injury and multiple lacerations and abrasions.

State Highway Patrol said he ran into the path of an auto driven by Duane Jacobs, 18, of Sarahsville. Jacobs was not cited.

Hoge Names Organist, Choir Master

Donald Heath

Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church has announced the appointment of Donald H. Heath as church organist and choir master. He assumed his duties at Hoge Sept. 1.

Heath is organizing a graded system of six choirs, with members ranging from preschoolers to adults. All choirs are open to new members and anyone interested may call him at the church.

He came to the Hilltop from Iowa, where he served as organist and choir master at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Waterloo, as well as managing a music studio.

Heath received bachelor's and master's degrees in music from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N.J., in 1949 and 1950. He met his wife at the college where she was also studying for her master's degree.

After graduation he served as full time organist and choir master at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, and at St. Mark's Episcopal in Evanston, Ill., before the position in Waterloo.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath, now residing at Westgate Manor, are the parents of two sons, Charles, 11 and Thomas, eight, and a daughter, Pam, five.

Heath will also teach privately.

Luther League Program Slated At Hilltop Church

Intermediate Luther League will meet at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at Hilltop Lutheran Church.

"School Marm," Lynn Geshwilm, will conduct the devotional meeting with a touch of geography, physiology, history, art, arithmetic and gym.

At recess time, Miss Geshwilm's recreation committee, Denny Weisert and Miss Sue Lavitchka, will take charge of the gym period.

The devotional program will be presided over by the president, Hugh Williams.

Revival Is Planned At Trinity

Dr. Kautz

Dr. William H. Kautz of Montreal, Canada will conduct a revival at Trinity Assembly of God Church, 29 S. Eureka-av, Wednesday, Oct. 3 through Sunday, Oct. 9.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30, and 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Dr. Kautz became well known for his anti-Communism sermons and speeches in Montreal in 1953 and 1954. He said his information came from a source in Communist Poland, through a member of his church.

Dr. Kautz has preached in 17 countries, and is planning another six months tour overseas soon.

Dr. E. J. Quanabush is pastor of Trinity Church.

Avondale EUB Fall Rally To Get Under Way Tonight

Avondale Evangelical United Brethren Church has planned three events as a part of the fall rally program.

On Wednesday, Sept. 26, 7:30 p.m., the second Big Church Night service will be conducted in the sanctuary with emphasis on evangelism.

Church commission on evangelism will share in the service with Dr. Delbert S. Mills, former Avondale pastor for 28 years and Ohio Southeast Conference superintendent for seven years, as guest speaker.

The Youth Choir, the Youth Sextets and soloist, Garnet Keith, will provide music.

Gospel Harmony Boys from Huntington, W. Va., will appear at the Sunday (Church School at 9 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 30, and at the Morning Worship at 10:30

Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor, has arranged the order of worship to emphasize the theme, "Make a Joyful Noise unto the Lord. Come before His present with singing."

Evangelistic musician, Laverne Warner, will direct congregational singing with Garnet Keith offering the prayer solo.

The Gospel Harmony Boys will direct a song festival at 2:30 p.m. with the public invited.

Rev. Lloyd W. Tuttle, pastor of the St. Mark's Evangelical United Brethren Church in Lincoln Village, South, will lead the congregation in another Big Church Night meeting from the topic, "Christian Service." Wednesday, Oct. 3, 7:30 p.m.

Avondale Church is engaged in a 10-week "Christ First Through Church Loyalty" campaign with every member enrolled on a team which makes a weekly report through leaders, Mrs. Faye Lamb and Mrs. Virginia Clark.

Persons not attending church elsewhere are invited to visit Avondale to become better acquainted with the church and its religious program.

What is called the soul never changes; but what is called the mind changes at every age, with every situation, every day. The mind is mobile, varying with the direction of whatever wind blows upon it. —Joubert.

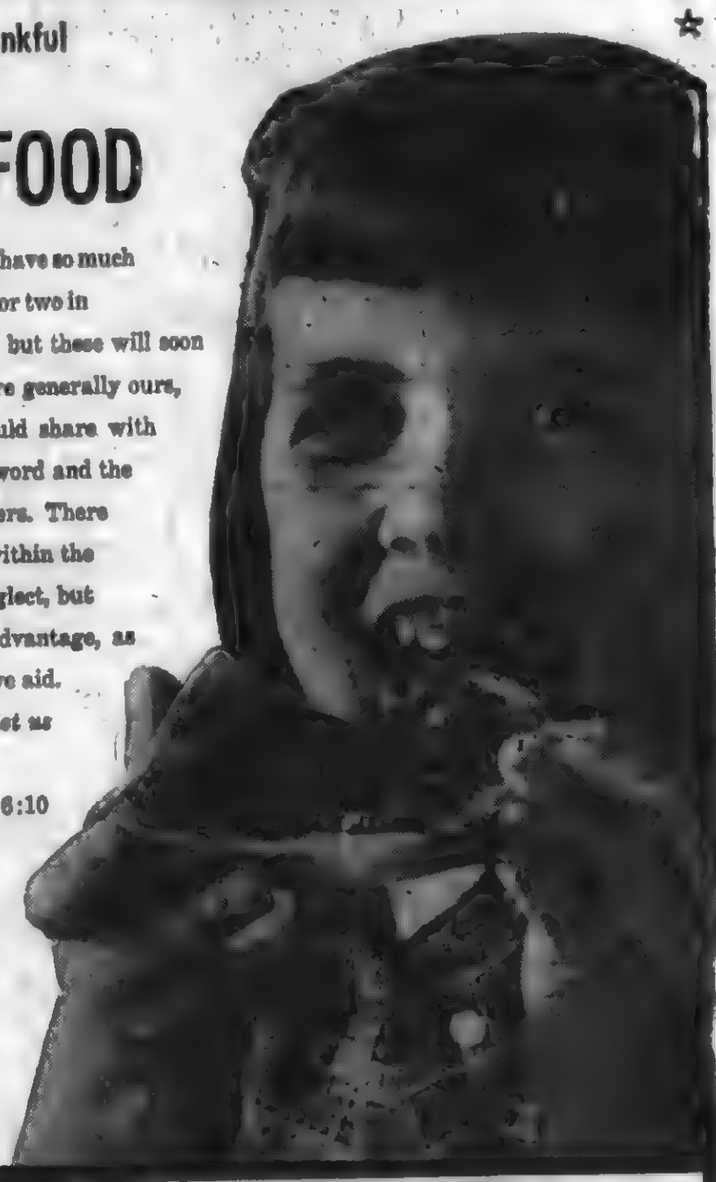
★ Be ever mindful and thankful to GOD for...

HEALTH and FOOD



In our nation today, the majority of us have so much to be thankful for. Sure we lose a tooth or two in growing up, as the one pictured here, but these will soon be replaced. Health and Happiness are generally ours, and through our abundance we should share with others who are less fortunate. God's word and the church encourage sharing with others. There are many areas of service to others within the churches, and these we should not neglect, but God has said that we should take advantage, as we are able, of all opportunities to give aid.

"As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men."

GALATIANS 6:10

THE CHURCH ENCOURAGES LOVE AND COMPASSION FOR OTHERS

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Council Gets Help On Tavern Issue

The West Side Neighborhood Council has received cooperation from the Department of Liquor Control, in answer to its fight against the tavern increase on the West Side.

George R. Dick, director, Department of Liquor Control, stated his department would be glad to send a representative to meet with neighborhood representatives to discuss the matter of curtailment of beer and wine sales permits in the area. He pledged the state's desire to cooperate in the matter.

In other action at the Sept. 22 meet, the welfare committee wishes to coordinate a joint West Side effort to meet the needs of underprivileged families during the Christmas season. Representatives of 31 West Side organizations have been invited to meet with the committee to develop a comprehensive program of Christmas cheer.

Frank Schneider, chairman of the traffic committee and Al Wilder, council field worker, met with City Traffic Engineer, Jack Gallagher, last Friday. Purpose of the meet was to assess the present state of each of the proposals included in the Master Traffic Plan passed by the council in 1961. Also discussed was the recent petition of residents on Ryan-av to permit parking on one side of that street.

Monday, traffic representatives met with representatives from large transit trucking companies to explore possible truck routes in the West Side, seeking elimination of truck traffic on residential streets.

Drug Stores To Close On Sabin Sundays

If you find your neighborhood pharmacy closed on the days that the Sabin Polio Immunizations are being given, it will be because the services of the pharmacists are required to prepare and dispense the vaccine. More than 300 pharmacists will be required to staff the Sabin Stations in Franklin County.

After contributing their professional services in this community health program, most community pharmacists will re-open their stores at 6 p.m.

KIWANIANS PRESENT FLAG TO CENTRAL

Mock Trial Set For Hilltop 'Y'

A mock trial will be presented at the Hilltop YMCA at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 2, by members of the Columbus Bar Association. A jury will be impaneled from the audience, following which a regular trial of an auto negligence case will be conducted.

The program will last one hour and is open to the public. It will serve as an introduction to the "Law for Laymen" class for the fall term of the "Y" Informal School.

Weisensel Dates Show On Hilltop

George Weisensel, Chicago dental supply salesman and semi-professional magician, will give a one-hour show Thursday evening for girls of the Friends Rescue Home, 245 N. Powell-av.

Weisensel has been giving free performances for local youth and welfare agencies for nearly 30 years.

Glenwood Recreation Center

The following activities are going to be organized at Glenwood Recreation Center within the next two weeks: modern dance class for girls 6 to 12; ballet dance class for girls 6 to 12; tap dance class for girls 6 to 12; cooking class for girls 8 to 12; sewing class for girls 8 to 12; cooking class for boys 6 to 12; Buckeye Club for boys 6 to 12; Teen Club boys and girls 8 to 10; Gleaners Club—Girls 6 to 12; Bridge Club—adults; square dance—boys and girls, adults.

The day and time of these classes will be scheduled after it has been determined which day would be best for most of those individuals interested.

Anyone interested in any of these should register at Glenwood or call BR. 4-7416 for further information.

Gleaners Reorganized

The Gleaners Club at Glenwood Recreation Center has been reorganized and will begin a varied program of activities within the next two weeks. This club is composed of girls six through 12 years of age. Activities include parties, dances, variety shows, trips, hikes, wiener roasts and many other special events. Any girl who would like a membership should call the club advisor, Donna Berlo, of the center (BR. 47416).

Adult Classes To Start

Adult craft classes will start at Glenwood Recreation Center the week of Oct. 1. The schedule will be: adult sewing class—10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; adult oil painting—6 to 10 p.m. Wednesday; crocheting, knitting and hooked rug, 6 to 10 p.m. Monday.

Sunshine Recreation Center

Dances

There will be a Hi-Fi Dance on the second Thursday of each month this year. The first Hi-Fi Dance will be held Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

The new dance schedule at Sunshine has been working out very nicely and all boys and girls must be registered. Registration is being conducted on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons and evenings. All first, second, third and fourth grade boys and girls are invited to come over to their "Special Dance" from 6 to 7 every Friday night.

New Leaders

Bill Olt, a graduate of Ohio State University, is a recent employe of the Columbus Recreation Department. Majoring in Physical Education and Health Education, Bill is continuing his studies at Ohio States.

While at Ohio State Bill did work part-time for the recreation department during the winter quarter. This year Bill will spend most of his time in the gymnasium with the boys and girls. He will conduct classes in weightlifting, wrestling and woodworking. Bill is also trying to create interest in a pre-teen touch football league at Sunshine.

Sonia Kovitz, the new arts and crafts leader, after graduating from Central where among other things she took printing, attended OSU for two years. She has since then spent some time in France. She plans to eventually finish her B.A. in art or English, teach, and she would like to travel some more.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The regular schedule of fall activities is now underway at Hilltop YMCA. All club groups have now conducted their initial meetings in the Hilltop schools. Building activities are also well underway in the newly remodeled Youth Center.

All Gra-Y Clubs will be holding their second week of activities in the local schools. The schedule for this year finds Lindbergh and Binns meeting on Monday; Highland, North Franklin and Westgate on Tuesday; John Burroughs, Eakin Road and West Broad on Wednesday; Prairie Lincoln and Georgian Heights on Thursday; and Valleyview and West Mound on Friday. This program is open to all boys in grades 4-6. Leaders for this year's programs will be Gary Sixt, Doug Lewis and Denny Moyer.

A joint Jr. Hi-Y meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 7. Members of Hilltonia, Westmoor and West clubs will meet at this time to discuss programs to be conducted during the new year. Any boys in these schools who have not attended an earlier meeting within the schools are urged to be present at this time. Following the business meeting, members will witness a mock trial presented by the Columbus Bar Association.

The Hilltop Indian Guide Longhouse announces that it will hold its annual fall campout on Oct 6 and 7, at South Side "Y" Park. Awards will be presented at this time to members of the Indian Guide Dance team. Charters will be issued to all newly organized tribes. Final plans will be sent to all Big and Little Braves within the next week.

The first regularly scheduled Junior High Dance will be held Friday evening, Sept. 28, at 7:30. These dances are open to all junior high students who hold memberships in the Hilltop YMCA or YWCA. A fee of 25 cents will be charged to YMCA members while YMCA members will pay 50 cents per dance.

Former Resident Dies In Florida

Service for Delphia Lee, formerly of the Hilltop, who died Monday, Sept. 24, in Leesburg, Fla., will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Jerry Spears Funeral Home. Interment will be in Sunset Cemetery.

She is survived by husband, Clarence, and daughter, Mrs. R. F. Schmidt.

Camp Fire Days Held At Great Western Shopping Center

APPROXIMATELY 150 CAMP FIRE, Bluebird, Junior High and Horizon Club girls from Grove City, Lincoln Village and the Hilltop participated in Camp Fire Days at Great Western Shopping Center Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22. The American flag was raised Saturday morning by Wotini Horizon Club members who are, from left, Paula Gillogly, 719 S. Roys; Pamela Jones, 2037 Olive; Tamara Taggart, 2220 Eakin; Candy Canaday, 2221 Parkside, and Anita Fine, 205 S. Brinker.

FLOATS AND MARCHING UNITS identified by banners were in a parade through the shopping center Saturday afternoon. The paraders were headed by the West High Band and Westkets.

The We Ta Han Ya Camp Fire Group held their "parents party" and ceremonial, on the patio of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maples, 464 Old Village-rd, Sept. 18.

Mrs. Dale Miller, guardian of the group, presided over the ceremony. Awards were presented and a special award was presented to the We Ta Han Ya Camp Fire Group for their exhibit at the Ohio State Fair. They won first prize for their Camp Fire Club display.

Guests for the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Hamlyn Benney and daughter, Linda; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sutton and daughter Shelley; Mrs. Richard Butler and daughter, Christine; Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Marshall and daughter, Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Southerland and daughter, Janice; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spires and daughter, Louise; Mrs. James Hellyer and daughter Phyllis; Cheryl Reis; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller and daughter Melanie, and host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maples and daughter Sherry.

After the ceremony the Camp Fire Group presented an entertaining skit for their parents. The refreshments served were made by the girls of the Group.

The Census Bureau estimates that one in five couples lives to celebrate its 50th wedding anniversary.

AT THE COUNCIL FIRE Saturday night, a candle is lighted for the Social Leadership award, the highest Camp Fire rank. With Mrs. Donald Jenks, 706 French-dr, are the award winners, Patti Buckner, 3215 Parkside-rd (left) and Anita Fine, 205 S. Brinker-av (right).

Research Is The Important Key In Designing Efficient Homes

By John E. Sandefur
President, Homebuilders Assn. of Greater Columbus

These are exciting years in the home building industry for the era is one of change and progress.

Home builders have embarked on a vast research program which should have a great influence on the kind of homes we live in and the way we live.

One of the overall objectives of the research program is to find and test better and less expensive ways in which to build. Another aim is to bring about better use of residential land. Each year the industry is advancing toward the achievement of these goals and, simultaneously, making home ownership possible for more families.

No single home builder or any small group of home builders has the resources, financial or otherwise, to conduct such large scale research activities alone. But members of the Homebuilders Associalies are participating in these activities through the National Association of Home Builders with which they are affiliated. The NAHB has more than 40,000 members. It is the united effort of this huge group that makes the far-reaching program possible.

Among the dramatic projects in the research program have been the building of demonstration low-cost homes for low-income families and the construction of research houses to test new building procedures and materials. Four research houses, built in the last few years, have contributed innumerable better features to today's new homes, from improved clothes closets to exterior walls.

A fifth Research House, due to be completed this year, will add its contributions to home building skills after it has been tested through family use.

Studies and tests of new ways to use residential land are being made by the NAHB in cooperation with the Urban Land Institute. The objective is to prevent waste of land through new patterns for locating a house on a lot.

One of the encouraging aspects in this frontier-crossing era of home building is that many elements of the industry are realizing that cooperative efforts will bring richer rewards to all concerned, but especially the consumer public.

Many large industrial firms whose products go into homes are working with home builders to develop better materials and equipment.

The home builder himself is changing. He has moved away from the role of small-scale artisan builder of one or two houses a year. He has become a land developer, merchandiser, and, frequently, a community founder as well as a builder.

Today's home builder also is proud of his standing in his community and the code of ethics which governs his business. Members of the Homebuilders Association of Greater Columbus subscribe to the NAHB Code, which declares:

"Home ownership can and should be within reach of every American family.

"American homes should be well-designed, well-constructed and well-located in attractive communities with educational, recreational, religious and shopping facilities accessible to all.

"Honesty is our guiding business policy. High standards of health, safety and sanitation shall be built into every home.

"As members of a progressive industry, we encourage research to develop new materials, new building techniques, new building equipment and improve methods of home financing, to the end that every home purchaser may get the greatest value possible for every dollar."

62% OWN HOMES

Most American families want to own their homes, and the availability of the kind of financing made popular by FHA has helped them to do it. In 1940 about 30 per cent of all families in the United States owned the homes they lived in. Twenty years later, the proportion had risen to 62 per cent. Sixty-two of every hundred families are home owners. This is the highest ratio in our history.

Carpet Meets Rigors Of TV

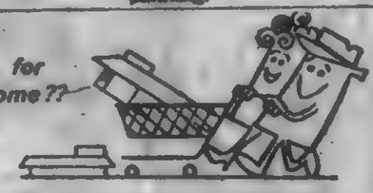
The pros and cons on TV have raged ever since the introduction of the "one-eyed monster" in the living room—and no matter which side of the argument you're on, there is no doubt that television has meant changes in our way of life.

Remember the days when Grandma's prize carpet was in the "parlor" and was rarely exposed? Compare this with today's living room or den, where there's most likely a cluster of children around a TV set during the day, the family and friends at night.

The result: Carpet gets more use during a year in today's homes than it got in a lifetime of the old-fashioned parlor days.

Carpet can take it, however.

Designs are both attractive and practical.



For The Handyman

Cut down clean-up time by installing stainless steel wall tiles to form spash boards behind your sink and range.

Stainless steel floor edging and carpet binding withstand foot traffic and repeated washing, save wear on linoleum and rugs.

Stainless steel tools—hammers, pliers, screw-drivers, saws, measuring tapes have built-in rust resistance, need no special care even when stored in basement or garage.

Perk up your front entrance and make it easy to locate night or day with bright stainless steel house numerals and letters. They resist wind and weather without painting.

Deffet, Inc. Project Is Nearly Done

George H. Deffet, president of Deffet Homes, Inc. a residential construction firm, stated that its $250,000 project on St. Agnes-av, located Southwest, is in its completion stages.

George Deffet

These are ranch and split - level homes with completely new floor plans. The interiors feature such custom items as twin bowls in bath vanities; the use and combination of Walltex, paint, wallpaper and ceramics to give beauty and distinction to the decor; well-designed traffic patterns and many other features of interest to today's discriminating purchaser.

In addition, announcement was made of the formation of Deffet Rentals, Inc., which will immediately begin the extension of sewer and water lines to Eaton-av, west of the South freeway, for a quarter million dollar apartment development featuring medium priced rentals.

Purchasing and supervision on these sites is being handled by Thomas H. Deffet, recently appointed construction coordinator.

The appointment of Walter H. Popp as a salesman with the brokerage section of the Deffet companies was also noted.

GLICK'S DISPLAYS NEW LINE

THE FRESH COUNTRY LOOK is becoming a favorite in the city as well; inspired in part by the traditional appeal of furniture styles from the French countryside, and in part by the increasing desire for a sense of mellowness in apartment homes. Glick's Furniture Stores are exclusive dealers of the new Chateau Collection in Columbus.

Taxus Hedge Could Be Real Bargain This Fall

Taxus is one of the finest of all evergreen plants for a hedge—low, medium or high—depending on what you want. And this fall over most of the country a taxus hedge could be a real bargain because there is a surplus of these plants in many parts of the country, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. There are of course many other excellent plant materials for hedges. In the more Southern states, Podocarpus, oleander, hollies, box and similar materials are widely used.

The surplus of taxus and other hedge materials is not expected to last because of the high demand for these evergreen plants for many uses on the home property. Many nurseries do not carry over surpluses from one year to the next. So if you want a hedge, now is the time to get it, the association advises.

U-Shaped Kitchen Is Handy

Homeowners cramped for space will find many advantages in a U-shaped kitchen. Not only does it pack many utilities in little space, but it also saves steps and provides work-flow convenience.

U-shaped kitchens are usually laid out with the stove on one side, the refrigerator on the other, and the sink at the curved end of the "U." Thus, the sink is handy both to the refrigerator and stove —while to get to the refrigerator to the stove, or vice versa, the housewife need only to turn around.

And, while working at any of the three work stations, other persons can readily enter the room without creating traffic jams. (The center aisle of the "U" should be at least four feet across.)

Counter work space is built on both sides of the stove and the sink. If surfaced with quality materials such as ceramic tile the countertops provide added working space for hot pots and pans, wet vegetables and cutting or slicing. And, because real tile is stainproof, such countertops are easy to keep clean.

The U-shaped kitchen provides adequate space for doors and windows, including a window over the sink which many housewives prefer.

DURING COMING WEEK—

Glistening Array Of Homes Displayed

National Home Week, Sept. 30 to Oct. 6, rings up the curtain on a drama close to the hearts of American families—the drama of new homes.

Throughout the country, wonderful new homes are on display. The showcase of new homes amounts to a preview of the homes to be built in 1963.

Home building is an evolutionary process. Each year's new homes have some new features, along with the best retained from other years. Many of the homes on parade this fall are bellwethers of the homes to come early in 1963.

The desire to own one's own home is a characteristic of American families. The nation is a country of home owners. Our homes are among the first things visitors from overseas want to see. Each year, many housing officials from other countries arrive in the United States to study Government policies and conventional financing that help make home ownership possible here. More than six out of every 10 American families live in their own homes.

If you are among those who want and plan to upgrade your family's mode of living, there is no better time than during National Home Week to inspect new residences and see for yourself what is available.

The new homes are the most liveable, attractive, convenient and comfortable that the home building industry has ever produced. This is true of homes in every price bracket.

I have seen hundreds of sparkling new homes in my travels about the country as president of the National Association of Home Builders.

Everywhere, new homes are giving more value, dollar for dollar, compared to 15 years ago, than other important basics such as food, clothing and transportation. Because builders are using a wider variety of new and improved materials, new-home buyers benefit daily—they get more house for their money to begin with and they spend much less on maintenance than they would have spent to keep up an older home.

Remember when built-in appliances or an extra bathroom were luxuries you saw only in more expensive homes? Today they are a part of many moderately-priced homes. Today's new homes have built-in features in the kitchen and bathrooms that were not even available in expensive, luxury homes of a mere five years ago.

When was the last time you heard someone say, "They don't build homes like they used to?" Whoever say it today is right. Homes today have more work-saving conveniences than a few years ago and they are built of improved materials. There is better heating, cooling, insulation, flooring, plumbing, wiring, roofing and siding.

Regardless of the style of offer more in liveability than ever before.

Every section of the country tends to have housing features dictated by its own climate and customs. The new homes you will see in your own community may have different features but I do believe you will be impressed.

The plans are designed to give privacy for the sleeping area to avoid through traffic patterns in the living areas and, above all, to make every inch of house space count.

The amount of storage space in any new home should be a joy to the housewife.

The best way to find out is to make National Home Week a time to go and see for yourself.

Hold your television antenna firmly to the chimney with permanently bright, weather resistant stainless steel bands.

Women Have Last Say In Selection Of Home

The nation's home builders are becoming increasingly sensitive to "my fair lady's" likes and dislikes. The reason, of course, is that women generally have the final say in the selection of a new home.

When women indicated their preference for attractive kitchens, builders quickly became kitchen experts. Today, kitchens are all that any woman could ask for. And now that women have indicated a desire for air conditioning, builders are offering air conditioning as an optional feature in most new homes.

Many families, the American Gas Association reports, are going a step further and specifying gas central systems which combine heating and air conditioning on a year-round basis. One advantage of these systems is their ability to maintain comfortable indoor temperatures in every room in the home, regardless of the weather outside.

Automatic Controls Replacing 'Sixth Sense' In Gas Cooking

"It cooks just as well as it did the day I bought it — twenty years ago."

How many times have you heard a friend or neighbor say this about her gas range? And it makes a certain amount of sense, too. After all, as the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association points out, there's nothing about a gas range to wear out; there aren't any moving parts; there aren't any elements to burn out. All it takes to assure gas range longevity, says GAMA, is reasonably good housekeeping.

"Many people are downright sentimental about their old stoves," says Edward A. Nash, gas appliance sales director for Norge Sales Corp., Chicago, and chairman of GAMA's domestic gas range division. "But in most of these cases, sentiment actually stands in the way of better, surer results, and a saving of time, energy and money that results from cooking on a modern automatic gas range."

Aside from the fact that today's ranges are made of better materials than were available a decade ago, are cooler to the touch and are better finished there is the most important matter of greater versatility.

Present day models are equipped to boil, broil, fry, deep-fat-fry, simmer, rotisserie, barbecue, griddle, sear, braise, bake and keep foods warm, and ready to serve without drying or overcooking.

"This is not to say that you can't do most of these things on the old ranges," says the GAMA official. "But it takes the sixth sense of experience to get good results without waste, particularly in the preparation of meats which, of course, are the most expensive item on the average food budget.

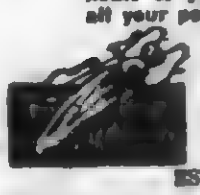
"On the other hand, when you can put a roast into the oven and set the controls for quick high heat to sear the meat and lock in the savory juices, then cut the temperature back to the roasting heat, stop the heat when the meat reaches the degree of doneness you want, and then hold just enough heat to keep the meat ready to serve even hours later—and do all this automatically, unattended — then you're really cooking modern."

What about top burners? Nash answers by explaining that the average top grade gas range now features at least one top burner with a "brain," an automatic sensing element that holds the heat in a utensil to within a couple of degrees of the preset temperature. This means that top-of-the-range recipes now can include specific temperatures. No more guesswork.

"In other words, if you add cold ingredients, the sensing element signals the burner for more heat and you can see the flame rise to the occasion," says Nash. "With this control, you can even bake on a top burner—and failures in the separation of items like omelets, delicate sauces and soufflés are practically eliminated."

A large percentage of the nearly 2,000,000 gas ranges bought each year go into home modernization projects, Nash reports. Of these and the balance that are absorbed by the new-homes market, at lease 25 per cent now are built-ins. These, of course, provide an oven and broiler at eye-height in the kitchen wall and at the top burners in a counter.

Another new type of gas range is either wall-hung, with the oven and broiler above the top burners, or set against the wall on a kitchen counter. Still other models are slide-ins. These are like the regular free-standing types, but fit into the counter. In many homes where there are large families or a good deal of entertaining, householders prefer double built-in arrangements.



Sliding wood windows make the sweeping view an important decorative element in this handsome livingroom. Folding shutters of ponderosa pine screen out sun, allow lake breeze to enter.

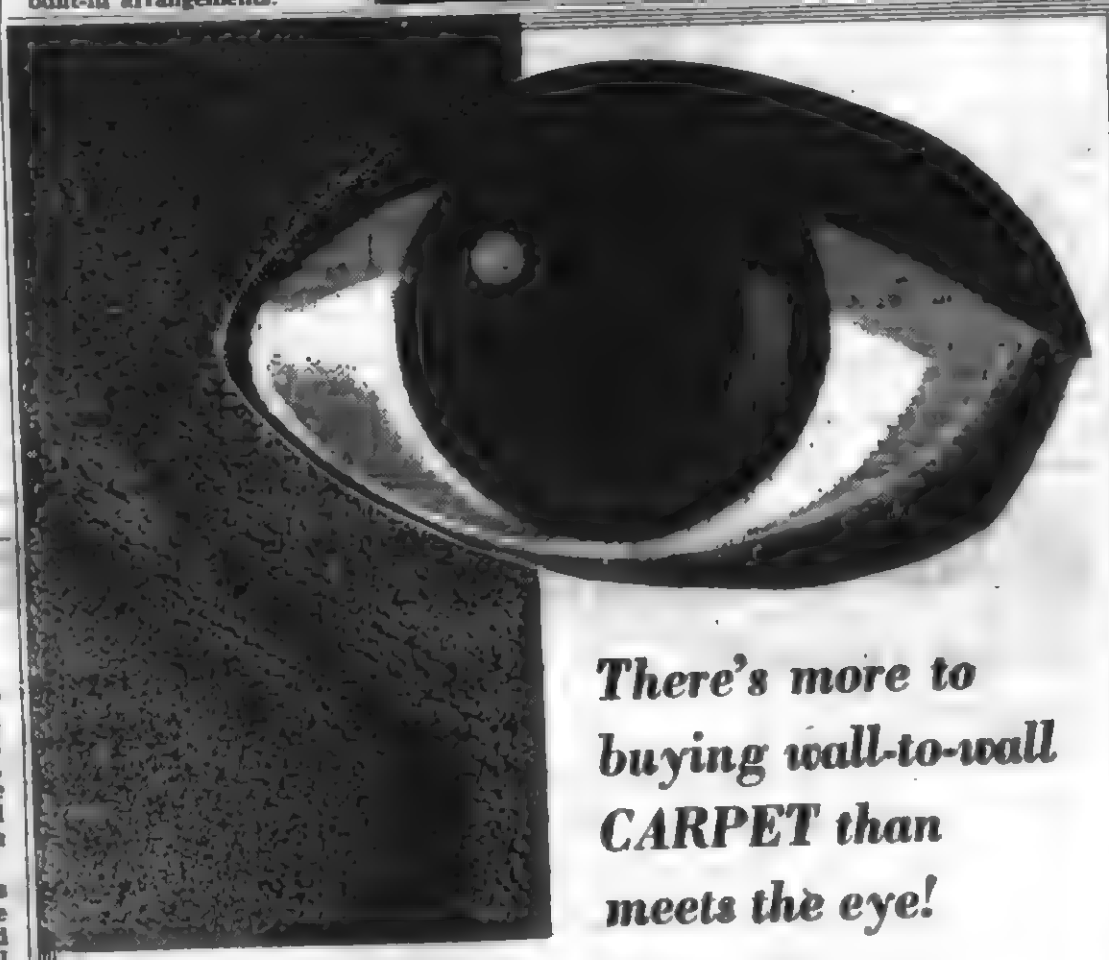
Carpets Of Beauty, Warmth Give House Lived-In Feeling

Carpeting — soft, warm, quiet and beautiful — is one of the first major items for a new house that homemakers want and buy. In fact, carpets and rugs are rapidly becoming the finished flooring in many new homes.

Last year, according to a nation-wide consumer survey, 12 per cent of all the U. S. families that bought wall-to-wall carpeting made this purchase for a new home. In many instances, the carpet was bought with the home or shortly after the family moved into the house.

Newlyweds, for example, buy carpet at the rate of two-thirds above the national average, and families living in their homes less than five years account for 51 per cent of all the carpet and rug purchasing families.

There are a variety of reasons why homemakers want carpets in their new homes as soon as possible. A growing number of families are realizing considerable savings by having carpet installed over inexpensive subflooring materials, such as plywood, or directly over concrete slab. In many cases they find the money saved by eliminating conventional flooring will cover the cost of the carpet.



But besides its economic advantages, new home owners hate to delay their enjoyment of carpet's multiple decorative and practical features. Carpeted floors give a new house a "warm," furnished appearance. For the homemaker who has probably not yet bought all the furniture she needs, this is important. On carpet, the basic pieces she does have will not look isolated and scanty as they often do on bare floors.

Also carpet can absorb as much as 50 per cent of the airborne noise in a room, and is the only acoustical material that can effectively deaden floor impact noises. By eliminating the hollow, echoing sounds of footsteps across bare floors, carpeting contributes further to making new homes seem more "lived in" and less barren.

Carpet's cushioning comfort is fatigue-reducing and pleasant underfoot, and from a safety standpoint, its non-skid surface prevents slips and absorbs the impact of falls that do occur. Another practical is that carpet provides ready "seating" for guests—a vital point in new homes usually a little short on chairs.

Not to be overlooked is the easy care feature of carpet. Quick whisks of a sweeper or vacuum cleaner can make a room "instantly" ready for guests without the effort of floor scrubbing and waxing.

But beyond all these practical benefits, one of the major reasons new home [redacted] really like carpet is its sheer, luxurious beauty. It gives pride and pleasure in a new home that is difficult to match.

There's more to buying wall-to-wall CARPET than meets the eye!

CONFUSED by trade names given the new carpet fabrics? Do you know which will clean easiest? Wear best? Serves a particular need to advantage?

Modern Landscaping Pays For Itself, Survey Shows

Well-designed landscaping on home properties will return the money it costs many times over in increased value of the property, in the opinion of home owners who have landscaped their properties, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

In a Pennsylvania State University study, 62 per cent of home owners who have landscaped their homes estimate that the plantings have increased the value of their real estate from two to more than 10 times the amount of money spent for the landscaping. Increased property values of three to four or more times the cost of the planting were the most frequent answers by these home owners who already have had their properties landscaped.

'Nicer To Live In'

Beauty and utility also were leading reasons for landscaping, including shade, privacy, windbreaks and [illegible] reasons. Many said the landscaped home is "nicer to live in"; or the "home would look bare" without it, while others just liked to grow flowers and fruits. In doing so, they have a "feeling of accomplishment."

How do you go about modernizing? You are the judge. The first step is to take a critical look at your property. Is the planting overgrown? Does it provide for "garden living" in a space planted for that purpose? Is it pleasing and private from the street, as well as from inside the house looking out? Does it have color in winter, or is it drab and cold at that time? Finally, does it supply flowers and fruits for inside the home?

Once you have taken a good look at the property, there are several ways to go about modernizing it. Here sound planning pays off. Contact your nurseryman for his advice. A professional plan by a landscape nurseryman, in which you can have the work done completely, or planned on a do-it-yourself basis, may be desirable.

Should Be Planned

To get the fullest returns in increased property value the planting should be modern and beautiful, provide a higher standard of living on the entire property. Incidentally, a majority of the people who have good landscaping urged that their friends do likewise because "trees and shrubs increase the value of the property."

Most nurseries of any size will plan your landscaping in such a way that it can be completed piecemeal, on a do-it-yourself basis, or planted by the nursery.

The objective of good landscaping is to blend your home into the surrounding landscape to provide a composite picture of beauty and utility. From the street your home should be doubly attractive because of the plantings.

Site Planning

For people who contemplate building a new home, the time to call in the landscape nurseryman is immediately after you have purchased the site and before you start building. The landscape nurseryman can cooperate with your builder and help you to determine the best location for the house on your lot, in order to take full advantage of land contours and other features in making the site as beautiful and useful as it possibly can be. He will show you where your garden living room should be to take full advantage of terrain and sun and shade, and the most practical location for it with respect to your kitchen, for example.

Any way the home owner looks at it, says the American Association of Nurserymen, competent advice in planning his landscaping will save both future dollars as well as headaches.

Colorful Trees Are Excellent Decorations

In the Northeast especially, fall color generally is considered the color of the maples, oaks, pines and spruces, birches and other trees which are striking with contrasting yellows, oranges, reds and greens.

The Midwest and North Central states also have their brilliant colors, while the Rocky Mountain area with yellow aspens and evergreens is believed by some to be the most beautiful of all.

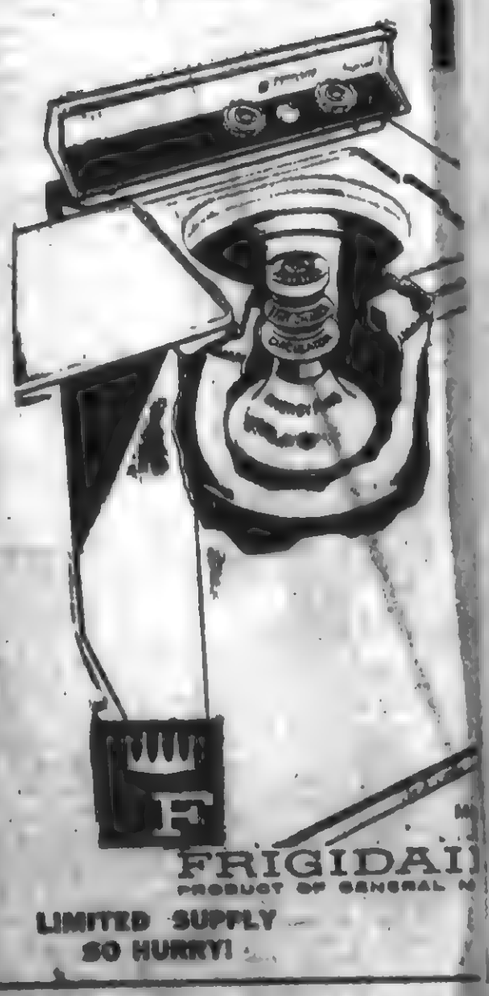
Every area can have beautiful color and bloom, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Moths Acquire Tobacco Habit

You can forget about that old excuse of "ashes being good for the rug—they protect it from moths."

For one thing, a research group at the University of California has found that these perverse insects actually have a taste for both cigar and cigarette ashes.

And anyway, leading carpet manufacturers in the United States have already eliminated the need for such precaution. Most rugs and carpets today are mothproofed permanently during the process of manufacturing by special chemical treatments.



Pretty Planter

A glass planter is a novel gift idea for any season. As a gift or for your home, fill a 6" or 8" glass block vase ¾ full of pebbles, sand, marbles or dirt, resting Narcissus bulbs on top. Fill with water to the base of the bulbs and place in a cool, dark location for two weeks. Keep water level constant. When the roots have formed about 2", take the vase into the light—not direct sunlight. Full flowering will come about five weeks after planting, a perfect gift for anyone at anytime.

USE BRIGHT COLORS

Have fun with colors in decorating your vacation home. Vivid colors in a year-round home could tend to be hard to live with after a while. Most families prefer restful for their permanent home, but they enjoy brighter colors for their vacation cottage.

IF YOU BUY REAL ESTATE—YOU SHOULD KNOW . . . .

When you buy a home you are usually making the most important investment of your life. That home is "real estate." The validity of your ownership depends entirely on the "TITLE" to that real estate. This "TITLE" therefore, becomes the most important part of your deal. Now — how do you protect yourself in such a transaction? The answer is OWNER'S TITLE INSURANCE. No doubt you have noticed that the most experienced real estate investors and mortgage lenders insist on TITLE INSURANCE protection when they buy or lend money. If your title is insured you, too, have used good business judgment. OWNER'S TITLE INSURANCE is the only kind of insurance that protects a buyer in his future ownership of real estate against the consequences of what may have happened before he owned the property. This TITLE INSURANCE is issued after a careful investigation has been made into the past history of the title. The purpose of this investigation is to determine, so far as possible, whether or not the title is complete and valid and the extent to which it is encumbered when the investigation is made. No annual premiums are involved. Once you have it, it protects you forever. It is the only sure way to protect against title loss because of mistakes of the past. When you buy real estate, always ask, "Is my title being protected by OWNER'S TITLE INSURANCE?" Most knowledgeable real estate investors INSIST on it. When you buy real estate always DEMAND Owner's Title Insurance for YOUR title protection — no real estate investment is better than the TITLE. What's more, you can always prove your good title, later, if you wish to sell or mortgage it. It's the best way to protect your real estate investment.

There's A Different Way Of Life In The New Split-Level Homes

One of the popular home designs being built today is the split-level, with living-dining and kitchen on the main level, and a bedroom wing above a lower level family room area.

This large informal space, usually with a second bath and utility areas on the same level, can produce a remarkable change in home living patterns. The big change it makes is on freeing the other rooms in the house for the uses for which they were originally intended.

The living room can be a place for quiet relaxation and adult hospitality, and the kitchen need not double as a playroom for the youngsters, if the house has an adequate family room. The family room takes over the functions of playroom, rumpus room and even a workroom for family projects and individual hobbies.

Distinctive Decor

Although its functions are less formal and it is subjected to harder use, the family room can have decorative distinction. It can be a good looking room through the use of hardboard panels for wall coverings, for facing partitions, for acoustical ceilings and even for cabinets and other necessary storage units.

Once used in home construction as a purely utilitarian product, hardboard is now available with many new faces, including realistic wood-grained finished surfaces, ribbed, striated, embossed and grooved patterns. There are also plastic-coated finishes and a full range of perforated designs, some with random patterns, square holes and lattice-like die-cut designs. The wealth of possibilities make it feasible for the householder to achieve almost any wanted effect in the family room, or quite literally in any room in the house.

Research Product

Hardboard, a product of research, has certain advantages over the natural wood from which it is made. It will not warp, check or split. It resists dents, which makes it a natural choice for hard use areas in the home, especially where active youngsters play. That is why, for example, it is so often used for wainscoting in hallways. In addition, it is easy to clean, with just a wipe of a damp sponge or cloth.

Besides its durability, hardboard has water-resistance engineered into it. Standard grade hardboard, while it can be used in humid areas in the home, should not be applied in really damp rooms. In a bathroom or laundry room, for example, the use of tempered hardboard is recommended. Tempered hardboard has been specially processed at the factory to withstand damp conditions.

These properties made hardboard popular with home builders for such uses as underlayment and soffits. Now, with the new swing to beauty and variety of surface, hardboard has gained acceptance as a handsome and practical interior paneling material in the best rooms of the house.

Hubbub of Activity

Because a family room is a multipurpose area which may be filled with a hubbub of activity, control of the noise level becomes important. Perforated hardboard is the new, easy and economical answer. Applied over two-inch sound absorbent batts, it provides the desired reduction of noise, and retains the advantage of ease of cleaning and painting, and its tough dent-resistance.

Modern Stone Products For Handyman

For the first time, colorful "do it yourself" stone is available to the homeowner. New steel-reinforced, pre-formed Perma-Stone engineered to allow the average handyman to apply it to any surface with ease, each stone has its own fastening hoops extending from it through which nails or screws pass to hold the stone to the wall surface.

Each fastening loop is also a spacer so that proper joint size becomes automatic. It comes in three sizes: 2"x24" 4"x24", 6"x24" and is easily sawed for special sizing.

Abecedarian Or Zymurgist, Gas Helps You Earn Better Living

You may not be an abecedarian or a zymurgist by profession. But whatever you do, you can be sure that gas or products made with the aid of gas help you make your living.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association figures that industry uses gas in more than 26,000 ways, ranging right through the alphabet.

For instance, the abecedarian (a person who teaches the alphabet) works with paper made with the aid of gas and printing that uses gas heat to dry the ink. The zymurgist (who works in the chemistry of fermentation, as applied to wine making and brewing) uses gas to provide heat for his experiments and processes.

Whether it's an adze, a kaleidoscope, a tiddlywink or a vacuum tube, gas had a part in its making.

Industry uses gas to anneal, bake, cut and dry, and to make toys, underwear, verniers, watches, xylophones, yo-yos, and even zippers.

And, whatever the materials that went into your home, most of them were either created or finished by gas technology. Lumber, cast iron, steel, tile, linoleum, paint, plastics, appliances, nails and almost everything else in the structure is processed by gas at some point in its manufacture.

Lowell F. Crouse, vice president of Maxon Premix Burner Co., Muncie, Ind., and chairman of GAMMA's industrial gas equipment division, says "here are sound reasons why so much of our manufacturing muscle stems from gas."

"Among the more than 150,000 industrial gas users," Crouse points out, "there is general agreement that gas is flexible in its application, clean to use, economical, burns at a constant and easily-controllable temperature, and suffers none of the service breakdowns that can be caused by weather."

25,000,000 Prefer Gas

Today, gas heats the water in more than 25 million homes. In 1961 alone, 2,500,000 gas heaters were sold, and an expected three million will be sold in 1962.

One reason for the steady increase in the sale of gas heaters is the tremendous demand for hot water in the home. More than 80 percent of all water used in the home is hot water. Even discounting baths, dishes, laundry and showers, there are still 136 uses for hot water.

Gas is used for such diverse purposes as making lipstick or heating industrial ovens, some as long as a city block. Watchmakers and precision tool makers use gas to help produce parts so precise that they are measured under a microscope.

The automobile manufacturers, in the course of putting the nation on wheels, have found gas useful in more than 80 separate ways on the production line, ranging from the block testing of engines to the quick drying of body paints.

Approximately 50 billion tin cans, carrying much of the nation's food supply, are manufactured each year by gas equipment. And, in most instances, the food in the cans will be cooked with gas.

The GAMMA official points out that gas also is playing an important role in the Space Age. Laboratories using gas have produced temperature of more than 3,000 degrees, and industry leaders say that 5,000 degrees may soon be attained.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spires and daughter, Louise; Mrs. James Hellyer and daughter Phyllis; Cheryl Reis; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller and daughter Melanie, and host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maples and daughter Sherry.

After the ceremony the Camp Fire Group presented an entertaining skit for their parents. The refreshments served were made by the girls of the Group.

The Census Bureau estimates that one in five couples lives to celebrate its 50th wedding anniversary.

GRACIOUS LIVING for American homes is heralded in this courtyard-entranceway utilizing durable ceramic tile in eye-catching design. In addition to the tiled wall and floor, white mosaic ceramic tile was mounted on the glass partition at left to achieve the decorative and light-filtering qualities of grillwork. Design is by Paul Rudolph, dean of architecture at Yale University.

New Homes Designed For In-Out Living

By Robert Fox
Chrmn. Design Subcommittee,
National Association of Home Builders

Today's new homes are better designed than ever before —and they are designed for outdoors as well as indoor living, a trend that is bound to continue in view of the increased leisure most Americans enjoy.

We are seeing better design in our homes because builders have the services of a greater number of talented people. They have, either on their staffs or as consultants, such specialists as industrial designers, architects, landscapers and interior decorators.

One of the most dramatic advances in home building is that design today tends to embrace an entire community rather than a single home. Home buyers consider their choice in terms of the overall neighborhood effect.

If we can throw off the burden of inflexible planning requirements that some communities have created, we can build architecturally more interesting communities and achieve a more interesting placement of a house in a community. This has to come.

Many of 1962's new homes have exteriors of traditional design. This is because of a trend among families to take a conservative view of how their homes should look from the outside.

But most of these same families want modern interiors for their homes. They want modern design in their kitchens, bathrooms and in their indoor-outdoor living areas.

Actually, we are seeing dramatic changes in interior design. For one thing, the family room has become a standard room in nearly all new homes. I believe that in the future the living room will become a small formal room, much like the old-fashioned parlor in many respects.

Unquestionably, we are going to see the advent of the mechanical core in the home of the future. This may be only five years away. It will mean a concentration of bathroom, kitchen, heating-cooling pipes, wiring and equipment in one area, which could be located in the center of the house or elsewhere.

Big steps toward the installation of such a mechanical core were taken by the National Association of Home Builders in several of its research houses. All the plumbing pipes and fixtures were located on one wall. On one side of the wall was the kitchen sink with its water inlets and outlets. On the other side was the bathroom equipment. The "back-to-back" installation is quite common now.

The home of the future, I believe, will make use of larger components, such as an entire pre-built bathroom which will come with tub, vanity and all equipment. Such large components will be easier to clean and maintain and they will be built to high standards of production under completely controllable conditions.

Obviously, we will see, too, the greater emergence of plastics in the materials used for home building. They will be used for floors, ceilings, and walls, and piping of all types and they likely will contribute structural strength to a house as well as beauty.

New homes at this particular point in history have become more exciting because of many new developments in design and materials.

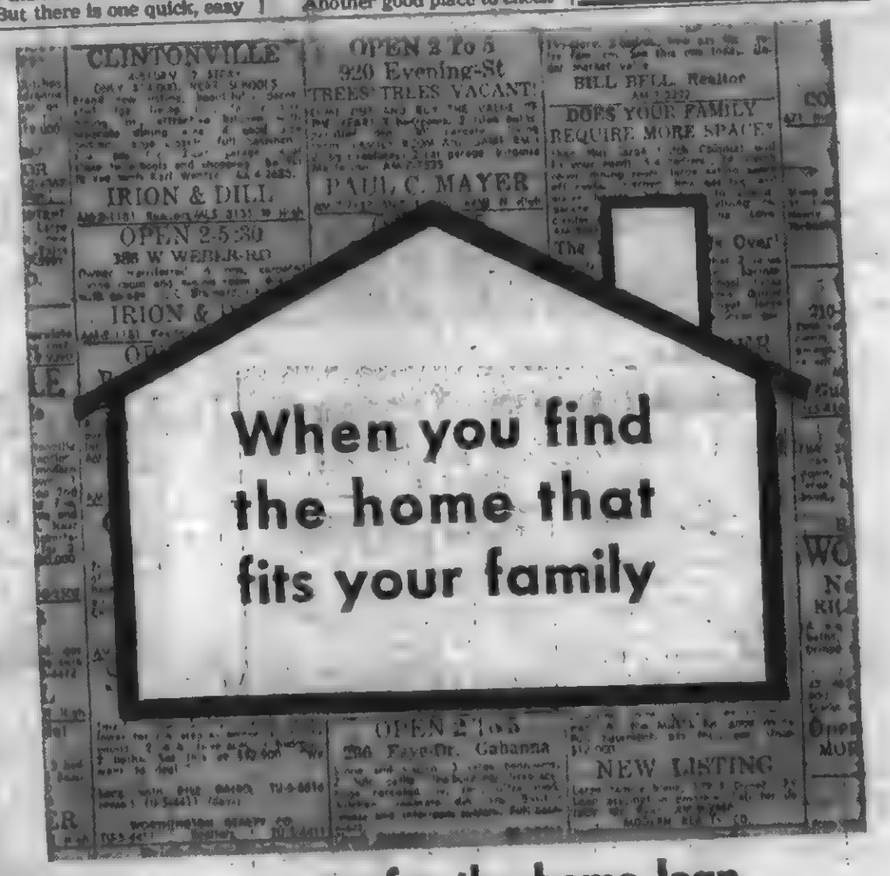
ARCHITECT'S ROLE

Time was when most people considered an architect indispensable for large commercial buildings, but far too expensive for single-home construction. Nowadays, people are coming to realize that retaining an architect to plan their home is one of the most practical steps they can take. It's all part of the emerging concept of long-range economy, which is also influencing people to select quality, durable materials such as ceramic tile when they are planning a new home or a major remodeling project.

Ceramic Tile Is Often A Sign Of Good Quality

How can you tell whether a new house you visit during National Home Week (or any other time) has built-in quality?

Architects and other professional men admit this is difficult, because you can't lift out a wall and see the homes's basic structure — the way you can kick the tires or lift the hood of an automobile.



But there is one quick, easy way to get an indication of a homes's quality—take a peek in the bathroom.

If the builder used waterproof ceramic tile around the tub and shower, it's a good indication that he didn't scrimp on quality materials. If cheap materials are found there, be wary! They may also be hidden behind the walls throughout the house.

Another good place to check for real tile is in the kitchen. If the builder used quality materials there, it's all the more assurance that he builds a good house.

Ceramic tile has, for good reason, become the most desired all-around surfacing material of today.

The new Cuisine Console, produced by Elkay Manufacturing Company, is one of the latest designs in stainless steel sinks.

Modern Kitchen Sink Saga; Make Less Work For Mom

For many years, the kitchen sink was the symbol of the housewife's daily drudgery. And for good reason. Early American women used a wooden tub to wash all the family's possessions, including pots, pans, clothes and small children. Our own mothers spent hours bending over a heavy porcelain sink scrubbing garments on a ridge-surfaced wash board.

With the dawn of the electronic day, many of these hard jobs are being handled automatically outside the sink. Even if today's housewife doesn't have the latest push-button equipment, she probably benefits from such developments as spray attachments, single-control faucet for hot and cold water, double- or triple-bowl sinks, and easy to clean sink materials. So far, modern designers have been unable to simplify child-washing, but at least it has been removed from the kitchen.

Illuminated Sinks

According to a recent study, the housewife continues to spend a quarter of each day in the kitchen, and most of that time in front of the sink. But thanks to labor saving devices, modern design and materials, the kitchen is somewhat less of a prison cell. With the current trends toward stainless steel, for instance, the sink is no longer an eyesore, but a center of attraction. One of the leading sink manufacturers placed lights on a pedestal at the rear of the working area, and also to "present a dramatic effect, reflecting and highlighting the beauty of its stainless steel construction."

Stainless Ahead

Here are some recent developments in kitchen sinks — One manufacturer now builds sinks which not only have lights on the rear, but an entire console of electrical outlets, remote control drains, garbage disposal switch, vegetable basket and cutting board. The spray hose has been replaced by an adjustable water faucet. Another popular twist puts sinks in corners or island counters in the middle of a kitchen. You can also get an insulated sink with a cutting-board cover for ice storage.

Sink materials have included wood, stone, porcelain enamel, galvanized steel, and now stainless steel. A leading plumbing industry magazine reports that 22 per cent of all new sinks installed in 1961 were made of stainless steel and forecasts 70 per cent by the end of the sixties. Another source says stainless sinks are installed in 70 per cent of all kitchen modernization jobs. Main reasons for the metal's popularity are its soft, velvety sheen that reflects and complements kitchen colors, its tough and easy-cleaning finish, and its great resistance to food stains or acids which pit other materials.

You can select your own stainless sink from over 400 models and sizes. And your local plumbing contractor installs it easily because stainless is light and rugged. A testimonial to the metal's durability is the fact that it has been standard for many years in restaurant kitchens. You'll be in good company with a new stainless steel sink. It's reported from Cape Canaveral that the transfer van which carries our astronauts to their rockets is equipped with a pair of stainless steel sinks.

Future Styles

The next step in the sink saga will probably be installation in other parts of the house. Basement or garage sinks are handy for clean-up after play or garden care. Many homeowners blessed with extra space are installing small, single-bowl sinks in the guest room to prevent jam-ups at the bathroom, and provide comfort and privacy for the visitor.

Already, experimental sinks have been developed which use ultrasonics to remove dirt and grease from cookware and dishes. Some scientists claim the future housewife will be able to sit at a control panel and prepare, cook, and clean-up meals by pushing buttons.

Home Hints

BURNPROOF COUNTER

Most counter surfacing materials will be permanently damaged if contacted by a hot pot or pan. This presents a problem in a small kitchen with limited counter space. The solution lies in covering the counter with burnproof ceramic tile. This versatile product is also scratchproof and comes in more than 250 colors.

ARCHITECT'S ROLE

Time was when most people considered an architect indispensable for large commercial buildings, but fare too expensive for single-home construction. Nowadays, people are coming to realize that retaining an architect to plan their home is one of the most practical steps they can take. It's all part of the emerging concept of long-range economy, which is also influencing people to select quality, durable materials such as ceramic tile when they are planning a new home or a major remodeling project.

A Mortgage Is Not Bogey; It's A Way To Save You Many Dollars

You don't need to be a financier to understand mortgages.

Actually, a mortgage is another way of saying loan. But a mortgage is also a means of forced savings. For most of the millions of American families who have one, their mortgages represent the only possible way they could have bought their homes.

A mortgage is simply a document containing a written promise from the borrower to repay to the lender the amount of the loan on the house, together with a specified rate of interest. The house itself is the security for the loan.

Payments on interest and principal of the loan usually are scheduled through a plan of regular monthly payments. At the start, the interest represents the biggest share of the monthly payment. But as it decreases, payment on the principal increases by the same amount.

Thousands of families have watched with satisfaction as their monthly payments melted their mortgage. For many, this is a goal and an incentive for saving. And while they are paying off the mortgage, they are enjoying their new homes. In the end, they own their own home outright and, instead of a collection of worthless rent receipts, they have property worth thousands of dollars.

There are three main types of mortgages. One is known as the conventional. This is any kind of mortgage that is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal government. The terms of the loan are agreed upon between the lender and the borrower, subject only to state interest rate laws.

A second type is the FHA-insured mortgage. The Federal Housing Administration, a government agency, insures the lender against loss through default on the part of the borrower. The borrower pays an insurance premium. Before it issues the insurance, the FHA makes its own appraisal of the property to see that it meets the government's standards.

The other type is the VA-guaranteed mortgage. The so-called "GI" bill authorizes the Veterans Administration to guarantee against loss any home loan it approves made to an eligible veteran by a private lender. The ceiling on a VA guaranteed mortgage is $7,500.

How Does Your Home Look From The Street?

From the street-side, a home should present a pleasing picture that will provide neighbors and yourself with a pleasant feeling of family stability and beautiful living, says the American Association of Nurserymen. Such an appearance can be provided by sound plantings of trees and shrubs that help fit the house into the surrounding landscape, instead of having it look stark and naked, or overgrown.

Small homes as well as large can easily be planted to present a most pleasing appearance. Natural beauty by the use of trees and shrubs has no limitations — rich or poor can achieve it. You can plant it yourself or have it done by an experienced landscape nurseryman.

Stand on the sidewalk at a point opposite your front door and look directly at the house. Draw imaginary lines from where you are standing to the corners of your house. Any large trees should be planted outside of such lines, so your home will present an unbroken view of lawn.

Along the foundation in curved beds plant a variety of low-growing plants, with just slightly higher plants beside the doorway and grouped at the house corners. Avoid a straight-line row of plants along the front of the house. This is poor practice.

Your main objective is to plant a pleasing picture. Take care in the planting, standing off at a distance and observing it to get effects you wish.

Are You A Loser Or Lover?

Millions of home owners in the United States "lose" many of the benefits of having their own land by not caring for it properly, or by allowing overgrown shrubs and trees to detract from its beauty and value, says the American Association of Nurserymen. Many home owners appear to the public from the street as if they hate their land by the way they treat it, says the association, when it should be a source of pride and inspiration because of its neatness and beauty.

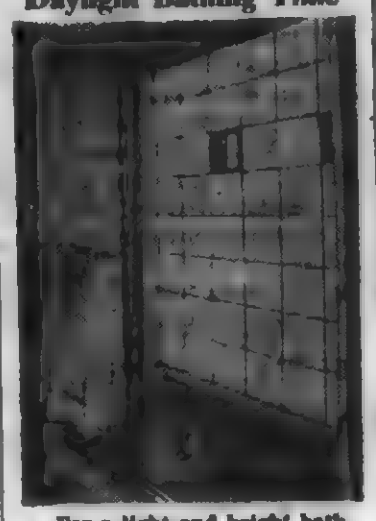
'Ragged overgrown landscape plants reflect poor housekeeping, and reduce the resale value of a home, while attractive plantings increase the value some 15 to 20 per cent or more. Difference in the price obtainable for raggedly overgrown as compared to lovely planted grounds could reach as high as 30 to 40 per cent, it is said.

Best advice is to consult a reliable landscape nurseryman and have him work out a professional plan for increasing the value of the property, the prestige of the owner, as well as the respect of neighbors, with attractive plantings of trees and shrubs, it is stated. Sound landscaping and family garden living not only pays off in pleasure, but in sound real estate values. Pennsylvania state extension survey found that 81 per cent of home owners who had landscaped their homes reported the landscaping had increased the value of the home by one-half up to 10 times or more of the total cost of the planting.

Push-Button Plumbing Featured

The first home in Central Ohio with "Ultraflo" push-button plumbing has been built by Art Borjanowski, 699 Bernhard-rd.

The home located at 733 Ross-rd, is being presented in open-house fashion by Rose Carley Realty.



Utilizing a panel board above the sink, the "Ultraflo" system mixes hot and cold water at the water heater instead of in the outlet valves.

Smaller pipes, reduction of heat loss and water waste, and less danger of pipe leakare are listed as main advantages to the new water system.

Two out of three new homes have more than one bath. In homes of quality, the floors, walls and countertops of these bathrooms are surfaced with a durable material, such as ceramic tile, that will hold up through the years. Real tile is waterproof, resists stains and scratches and is easily cleaned. It now comes in a wider selection of colors, shapes and patterns than ever before.

Doors can and should be dramatic. A door is the first contact anyone has with your home. It should impart a pleasing appearance.

Daylight Bathing Time

For a light and bright bathroom, homeowners today can eliminate drafty windows by replacing them with glass blocks. Regular windows are always in need of repairs due to excess moisture in the bathroom. New glass blocks admit an abundance of natural daylight, but restrict all vision, so comfort and privacy are achieved. The construction of glass block has insulating qualities equal to that of an eight-inch masonry wall. Two specially constructed glass blocks provide proper ventilation.

17,500 Green Trading Stamps Are Offered By Pool Builder

A total of 17,500 green trading stamps might be yours if you are among the many millions of American families about ready to :"take the plunge" with the purchase of your own, in-the-ground backyard swimming pool, it was announced by local swimming pool equipment distributor, Nathan M. Meyer of Swimming Pools of Ohio.

Never before in the history of trading stamps has such a large number of stamps been offered free on a nationwide basis with the purchase of just one item.

Swimming Pools of Ohio, distributors for the Spartan steel swimming pool for Major Equipment Corporation, is awarding every new pool buyer with 13,5000 S and H green stamps with its 16'x32' backyard pool; 15,500 stamps with the 18'x36' Spartan model; and 17,500 stamps with the large 20'x40' size.

Besides the stamp bonus, Mr. Meyer said a manufacturer's price reduction is being made of $150 on the 16'x32' and the 18'x36' Spartan pool models and a $250 reduction of the large 20'x40'. Prices now range from $1345 to $2745, either on a contractor installed or home owner do-it-yourself basis. However, regardless of the method of installation and the eventual cost, the number of stamps for each pool size does not vary.

The manufacturer - sponsored stamp give away and price cut, Mr. Meyer stated, is designed to encaurage fall and winter installations when weather and ground conditions are ideal.

"Most people wait until spring," Mr. Meyer said, "and then contend with the battle of sand and mud for one entire season. If the pool is installed in fall or early winter, the pool backfill is alowed to settle, a patio can be laid at the new pool owner's convenience, and landscaping accomplished. When the swimming season arrives everything is in a 'go' condition with all the inconveniences of installation a painless thing of the past."

Additional information can be obtained by calling Swimming Pools of Ohio, 4681 Granville-rd. Phone 882-2171.

Prevent ugly rust streaks on outdoor construction by using stainless steel nails, screws and fasteners. Their strength makes installation easier.

Up to two or three week differences can be noticed between the south and north side of the home, says the American Association of Nurserymen. If you want spring bulbs to flower at the earliest possible time plant them on the south side as near to the foundation as practical.

Here's a "pattern for people who don't like pattern." This cut-and-looped pile carpet has a multi-tone effect made up of six or seven closely-related hues—a texture-color combination that is both practical and decorative underfoot. Predominant tones can be picked up for accent or blending in this dual-purpose room with decor that is reminiscent of "the good old days."

Color Still Keynote In Modern Carpet Styles

Color continues to make news in carpets and rugs. Whatever your taste or budget may be, you'll find a wide color range available in decorative soft floor coverings.

Current favorites in carpet and rug colors include blues and greens, plus many combinations of these two hues; rich golds and clear reds, and the always-popular beige. This neutral is seen in many shades, with emphasis on the yellow-beiges, rather than the rosy shades which were popular in the past.

As important as interesting solid colors, are the numerous color mixtures — carpets and rugs combining two or more tones of one color, or several contrasting shades. Some are lively tweeds, others suggest a subtle pattern with rich color blending.

Texture — carpet's unique contribution to a decorative scheme — continues in wide variety. Many new styles are shown with a tight-looped surface pile, a texture which is extremely practical underfoot. More formal textures include the familiar "sculptured" surfaces and thick plush piles, as well as combination textures such as high-low loops.

Watch for more and more carpets and rugs which are "meant for each other" — compatable colors and textures which can be used in adjoining areas, of the home. They offer a change of pace in styling, but with a continuity of design throughout the house.

On the market today are many carpets designed for particular decorative schemes — Victorian floral patterns, tweedy carpets for Early American rooms, soft patterns to complement delicate furnishings in the formal French stylings.

Area rugs make news in both size and shape. A number of striking rug designs are available in sizes which go all the way from 4' x 6' to 12' x 15'. Shapes include squares and rectangles as well as ovals, round rugs and "free-form" shapes.

Fringe trim is popular for many area rugs—thick, yarn fringe which matches or blends with a predominant color in the design. Other styles have their own borders for added interest.

Hardwood Is Really Hard!

Hardboard is hard board.

This widely adaptable building material, according to a U.S. Department of Commerce report, is made from wood which has been reduced to its individual basic wood fibers and then reformed under heat and pressure by a predominantly natural bond in the wood, lignin.

It is used for hundreds of different purposes, the report continues, "where a combination of strength, hardness, density and uniform surface is required."

Hardboard was developed in 1924 and first produced commercially in 1926.

Fading Resort Lives Again As New Suburb

Houses planned and equipped for a modern way of living in a quiet lakeside setting have transformed Mt. Arlington, a one-time resort town in northern New Jersey, into a bustling commuter's community.

Most of the new year-round homes bear a Gold Medallion, an award given only to all-electric homes that meet a rigid set of standards.

William Hunsicker, one of the area's chief builders, explains why:

"As has happened with many other resort towns near large cities, new highways and better transportation facilities have made year-round living here practical but, delightful as this area is, most people don't want to put up with a back-woodsy way of life all year long. When we meet Gold Medallion standards, home owners can have their cake and eat it, too."

Hunsicker's homes, which overlook the south shore of Lake Hopatcong, New Jersey's largest inland water body, are individually designed in colonial, ranch and split-level styles, and priced from $23,000 to $28,000.

The Gold Medallion Homes all have several things in common. Each one has an all-electric kitchen equipped with a built-in range, electric dishwasher and waste disposer. There is also remote-controlled lighting in every room and closet, outdoor lighting and electric baseboard heating with individual room controls. Wiring and outlets are designed to meet all the demands of modern electric living.

Hunsicker has also provided extras such as "lake rooms" that overlook peaceful Lake Hopatcong, and basement fallout shelters for a sense of security.

Hardboard Adds Plus Values

In many cases a man who's handy can improve a brand new house by adding the finishing touches that add up to a luxury look without luxury cost.

An unfinished basement can be transformed into a useful and pleasant recreation room or hobby center. Finishing the interior of the garage can increase the comfort and convenience of a new home. Adequate fencing can give a new home a more finished look even before lawns, plantings and terraces are fully developed.

On the basis of economy, durability and easy workability, hardboard is a versatile solution for the problem of applying these finishing touches, even if the builder does the job. For the handy homeowner, hardboard is easy to handle and goes up quickly, yet requires no special tools, just those used for other wood products.

Speedy Coverage

Regular 4-by-8-feet panels cover wall areas speedily to provide a smooth-as-glass surface that takes paint beautifully. Without checks, grain or knots the smooth panels will resist dirt and moisture and clean easily, when primed and painted or enameled.

But the easiest way for the homemaker to use hardboard is to select one of the many specialty products which the domestic industry has recently developed for specific applications around the home.

To finish the basement there are dozens of handsome prefinished hardboard panels, including glamorous wood-grained finished, plastic-coated, embossed, perforated, corrugated, grooved, ribbed or striated surfaces. They come in a range of panel sizes, too. Most popular are the 4-by-8-foot boards and the 16-inch by 8-foot planks, with lap or tongue-and-groove edges.

Save Expenditures

Economical in terms of original cost, these panels save maintenance expenditures over the years. Once up, the pre-finished surfaces need no further treatment nor refinishing. The factory-applied finishes resist dents, scuffs and stains. Smudges and dirt can be removed simply with a damp cloth or sponge, or the panel can be washed down without soaking.

Hardboard, which is an engineered product made of wood fibers bound together with lignin — the natural binder in wood itself — under heat and pressure, is made tough, durable and moisture-resistant in the process.

Finishing the interior of a garage is simplified by using another hardboard product tailored expressly for the purpose. Strong, heavy-duty sheets with perforations that will support even a power mower on hooks, eliminate clutter by providing hanging storage space as well as improving the appearance of the interior.

Some of these lining panels for garages are pre-finished in colors and can be fastened directly to the studs with matching color nails. The prefinished panels also resist scuffing. Panels perforated all over, or some with perforations only on the upper segment above a grooved wainscot, are available.

Unlike other metals, stainless steel molding for counter edges never leaves black marks on clothes if you rub against it.

Exordium '62' Is The New Melvon Theme

Exordium "62" is the new living plan recently initiated by Melvon Inc., 464 N. Highland-av. The five-year-old Columbus firm manufactures custom homes, apartments and small commercial buildings.

Frank DeVos, vice-president in charge of sales, said progress is the keynote in the firm's planning of new buildings. He said "Exordium "62" features new ideas and concepts of design for better living.

TILE WIDELY USED

Ceramic tile is being used by American architects and designers in every room of the home, and also on exterior walls, roof decks, terraces and swimming pools in all climates.

Munkel Firm Is Featuring Show Room

Tailor-made indoor comfort control by means of individual designing is being featured at Munkel Heating and Cooling, Inc., 569 N. Fourth-st.

Established here more than 50 years ago, Munkel's volume operations enable it to do both commercial and residential work.

Officials at the firm said large show rooms with many complete models of heating and air conditioning are now open to the public. They said Munkel's metal-working department allows interested persons to inspect fabricated duct-work.

Light Living

The "light of your life" can come in many forms, but one light in your life that will make for lighter living in any room is this simple glass block lamp. Frame the glass block in a 1" by 4" natural wood, attach the wiring and select a shade to fit the decor of the room where it will be placed. Easy to use and economical, glass blocks in regular patterns, color-in-the-glass or with ceramic-face colors can be used as lamp bases for a variety of bright, gay effects. Wiring is concealed by the wooden frame.

Here's Real Chance To Honor Our Homemakers

$5,000 in cash!

What local homemaker wouldn't be happy to be told that she had just received this fine award in recognition of the fact that she is an outstanding homemaker.

There is a wonderful opportunity that some lady in the area served by the seven Hartley Newspapers group will win this amount of money.

It is all very simple. Any friend, any organization, or any individual (even a husband) can nominate a candidate for this prize by merely writing a letter not to exceed 500 words and covering the points outlined in official judging standards. These standards are listed elsewhere in this paper today under the heading of the Suburban Homemaker award.

All entries must be in our office no later than Oct. 20. A local homemaker will be selected from each of our papers. Present plans call for this winner to be sent on an all-expense paid trip to Chicago for the announcement of the national winner and the presentation of the $5,000 award sometime near the middle of November.

There are no costs involved and no demonstrations necessary. The letters will merely serve as a means of determining the outstanding homemakers and these, in turn, will be screened by a committee who will call upon them at their home and verify certain statements.

Every service group, every women's church group, every PTA should have a nominee and many other individuals will want to nominate someone.

The chances are very good that the National Homemaker Award can go to a local woman. The six local candidates selected by Hartley Newspapers will be in competition with about 35 other women from other cities in the United States.

Two out of five of the national judges are from Columbus, Judge Clayton Rose and Mrs. Marie Pfeiffer.

This is not like the customary contest in which an individual is in competition with thousands of others. This is a very select small group.

Turn now to the story about the National Homemaker Award elsewhere in this paper and make plans immediately to nominate your choice. If you need help in writing your letters please call BR. 4-1155 and ask for our Homemaker Editor.

JACKPOT HIKED

Zanes Wins First Round In Contest

Herbert Zanes, 1477 Watkins-rd, won the first round in Hartley Newspapers' big football contest last week. Zanes received a check for $25 for his efforts in picking 19 of 24 winners.

He edged Warren Harman, 1162 Roundlay-rd, Glenn E. Eagle, 152 W. Williams-rd and R. Larry Terman, 591 Brinker-rd, all of whom picked 18 of 24 winners.

Had he been a paid subscriber, Zanes would have doubled his money.

The more than 200 contestants missed an average of 10 of the 24 winners which is much better than anticipated. The Hartley Football Contest Editor missed 13 of the 24 winners.

Since no one picked all 24 winners correctly last week, the $25 jackpot money has been added to next week's jackpot, raising the total to $50.

On an inside page of this paper are 24 more top high school, college, and professional games. These games will be played on the weekend of Oct. 13.

Write in your selections in the entry blank and send it today to, Football Contest Editor, Hartley Newspapers 2465 W. Broad St., Columbus 4, Ohio.

NO INTERNATIONAL TENSIONS HERE

LANGUAGE WAS NO BARRIER when they broke out the bubble gum at this Girl Scout party for a little Peruvian Indian girl last week at 234 N. Hague-av. Mrs. William H. Schultz and her Troop 947 invited Raymunda Palominos out for a backyard barbecue while the Indian family was in Columbus as guests of Lazarus. Betsy Smith (right foreground), 40 S. Ogden-av, soon taught little Raymunda the secrets of bubble blowing. (See Girl Scout column inside.)

Traffic Petitions Get Direct Action From City Board

Growing traffic complexities in the Hilltop and West Side are reflected in the number and nature of petitions coming before the City Traffic Commission.

Homeowners initiated six of the eight appeals for new traffic signs which were approved last week. The ninth, a request for a push-button actuated fire light at the new Greenlawn Fire and Police Training Center, was voiced by Fire Chief Walter Strickfaden and was approved.

Acting on a petition from Mrs. Robert C. Poole, 2632 Wicklow-rd, the commission also approved stop signs at four places along Wicklow-rd: at Warren-av, Ogden-av, Burgess-av and Richardson-av. Mrs. Poole complained of excessive speeding on Wicklow-rd in areas heavily traveled by Burroughs school children. Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher said traffic counts showed that north-south car flow was heavier and that five accidents were recorded at Wicklow and Ogden this year.

Other stop signs approved last Tuesday are: Halsey-pl to yield for Holly Hill-dr (petition submitted by Mrs. Curtis Dumm, 616 Holly Hill-dr); and Floral-av to yield for Lechner-av (petition from A. G. Kelly, 134 Wrexham-av).

Truck tangles, now under the scrutiny of the Traffic Committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, were aired and the commission decided to place a stop sign in the first alley north of Mound-st at Nace-av. Gallagher pointed out that technically his group does not rule on alleys, but that this particular alley was paved and lay at the rear of several trucking companies.

The commission also approved a 35-foot curb cut at 3510 Sullivant-av where a new project "Sullivant Lodge" is planned by Showe Realty.

Division Lieut. Governor Elected By Kiwanians

Frank L. Watts, 92 N. Ogden-av, was elected to be the second lieutenant governor of the newly formed 10-W Division of Kiwanis Clubs in the Ohio District.

The official appointment was made Oct. 1 at a pre-convention caucus held in Cleveland.

Watts succeeds Malcolm H. Pennell, Hilliard, as lieutenant

The 10-W Division includes these Kiwanis clubs: Ashville, Circleville, Columbus, Grove City, Hilltop, London, Southern, Washington C.H., West Franklin, West Jefferson and West Side.

Frank L. Watts

Watts is past president of the West Side club and was division chairman in education and fellowship for two years.

In business life he is superintendent of the Columbus Municipal Garage.

He is a member of the West Gate Lodge of Masons and of Glenwood Methodist Church.

He and his wife, Marie, have two children, Deward, 16, and Karen Sue, 14.

Businessmen To Hear Talk By Oertel

"How to Make the Best Use of Your Community Newspaper" will be the topic when William J. Oertel addresses the Hilltop Business Association, Wednesday, Oct. 17.

Oertel, who is executive director of the Ohio Newspaper Association, will be a guest of the association when it meets at 8:30 p.m. at the Great Western office of the Ohio National Bank. National Newspaper Week is October 14-20

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher, has offered a $75 ad in any of the Hartley newspapers as an attendance prize. Two tickets to the Ohio State-Oregon football game also will be awarded.

Wilson Rd. Plans Meet Approval

The preliminary plans of the Wilson-rd extension were approved by the Columbus Planning Commission, Sept. 26.

The plans, as submitted by Barrett Associate Engineers Ltd., include an overpass for the New York Central Railroad and a two-lane pavement from Broad-st to Sullivant-av with right of way for a four lane pavement around 1982.

A petition to build an "apartment-type motel" of about 40 units on the north side of Sullivant-av, between Josephine-av and Derrer-rd, was held by the commission which questioned the use of the word motel in regard to the building.

A subdivision of 18 homes, called "Ponderosa," which is proposed on the north side of Fisher-rd, half way between Wilson-rd and Hague-av, was also approved.

Family Night Scheduled At Gladden

Gladden Community House, 183 Hawkes-av, invites West Side families to its first family night of the season 7:30 to 10 p.m. Friday, Oct. 5.

Activities include basketball, volleyball, cards, chess, Monopoly, ping pong and dancing.

For the children, there will be a feature length movie entitled "Francis In The Haunted House."

Baby sitting will be provided.

For further information, call CA. 1-7801.

NOTE FOR SKEPTICS

Still Time This Week To Get Sabin Swallow

Health officials claimed this week that "all but the skeptics" received Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine last Sunday but they added that they're sure to make "believers" out of most of them before the weekend is over.

Both County Health Commissioner Howard Reynolds and Columbus Medical Services Chief Dr. H. J. Leuchter agreed Tuesday that certain "bad publicity" from Canada was the chief reason for area skepticism.

"It's a shame," Dr. Leuchter commented, "that the people don't realize that the Canadian story concerned persons who received Type III vaccine —not the Type I variety as is being administered here."

Even so, the gigantic SOS campaign was labeled a success by officials. "What else can you say," Reynolds asked, "when you get 550,000 residents to take the Sabin out of the 715,000 living in Franklin County?"

Actually on Sunday, Sabin vaccine was given to 514,121 county residents but make-up stations downtown promise that the total will be 550,000 before next weekend.

The county and city health departments are operating the make-up station for those who missed out on Sunday. The county has set up operations in the Court House on S. High-st for day-time administration.

County staffers are on duty in the Court House from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. all this week. They'll also be on duty in the evening, from 4:30 to 6 in the City Health Clinic, 181 S. Washington-bl, on Tuesday and Thursday.

Members of the City Board of Health will operate at the Washington-bl Clinic during the day from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and then will handle night-time duties there from 4:30 to 6 on Monday, Wednesdays but only the Washington-

Chosen For OSU Band

Two Hilltop men have become members of the Ohio State University Marching Band, according to Professor Jack O. Evans, director. They are Ronald N. Line, 188 S. Southampton-av and Timothy R. Watson, 201 Wilson-rd.

Will Clean Tops Of Manholes

Residents of Valleyview will have to remove dirt placed on top of manholes in that village.

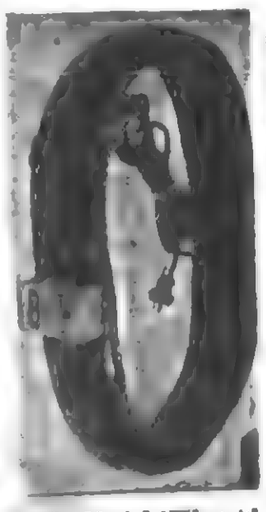
Village Council members agreed Monday night to force the clearing of the holes and to furnish the labor for the job, with the property owners paying for materials.

A specific case, at the end of Richardson-av was cited as being the worst, with the manhole being covered by approximately five feet of dirt.

The village ordinances may be recodified also, council decided. The work would be done by Solicitor Gale King.

Gets Permit

K. and T. Realty Co., 22 E. Fifth-av, has received a building permit to construct a one-story concrete block building at 1544 W. Mound-st. Valuation is placed at $40,000. Paul Seberig, 1595 Smith-rd, is the contractor.



TOP BIDDER TO GET 'WHATZIT'

KIWANIS AUCTION SATURDAY NIGHT

Recognize the illustration? A few may; most won't. We're calling it a "Whatzit," which is not its technical name, but the label invariably given to it by persons seeing it for the first time. Its value? Well, that all depends upon the individual.

Some say it's worth more than a gold mine; others scoffingly say they wouldn't have it as a gift. One thing is sure: Everyone who attends the yearly West Franklin Kiwanis Club public auction sale will find out exactly what it is, as it is one of the hundreds of items which will go to the highest bidder.

The auction — the seventh such annual event — will again be held this year at the Prairie - Norton school gymnasium, on Norton-rd, one block west of Broad, in New Rome, beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Early Model 'Whatzit'

The sale usually draws a crowd of from four to five hundred persons and lasts three to four hours.

Most of the merchandise auctioned is new, the top item being an upright freezer donated by the Russell Co. of Hilliard. The wide variety usually includes home appliances, furniture, television and radio sets, farm equipment and supplies, canned goods, hams, bacon, groceries, baked goods, pumpkins and cider.

Door prizes are awarded four or five times each hour, with a basket of groceries, valued at $10, as the final award.

Proceeds from the sale will be used by the West Franklin Kiwanians to aid families, individuals and other groups in the area who are in need of assistance.

Pies, cake, sandwiches and refreshments will be served throughout the evening by wives of Kiwanis members.

TO START BUILDING IN 1963 . . .

Westhill Church Plans Fund Campaign

Westhill Church of Christ, 3220 Sullivant-av, will launch its final, fund-raising effort to finance the building of the church's main floor and sanctuary, on international rally day, Sunday, Oct. 7.

Proposed completion of the building is estimated to cost $60,000, and plans will be completely explained during the special 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Target date for the start of major construction is expected to be early in 1963.

The new unit, designed by Architect David A. Pierce, AIA, will house a sanctuary, offices, choir and robing rooms.

Exterior finish will be brick with combined modern colonial features. The interior will feature natural light wood in furnishings and in floor-to-ceiling exposed beam arches.

Completion of the building will allow the present basement area, now being used for a sanctuary, to be transformed into much-needed Sunday School areas and social hall, with an enlarged kitchen and serving area.

Building committee chairman, Robert Carroll, has been responsible for the present course of action.

Ralph Humble is chairman of the current building fund drive, with Paul Ray and M. C. Alkire as secretary and treasurer of the building fund. Frank H. Knore is chairman of the official board.

Ralph G. Smith is minister of Westhill.

PROPOSED COMPLETION of Westhill Church of Christ will contain a new sanctuary, and ministerial offices. The congregation has worshipped in the basement unit this Sunday. of the building for several years. David A. Pierce, AIA, is the architect. Campaign for building funds will be launched soon.

$5000 Cash Awaits Suburban Homemaker

It's as easy as pie — come these crisp fall days of apple and pumpkin harvest—to turn out your choice of family deserts; and it's even easier to treat your favorite homemaker in a very special way.

If you've read about our search for the top suburban homemaker, then just take a few minutes to think about all the gals you know who are doing a bang-up job of running their homes and pick the one you think is the best. All you need to do is give us a few facts about her so we can check them out. You might even think of the items as a "list of ingredients" about a person instead of about a pie!

That's why we jokingly said it's as easy as pie—and think how delighted your chosen homemaker would be if she should be the lucky one "to pull out the winning plum" of 1962.

Even if your favorite gal at home doesn't win the very top award, she might be invited to attend the gala conference Nov. 15 in Chicago, when the local winners, the judges, and a host of celebrities convene for an exciting event on the shore of Lake Michigan at the famous Sheraton - Blackstone Hotel. There will be a homemakers' conference in the morning, a festive luncheon with celebrities at noon, and an exciting award ceremony for the winner in the afternoon. The day will end with dinner and a theater event of seeing Jean Kerr's humorous Broadway hit, "Mary, Mary." Others plans are in the making. Seems to us that the lady of your choice might put you at the top of her list of what to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day of 1962!

Remember, take the time to name your favorite homemaker. The following is a rough sample of what you should say in your letter describing your favorite homemaker.

Dear Editor:

My nominee for "Suburban Homemaker of the Year" is Mrs. John Doe, better known in the community as "Sally." She is about 42 and the mother of two boys and two girls ranging in age from four to 16.

Sally bubbles with enthusiasm whenever she enters a room. Although she does all her own housework, she never is too busy to pitch in and help her friends and neighbors.

She belongs to the WCTU, the PTA, and several service clubs for women. She has been chairman of dozens of committees in these organizations, and is always a willing volunteer for the many duties within these groups.

Sally seldom misses church with her family, and works actively on several church organizations. She encourages her children to participate in church activities.

On any of the local fund drives such as Cancer, Heart, or YMCA, it is not unusual to find Sally collecting from door to door with one or two little ones tagging along.

Much of Sally's evening time is spent helping her children do their homework. She always encourages them with their hobbies, and often has to become an expert in every hobby from raising white rats to button collecting.

An air of teamwork always prevails in the Doe household. Each member of the family has his regular chores to perform, and the family enjoys picnics, barbeques, drive-in movies, etc. frequently.

As for citizenship, I doubt that Americanism is taught any better in school than it is by Sally Doe in her home. Not only does she vote regularly, she secures literature on all issues and keeps her family well-versed on both sides of any political issue.

I hope Mrs. Doe will be given consideration in your search for a local suburban homemaker of the year.

Yours truly,
Mrs. John Q. Public.

TV Rite Marks World Communion

A television studio communion will highlight the 23rd annual world-wide communion Sunday, Oct. 7, according to Rev. Harold Dutt, chairman of evangelism of the Columbus Area Council of Churches.

The TV service will be held from 11:30 to noon on WLW-C Channel 4, with Rev. Walter E. Eyster and Dr. G. Weir Hartman as celebrants.

Rev. Eyster was formerly pastor of North Methodist Church and now serves the First Methodist Church of Galion. The choir of the Galion church will sing the anthems.

The world observance was begun in 1940 as war clouds descended upon Europe, started by denominational leaders through the World Council of Churches.

Concordia Slates Regular Services

Concordia Lutheran Church began its regular schedule of two worship services, and two Sunday School and Bible Class sessions, Sunday, Sept. 30.

Early service will begin at 7:45 a.m. followed by the first Sunday School at 9.

The second Sunday School will begin at 10 and the late worship service at 11.

Rev. Raymond A. Essig will conduct the services.

Keep A Cautious Eye On Referral Selling Tactics

Have you ever been broached by a salesman who tells you you can get an item free if you give the salesman enough names of friends who might be interested in buying the same product?

This is known as "referral selling," according to Ohio's Attorney General.

It works like this. You are persuaded to buy some item with the promise you can pay for it by setting up appointments for the salesman or furnishing him with names of prospective new customers.

"Products from automobiles to vacuum cleaners are sold this way," said the Attorney General.

'However, it is very rare, indeed, that the buyer makes enough to pay for his own item."

The Consumer Frauds and Crime Section of the Attorney General's Office is requesting all such persons who sign up under such a plan to report whether satisfactory or unsatisfactory results were obtained.

"We know that this type of selling is flourishing in Ohio," said the state's top law-enforcer. "We want to know if actual fraud is being perpetrated upon the public. We can't promise relief from valid contractural obligations, but hope to help someone else in the future."

If you have ever participated in the "referral selling" plan include the following facts in your letter:

1. Date of contract and name of company.

2. When the article was purchased and approximate cost.

3. Details as to how much money you were to receive for each prospective customer.

4. Success of the program.

5. Did you earn as much as you expected to earn when you signed up?

6. Did you earn enough to pay all of the purchase price, a substantial part of it, or practically nothing?

7. Would you again sign up under such a plan? Explain please.

All letters should be sent to Attorney General, State House Annex, Columbus 15, Ohio. Attention: Consumer Frauds and Crimes Section.

Ted Lee Specializes In Leaf Raking– All For The Cause Of Conservation

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

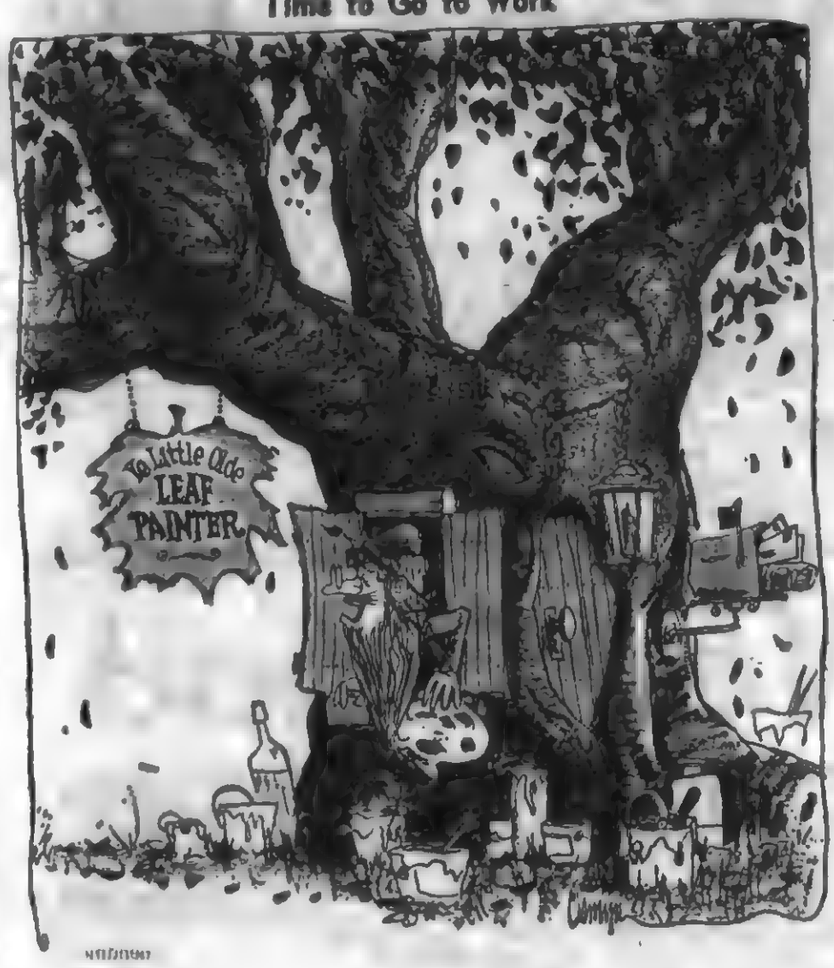
Ted Lee, 986 Wilson-av, is a man with an outdoor-education mission, and right now he is collecting leaves, of all things. But he is doing it for a very good reason. Lee teaches children and school teachers how to mount leaves on display boards that make attractive classroom decorations and instruction panels.

At this season of the year he is in his glory, for he can collect both green and multi-colored leaves for spectacular displays. Lee carries in his car a long pole with a pruning device on the end, so that he may clip a particular leaf from a tall tree. He has permission to collect these leaves from a variety of areas, including a cemetery. One private arboretum wants him to come and collect their leaves. Lee must certainly be the best known leaf raker in town.

Long active in outdoor educational work, Ted Lee has participated in many programs of two local conservation clubs — The Southeast Conservation Club, and The Central Ohio Hunters' and Anglers' Club. Since his retirement, he has been carrying out an educational program statewide for the League of Ohio Sportsmen. The great, wide outdoors is his classroom, and in it he acquaints youngsters with the wonderful world about them.



Much of his leaf-mounting activity is experimental at present. He varies his process to see which combination produces the best mount. The problem of color fading has nearly been solved, and the mounts are proving to be durable and long lasting. Green leaves of the ginkgo tree, however, have faded. This is disappointing, for the tree, also called maidenhair tree, arouses a lot of interest among both children and adults. It is apparently rare enough to be a novelty, and its fan-shaped leaves turn to a striking yellow-gold, and Lee hopes to preserve these specimens.

Ted realizes that teaching youngsters about leaves and trees, birds and insects, rocks and soil, fish and mammals is not instructing them in the art of hunting and fishing. But he feels that once they have touched and smelled, heard and seen something of the wonderous outdoor world, they will become conservationists.

Being a conservationist is not quite the same as being a hunter or fisherman, even though most sportsmen practice conservation. Fishing, hunting, boating, camping and all the rest are fine, healthful family sports. But conservation is a way of life.

Because of this philosophy, both the local and state sportsmen organizations are encouraging Lee to continue his hobby, which requires his full time, incidentally. He wades into the whole program just like he collects leaves, with a lot of zip. And he's doing a whale of a good job.

Time to Go to Work

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Beware Of Government 'Coveruppers'

In a recent edition of The New Republic, it had this to say about our cloak and dagger fumblings in the Cuban fiasco:

"The whole affair is a shocking demonstration of what is bound to happen under a policy of keeping the public business concealed from the public.

McPeek

"When any government (or officials), not excluding a republic, operates under cover of darkness, its operations soon begin to stink. For the past 15 years there has been an increasing tendency not to permit the American people to know what the American government is doing.

"If the people are now caught in a position that costs them both blushes and money, well, they asked for it when they tolerated the policy of concealment."

As a newsman, I find these remarks especially significant. Because I, and every other newsman, for that matter, know that not a few of our officials — elected and appointed — no matter how great or small the office they hold, do their damnedest to conceal their activities.

This is just as true here as it is in Washington.

Certainly it is to be expected when an official attempts to cover up acts of dishonesty or stupidity.

But when an official attempts to conceal a legitimate action of his office because he feels the people wouldn't understand, or because he is too cowardly or incompetent to defend the action, then he becomes just as contemptible and unworthy as the crooked politician.

If we permit officials who practice these habits to continue in office, then we deserve what we get, which usually turns out to be stinking, costly incompetence.

So if in the future you read a story in this or any area newspaper in which an event or official action is reported which obviously should have been made known to the public earlier, make a note of the officials involved.

Then don't forget them when you next go to the polls. If they attempt to pull the wool over the public's eyes once, there is no reason to think they won't try again.

AROUND EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES

VIEWING GOOD . . .

School instruction is relying on the use of audio-visual materials as never before, according to Clyde K. Miller of the State Department of Education. He recently reported that a total of 186,000 films was shipped by his department to aid teachers during the 1960-61 school year.

THREE MORE MARKS

Three new marks, H, P and I, have been suggested by a committee of Oberlin teachers for grades 7 to 12. H would be awarded for "superior work and/or creative achievement." P, meaning passed on effort," would be awarded to students with low ability, who worked hard. And I would stand for incomplete.

NO ROOM . . .

One of the things youngsters between three and 12 want in their room is a desk, according to a poll by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. One nine year-old boy, however, was asked what he would like taken out of his room. He immediately replied: "My brother."

ENGINEERS DOWN

The number of engineering graduates, which shot upward following Sputnik, is dropping off at an alarming pace. Indications are that during the next ten years the U.S. will graduate about 37,000 engineers annually, as against an estimated need of 48,000.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Plan Thrifty Menus Around Plentifuls

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapes, pears.
Vegetables — Green beans, cabbage, potatoes, cauliflower, acorn and butternut squash.
Other Foods — Round steak, pork roasts, ground beef, fish, cheese, small grade A eggs, canned and frozen food "specials".

For the homemaker who likes to plan her menus well in advance—here's what the marketing specialists say will be plentiful during October:

Mrs. Franks

Fresh apples, cheese and broiler fryers are likely to be the featured items. Also frozen concentrated orange juice, grapes, pears, fresh cranberries, potatoes, rice and turkeys.

Fish and seafood products will get added emphasis while red meat supplies are getting adjusted. Supplies of fresh, frozen and canned fish will be at a high level this month. Canned fish will b1.|7.D
ned tuna should be an especially good buy. There'll be plenty of pink salmon, and sardines for your hubby's snacks will be more plentiful than usual.

All of the above items are suitable companions for home-grown squash—acorn, butternut and Hubbards. There are still lots of local green beans and the Florida crop will soon be ready to take over. Turnips, parsnips, rutabagas, yams and sweet potatoes come into their own in October. Count on all members of the cabbage family, from snowy white cauliflower to bright green broccoli.

Ohio apples will fill fruit counters for National Apple Week, October 11 through 20. This year's total U. S. apple crop is now estimated to be 11 percent above average. So, you'll find apples galore at your supermarket — for eating as they are, for baking, for pies, and for all those special occasions that fall in October.

Canned fruits and vegetables get high billing in grocery ads at this time of year. The new pack is being processed, and the remainder of last year's pack is being moved out to make room for the new.

You'll see many promotions on cling peaches and fruit cocktail. Look for prices to be the same, or slightly higher, on apple sauce and apricots. Cranberries will likely be the same or a little lower. While this year's crop is a record one, the pack will be restricted under a new Marketing Agreement. The agreement provides for eighteen percent of the new crop cranberries to be used in research and special programs to increase exports.

In the vegetable line of canned goods, look for snap beans to be specialed. The new pack is running large and there's a heavy carryover. Total supplies of other vegetables are still somewhat uncertain; generally, look for their prices to remain about the same.

Aid For Those 'Just Looking' For Church

A conversation to which I am often a party takes place when I visit a department store. The clerk approaches and asks, "May I help you please?" to which I (almost) invariably reply: "No thanks. I'm just looking." This expresses the attitude of many toward the Church; without reference to any formal connection in terms of membership.

Some are "just looking" because they do not wish to become deeply involved. They recognize the value of church membership as a bit of contemporary American culture; or as an important agency at critical times in life. But they are afraid that real involvement costs too much in terms of time spent in worship or service; or of money from an already protesting budget; or of sympathy for those in less fortunate circumstances than their own. So they hold themselves aloof from deep involvement, just looking.

Rev. Buchholtz

Religion does mean involvement. Jesus became hopelessly, wholeheartedly involved in the lives of many Zaccheus, Nicodemus, Mary of Magdala, the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well — not to mention the disciples and many others. For you and me religion means participation in the life and ministry of the Church; involvement of the whole of personality and the whole of life — social, economic, political. The nature of the spiritual is such that a person either becomes ever more deeply involved, or ever less deeply involved until he is completely free from it. (Mark 10:17-31; John 14, 15, 16)

Others are "just looking" because they are searching for something, and can't find it. The Church is often so far removed from its real mission that it has forfeited its right to be a church — a fellowship of believing, forgiven people living in (more or less, but never quite) perfect obedience to the Church's Lord.

Sometimes people search for the wrong things. Membership even degenates at times into a weird kind of popularity contest among churches or among ministers — a sort of ecclesiastical Miss America contest, with much less beauty, and usually less brains.

If you're "just looking" for a a church to which you can give your love, your loyalty, ask three questions only. The first, "What does this church teach?" The second: "Does what this church teach, tibe with the plain teaching of the New Testament as I can read it and understand it, without recourse to individual interpretation; and with the Old Testament as interpreted through the New?" (Acts 8.26-40; II Peter 1.20).

As the first and second questions are answered to your satisfaction the third one will be too: "What is the quality of life produced by this church as demonstrated in the lives and social relationships of its members?" "Can grapes be picked from briars?" asked Jesus pointedly, "or figs from thistles?" The "fruits of the Spirit" are easily recognizable: "love (as defined in John 15:13), joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, fidelity (faithfulness), gentleness, and self-control." (Galatians 5:22).

It is good to look; it is better to find. Yet none of us becomes as deeply involved as he ought to, considering what the Lord of the Church has done for him.

I'm sure that the managers of stores (I hesitate to speak for the longsuffering clerks) are happy to see me come in and look around. They know that if I come in often enough, and look long enough, I'm going to buy something sometime. This is what store managers and preachers have in common.

God, in His own way, says the same thing, and attaches some very attractive promises to the assurance (Jeremiah 29:12-13).

And in the church, as in the store, one cannot know the preciousness of his possession until he has committed himself and becomes an owner instead of a looker. There is joy in the search — but it cannot compare to the blessedness of the finding. Happy seeker! Happy finder!

Paul H. Buchholtz, pastor
Our Saviour Lutheran Church

PLANNING

A salesmanager looks at his graphs, thinks of his men, and plans his next campaign. A store manager calls in his department heads and his credit man and looks six months ahead. A paper boy thinks of his route and how best to save time and effort. A clergyman writes his next Sunday's sermon and wonders which of his sick and lonely he should see next.

Each of these and a thousand other jobs are all different. Yet they all have one thing in common: PLANNING. In this age of new skills and methods, scarcely any enterprise can succeed without it. And the more the better. Even then, failure may lurk just around the next corner.

Time was when a teamster could slap a little grease on four axles and be ready to go. If a wheel broke, he could carve and fit a new spoke in a few minutes. Now, a truck requires careful lubrication constantly and the periodic attention of a skilled mechanic if it is to do the job.

Wages, profits, costs, skills of hand, abilities of mind - - - all these and many more factors in modern enterprises are necessary, for we all depend upon them. They all require careful adjustments, our best thoughts - - - and planning.

When Adam and Eve got thrown out of the Garden they laid plans to build a new Eden. They didn't succeed. Nor have we. But we just could be on our way.

It says here . . . . . .
Plan your work and work your plan.

Park Of Roses Still Open, Buds Blooming

The Columbus Park of Roses, 4015 N. High-st, will be open to visitors until the end of October, according to Foster Franks, of the Division of Parks and Forestry.

The recent frost did very little damage to the flowers and buds will continue to break with the fall sunshine, said Franks.

Visitors from throughout the world have viewed the 40,000 bushes. A German couple stated that the park is listed in the World Encyclopedia. AAA tour books, Ohio State official highway maps and other publications list the park for tourists.

The park is open from 9 a. m. until dark each day.

Tour Guide Readied By Park Division

A guide, called "Scenic Ohio Tours," has been prepared by the Ohio Division of Parks, and is available free on request.

To receive this publication, which describes and maps 10 tours in the most scenic areas of the state, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Fall Colors, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12.

The guide was prepared by Bill Price, naturalist for the division, who divided the state into three sections. In western Ohio two routes are outlined, one originating in Dayton and going north to New Bremen and Indian Lake. The other western tour starts in Toledo, and goes to Harrison Lake and Independence State Park near Defiance.

One of the tours in northeastern Ohio begins at Cleveland, and traverses scenic Geauga County ending at Pymatuning Lake. Side trips are shown in the colorful Grand River Valley. Two more tours are outlined in this section of the state, and run from Youngstown, Canton, Dover and East Liverpool. Beautiful Beaver Creek State Park and two Muskingum Conservancy lakes — Atwood and Leesville — are included.

Five tours are listed in southern and southeastern Ohio. One is rather long and extends from Wilmington to Little Hocking on the Ohio River, and passes through such scenic locations as Rocky Fork State Park, Pike State Park, Lake White and Forked Run State Park. Another trip goes south from Chillicothe to the Shawnee State Forest, also bordering the Ohio River. A short but very scenic drive is shown from Marietta to New Matamoras, and offers beautiful overlooks of the Ohio River.

Traversing a long stretch of the Muskingum River Valley, is a trip that begins at Zanesville, travels south and returns to New Concord. The last tour in the guide starts from Columbus and goes southeast to Burr Oak State Park and the Muskingum River. Many alternate roads are shown, and one returns by way of Buckeye Lake. One segment of this tour, near Ringgold, is known as "Ohio's Skyline Drive" and the same area is called "Rim of the World" locally.

AAA To Open Training School

A class to give applicants for temporary driving licenses better preparation for their examinations will be held Saturday, Oct. 6, by the Columbus Automobile Club's Driver Training School.

The free class is set for the Southern Hotel from 1 to 3 p. m. No advance registration is necessary, and the class will be open both to new drivers over 16 years of age and new residents having out-of-state permits who now seek Ohio licenses.

KIDS' DAY AT LAFB OFFICE HEADS

THOUSANDS of excited children flocked to the Kiwanis Kids' Day program held Sept. 27 at Lockbourne Air Force Base. A drawing was held prior to the event and the following, from left, were named to honorary offices at the base. They are: Jimmy George, 2461 Indianola-av, base commander; Mike Lauber, 275 S. Roys-av, bomber commander; Sonny Kenyon, 72 Valerie-st, Grove City, fire chief; David Stoessel, 1447 S. Fourth-st, air police chief; Steven Crane, 190 E. Home-st, Westerville, fighter commander; Beverlee Galbreath, 551 S. Kellner-rd, tanker commander.

Voter League, Jaycees Plan Rally

The League of Women Voters and the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a candidates' rally Thursday, Oct. 11, 7:30 p.m. in the Deshler-Hilton ballroom.

Charles Kienzle, immediate past president of the Columbus Bar Association, will moderate the program. William M. Lane, attorney, 150 E. Broad-st, is general chairman of the event.

The proposed Sunday closing law amendment to the Ohio Constitution, which will be on the November ballot, will be debated by representatives from the Voters' Action Committee and the Lawson Milk Co., opponents and proponents, respectively.

Candidates from Franklin County for state senators and state representatives have also been invited to speak. A list of candidates appearing on the program will be announced later.

For further information call Mrs. Fritz Saenger, 263-1095, or William Lane, CA. 4-7236.

OPPOSE AMENDMENT

Scholarship Test Set For Seniors

Approximately 25,000 of Ohio's seniors will be selected to take the General Scholarship Test for high school seniors on November 15, 16 and 17 in high school test centers throughout the state. These seniors will be tested in the areas of English, history, mathematics, science, reading and vocabulary.

Scores of each student are sent to the three colleges, universities, or scholarship-granting agencies specified by each senior.

The State Department of Education presents a Certificate of Award to those seniors who score in the top five per cent in the state.

Any senior in the upper half of his class is eligible to take the test. Other seniors may participate upon the recommendation of their principal or counselor.

Girl Scout Troop 947 Entertains Peruvian Girl

Reymunda Palimincs, of the district of San Pablo, Peru, which is high in the Andes Mountains, was an honored guest of local Girl Scouts recently during a special meeting and pack-out at the home of Mrs. William H. Schultz.

The menu consisted of hot dogs (of which she was wary, at first), baked beans, potato chips, peanuts, ice cream bars, cookies and fruit punch. The honored guest and visitor liked everything. She also mastered bubble gum blowing.

Troop 947 members presented her a scrapbook containing pictures taken from the Girl Scout calendar, and a piggy bank made from a plastic bleach bottle. Assistant leader is Mrs. Elmer Thomas. There are 25 girls in the troop.

The party was in keeping with International Friendship, a Second Class badge requirement.

THIS FAMILY portrait of the Evan Williams family was snapped shortly before he journeyed to Cleveland this week where he was elected Governor of Ohio District, Kiwanis International. Williams, a Bexley resident at 2491 Sherwood-rd, holds his next-to-youngest boy, Brent. Mrs. Williams is holding Jonathan Todd. The rest of the Williams family are, from left, Andrea, Jeff (the oldest), Craig and Lisa. Williams is now administrative head for 292 clubs in Ohio.

MEMBER OF EASTERN CLUB

Bexley Man Named Ohio Gov. At Kiwanis International Meet

An East Columbus suburb resident, at a convention in Cleveland, was elected governor of the Ohio District Kiwanis International. He soon Northwest Club, and Frank Watts of West Side Club.

Evan E. Williams, 42, 2491 Sherwood-rd, Bexley, was elected to the highest state post in the service club organization on Oct. 1. He will be installed the first week of January.

Two other Columbus men were named lieutenant governors: Edward J. Will of Northwest Club, and Franklin Watts of West Side Club.

Williams is a member of Eastern Kiwanis Club. In professional life he is assistant to the vice-president of commercial operations at the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company.

He first joined the Kiwanis group in 1949 and is a former lt. governor.

A graduate of Ohio University in Athens, Williams joined the Electric Co. in 1941 and has done post-graduate work at both Ohio University and the University of Michigan.

The new administrative head is quite active in civic work in his Bexley community. He was president of the Bexley Celebrations Associations and also is a past-patron of Order of Eastern Star.

His outside activities include membership in the F and AM Lodge, the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

He also served as a captain in the United State Signal Corps during World War II in the Southwest Pacific.

He and his wife, Francis, have six children: Jeffery, Lisa, Andrea, Craig, Brent and Jonathan Todd.

During his leisure hours, Williams is a woodworking enthusiast.

LaSertoma Arranges Luncheon, Buffet

LaSertoma International will hold a noon luncheon Wednesday, Oct. 10 at the Officer's Club of Lockbourne Air Force Base.

The group will meet again Saturday, Oct. 27, for a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. James Burchfield, Jr., 266 Preston-rd, when they entertain their husbands.

Arrangements are being made by Mrs. Robert Dotter, 1714 E. Main-st.

Sandra Lenox, Richard McMeekin Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

MRS. RICHARD ALLEN McMEEKIN

Miss Sandra Lenox and Mr. Richard Allen McMeekin exchanged their marriage vows Aug. 26 at Immanuel Baptist Church before a giant arch of southern smilax covered with purple and lavender asters, against a background of woodwardia trees and 28 branched candelabra.

The setting was flanked by two pairs of 15-branched spiral candelabra accented with frosted woodwardia and purple liatris, and the aisle was lined with cathedral arches covered with smilax and purple and lavender asters, and marked with single candelabra and cathedral tapers.

Parents of the new Mrs. McMeekin are Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Lenox, 293 S. Algonquin-av, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McMeekin of 1008 E. North Broadway.

The bridal gown of silk organza over taffeta was designed with a portrait neckline outlined in iridescents and seed pearls, long tapered sleeves and floor-length skirt, accented by Alencon motifs and continuing into a wide chapel train.

A jeweled queen's crown of Alencon lace, seed pearls and crystal held the bouffant veil, and she carried a full sheath cascade of miniature white carnations and polished camellia foliage with frosted beauty berry.

Miss Barbara Hunter served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Suanne Barnes, Miss Beverly Wright, Miss Joyce Pier and Miss Nancy Zimmerman.

Doretto Lenox, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Attendants wore gowns of peacock blue organza with folded scoop necklines, brief sleeves and controlled skirts. They wore matching plateaus with miniature veils and carried sheath cascades of lavender asters with polished camellia foliage and matching satin.

The flower girl carried a white lace basket filled with aster petals.

Mr. Don McMeekin served as bestman for his brother, and ushers were Mr. Arch Kloup, Mr. Bill Penny, Mr. David Keinzil and Mr. Dick Louery.

A reception followed at the church.

Mrs. McMeekin is a student at Ohio State University, College of Education, and Mr. McMeekin is a barber.

Following a wedding trip the couple is at home at 3377 Maize-rd.

All flowers and floral decorations for the wedding were the gift of Garrison's Bridal Flowers, awarded as a prize at the Hilltop Bean Dinner last July.

AMARANTHUS CLUB

Amaranthus Garden Club will tour McCombs Greenhouse at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 10.

EXOTIC EUROPEAN FOOD TO BE FEATURE 'TUESDAY AT THE Y'

One of the highlights of the fall term of "Tuesday at the Y" at the Hilltop YWCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr, will be a cook's tour, similar to those which have been so popular at the Central YWCA

Exotic European dishes will be prepared and served by Vera of Vera's Europe Resturant. This day will be an adventure in visiting a foreign country, with special emphasis on Hungary, its customs and its food.

Guests will learn to prepare dishes featured on this occasion, will be served a full luncheon, and for dessert will have a choice of the tortes for which Vera has become poted.

Tiny booklets containing printed recipes for the foods served will be given to each guest.

Immediately following the luncheon, those attending will depart for downtown Columbus and a "Behind the Scenes" tour of the F. and R. Lazarus and Co., conducted by Mrs. Velma Smith of the special events department.

Entire cost of the day-long program, including luncheon will be $2 for YWCA members and those holding memberships in the Hilltop YMCA.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Supervised baby - sitting with crafts will be provided, without charge, at the Hilltop YWCA Center. Mothers are requested to bring sack lunches for their children. Milk will be furnished.

For reservations or further information call CA. 4-9121.

Ruth Evans Is Married In Michigan

Miss Ruth Evans, daughter of Mrs. Mary Evans of 104 S. Richardson-av, and Mr. Lynn Gilkey, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilkey, Columbus Junction, Ia., were united in marriage at St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 10.

Rev. Hayes of the First Methodist Church performed the ceremony in the wedding chapel at 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Evans, mother of the bride, and Mr. Larry Shipman, the bridegroom's brother, attended the couple at the altar, which was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride wore a white suit with pale blue accessories and carried a white Testament with white satin ribbons, carnations and white lilies of the valley.

Following the double-ring ceremony, the wedding party and their guests went to the Win Schuler Inn on the lake front for the wedding supper. The bride and bridegroom then left for a short trip to northern Michigan.

On Sunday, Sept. 16, Mrs. Mary Evans and Mrs. John Taylor were hostesses at a buffet dinner honoring the new Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gilkey.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gene McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Taylor and Karen and Timmy; Mrs. Ben Hilliard, Mr. Larry Shipman, Miss Grace Donikian.

Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Mary Evans and the honored guests.

Harry Graham Says

Mother, we just love creases!

If you don't get creases when you lift the heel, a child's shoe is too tight! This is only one of many, many tests we make every time we fit a pair of children's shoes.

Superb fit, plus LITTLE YANKEE children's shoe craftsmanship are the reasons why this is the place to bring young growing feet.

WESTGATE METHODIST IS SCENE OF WARNER-ALLBAUGH WEDDING

Miss Frances Jo Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Warner, 3159 Stephens-dr, became the bride of Mr. Benson David Allbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Allbaugh, 1262 Weber-rd, Sunday, Sept. 23, 3 p.m.

Rev. E. C. Everson read the ceremony at Westgate Methodist Church, before an altar decorated with vases of white mums, palms and seven-branch candelabra.

The bride wore a gown of hand-clipped French lace designed with a sabrina neckline embroidered in mock pearls and crystals.

Her veil of silk illusion was caught on pearl-beaded contesa crown and she carried a white Bible topped with stephanotis and centered with a white orchid.

Miss Billie Lea Warner was her sister's only attendant.

She wore an afternoon-length gown of blue slipper satin with a bodice of chantilly lace and bracelet sleeves and a circular veil of silk illusion, and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Barbara Metz, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a blue taffeta dress and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Lee Palmer served as best man, and ushers were Mr. Harrold Schrider, Mr. Walter Howie, Mr. Ronald Reed, and Mr. David Landis.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. Miss Sharon Decker and Miss Judy Clemons served as hostesses.

The new Mrs. Allbaugh is a graduate of West High School and Nationwide Beauty Academy, and is employed by Clark's Coiffures.

Mr. Allbaugh is a graduate of Linden McKinley High School and is now serving with the U.S. Air Force at Holly Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, where the couple will reside.

Judith Newkirk, Jerry Francis Exchange Vows At Hoge Memorial Presbyterian

Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Judith A. Newkirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Newkirk of 191 S. Westmoor-av, and Mr. Jerry Lee Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Francis, 370 S. Richardson-av.

Rev. Calvin W. Didier read the marriage service at 2:30 p.m. July 29.

The floor-length bridal gown of peau-de-soie was designed with an overdress of hand-appliqued silk organza with a boat neckline, dropped vee-shaped waistline and long, tapered sleeves.

Miss Ellen Smith served as maid of honor, Mrs. Kay Riggs was bridesmatron, and bridesmaids were Miss Dotty Reese and Miss Marilyn Hanger.

Miss Gail Zimmerman was the junior bridesmaid and Kim Irwin, flower girl.

The honor attendant wore a gown of lavender silk organza over lavender gingham, and the others, white silk organza over lavender gingham.

Mr. David Francis served as bestman for his brother, and guests were seated by Mr. Jack Nachman, Mr. Art Newkirk, Mr. Howard Hicks and Mr. John Laderer.

Kerry Vagnier was the ringbearer.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

Following a two-weeks wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla., the couple is at home at 540 Montgomery-ct, Buckeye Village.

Civitan International President To Visit Area

The Civitan International president, Fritz Kuler, will speak to 10 Civitan organizations, five from Columbus and five from neighboring towns, 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 8, in the Arlington Arms.

His topic will be "So Proudly We Hail." In his speech, he will give his thoughts on the need for a yardstick for the protection of freedom in this fast changing world. His visit will preview the international program, "Speak Up For Freedom" which starts in January.

About 200 Civitans and wives are expected for the visit. Governor DiSalle and all Columbus area mayors are invited, according to Jack Jones, promotion chairman.

Kuler is the 42nd Civitan International president. He is 42 years old and is a native Texan. He is presently program director of the Dallas station KRLD-TV.

President Kuler lists three Civitan objectives for this year. First is the extension of Civitan in Canada, Mexico and Latin America. Second is the broading of effective community leadership and service. Third is the mortgage burning at the Indianapolis convention next summer for a debt free national headquarters in Birmingham, Ala.

Teachers Slate News Course

A demonstration and conference in news reading will be held in Deshler School Oct. 18, at 3:45 p.m., as a part of the in-service training program for teachers.

Loretta Anti, director of consultant services from the department of school services, Wesleyan University, will conduct the conference.

Her services have been made available as a contribution to the demand for improved instruction in reading, citizenship and current affairs.

Wesleyan is a non-denominational, privately supported university, founded in 1831 and located in Middletown, Conn.

The department of school services offers its consultant services to school systems throughout the country, on a professional basis, without charge or obligation.

Loretta Anti received her BS in education and her MA in geography from Kent State University, Kent. Before joining Wesleyan editorial staff she had wide experience as a classroom teacher in the Lorain and Lakewood, O., public schools. For a number of years she has been engaged in consultant work in all sections of the United State, including Hawaii.

Boy Scout News

By JIM RENSHAW
279-2841

On Thursday, Sept. 27, the Nimat Luncheon Chapter, Order of the Arrow, held its monthly meeting.

The chapter at the fall camporee will act a security guards while camping with their units.

Two very informative movies were shown—one about a legend and its origin, and the other about a trip to Alaska a family took to spend a summer.

The chapter urges better attendance at all O. A. activities in the future including chapter meetings.

Scouts from all over Central Ohio helped direct traffic for the Sabin on Sunday program last Sunday at many of the Sabin centers in Columbus. The scouts were appreciated for their help in this great county project.

Twenty-five Scouts of Troop 172 along with eight adults camped at Ki-Y-Ro Camp on Sept. 22 and 23. Twenty-one of the boys and five of the adults took the Chief Tarhe Trail. During the campout the boys' knowledge of first aid came in handy when it was needed by Jerry Alban and David Pfeiffer, who suffered injuries.

The following took to the Chief Tarhe Trail: Joe Castorino, Harry Zulauf, David and Darrell Wolfe, Craig Sonnen, Steve Seyfried, Tom Ruggles, Don and Tom Ray, Tom Griffith, Jim Phillips, Larry Hutton, Paul Stern, Tom Richardson, Mike Broom, Delbert Smith, Dan Pickens, Ronnie Nighbert, Danny and Larry Keen, Jerry Alban, also getting sore feet were adults Tom McGill, Russell Marks, Delbert Smith, Sr., Dick Nadalin, and Scoutmaster John Birle.

The following boys were also at the campout: Tom Jenny, Bill Cash, Denny Nighbert, and David Pfeiffer; and also tending camp while the others were trailing were Lloyd Sonnen, Don Keen, and Sherm Nighbert.

West Loses, 32-18, Central, Aquinas Tie

By Kenny Ash an Bob Lynch

CENTRAL battled Aquinas to a 6-6 tie on a rain-soaked field Friday night to knock the Terriers out of a first-place share in the hot City League race.

The defense was strong for both teams and each team was forced to punt several times. Late in the first quarter, the Terriers started an 82-yard drive, which payed off with a touchdown when halfback Mike Welling shot over left tackle and raced 38 yards for the score.

The Pirates came back in the second period as they marched the ball 63 yards for the score. Tom Fullove, Central quarterback, threw to end Stan Horner for 28 yards and a first down on Aquinas' 12-yard line.

FULLOVE HIT George Broadnax on the next play for the tieing points but Bill Solomon was stopped by the Terrior defense on his conversion bid to put the Pirates ahead. A Central touchdown late in the first half was called back on a penalty.

In the fourth quarter, Aquinas drove to Central's 16 yard line before the Pirate defense held. Then, late in the period, Central fought to the Terrier's 13. But the drive ended when Pat Mental intercepted a Fullove pass in the end zone.

THE MARIETTA Tigers pulled out a 32-18 victory over the visiting West High Cowboys Friday night, as the Cowboys played possibly their best game to date, but couldn't overcome the Tiger forces, rated tenth in the state.

It took several changes of the ball between teams before the vaunted offensive attack of the Tigers began to move, but when it did, the sudden result was devastating, as 155-pound halfback Charles Williams broke over the left side of his line and romped 41 yards and a touchdown.

However, the Cowboys offensive proved equal to the task as they came roaring back to score, with halfback Rich Neely rambling for a 65-yard score.

IT SEEMED as if a scoring trend had been established, as Marietta, taking over the ball on their ten yard line, moved 90 yards in 12 plays for it's second score of the evening. The Tigers scored with 8:26 left in the half, as Bill Warden cracked over right guard from one yard out, and then added the two point conversion.

The beginning of the second half provided some fireworks for the few loyal Cowboy supporters who had made the journey as Finke broke through the middle of the line on a quarterback sneak, and raced 69 yards untouched for the score. The second half was only 41 seconds old, and it looked as if the Cowboys would have a chance to pull a tremendous upset.

However, Cowboy spirits were dampened somewhat, as Marietta scored the next time they got the ball, with Williams again scooting the final 12 yards to paydirt.

The Cowboys started their final scoring drive from the Tiger 33 as fullback Don VanOrder worked the ball into the six yard line, and Neely swept right end for the Cowboy's final tally.

JOHN BAILEY scored all his teams points with five touchdowns Saturday night as Newark Catholic downed Ready, 30-14.

Bailey scored on runs of 38, 22, 12 and two four-yarders as the Silver Knights lost their second game of the season.

Ready, who trailed 24-0 at intermission, scored in the third period when Jim Muir swept left end for an 18-yard TD, adding the conversion on a run. The final Silver Knight score came in the final stanza when quarterback Tom Weisenbach tossed a 37-yard touchdown pass to Bill James.

Friday night's action finds Aquinas (3-1) at West (1-3) and Central (1-1-3) at North (3-1).

PIRATE LONG GAINER

WESTGATE halfback Bob Arnett reaches out to take a 45-yard pass from quarterback Jim Bell in the Westgate Pirates' 20-0 win over the South Side Blues Sunday. It was the Pirates' third straight win of the season and gave them an undisputed lead in the Ohio Bearcat League race.
